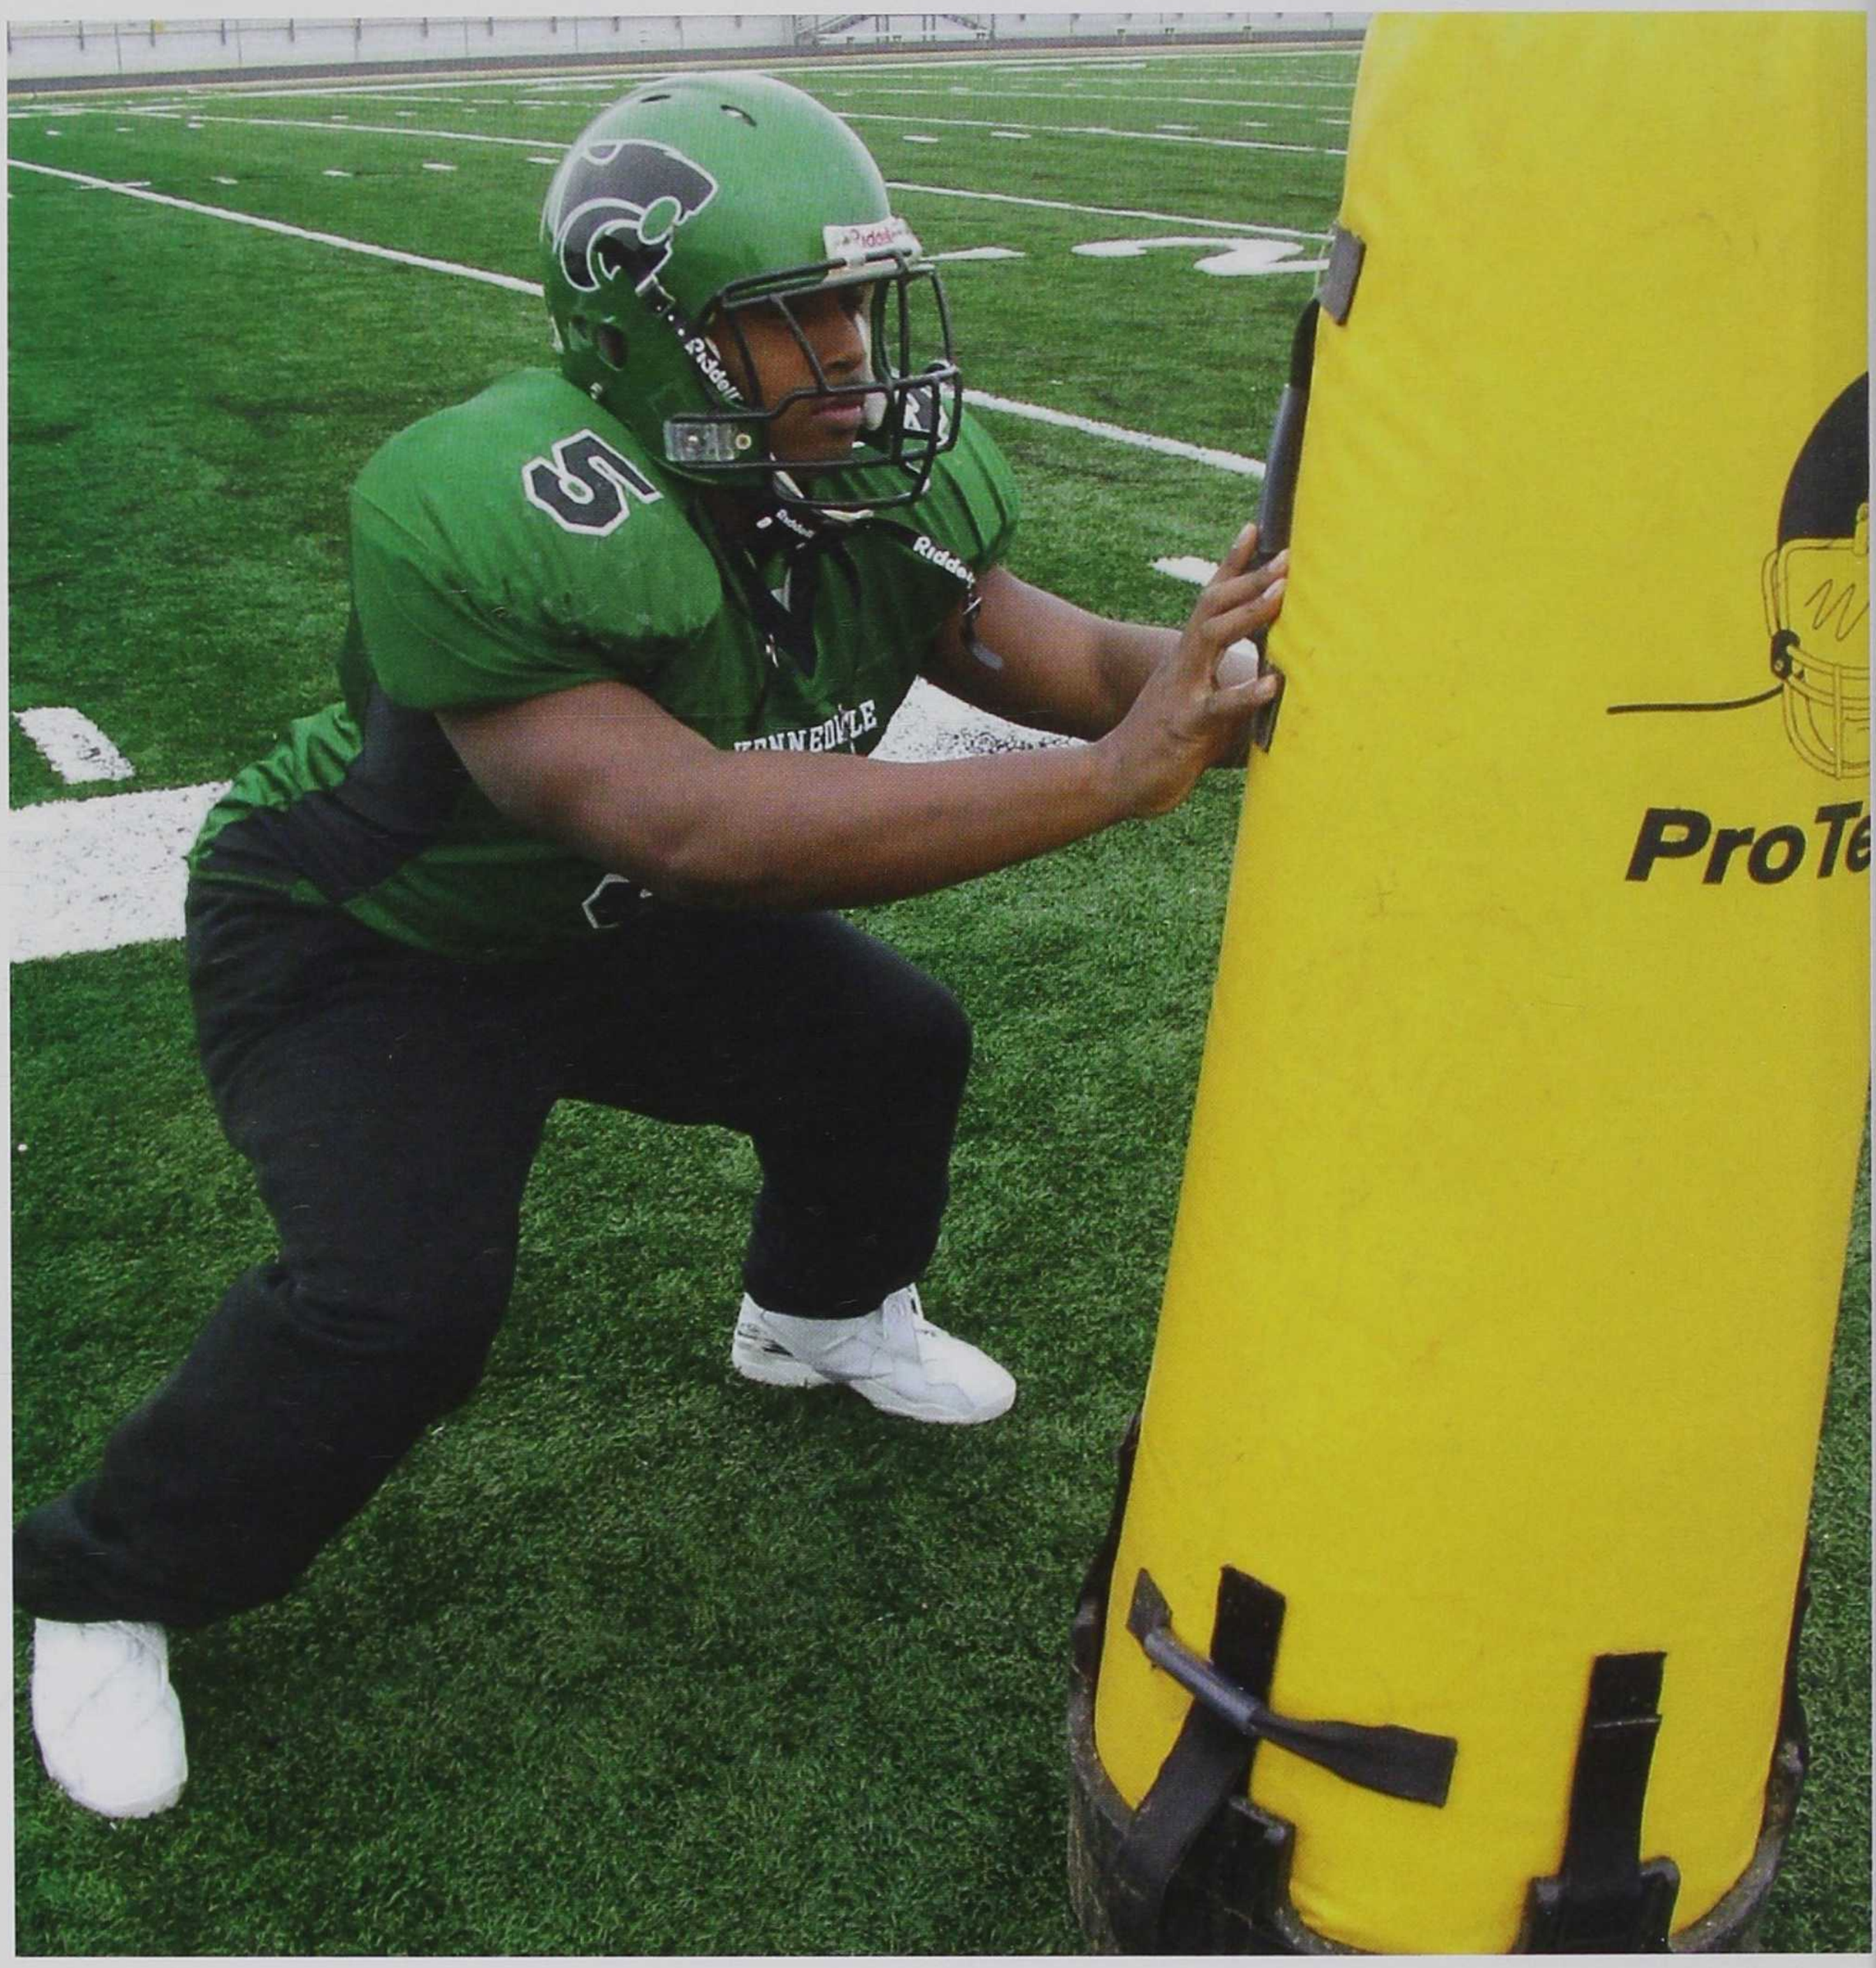
PUSHING

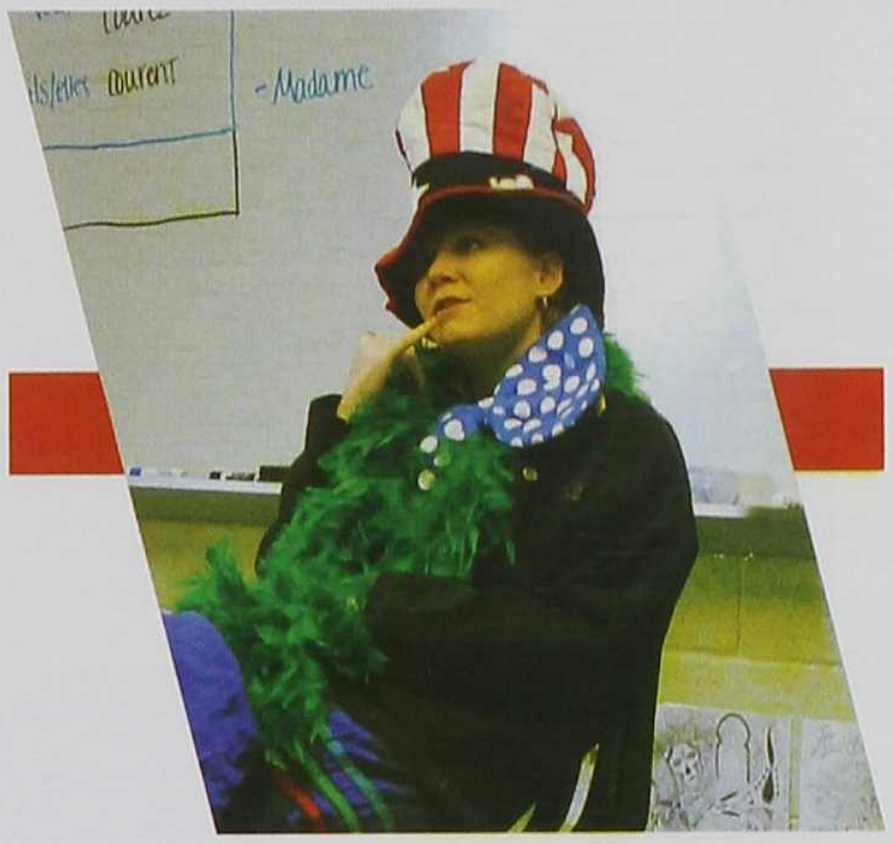
THE



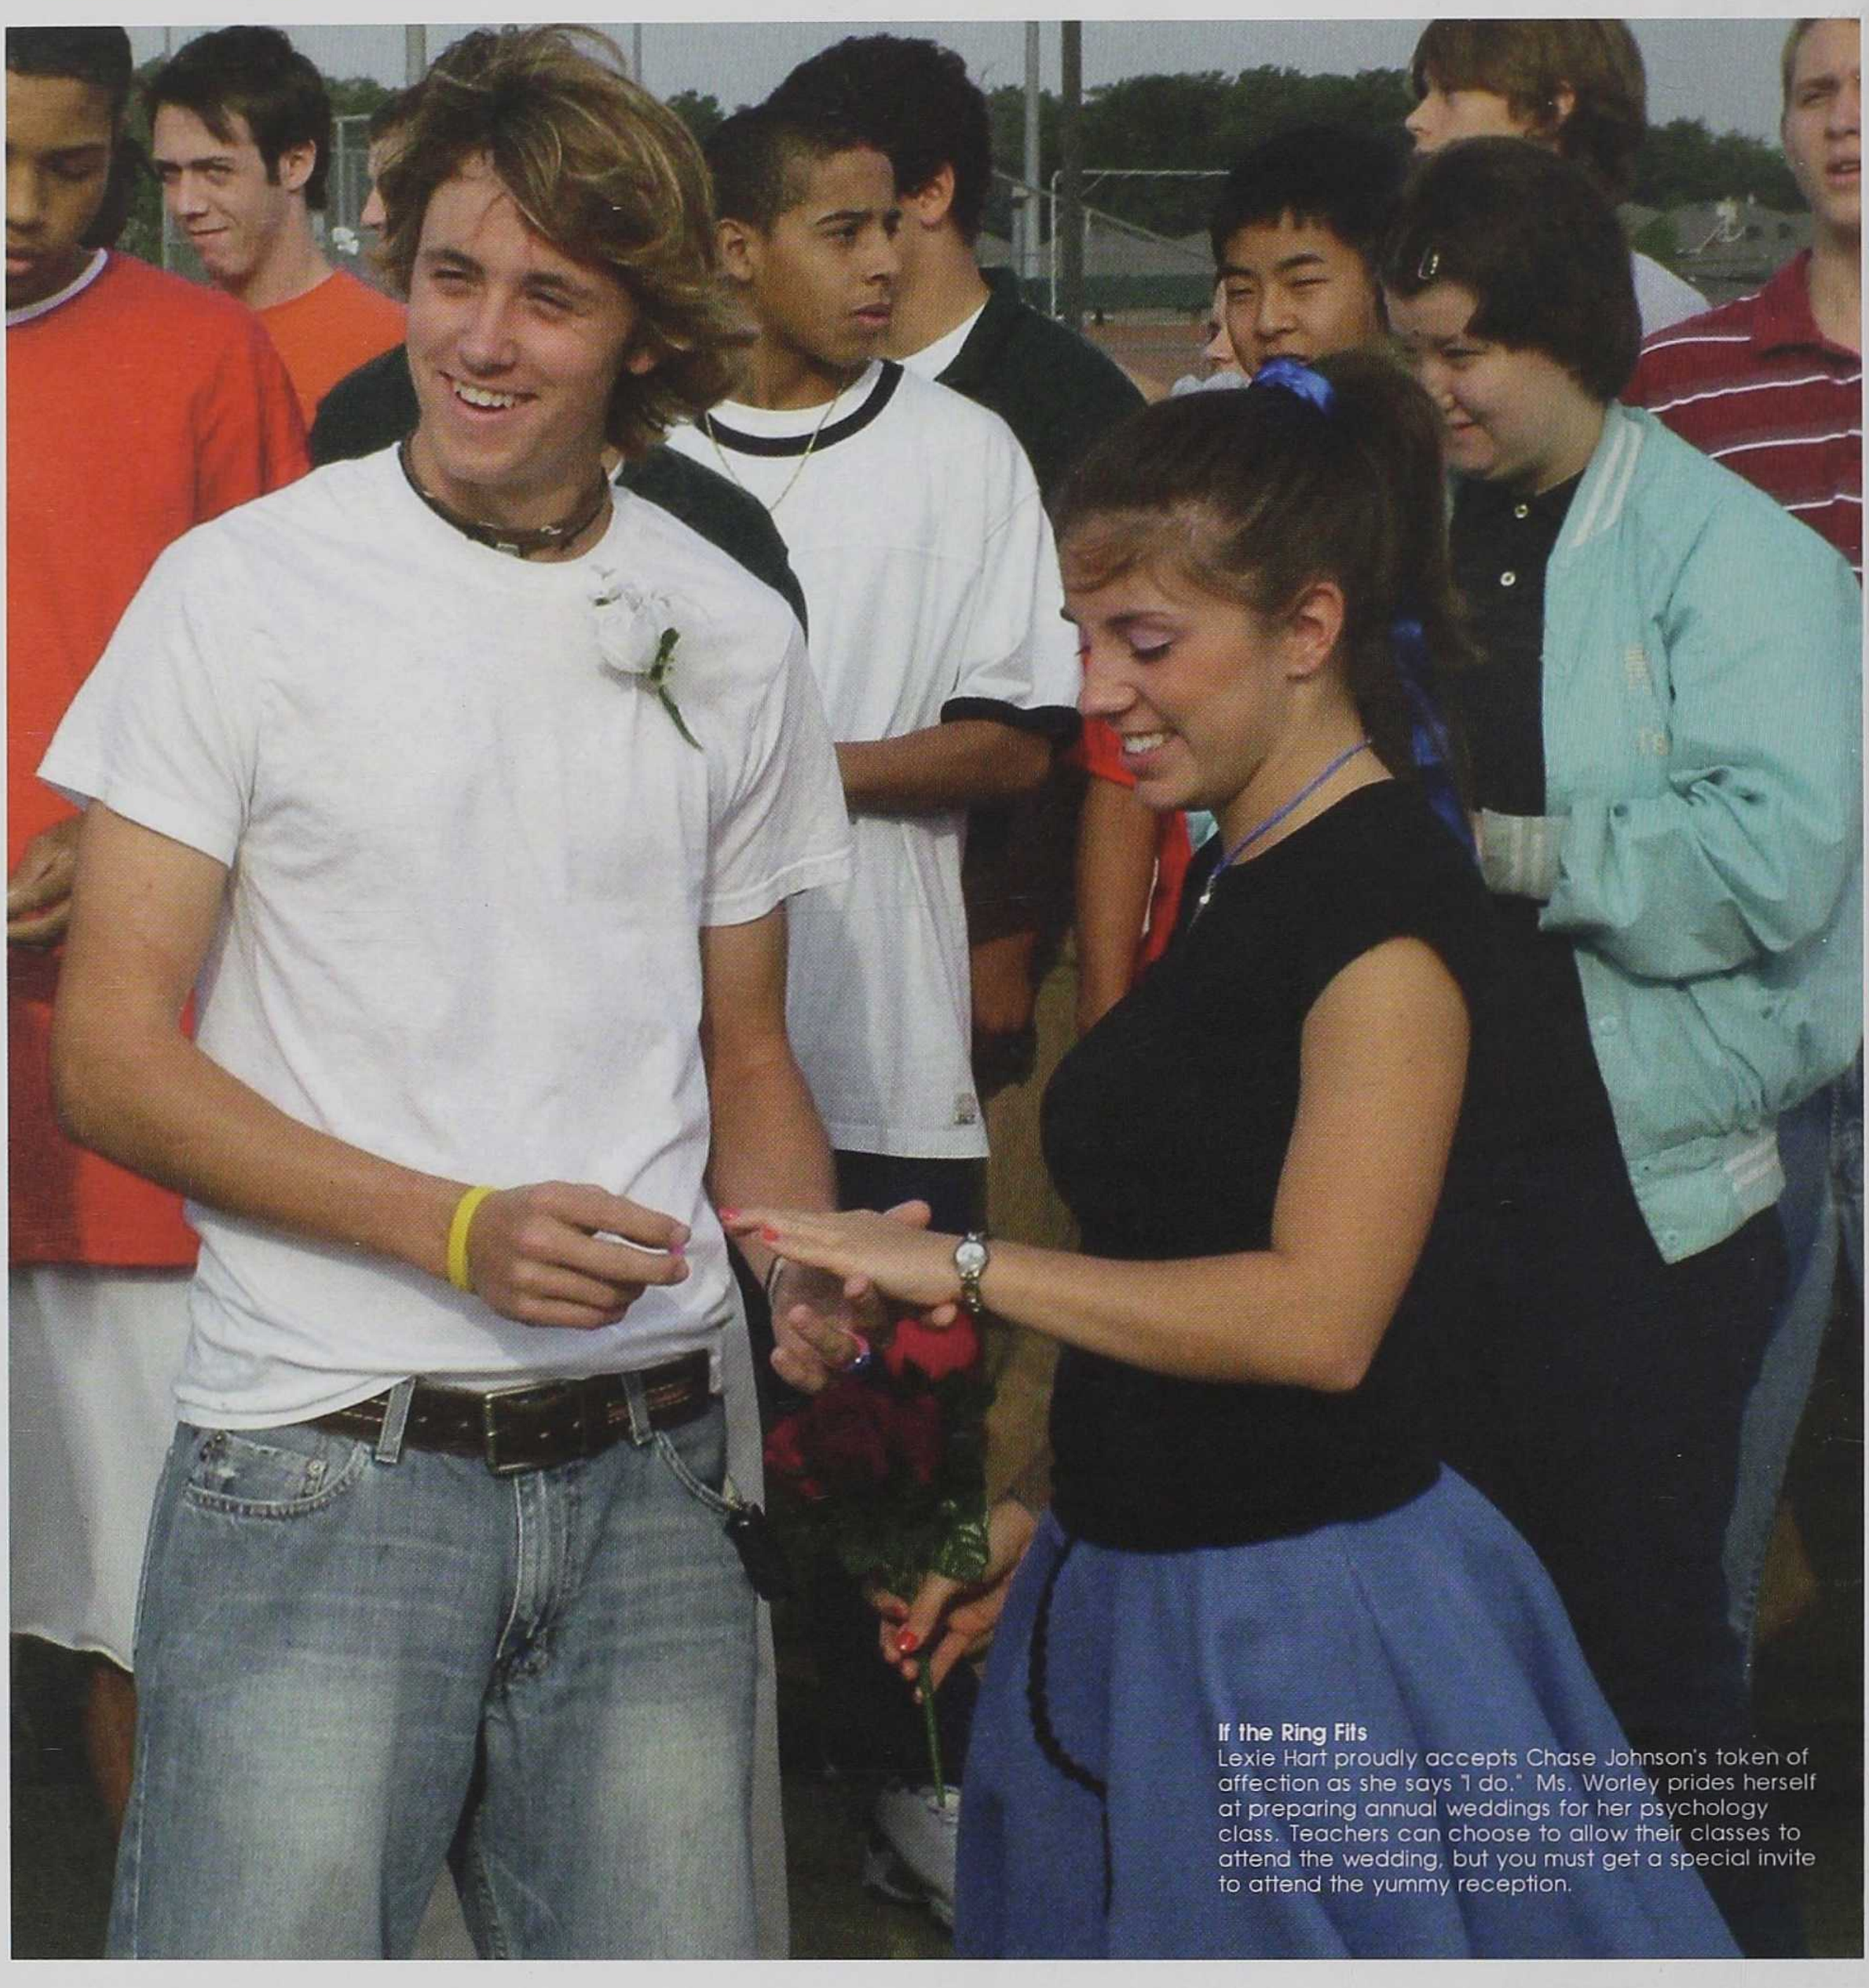
LIMITS

As we started the school year on August 16th, 2004, change was definitely in the air. Construction crews were working feverishly to outfit Wildcat Stadium with new turf so that it would be ready for Homecoming weekend. And by mid-October, crews had already broken ground on the new softball field. In addition to the physical transformations taking place all around, plans were also being finalized to add on to Kennedale High School.

In May of 2004, Kennedale citizens voted yes on a school bond that would allow the district to expand all of their growing campuses. Expansion of the high school was clearly a must. We were definitely pushing the limits. Five new teachers were added to the staff to accommodate the growing numbers. Having to adapt to our school's changing needs, some teachers became "floating" teachers, wandering souls without a home.



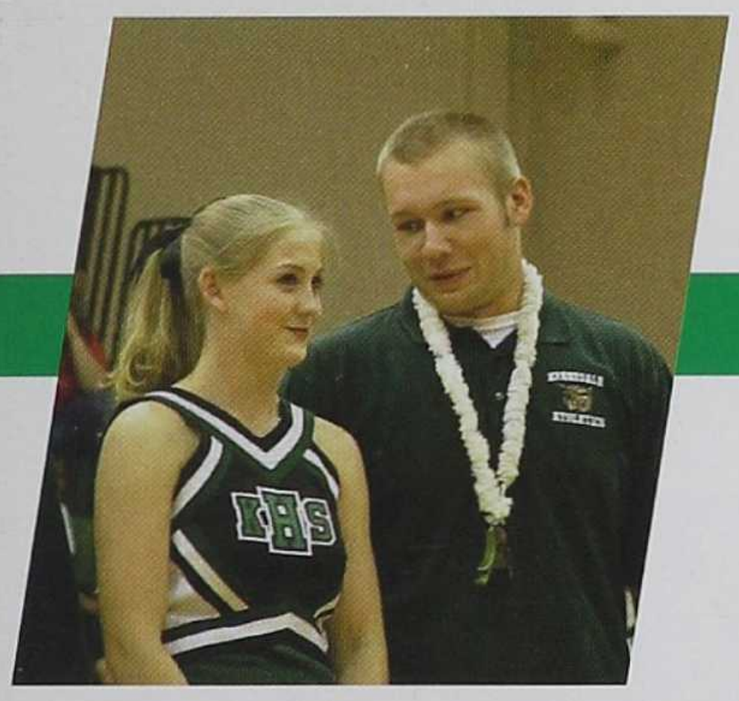
Crowded hallways, packed classrooms, and long lunch lines were not new problems we faced, but this year they seemed a little more alarming. With the largest freshmen class ever in Kennedale history, the high school was desperately in need of some more space. Old unused storage facilities were converted to locker rooms to house some of our athletic teams and more locker space was added to accommodate the freshmen class. It was clear we had begun to push the limits of Kennedale High School.

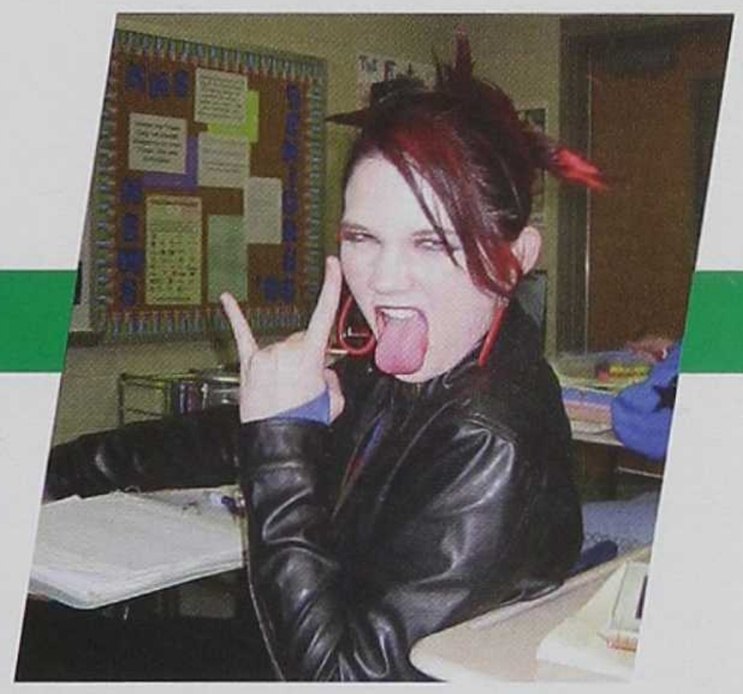


If the Ring Fits
Lexie Hart proudly accepts Chase Johnson's token of affection as she says "I do." Ms. Worley prides herself at preparing annual weddings for her psychology class. Teachers can choose to allow their classes to attend the wedding, but you must get a special invite to attend the yummy reception.

Completely Off Limits

a Look at Student Life





Being a smaller school, Kennedale is very focused on their sports. Some of the biggest events of the year are the Homecoming game and the pep rallies for all the home games. Prom is also definitely a very special occasion open to all juniors and seniors (and lucky invited underclassmen). And graduation tops the list for many seniors. What is not to look forward to at Kennedale High School?

We understand that as much as everyone loves spending their day locked up in a building, we realize you do have lives after 2:45. Many of you have shared some of your life, including your hobbies, how you afford to have a life, and your most valued non-human family members. High school is all about furthering your education, preparing for life after KHS, and, of course, having fun!

Marisol Monreal stands out from the crowd at KHS. She does it all. Family is very important to her; she always makes time for her sister, two brothers, and nieces. She attends church regularly and is very active in her youth group. At school, Marisol manages to make all A's and is in Choir, Pizzazz, NHS, FLC, Yearbook and BPA. She attends football games, track meets, and some volleyball games.

► Teamwork
Juniors Emily Taylor, Adam Billman, and Katie Smith work together on hall decorations the night before Homecoming. Unfortunately, their hard work did not pay off...the Senior Class took home the prize.

True Colors

A Look at School Spirit

The students of Kennedale High School have always prided themselves on their school spirit. The week of Homecoming guarantees to get the school pumped up for the big game Friday night, as well as every other Friday when the school gathers in the gym to cheer our athletes on. Each pep rally is jam packed with awesome performances by the cheerleaders and drill team, not to mention, band and colorguard. In addition to the usual festivities, each pep rally hosts a game put on by one of the school's many organizations. Everyone's favorite mascot, Willie the Wildcat, always entertains with an original skit. Activities such as Spirit Week give the students even more of an opportunity to show their true colors...green and black. Whether the students are going crazy with Rock Star Day or desperately trying to complete their Homecoming hall, their school spirit always shines through.

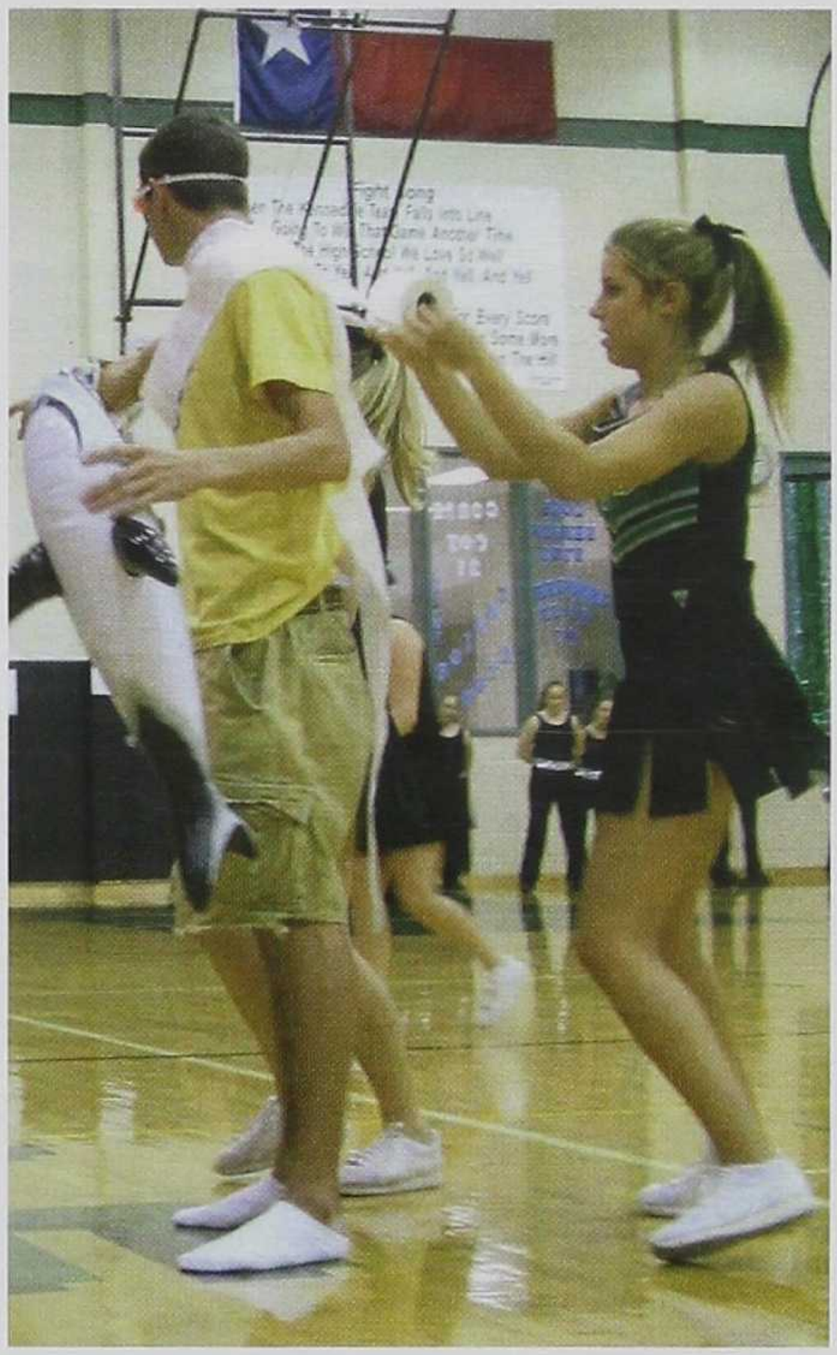
▼ Shark Attack
Lauren Cassady helps Kye Hohenberger dress in his toilet paper bikini for a synchronized swimming race. The cheerleaders always kept the student body involved by inventing crazy games to play during the pep rallies.



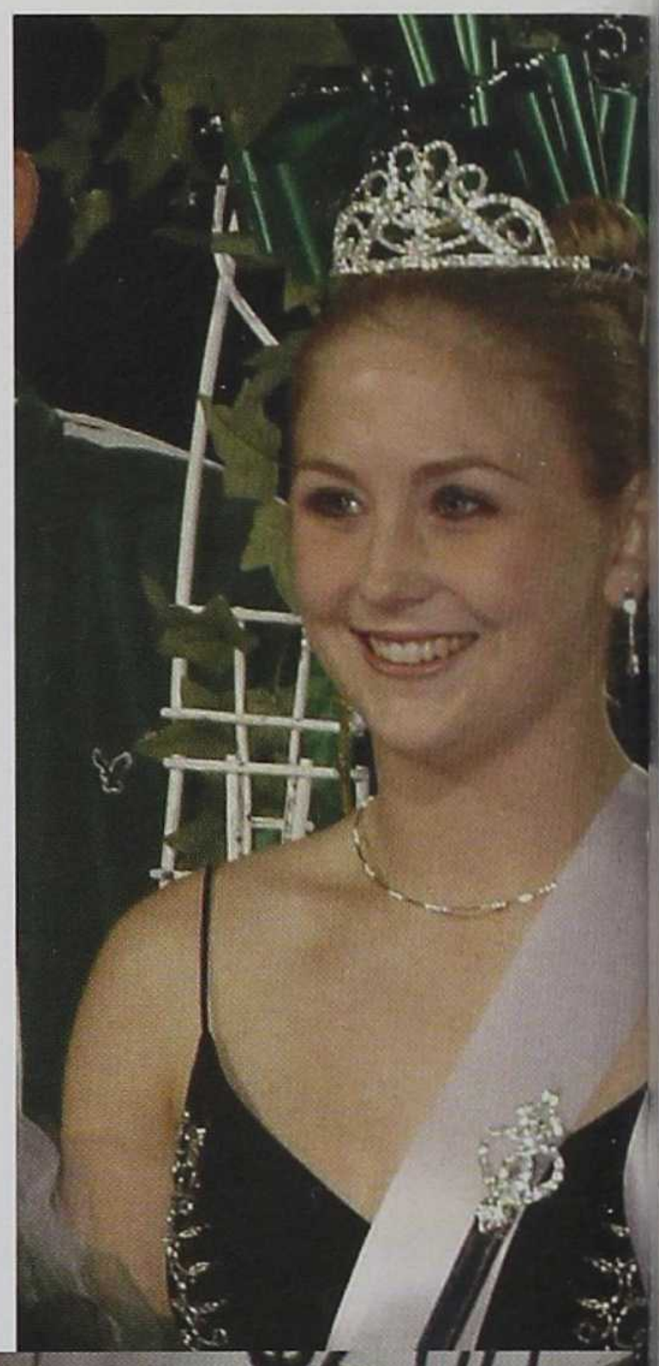
◄ Keep It Krunk
Members of the Junior class proudly support each sport at Kennedale High School with a poster. This group of spirited girls were always on their feet and ready to cheer at every pep rally.

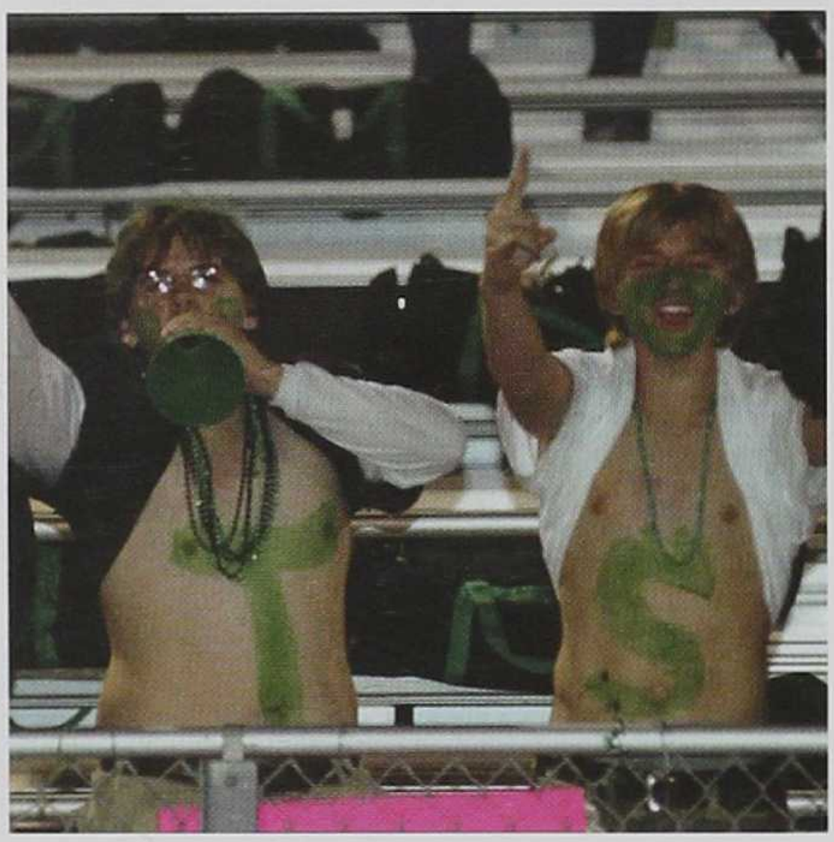
◄ Fat Tuesday
Senior Katie Hampton dazzles her class with her authentic New Orleans style for Mardi Gras Day. Many Wildcats opted to wear simple Mardi Gras beads to show their school spirit.

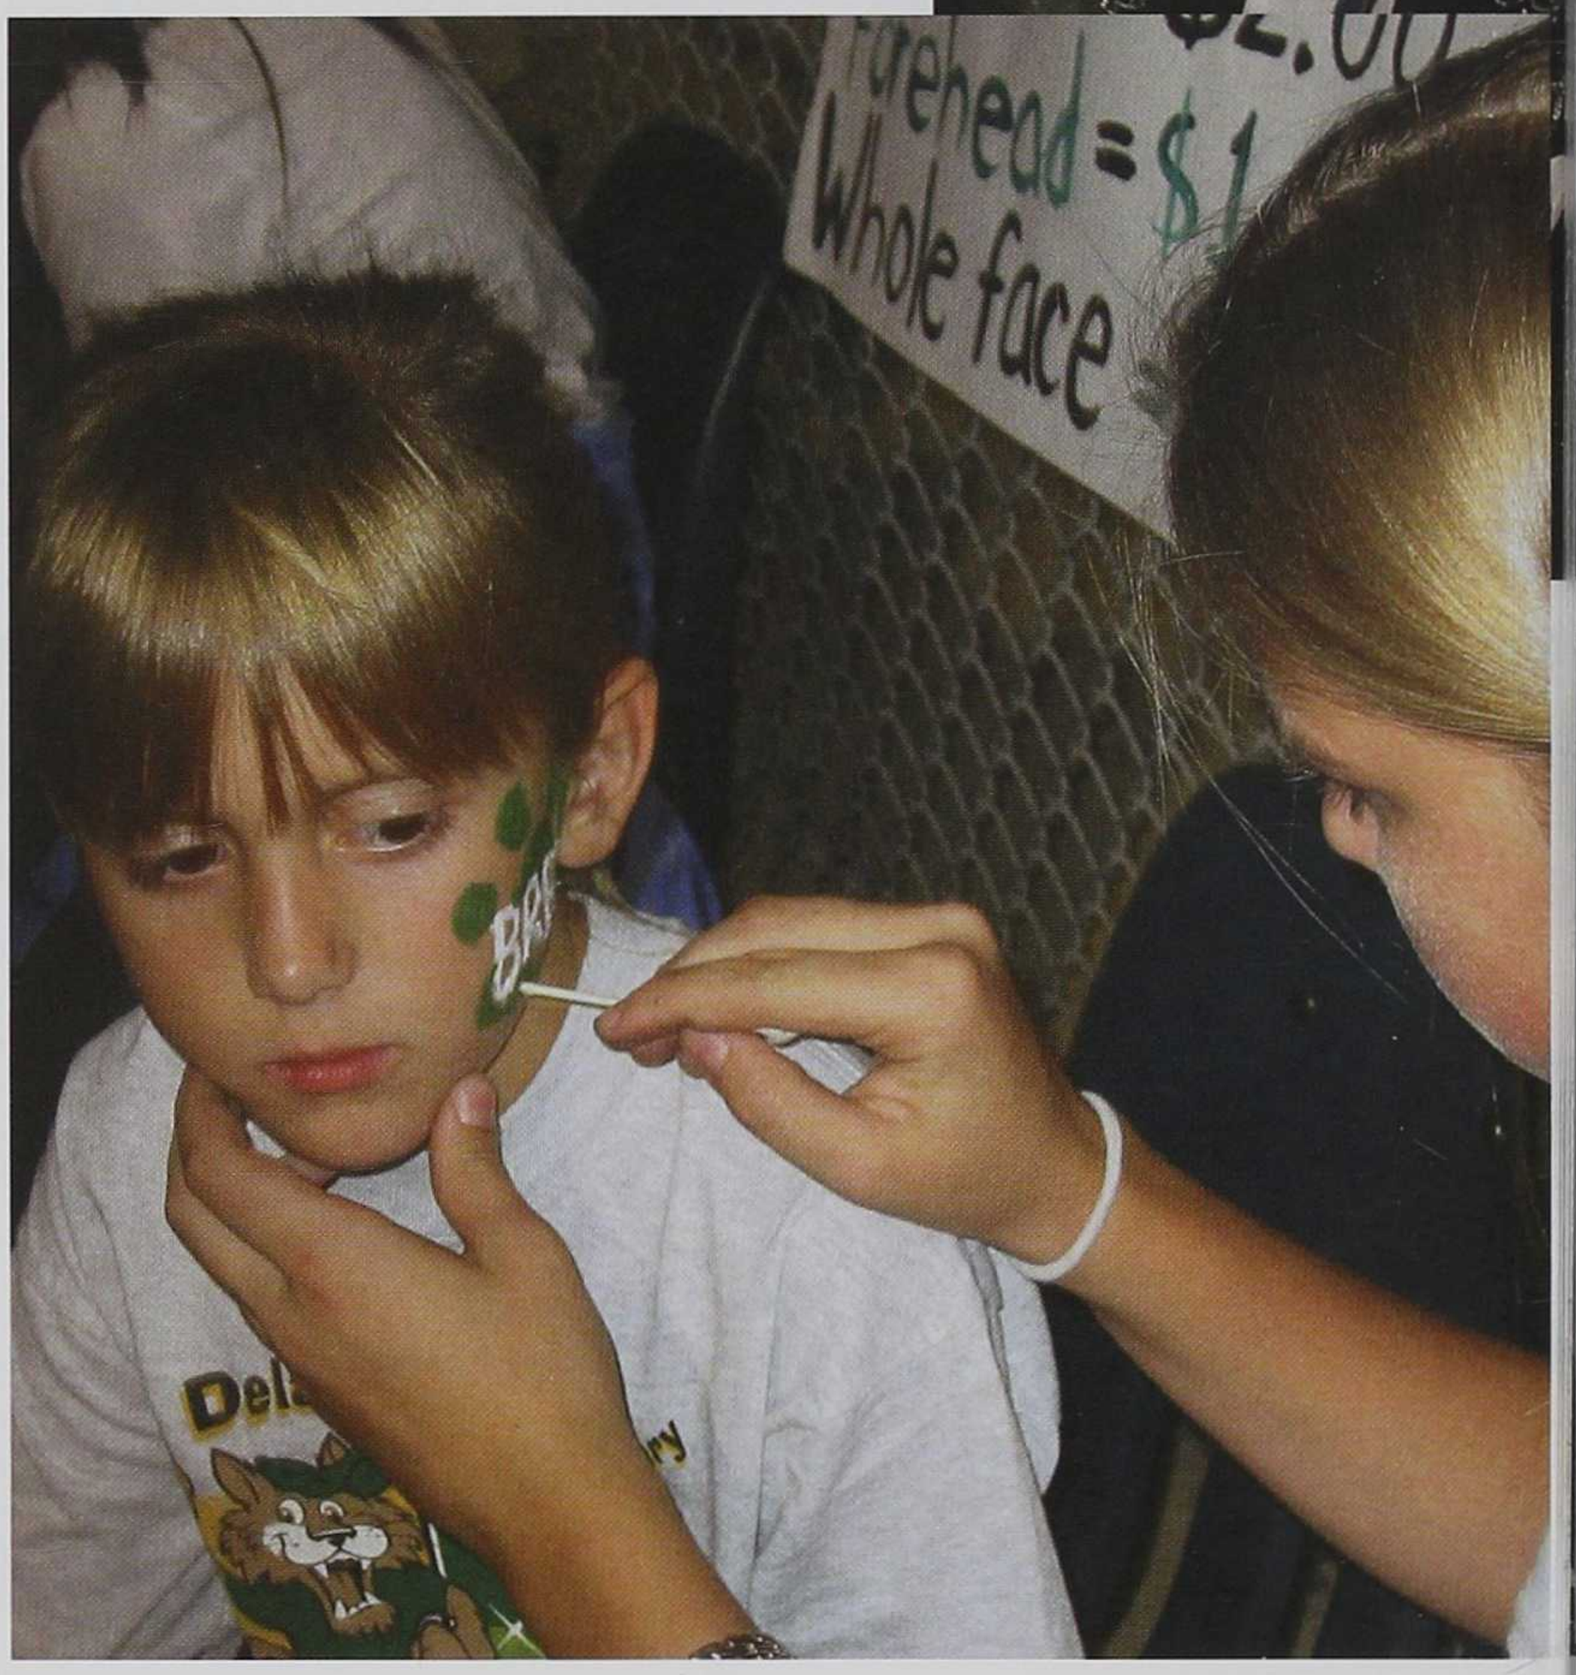
A Kennedale Tradition

Light Up the Night

Every year hundreds of Kennedale fans gather to watch the Homecoming game. This year, however, was a landmark year. Our Homecoming game was the first game played at the high school all season and, to top it off, it was played on our brand new turf. The field had been out of commission since the beginning of summer. Needless to say, this was a very exciting time. Before the game, children and adults alike put their game faces on with the help of the Art Club and other spirited organizations. Some fans however, did not need help, and appeared sporting a little more than green paint. The half-time show featured performances from all around. Tension filled the air. The game was heated as our boys fought vigorously toward victory in triple overtime. Despite their best efforts, Wilmer-Hutchins won by a field goal. None the less, the fans proudly cheered their beloved team on.







▲ Green Out
Die hard Kennedale fans William Heaps and brother, David Heaps, show up clad in green to support the fighting wildcats. Through the entire game and triple overtime the fans excitement never died.

► Game Face
A member of the Art Club paints a Wildcat paw on the face of a young fan. The Art Club used the Homecoming game as an easy and spirited fundraiser.

◄ The Royal Family
Dale Brunson and Ashley Nixon are crowned Homecoming King and Queen as the crowd cheers them on. Every year the student body cast their ballots to determine the winners of the crowns.

▼ Tension Mounts
Coach Barrett anxiously awaits the first touchdown with a tied score of 0 to 0 in the first quarter. Little did he know what a tense and close game lied ahead for him and the rest of the Wildcat football team.

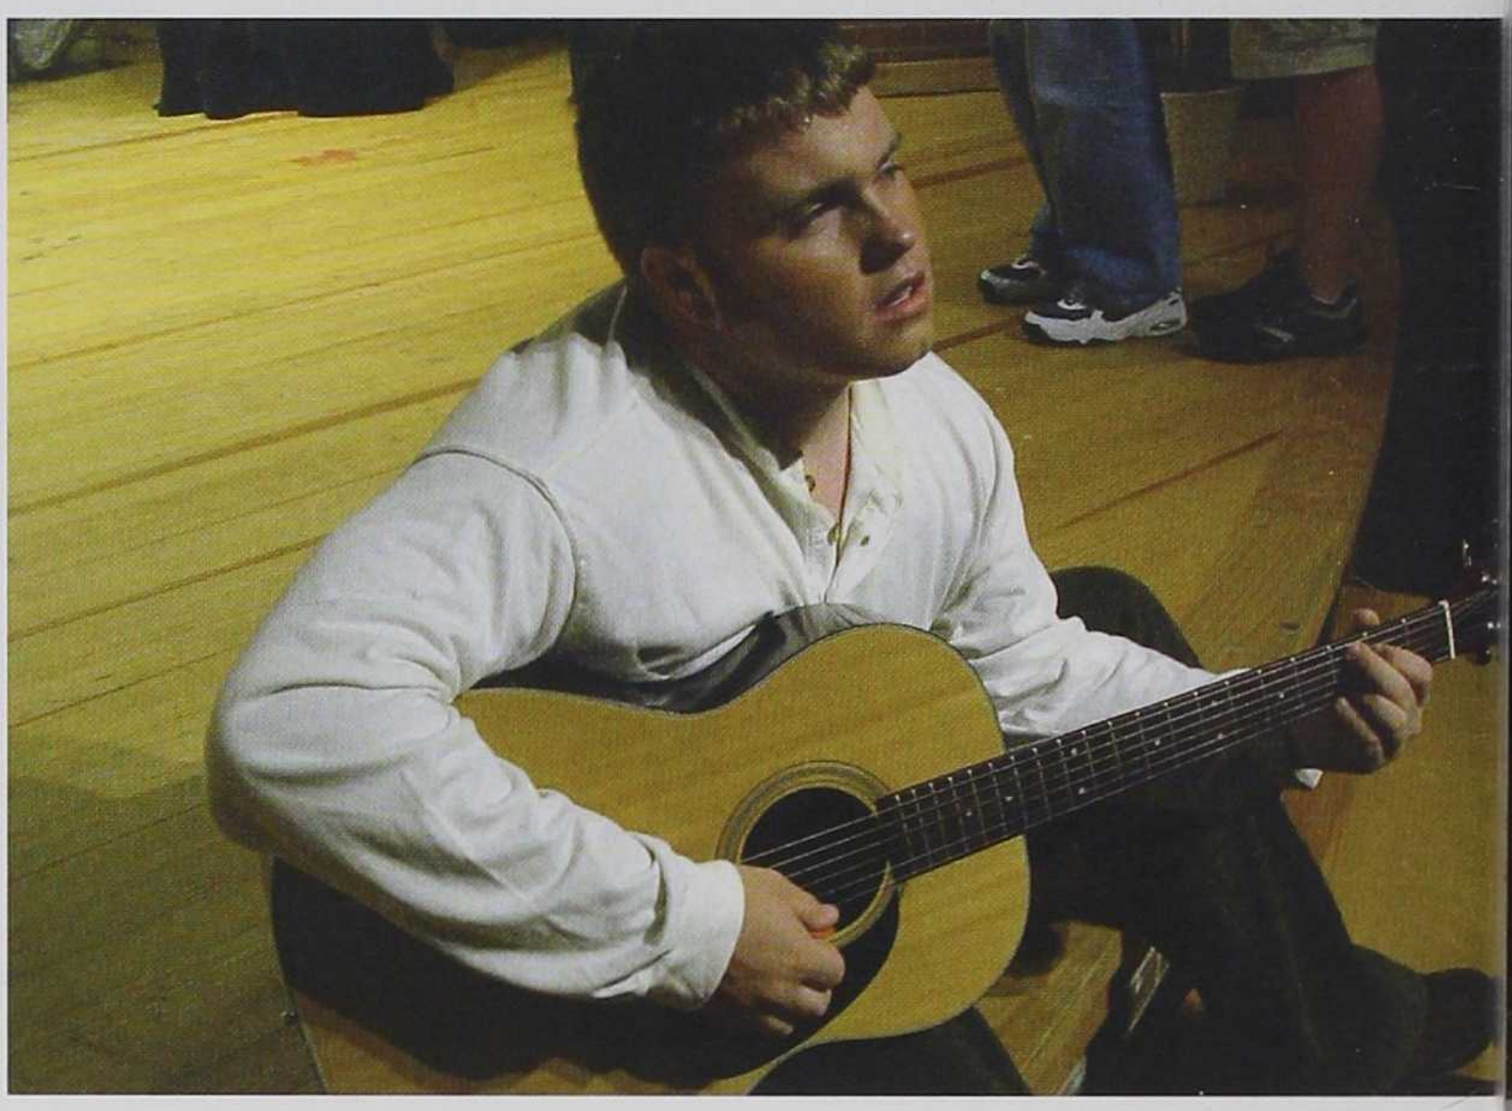
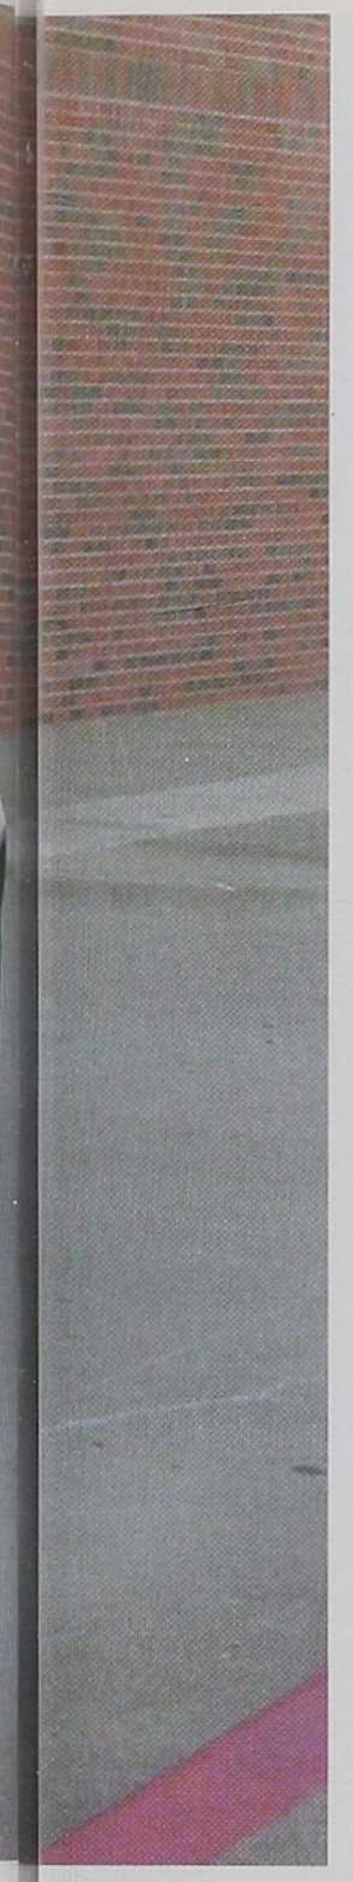
Senior Cassie Howell works on perfecting her favorite song on the school's piano in the auditorium. Cassie has always loved playing the piano since she was a young girl.

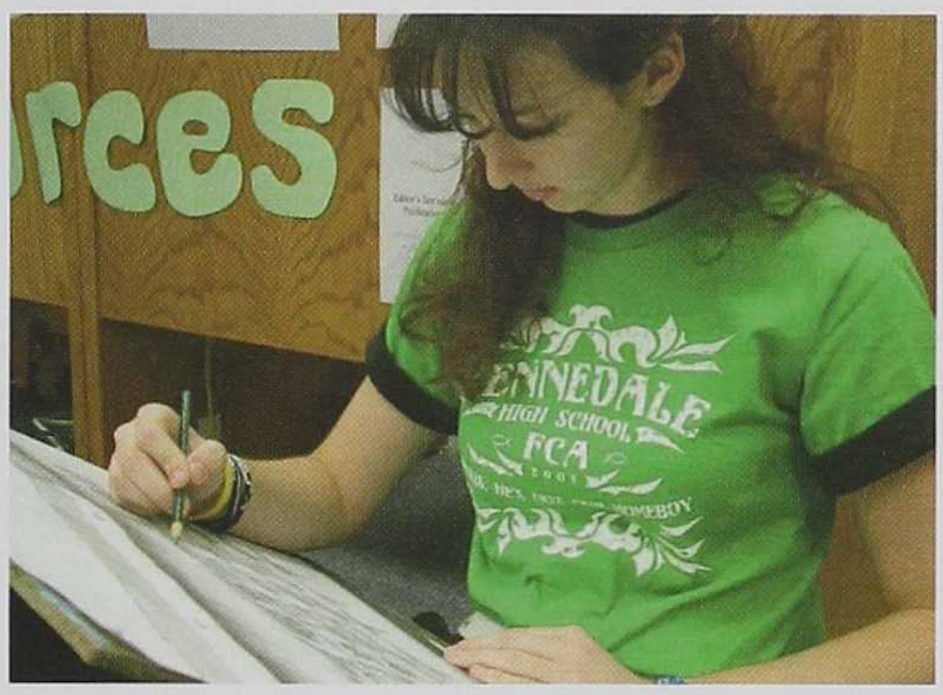




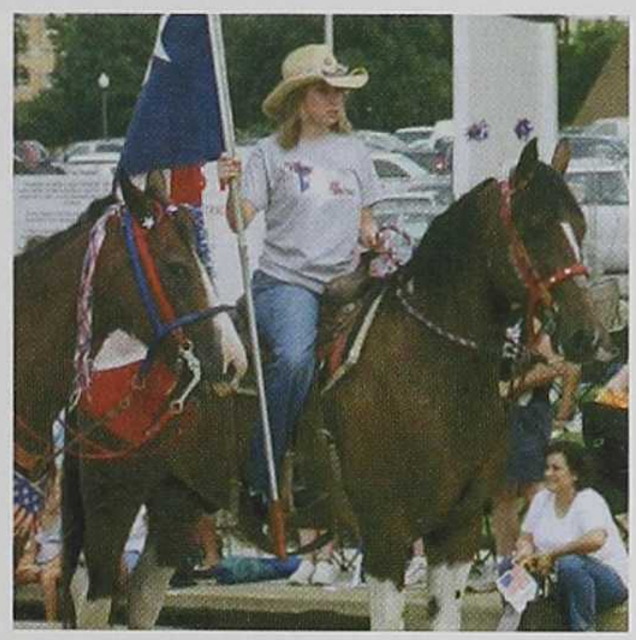
Students With Skills

There's More Than Just School

When the last bell sounds at the end of the day, it's a mad dash to the doors. Students scatter in a hurry to go about their lives outside of the classroom. With all the demands of grades, homework, jobs, and bills, teenagers need some time of their own to relieve the everyday pressures they encounter. To make these stresses temporarily disappear, many teens participate in some type of activity outside their regular schedule, maybe a fun hobby or a competitive sport. For some students, these hobbies are more than just an occasional activity, they are a way of life. Some pick up a guitar or a pair of drumsticks and rock out with their garage bands. From intense soccer practices to content horseback rides, they all result in the same thing... giving the students at Kennedale a unique way to melt away stress.



◄ Back to the Drawing Board
Junior Mandi Ford shows off her creative edge while she carefully sketches out the school's library for an art class assignment. Mandi has been actively involved in art for three years.



▲ Cowgirl Up!
Senior Nicole McKelvy shows off her horse, Captain, during a parade. Nicole has ridden horses practically since she was born.

◄ Gone Acoustic
Senior Dale Brunson serenades an audience with his intriguing guitar skills. Dale wrote and recorded his own songs.

Q: How many years have you been riding?
A: 8 years
Q: Where have you competed?
A: Michigan, Oklahoma, San Antonio, Tennessee, and Montana.
Q: Who got you started?
A: My brothers
Q: How many times have you won?
A: I've gotten first eight times.
Q: What is your best time?
A: 3:58
Q: What do you want to do after high school?
A: Compete in Freestyle Motorcross

► Howdy
Senior Kristen Eaklor adores her horse, Casper, that she has been friends with for over seven years. Kristen enjoys grooming and keeping her horse in the best shape for competitions.

▼ Hot Dog
Junior Jennifer DuBois and her cute wiener dog, Lili, have a one-of-a-kind friendship. Jennifer loves Lili's hyper personality. She keeps her moving all the time.

► Bouncin' Around
Junior Samantha White hangs out with her rabbit, simply named "Bunny." This furry animal may seem sweet and innocent, but he takes a surprising amount of effort. In between feedings and chasing after him on hot summer days, Samantha stays very busy.

◄ Just Havin' Fun
Senior Rheasheika Jackson enjoys taking naps with her cute and furry friend Peanuts. Peanuts may be little but they are a perfect match.

Man's Best Friend

Horses, Hamsters, and Crabs...Oh My!

When most people think of pets, they think of a small cat or dog, but at Kennedale High School there are horses, hermit crabs, rabbits, and an occasional hamster. Many students express their individualism through their pets, and in a way pets reflect the personality of their owners. Kristen Eaklor's horse reflects her country cowgirl attitude and Rheasheika's hamster reflects her sweet and cute personality. Students' pets range from ferocious pit bulls to cute little hamsters and about everything in between. Without our furry friends our world would simply not be the same. When interviewing the students at Kennedale High School, one common bond was remarkably clear. They all had a genuine love for their pet. To many of us, pets are more than just animals...they are a part of their family and a very important part of our lives.

▲ Don't Be Shy
Senior Ashley Nixon's hermit crabs are very unique pets. They don't come out much, but when they do they are a real treat.

Pets and Their People

It is a little known fact that a pet reflects the personality of their owner. Sometimes an owner and their pet even resemble one another! Knowing this, try to guess which pet belongs to each teacher or student.

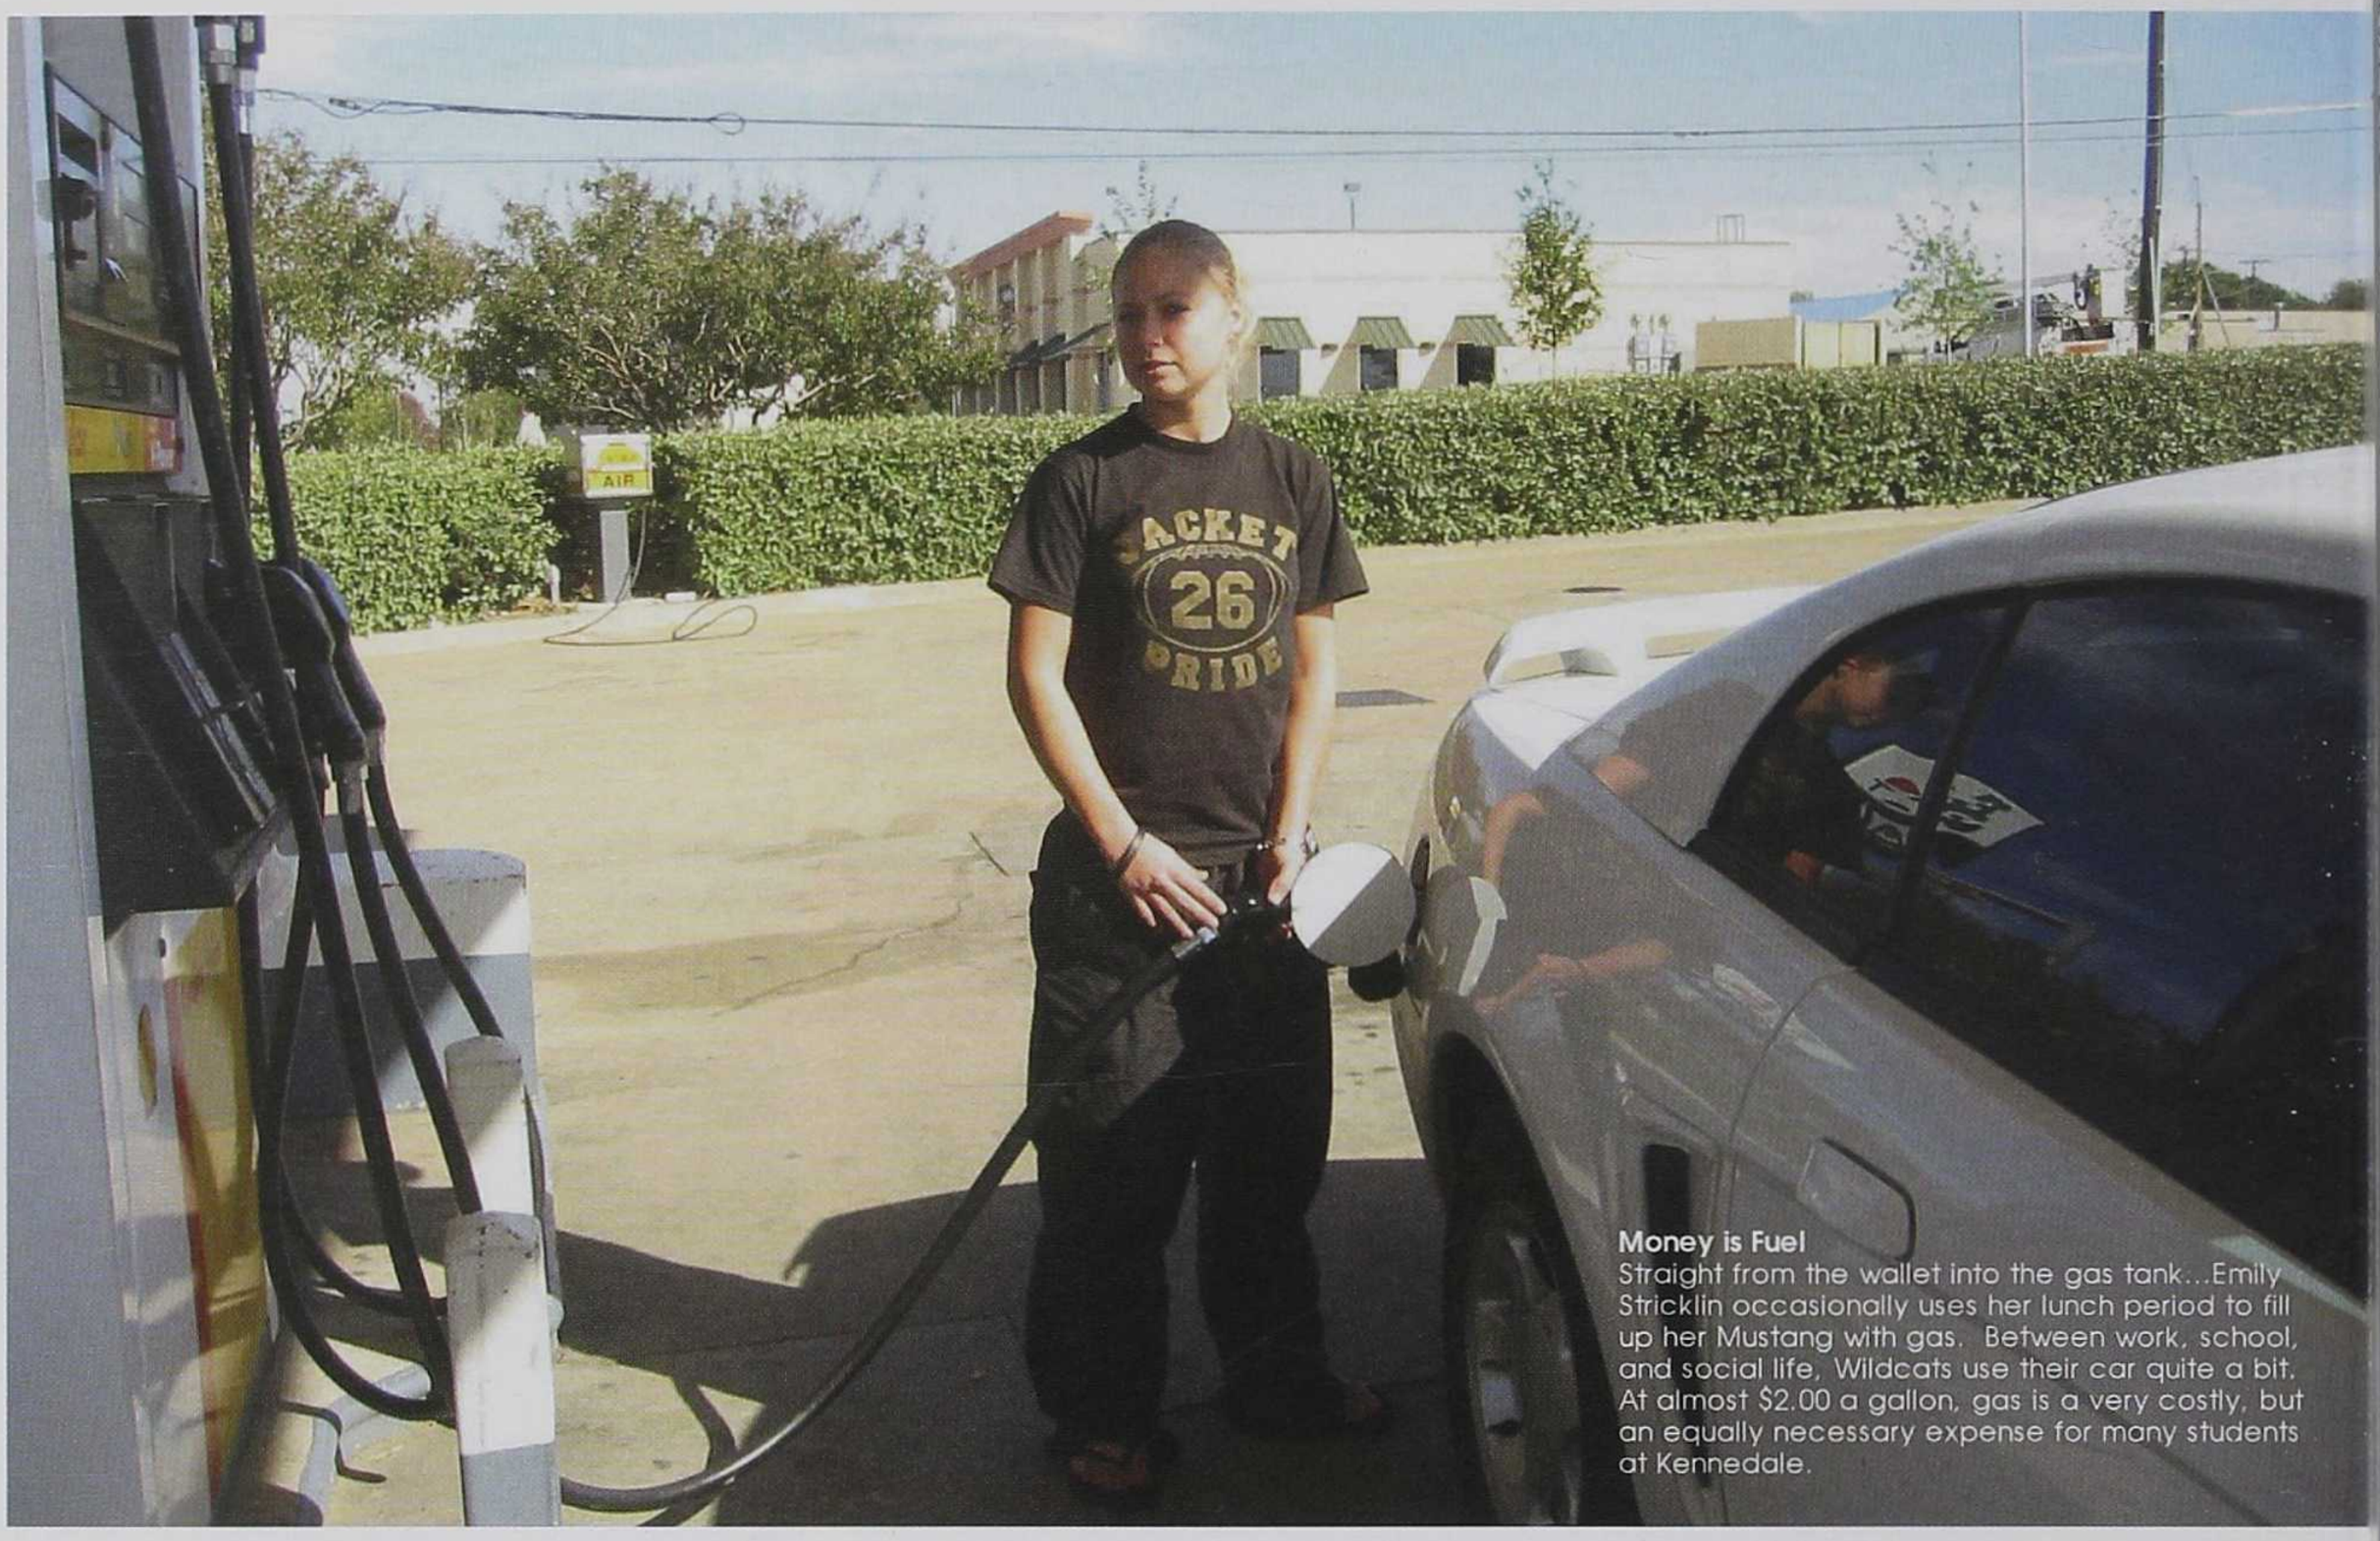
Running on Limited Fund$



Money is Fuel
Straight from the wallet into the gas tank...Emily Stricklin occasionally uses her lunch period to fill up her Mustang with gas. Between work, school, and social life, Wildcats use their car quite a bit. At almost $2.00 a gallon, gas is a very costly, but an equally necessary expense for many students at Kennedale.

▲ Sandwich Crazy
Senior Megan Caldwell goes to Schlotzsky's for lunch pretty often. It's cheap, fast, and relatively close to the school. Oh, and very tasty. How can you lose with a sandwich, drink, and a cookie for under three dollars? It beats a sack lunch any day.

▲ Score at the Store
Re-sale clothes come cheap! At Plato's Closet, you can easily find cute, quality clothes at a much lower price than the mall asks. Heather Spencer often finds adorable, name-brand jeans, and trendy shirts. You can also find belts, shoes, and accessories. There's stuff for guys too!

you SAID it

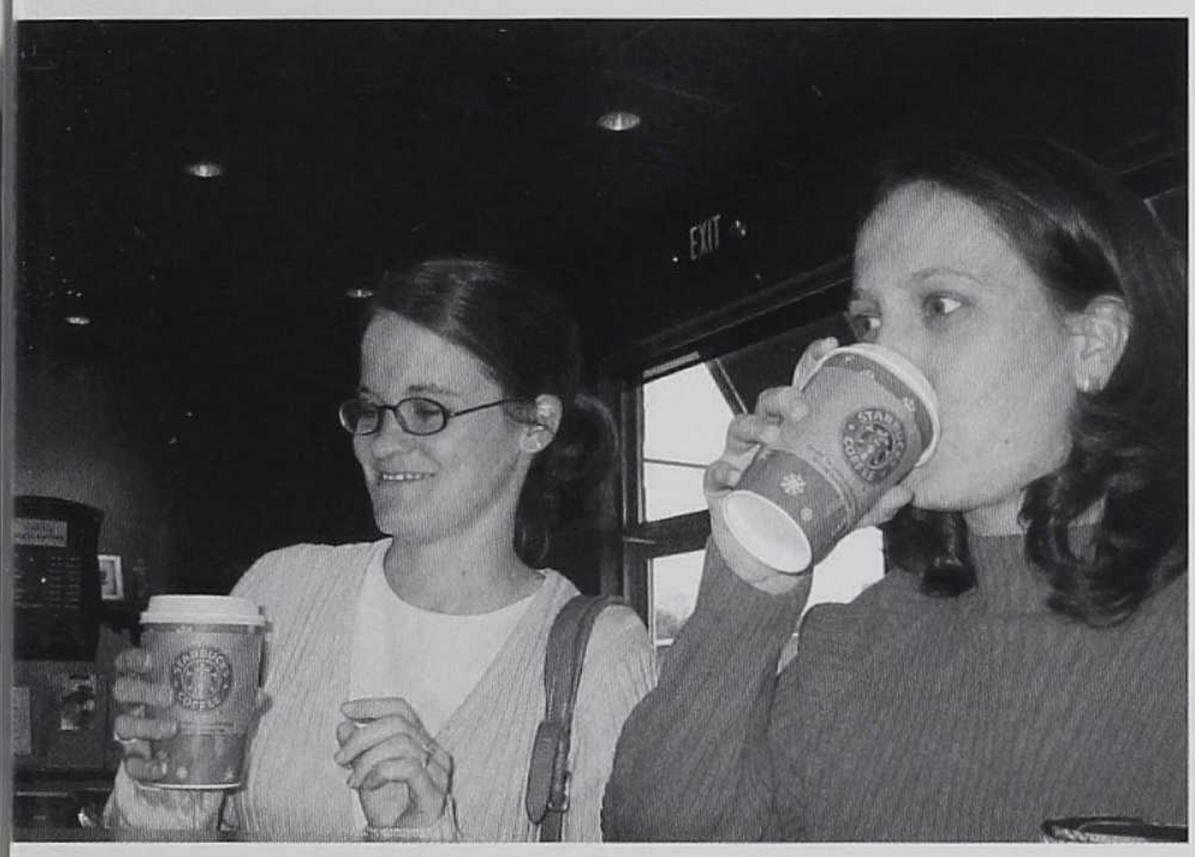
How do you get all your cash?
Valerie Morgan doesn't have a job, but somehow she still always has money. How does she do it?

She says all you gotta do is ask... "'Mama, today I have plans and might need some money. 'May I please have some money?' You have to be nice or she won't give it to you!"

Whatever she's doing, it is definitely working for her!

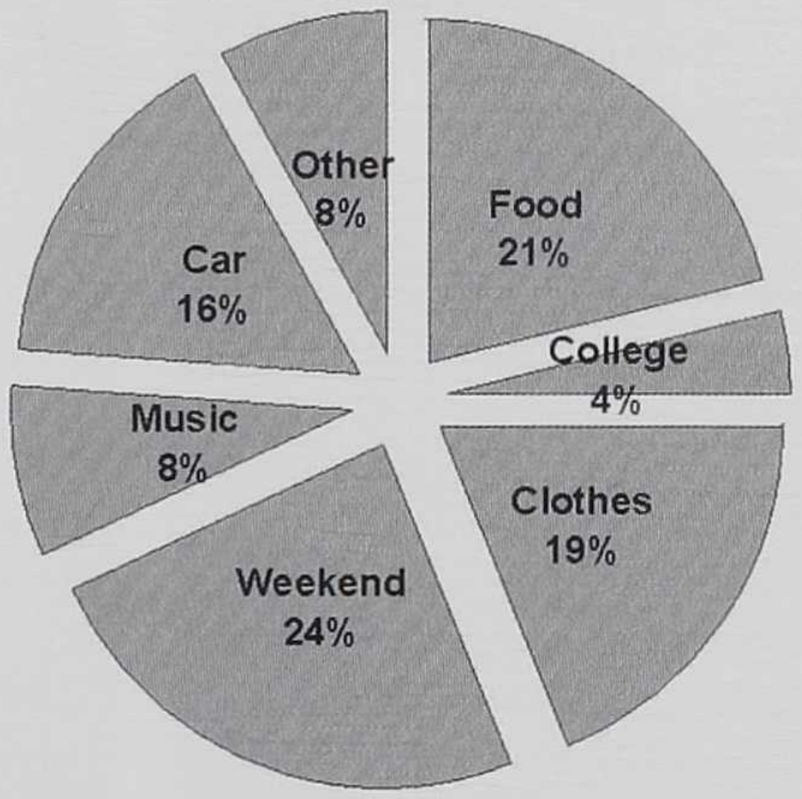
Pucker Up
Hali Hinz works at Creature Comfort. She takes care of pets, making sure they are exercised, fed, and kept up regularly. Not only does she give them the necessities, but she gives them the love they deserve.

Warmth From the Inside Out
Mrs. Thacker and Mrs. Hurst meet at the new Starbucks after school to chill out and warm up. "My favorite coffee depends on my mood. Right now I'm a caramel machiatto. Decaf for the baby," said Mrs. Hurst.



Wildcats Are Cashin' Their Checks

On Fridays when you get your paycheck, or when your parents give you your weekly allowance, how do you plan on spending that cash? Does the majority go to lunches for the week, gas for your car, or do you blow it all at the mall on Saturday? Don't forget that there is a future, and your parents won't be able to pay for EVERYTHING. How many teens are already saving up for post-graduation funds?



Gotta Make the Moola!

When we were younger, we fully relied on our parents to provide us with the necessities, and occasionally a new toy. We didn't need expensive things to hold our attention; we were content with a bucket of water and the dirt in our backyard.

As we grew older, we became needier of our parent's pocketbooks. We had to have the latest style, and of course, shoes to go with it. When high school started, we were handed more responsibility, as well as more opportunities. Cell phones became the latest trend (everyone has one), and the overage charges flew up.

As we progressed to our sophomore and junior years, we had the privilege of driving, and all of us were not fortunate enough to have a new car handed to us. We had to start saving up, but the money found under beds and in couch cushions just wasn't going to cut it. The local grocery store or McDonalds was our next option.

After we acquired the cash to get the car, we needed a brand new system, rims, and seat covers (with matching steering wheel cover). Gas money soaks up a lot of green, and the "cool people" no longer eat in the cafeteria. Thank goodness for the dollar menu. It seems like teens are always needing more money, and never knowing where to find it fast enough.

► Rock Out
Aaron Caruthers, a Kennedale graduate, joins seniors Dale Brunson and Zac Mudd on stage in "The Band". They performed "Great Romances of the 20th Century" and an original piece written by Dale. "The Band" stole third place as well as the audience's hearts.

An Evening With the Stars

Bagpipes, Beauties, & Bands

Every year the Senior Class organizes a talent show to reveal the amazing talent at Kennedale and to raise money for prom. This year we had a great turn out. The show featured some fantastic performances ranging from Chris Miller getting down with the bagpipes to faculty members such as Mrs. Long and Coach Wrenn singing their hearts out. Seniors Lauren Cassady and RaShawn Brooks were our hosts for the evening. They kept the crowd roaring with their witty jokes. Junior Monique Ellis walked away with first place after an incredible performance of an original song. The vocal duet of Lori Higgins and Lyndsey Tarvin took second. Last, but certainly not least, "The Band" featuring Nathan Sparkman, Dale Brunson, Zac Mudd, and Aaron Caruthers captured third place. All the performers did an excellent job showcasing their talent and can be credited with making the entire evening a huge success.

▲ Bass Bumpin'
Sophomore Geoffrey Hinkle, sitting on a stump, performs his guitar solo in a very unique way. Not only was his presentation distinctive from the rest, but the instrumental he performed was written by himself.

▲ Got the Fever?
Elise Martinez and Erin Hunt dazzle the crowd with their dance number titled, "Fever". As freshmen, it was their first year to be featured in the talent show and they did an amazing job.

▲ Amazing Duet
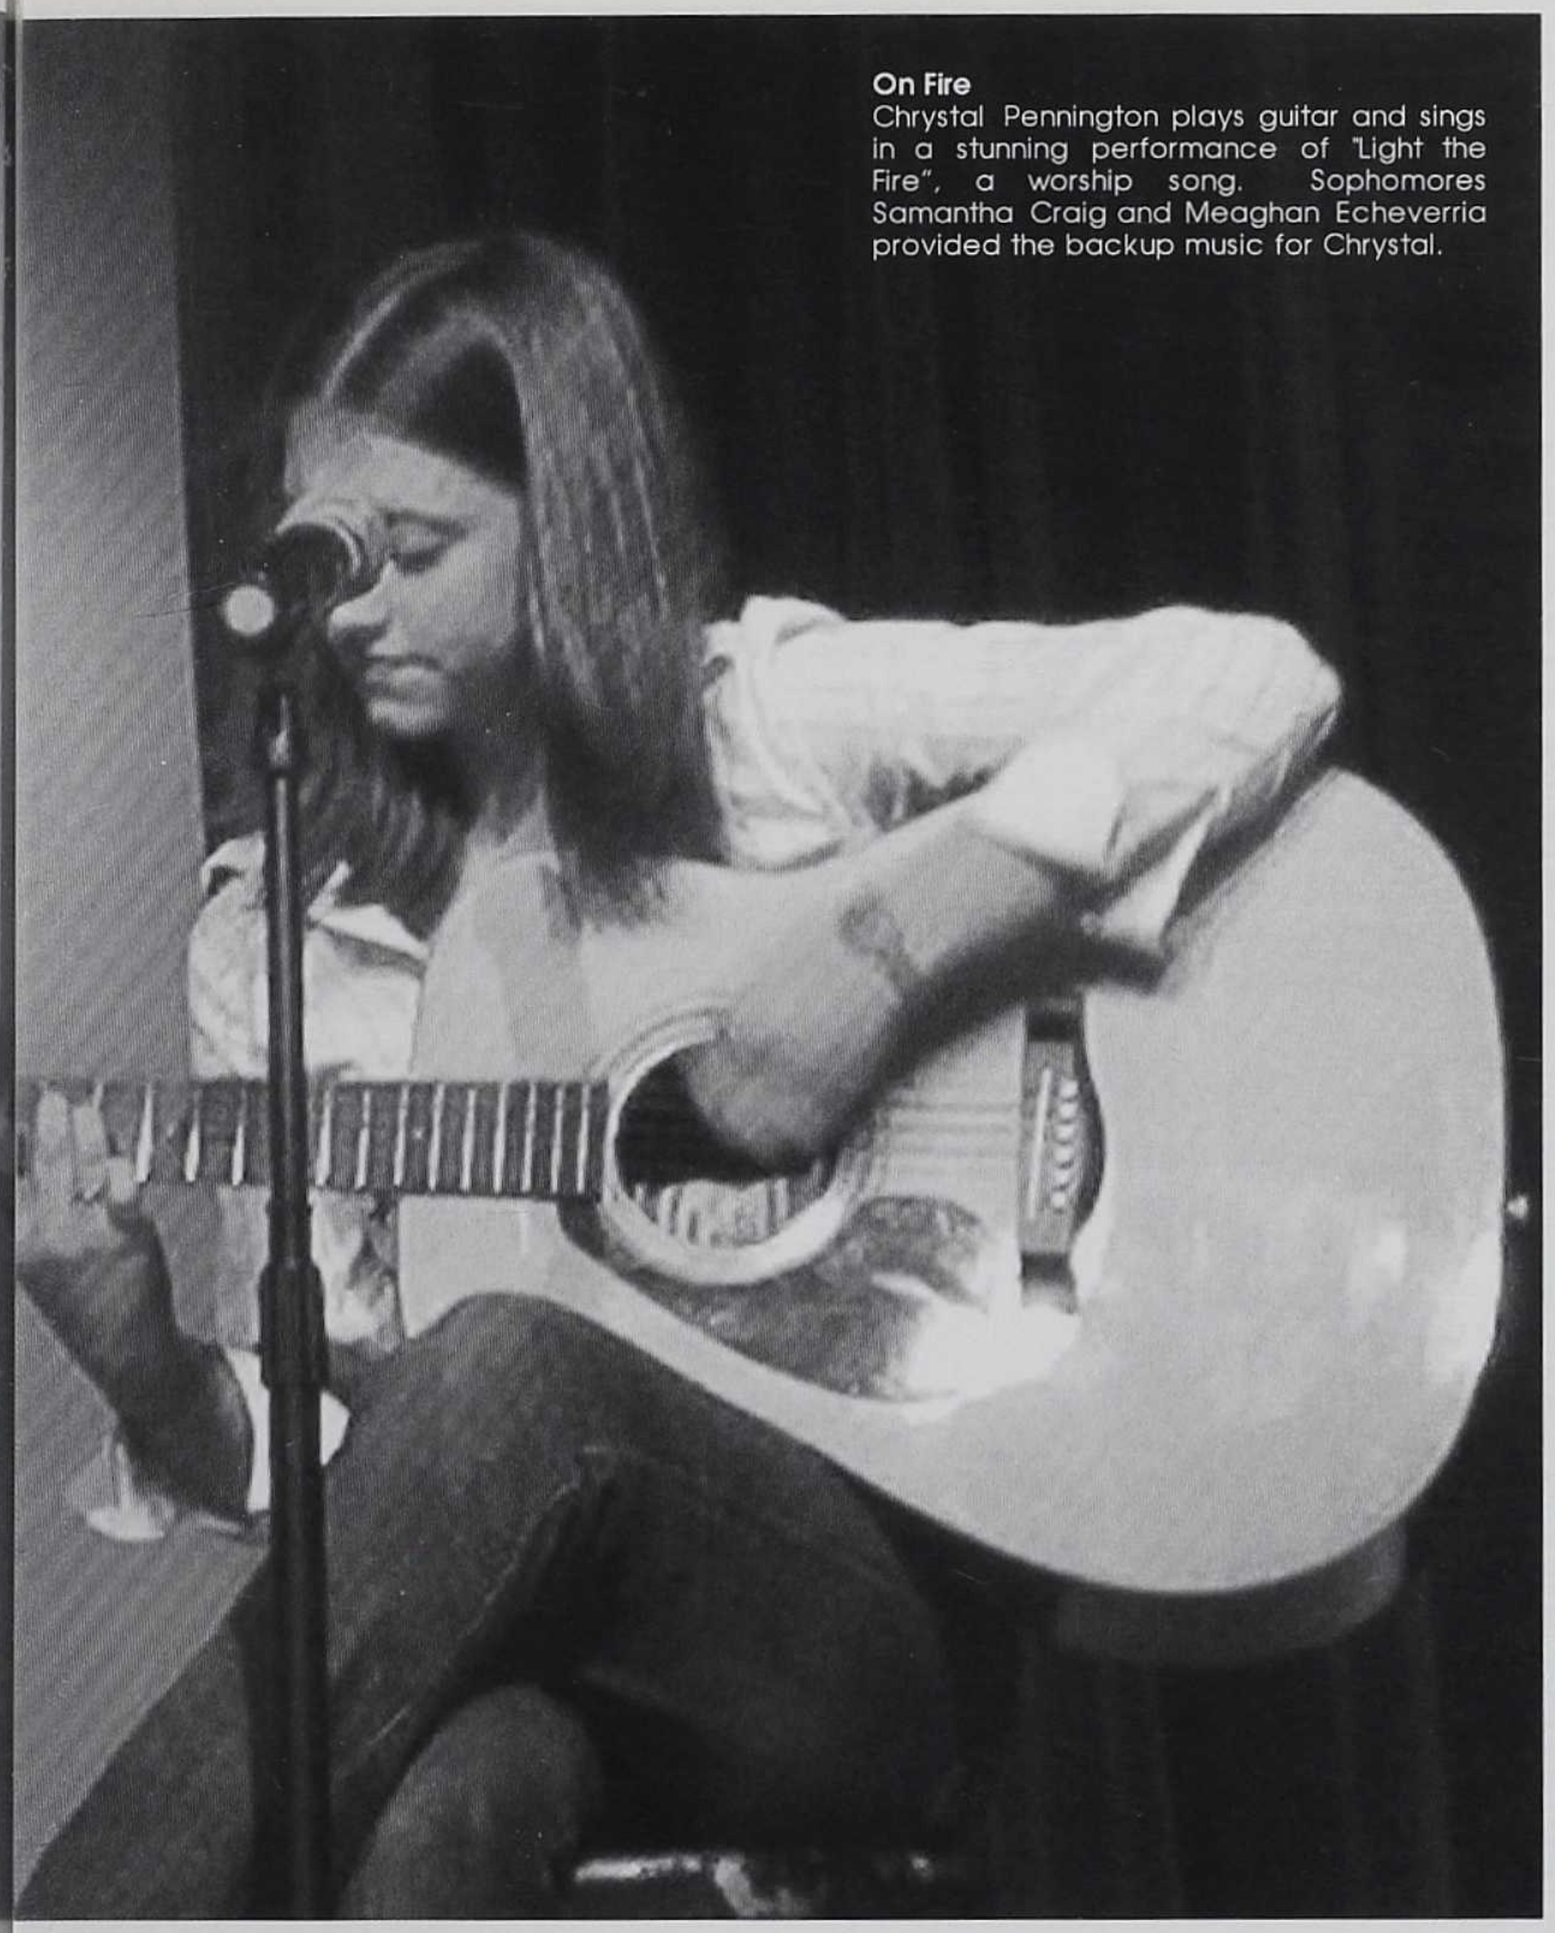
Freshmen Lori Higgins and Lyndsey Tarvin wow both the judges and spectators with their beautiful voices. They sang "Amazing Grace" a cappella and walked away with second place.

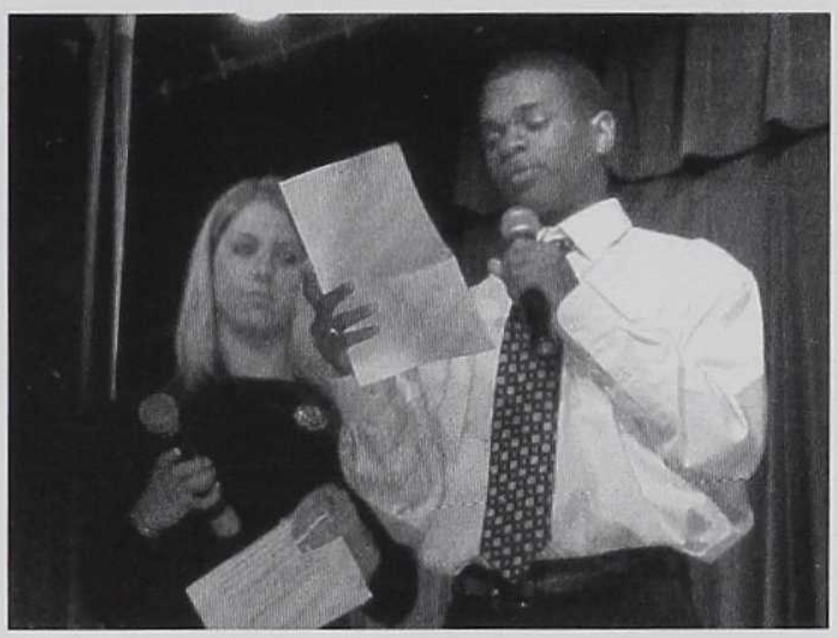


On Fire
Chrystal Pennington plays guitar and sings in a stunning performance of "Light the Fire", a worship song. Sophomores Samantha Craig and Meaghan Echeverria provided the backup music for Chrystal.

▼ American Idol?
Belinda Cook lights up the room with her beautiful rendition of "At Last". Her performance was absolutely amazing and a highlight of the evening.

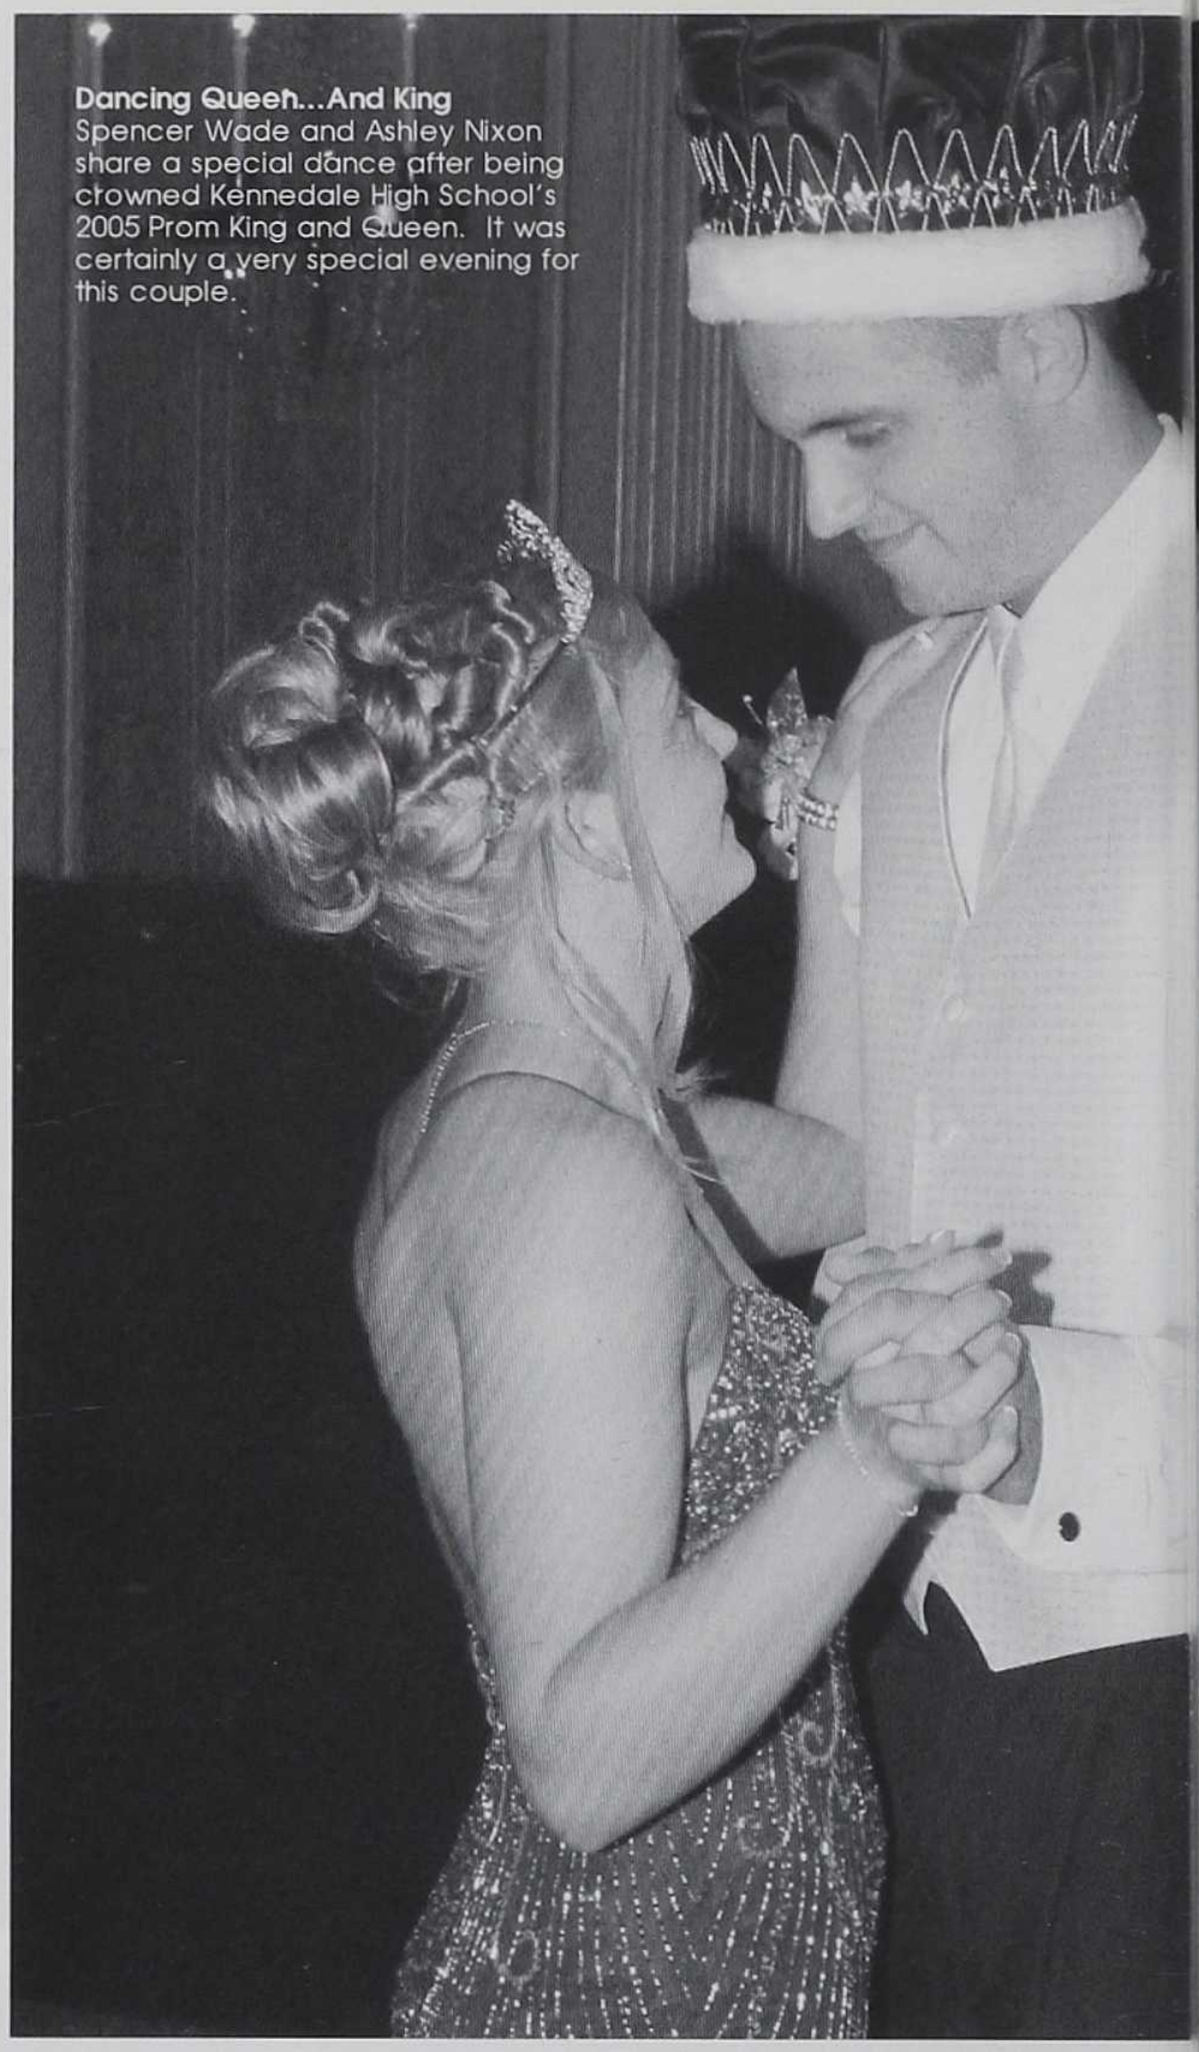
▲ We Love You
Monique Ellis performs an original piece written by herself. "I Love You" apparently impressed the judges because Monique took a first place title and left the talent show $75.00 wealthier.

▲ Gaelic Greatness
Senior Chris Miller performs a Gaelic medley on his bagpipes. This presentation was a cultural twist on the Talent Show. Chris did not skip a beat and did a fantastic job! Everyone was impressed.



▲ Up Next...
RaShawn Brooks announces the next performance as his co-host, Lauren Cassady, waits patiently. The two seniors did a fabulous job keeping the show on a roll.

Dancing Queen...And King
Spencer Wade and Ashley Nixon share a special dance after being crowned Kennedale High School's 2005 Prom King and Queen. It was certainly a very special evening for this couple.



▼ Capture the Moment
Alisha Schroeder and Amanda Rhodes scroll through the pictures on their digital camera to make sure they got the perfect shot. Capturing memories of this special night through pictures was very important, and digital cameras made it easy and affordable.

▲ Men In Black
These fine looking men were happy to escort such beautiful ladies to the prom. Prom is considered a formal event as shown by the tuxedos that these attendees wore. Black was the normal color, but white tuxedos were seen too.

► A Moment Like This

Dancing the Night Away

An Evening in Venice

The planning for this very special night all started four years ago when the senior class entered Kennedale High School as freshmen. The class worked extremely hard during the years to raise money for one incredible evening they'll never forget, and when they arrived at prom on April 9, 2005, they realized it was all worth it. Held at the elegant Fort Worth Club, "An Evening in Venice" was truly an enchanting evening for everyone. The memorable night was full of beautiful attire, dancing, and laughter. After a gourmet dinner and delicious dessert, everybody packed the dance floor to show off their moves. As the music winded down and prom came to a close, Mrs. Thacker and Ms. Plummer proudly crowned Spencer Wade and Ashley Nixon as the 2005 Prom King and Queen. After an amazing time at prom, many students kept the fun alive at the after-prom party, "Welcome Back to Texas, Y'all", held at Fun Fest in Arlington.

▲ Feel Like Dancin'
Senior Daniel Hemphill takes a break from his date to share a dance with a teacher chaperone, Kathy Troyer, during one of the first slow dances of the evening.

▲ Dancin' Away
Seniors and good friends, Joia Jackson and Andria Michalak, live it up on the dance floor with their fun and spirited personalities. Who says you have to dance with the one who brought you?

◄ I Only Have Eyes For You
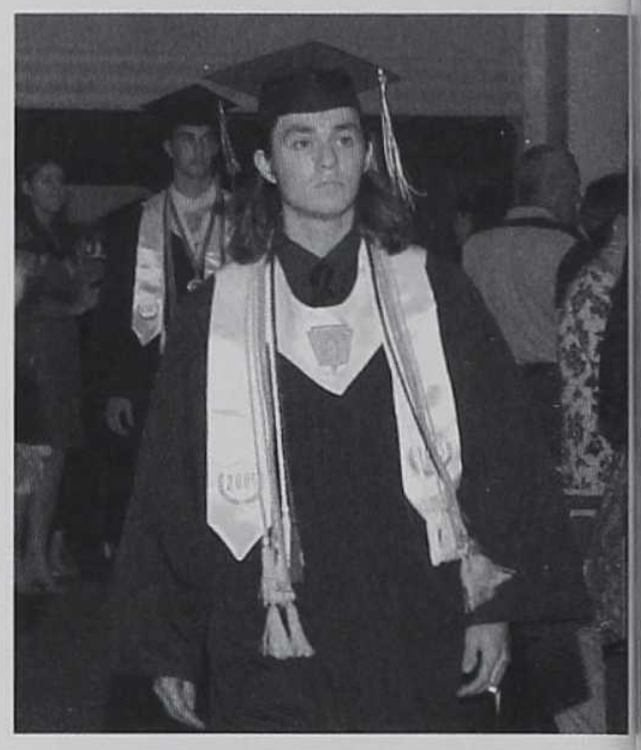
Senior Kim Bales and her date do not seem to notice the extremely crowded dance floor surrounding them as they sweetly gaze into one another's eyes. The few slow songs played were a much appreciated break.

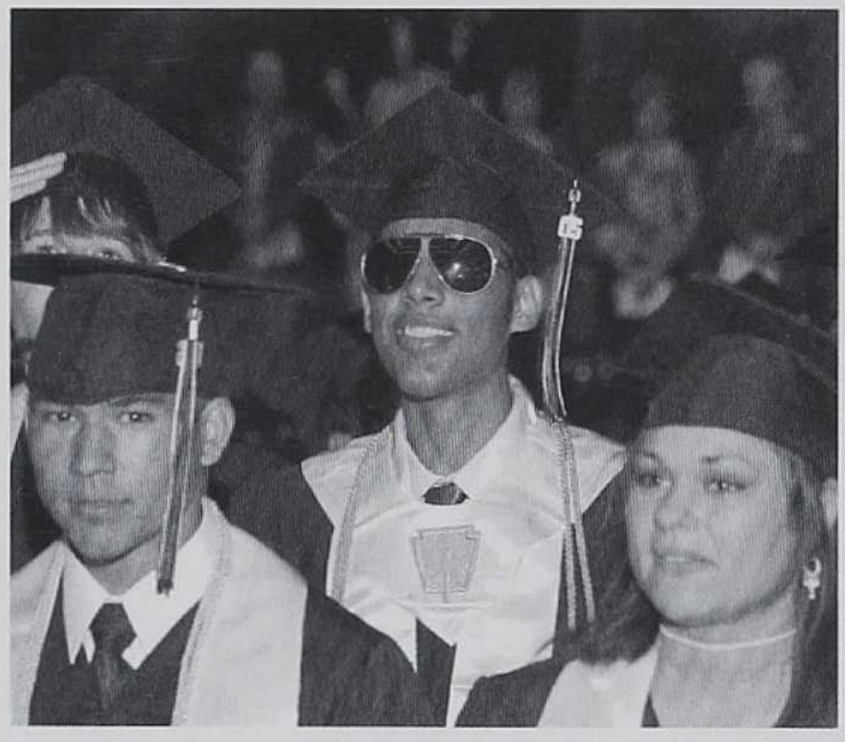
Walking Away

Graduation 2005

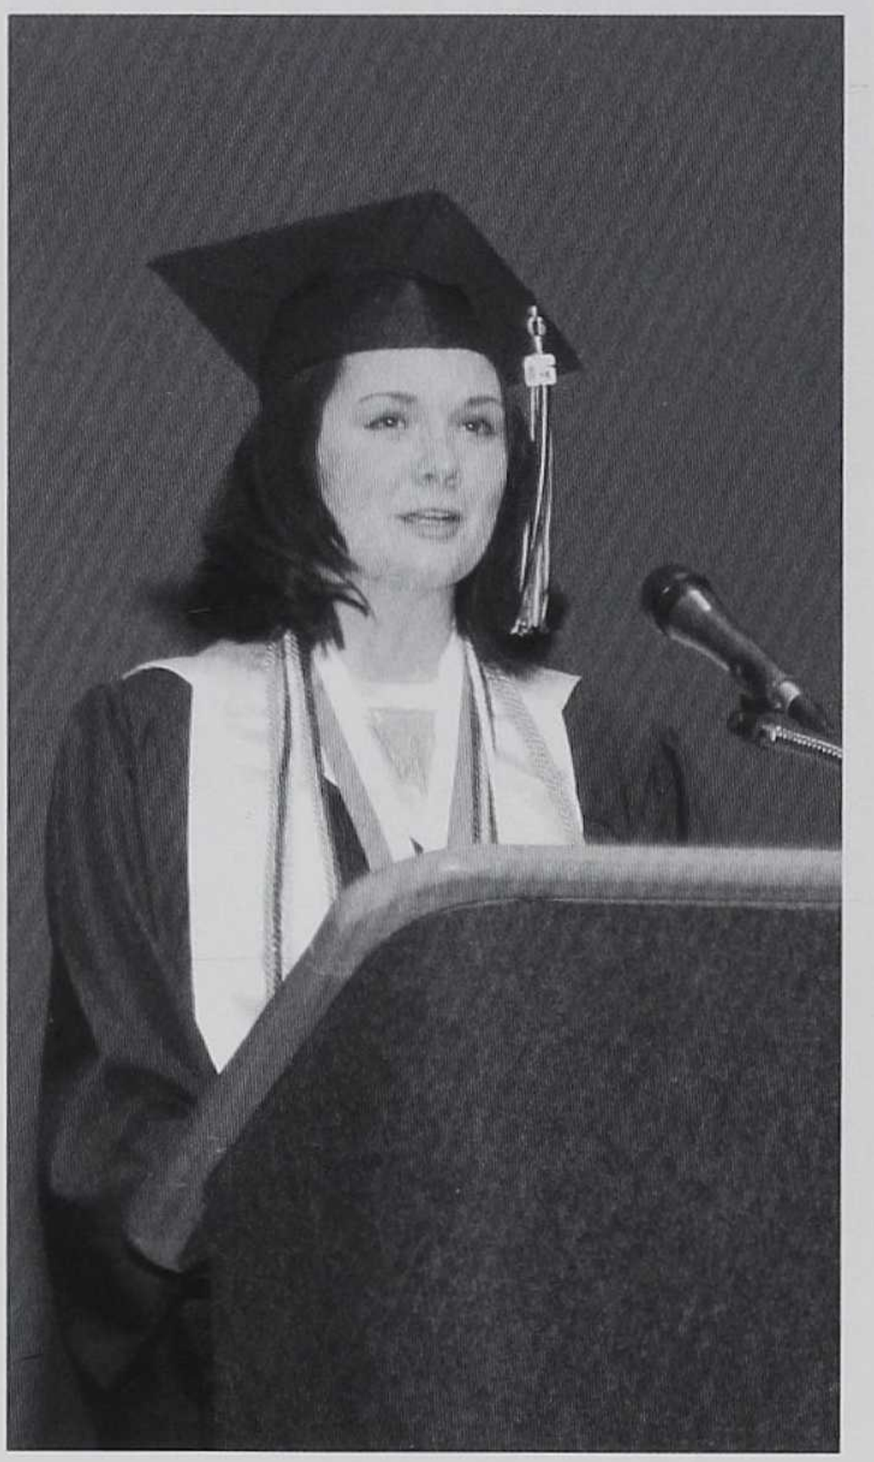
The Class of 2005 said farewell to their classmates and became Kennedale graduates on Sunday, May 30, 2005. The graduation ceremony was held at Will Rogers Coliseum in Fort Worth. It was truly an exciting day for the seniors as they received their diplomas and started the next chapter of their lives. To start off the ceremony, RaShawn Brooks, class historian, delivered the invocation. Valedictorian, Hali Hinz, and salutatorian, Seth Warner, then addressed the class with moving speeches. The senior slide show then followed. After the slide show, senior class president, Ashley Nixon, led the seniors as they turned their tassels to officially become graduates of Kennedale High School. After Mr. Edwards provided some closing remarks to the graduates, and Lexie Hart, class vice-president, gave the benediction, the Class of 2005 united for the last time to sing the Kennedale Alma Mater. With the tassels turned and diplomas in their hands, 13 years of hard work had finally come to an end for the 171 graduates.

▼ Follow Me
Victor Monterroso leads his classmates down the aisle during the processional. Victor vied all year with long-time classmate Seth Warner for the salutatorian spot but was just less than 1/10th of a point from securing it.





▲ Made in the Shade
Junaid Laheji sports his sunglasses as he watches his fellow classmates file into their seats. Graduation was a very emotional, yet exciting time for the seniors.



► Top of the Class
Hali Hinz addresses her classmates in her valedictorian speech. Hali actually graduated early in December to get a head start at the University of North Texas.

◄ Say What?
Krista Dauth uses her cell phone minutes to make a quick call as she hangs out backstage. The graduates had to find ways to combat their anxiety as they waited for the graduation ceremony to begin.

◄ Creative Billboard
This graduate decorated her cap with a special message to her parents. Many graduates used this creative outlet to display messages to their family and friends in the audience.

▲ A Close Second
Salutatorian Seth Warner pays close attention to the speaker. As salutatorian, Seth also addressed his classmates with an inspirational speech.

◄ All Hail to Kennedale
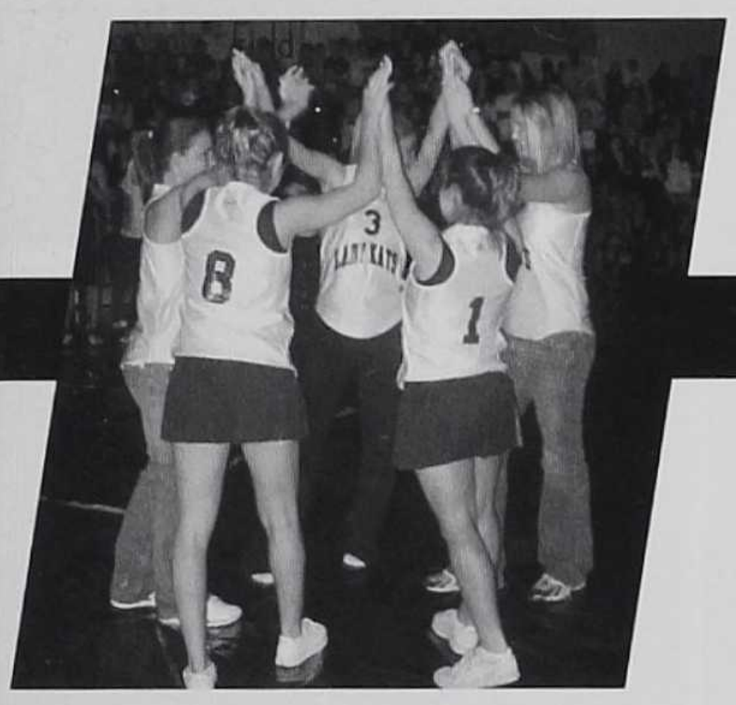
The graduating class of 2005 stands together one last time to sing the Kennedale alma mater. It was a very emotional moment for the graduates and their families.

Rockin' Out
Jenny Clark busts out some tunes in her French II class. For a class project Jenny had to write a song in French and perform it for the entire class. Jenny said, "The assignment was to write a song of random verbs to help us learn them better." Mrs. Brunson always thinks of creative ways to help her students understand the concept of learning new verbs.

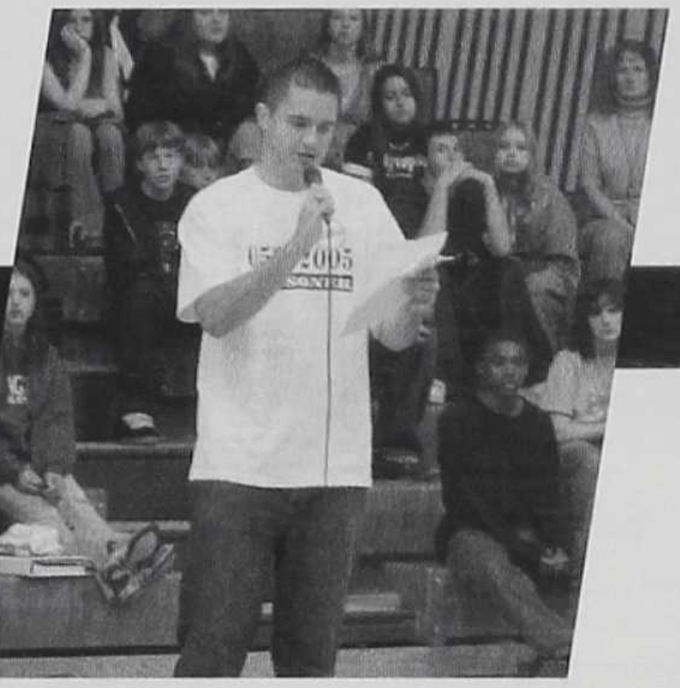
Limitless Possibilities

You Make Up This School

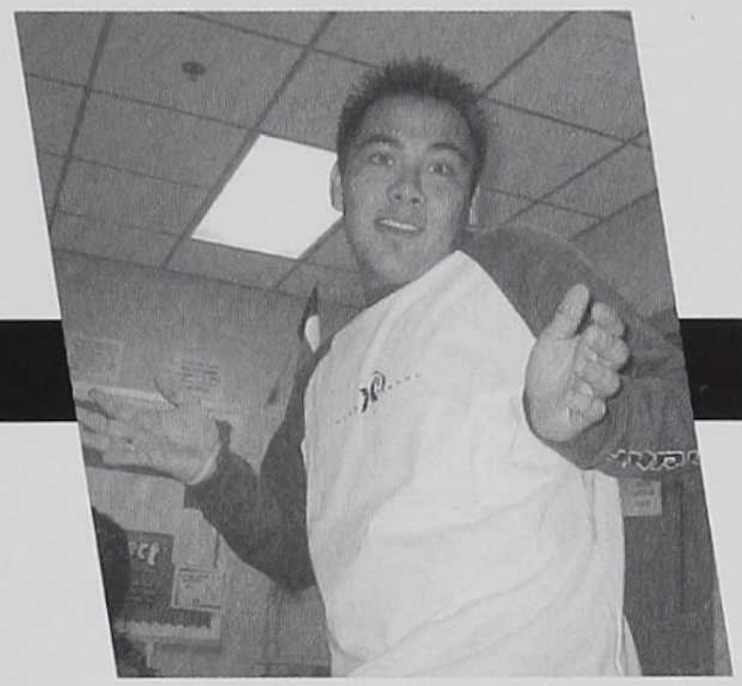


Classes aren't always our favorite thing to do as students, but they are an part of getting an education. Sometimes they can be hard and challenging, but when you have a great class and a teacher that loves teaching it makes it just that much easier to understand. "World History is my favorite class because Coach Trantham makes everything exciting to learn," said Lindsey Dougherty.

The teachers at KHS help make everything possible for the students to succeed in their studies and in life. "I think teaching is the greatest job in the world. It's never boring and we have a chance to make a difference," said Mrs. Brunson. Mrs. Balthrop said, "I teach because it is preparing me to be a Wal-Mart greeter. When the students walk in I say, 'Welcome to English I. How may I help you?'"



Every year at Kennedale High School we have a few students that stand out above the rest. Spencer Wade is one of those few. Spencer includes his studies and athletics in his daily life. He plays Varsity soccer and takes part in FCA, NHS, and is the secretary for the Senior Class. He has a solid reputation with his peers and teachers. "Spencer Wade has a great understanding sense of humor," said Mrs. Thacker.



Class of 2005

Life as a Senior...

Senior Year! You are so close to graduating it is almost unbearable. Late arrival, early dismissal, blow off classes, and being at the top of the school are all things you look forward to finally doing. Along with these perks also come many events that you will only experience one more time. Homecoming, senior pep rally, prom, and spirit week will fly by and soon it will all be over. Finding the perfect college and scoring high on the S.A.T. is a last minute stress that seniors try to tackle in the last moments of their senior year. Soon everyone will be going their separate ways and this year is all about making memories and holding on to them as long as you can.

13 Year Seniors

◄ Long Lost Friend
Cody Nichols relaxes in the bean bag chair where he once read Where the Wild Things Are. The monster from the book was his best friend when he was a youngster.

In 1992, this group of seniors came together for the first time as kindergarten students at what was then known as Kennedale Primary. As time passed, many students came and went, but this special group remained in KISD throughout the years. Being lifelong classmates bonded these members in the class of 2005 together and it was this common bond that made their graduation bittersweet. Although they would no longer be classmates they knew that Kennedale High school would be a place they could always call home.

Tight Fit
Lauren McCarty and Khristian Carnagie remember what it was like to glide down the tiny slides. "My favorite thing in school was recess, the best part was being able to talk to all my friends!" says Lauren McCarty.

▲ Amelia Goes to School
Katie Hampton humorously reads her favorite Amelia Badelia book to Sarah Baird, Jessica Swindell, and Khristian Carnagie. Katie remembers her first grade teacher, Ms. Medditch, patiently teaching her and her classmates the basics of reading.

◄ Pulling Out the Records
Angie Olivares digs through Delaney's library in search of old pictures of her and friends. Ms. Hester, the librarian, has diligently kept all the past yearbooks since before Angie even knew what school was.

◄ Blast From the Past
A close group of seniors recollect the memories from a decade ago. Starting out as classmates on the first scary day of kindergarten, they never imagined they day when they would graduate together 13 years later.

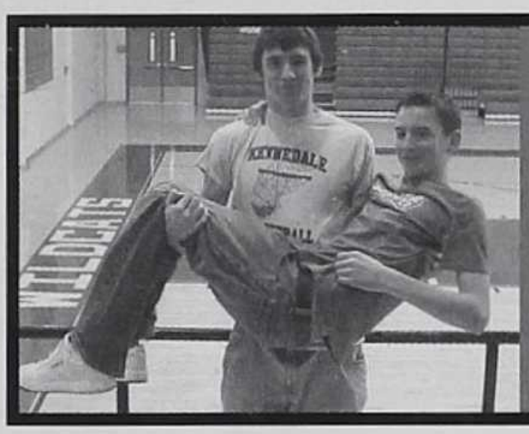
Dear Kelsey (Johnson Jr.),

My words of advice to you is to find something you love and do it forever. Follow your dreams and one day if you want it bad enough they will come true.

Sincerely,
Chase (The Johnson)

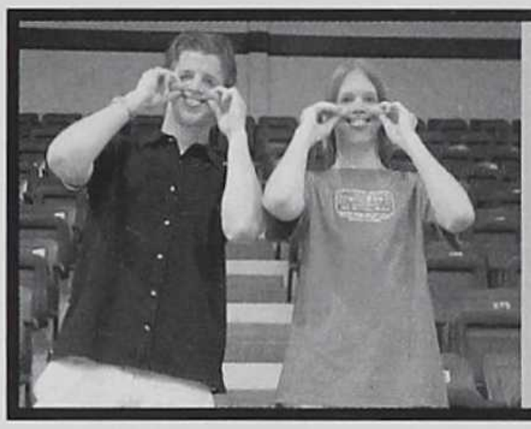
Seth-
If you ever need a laugh just remember "Cha-tea La-ta" or Jehovah's witness. Haha! I'm gonna miss you a lot, and I hope every time you hear country music you'll think of me and remember my singing. Good luck in college!

Love,
Simone



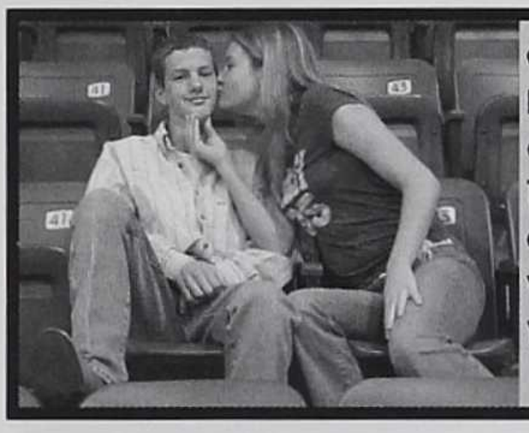
Mom loves me more.
- Kye

No, she loves me more.
- Kiefer



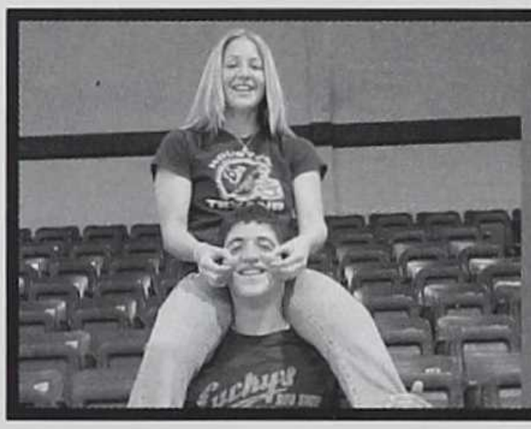
Cameron,
Don't eat the cafeteria salad at the end of the week.

- Zac



Chase,
Make sure your school work comes 1st and STAY OUT OF TROUBLE! Work hard in everything you do and you will be successful in anything you do. Love ya cowboy!

- Brittany



Adam,
Never let anyone bring you down, you enjoy your high school days and remember to always follow your dreams.

Love,
Ashley

Shannon Leigh,
Advice...hmm... well you know that mushy "follow your dreams" stuff! Yea, do that but remember most importantly to have fun! Keep your priorities first, sports come first! I can't wait until you join me as a Red Raider! You're a super sister and I love you so much!

Love,
Lauren

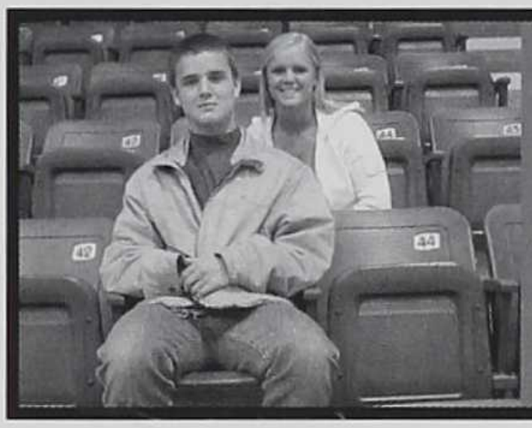
David-
Do some good stuff, some productive stuff, some stuff stuff... but nothing to wild, you crazy kid.

- Nathan

Following Footsteps

Siblings Left Behind

Growing up in high school can be tough, so who better to be by your side than your brother or sister. The saying goes, 'Blood is thicker than water", because your friends will come and go but your family is always there for you. As the class of 2005 moves off to college, they will leave behind siblings and will be missed very much by all those who love them.



JJ-
Follow your dreams. Do what you want, not what others want you to do.

-Kayce

To Macey,
Always have the courage to stand up for yourself when you need to, and the discipline to keep your lips sealed (like our theme song). I love you and sorry I won't be here to scare those seniors off next year!

- Adrian

Class of 2006

Life as a Junior...

You are one year away from being a senior and it is finally sinking in that you are growing up. In just one year you will be applying for college and deciding how you will spend the rest of your life. Taking the S.A.T., going to prom, and getting your first job are all things that go hand in hand with your junior year. As some of your senior friends are getting ready to leave and go their separate ways, you are just now deciding what colleges you are interested in visiting. Juniors are really just trying to enjoy their lasts moments as a teenager. Taking this year slow is the smart thing to do because next year everything will fly by and it will all be over before you know it.

You Said It...

"I was just walking down the hall with everyone pushing and shoving their way through when a couple of guys started hitting each other and knocked me on the floor. I popped a vein and scrapped my elbow."
- Sharon Gilkey

▲ Calm Down Buddy
About once a week there is a fight that just adds more chaos to the hallway madness. Most of the time it is just a verbal argument, but it really causes a riot in the halls. Everyone runs to to get a glimpse of the action.

▲ Shoulder To Shoulder
Pushing and shoving your way through the crowd is just another part of a normal day at KHS. It can get a bit crazy when 871 people are trying to get to class at the same time. There is always that group of people talking right in the middle of the hallway or the people who simply do not know how to walk. When you put students who are avoiding class and students that are running to make the bell in the same hallway, it can be very frustrating but we do manage to survive it.

Tanning

▶ Tropical Tan

Perfect golden skin with no tan lines to look just perfect on the beach or prom night is exactly what every girl and the occasional boy attempts to achieve by lathering in lotion and sitting in a bed of UV rays. It isn't exactly the most enjoyable experience, but the results really pay off. To the right, Belinda Cook, Meagan McMahan, and Sarah Hayes bake in the tanning beds at Planet Beach tanning salon. Tanning with friends is so much more fun.

Class of 2007

Life as a Sophomore...

You have been in high school for one year now and everything is familiar. You have finally settled down and experienced everything for the first time. It's no longer all fun and games...it's time to get down to business. The classes get a little bit harder as you begin to tackle more advanced courses. Teachers also expect more from you because you are no longer the youngest group. During your sophomore year, you try to figure out what clubs you want to participate in and what sports you want to continue to play. It presents many choices and ultimately determines what type of student you will be in the future years at KHS!

Sweet 16

Clear the Roads...Here They Come!

"On my 16th b-day I spent the day with my best friend, Trista. We spent the day eating and going to see movies and blowing our money. My mom wouldn't tell me about my cake even though I asked her all that week. When Trista & I came back that night, she'd had it dropped off and waiting - it was strawberry, my favorite! It looked exactly like a license, which I guess is to remind me to study for my permit! I don't have my permit yet, but am taking my test soon and then will have my license! I will get a big farm truck like my sister and probably total it the first week." - Stephanie Baird

Did you get a car on your 16th birthday?

88% of you did not!

12% of you did! Lucky!!

"I had a great birthday! Everyone at school made it the best. Cheyserr and Valerie made me a cake. I got sang to about 3 times. My parents gave me $300 to spend on whatever I want, and I got a car from my mom. She gets to drive it until I actually get my license. My friend Mikey got me my first rosary. My boyfriend Sam got me lots of gifts. I had the best birthday anyone could ever ask for! - Cortney Trahan

Off Limits!

Almost everyone you know has a cell phone these days. It is hard to imagine a time when we could not call our friends or family in the car or at the mall. Just what would we do without them? From calling parents to text messaging friends, cell phones are definitely the way to keep in touch. Although most students have cell phones, they are still not allowed in school. Despite the ban, many students try to sneak a text message in class or make a call between classes. However, these students usually get caught!

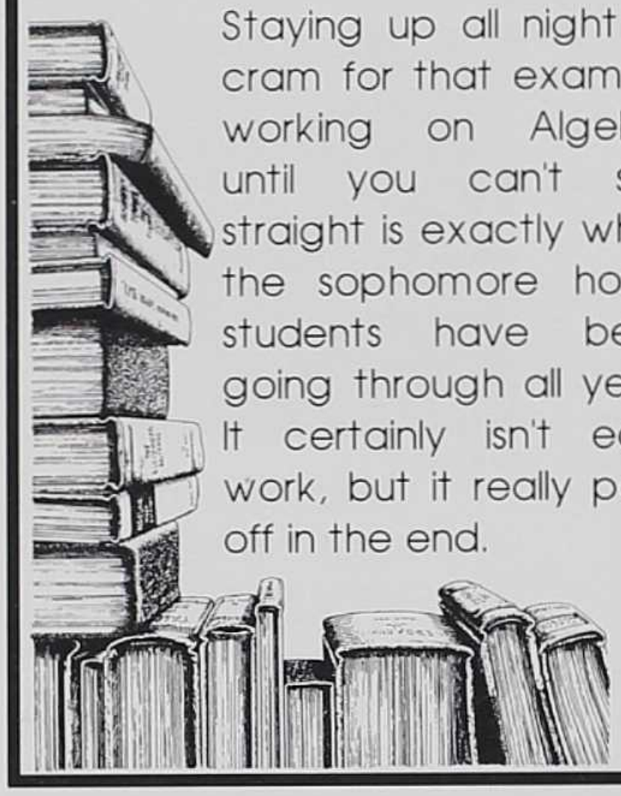
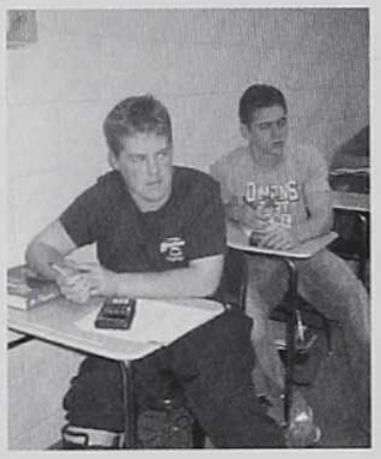
Academic Overload



Staying up all night to cram for that exam or working on Algebra until you can't see straight is exactly what the sophomore honor students have been going through all year. It certainly isn't easy work, but it really pays off in the end.

Academic Excellence



▲ Practice, Practice
Zach Waters is trying hard to understand the lesson in his honors class. It will take a lot of practice and homework to get it down perfect.

▼ Attention Span
An Algebra II Honors student focuses intensely on the day's lesson. Mr. Harper will teach all period if that is what it takes for his students to understand the difficult lessons.

▲ Sponge Mind
Tara Jones listens carefully to a lecture and soaks in all the information that will be covered on their next test. Taking notes during a lecture is an important part of doing well in any class.

It's definitely not easy learning a foreign language! Little by little students are trying hard to master the skills it takes to be a fluent speaker. They begin by starting with the basics like the ABC's and 123's and then move on to more difficult tasks like having an entire conversation or giving a presentation.

Life as a Freshman...

Everyone remembers the feeling of being an underdog in a strange place. Being a freshman is full of new surroundings and scary experiences. As a freshman you must adjust to a new school, new peers, and new teachers. All of this change can cause stress, but at the same time can build maturity. Pep rallies, Spirit Week, and Homecoming are some of the events that freshmen will finally get to be involved in firsthand. Going from the top of your school in junior high to the very bottom in just a short period of two months is a big change, but the good thing is, it only gets easier from here!

The trend was launched with the yellow LiveStrong bracelets to help fight cancer, but soon turned into a rainbow of bracelets supporting many different causes. There have been bracelets for charities varying from breast cancer to the Tsunami relief. This fashionable trend has definitely made its mark in society and a real difference around the world.

Tsunami devastates Southern Asia

Could you imagine in one split second a wave coming through your town and ruining your whole life? This is the question that arose in the minds of many Kennedale High School students as they watched the Tsunami tragedy strike right before their eyes. With each day the victim list grew by the thousands and with each moment another family was broken apart. In this time of despair and hardship, Kennedale students came together to express their compassion and collect money to send to the Tsunami tragedy victims. This natural disaster has made students realize how blessed they are to have the small things we take for granted each day like family and shelter.

▲ Sea of Sorrow
Along with the death of many lives, the Tsunami left its devastating mark by destroying the homes, cars, and the streets of South Asia in a short period of hours.

A Tsunami Remembrance

▲ Links of Loss
The Applied History and Social Studies classes put together a visual remembrance in honor of the people who lost their lives in the Tsunami. The visual remembrance is a chain of 25,000 links. Each link represents ten to twelve lives lost in the tragedy. This project helped Kennedale students keep in mind how blessed they are to have family, homes, and safety.

Freshmen Fear

Starting Over At the Bottom

You've purchased all your school supplies and have your clothes laid out. Tomorrow is your first day of school...ready or not. The feelings of excitement and fear run through your head almost simultaneously. You might trip and fall in the hallway or be flirted with by the hottest guy on campus, nobody really knows. Tomorrow is the first day of your path to graduation and it is so close you can feel it in your stomach. Although it seems tough, Kennedale freshmen seemed to take the first day drama pretty well. Nobody met the man of their dreams or tripped while running to get to class on time. They just came to school with positive outlooks and had fun! Isn't that what high school is all about?

How Was Your First Day of School?

a Fresh Start

A Balancing Act

It is a well-known fact that teachers have their hands full in the classroom. Now add the responsibility of coaching to that already prestigious career and you have one busy life. Kennedale High School is very privileged to have such a talented and dedicated group of coaches. So just how do they juggle coaching, teaching, and their family at home? The three coaches we chose had a lot to say about this particular topic. It is safe to state that they are experts at the task.

Coach Rhonda Brunson

"Since I love both teaching and coaching drill team, it has never been difficult to balance the two. I think the secret is to stay organized and have a great big calendar. (And it never hurts to be a little bit crazy!!!!!!!!)"

Coach Natasha Stewart

"I believe in the power of prayer so I ask God for guidance, strength, and the ability to balance my career and family life in general. It is imperative that I stay organized in the classroom and on the court. I have to prioritize and make sure things of importance get done first. I put a great deal of effort in making sure stress is kept at a minimum. It is critical to living a happy and healthy life."

Coach Paul Trantham

"I don't think there is anyway to balance coaching and teaching. You just do whatever you need to to get the job done because you don't want to short change the kids in the classroom or on the field. I feel I'm really lucky that my two kids know this is what their dad does, not who he is and I have their support. I believe it's not a job, it's fun, and I'm very fortunate to be at KHS, where else can you get paid to play?"

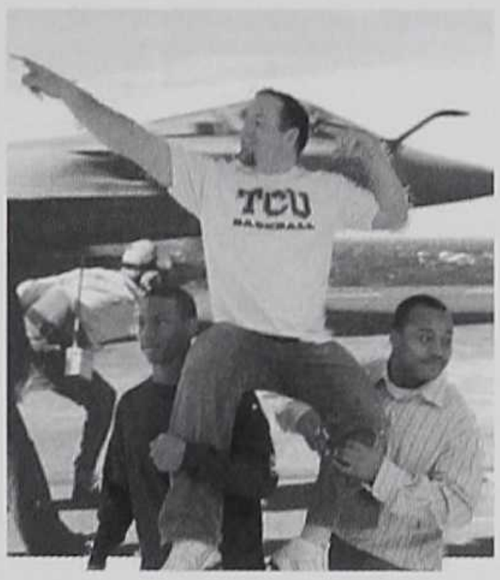
"...a physical therapist, then a dermatologist, then I thought I wanted to work in advertising. I was an indecisive child. How did I ever end up a teacher?"

Coach Sam Riley



"My dream career when I was young was to be a pilot. I always dreamed of landing on an aircraft carrier after flying an important mission and being hoisted on people's shoulders like Tom Cruise on Top Gun."

Mr. Doug Parker

"I had two... either a professional baseball player, and if that didn't work out, some guys and I had a small singing group. We were bound and determined to be like "Steppenwolf", but with a soft "Beatles" sound as well. What would we be without dreams?"

As children, many of us had what seemed like unreachable dreams of becoming the next doctor, astronaut, or superstar. Likewise, the teachers at our school once had the same big dreams when they were young. However, these teachers compromised their goals for something greater...a chance to help us reach our dreams. While the doctors and lawyers of today will only be remembered for a few more short years, our teachers will touch hearts for a lifetime.

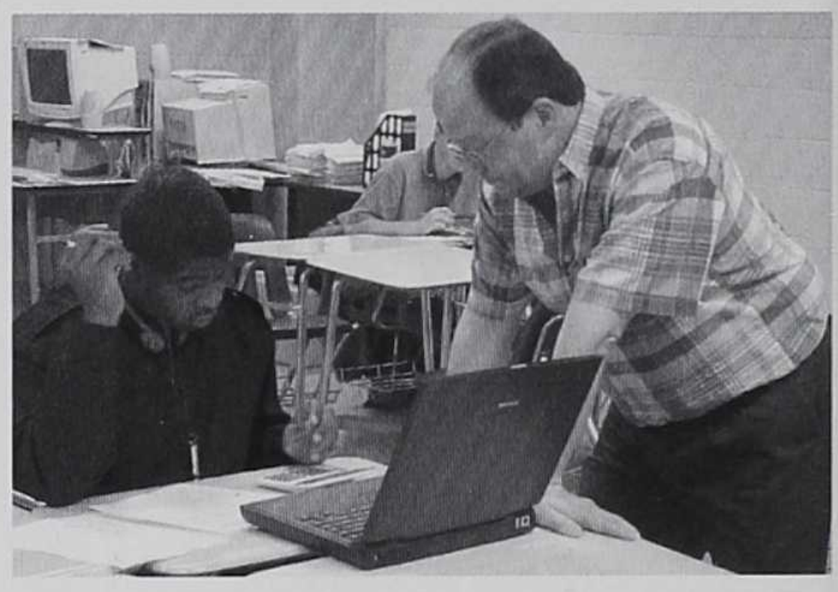
◄ Everybody Here?
Coach Brad Horton quickly takes attendance before he starts his lecture in World Geography. This was Coach Horton's first year teaching at the high school but second year as the boys' Varsity soccer coach.

► Keep on Calculating
Mr. Keith Derrick helps a student with his math homework on the laptop. When asked why he has such a passion for teaching he stated, "By teaching, I am able to experience new opportunities."



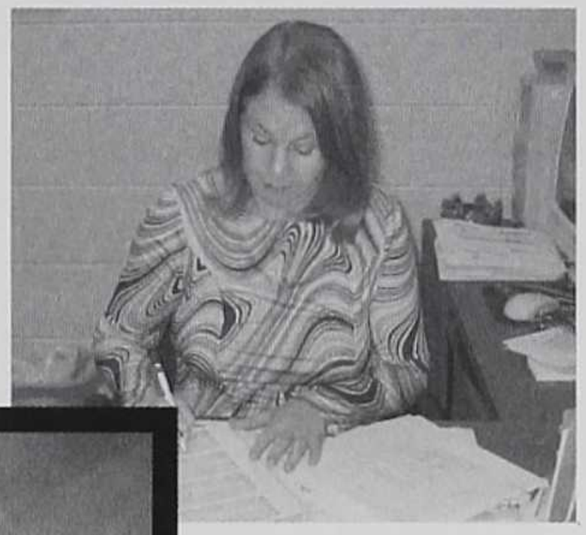
Teacher of the Year - Julie Naughton

Julie Naughton has been involved in the public school system for seven years, three of which we at Kennedale have been privileged to have her. She enjoys teaching because she gets to "help people think about the life they want to create for themselves." Specifically, she likes Kennedale because of the very supportive faculty and the small school environment that allows her to get to know the students over the years. In her spare time, Julie loves to spend time with her family which consists of her husband of 23 years, Paul, her two daughters Katie and Keely, and her poodle, Emmy.

"Have fun in high school, but take your education seriously. The world is a very competitive place and you need to prepare well for it."

Advice from Mrs. Naughton

Paraprofessional of the Year - Teresa Roden



"Find out God's purpose and destiny for your life and pursue it with passion."

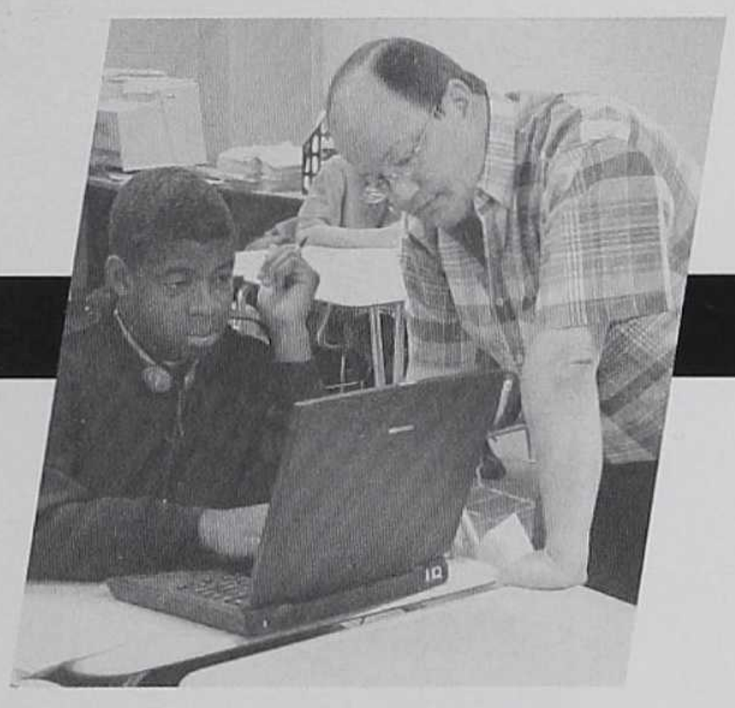
Advice from Mrs. Roden

Teresa Roden has been a member of the KHS faculty for six years. She can always be found in her office busily working. Mrs. Roden enjoys working here because it keeps her busy and she is able to do many different things. She states that every day is a new adventure. She likes KHS because there are so many wonderful people and she enjoys the family atmosphere that she shares with the individuals here. When she's not in the front office, she enjoys reading, walking, and swimming. Being with her family, husband Johnny, and children is another way she likes to spend her time.

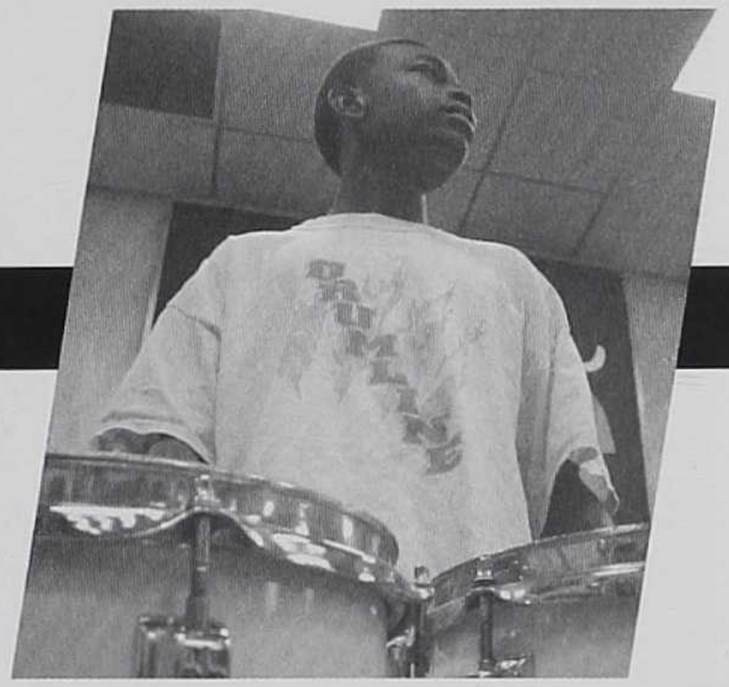
Splish Splash
Shelbi Reeves dives into the Slip-n-Slide during one of the FCA Olympic party games. Fellowship of Christian Anybodies gathered together for their first party of the year on September 13th. Shelbi came out on top and won a first place victory for the junior class with her outrageous stunts before her classic dive. "I enjoy being in FCA because I can get together with my friends and learn more about God," said Shelbi.

Pushing for Perfection

Wildcats Break All Barriers

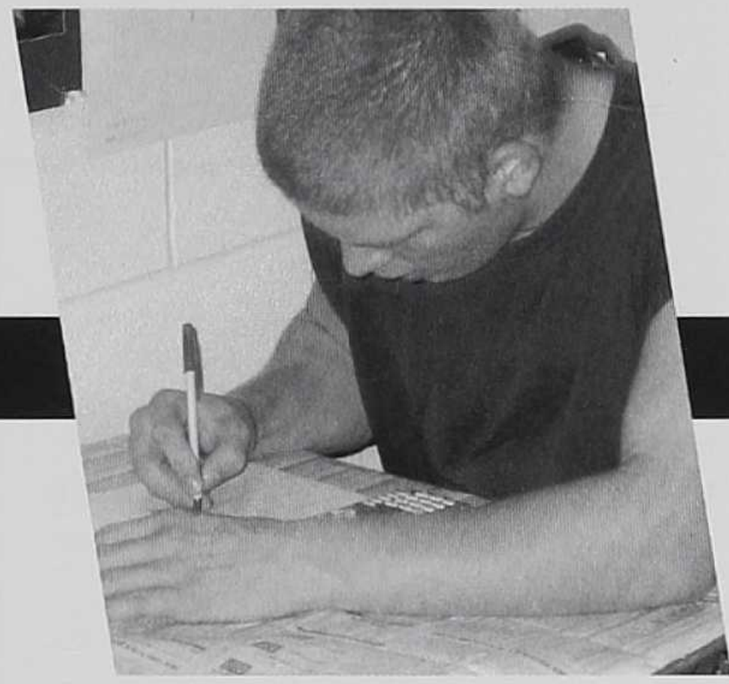


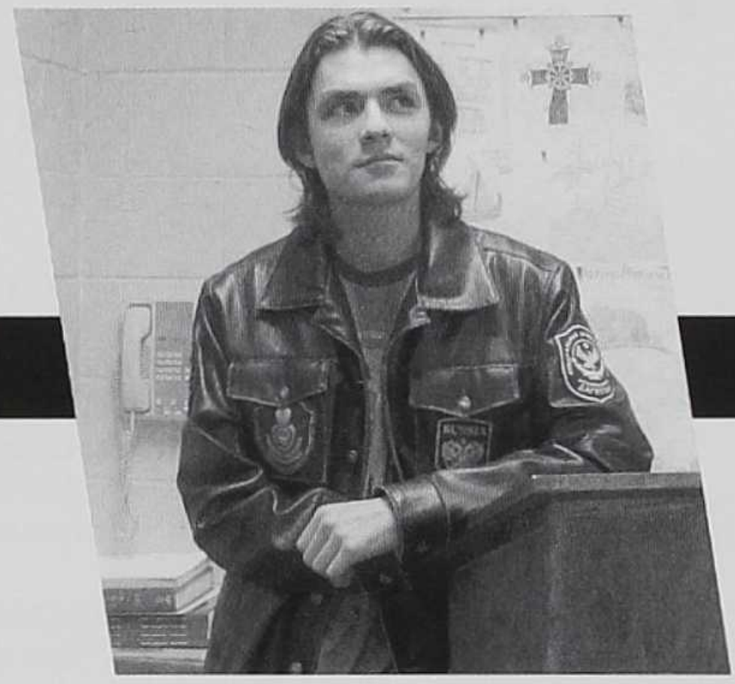
There are many great clubs at KHS, something for everyone. Sponsored by Mrs. Hurst and Coach Padgett, the FCA met regularly and threw a party every other month. Ms. Worley was always active with NHS and their community service projects. The FLC attended a concert and UIL participated in academic competitions. PAL focused on helping younger children.



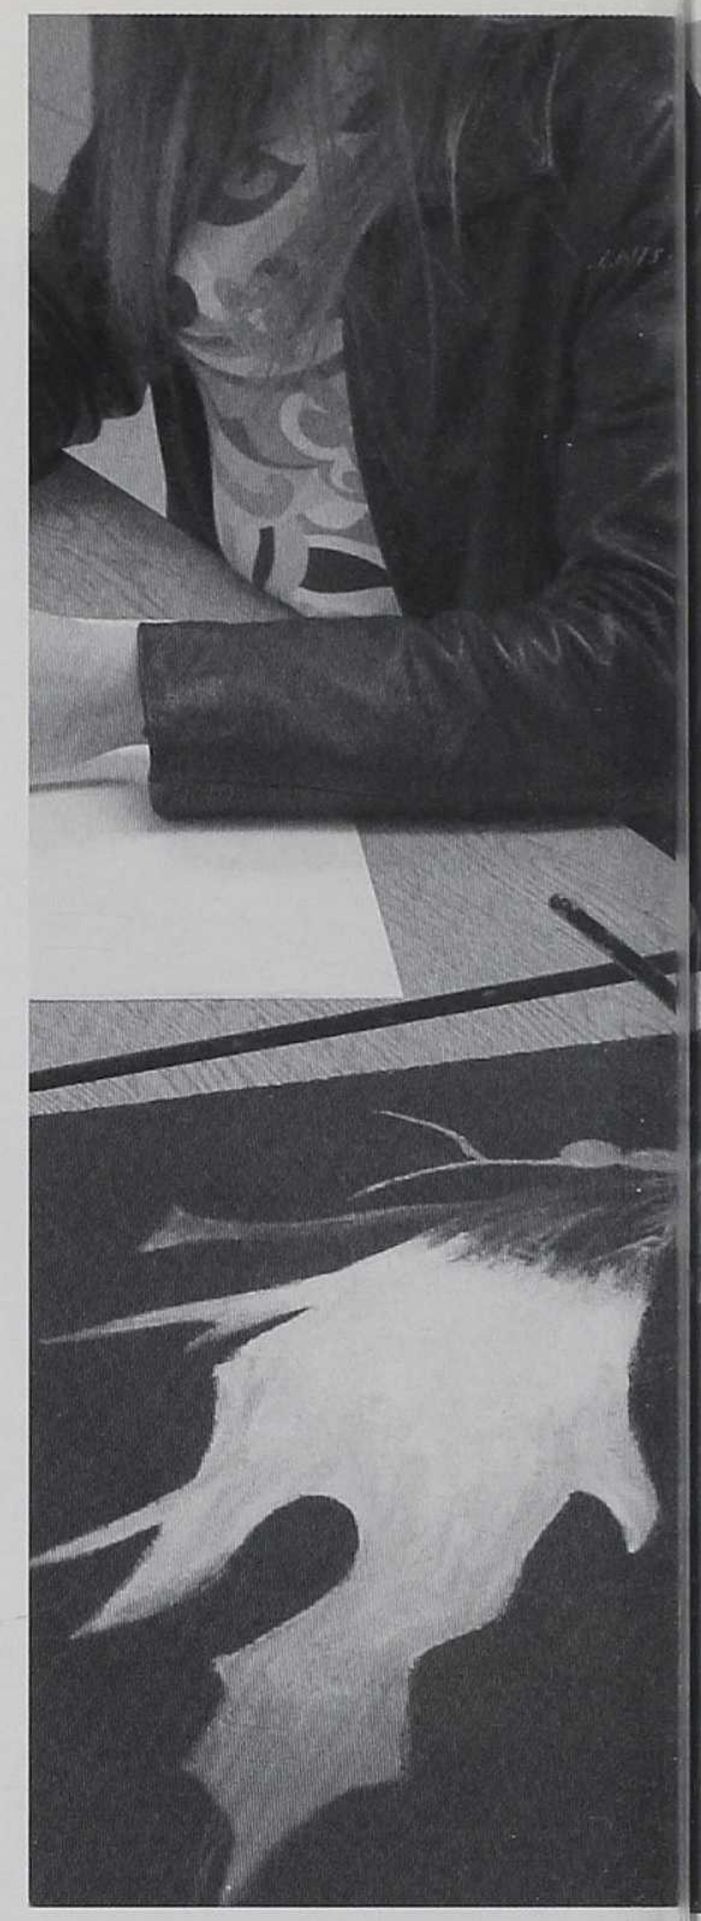
Many different styles of learning exist among students. Some can soak up information only by glancing over a guide, others need to make flash-cards or cram for hours. Several of you learn better if the information is presented graphically. And many prefer hands-on learning above all, which is great because the science teachers at KHS are known for their great labs!

Victor Monterroso is one of the brightest here at KHS. This year he's in Theatre, TAFE, and competes successfully in UIL. His post-grad plans include attending Acadia University in Nova Scotia, Canada to major in education. He says his own personal drive keeps him going strong everyday. "Don't conform to everyone else, and don't be afraid to be different," advised Victor.





▶ Building Minds
Mr. Doug Parker shows freshman Michael Ivison the ropes on building a set during Tech Theater. The Tech Theater Class was a big help with all the theater productions during the year.



Outside the Box

Creative Learning

What makes teachers stand out in your mind? At Kennedale, we have a number of remarkable teachers that use their unique skills and crazy ideas to teach their students in unconventional methods. Mrs. Brunson has her own innovative ways to make learning fun, such as having her French II class produce a rap using "re" verbs and performing it in front of the class. Mrs. Hinz's students conduct a lab every week in IPC to get active in what they are learning. By doing these experiments, the students can transform boring formulas into fun activities. The Art III and IV classes have a chance to paint a ceiling tile that will be displayed for everyone to see in the Art and Health classrooms. This project is exciting yet stressful for many of the artistic minds. Mr. Parker also helps the Tech Theater students utilize their knowledge by building the elaborate sets for the theatre productions. These are just a few examples of teachers at KHS who think outside the box to make learning an enjoyable experience.

▲ Measuring Up
Freshmen Bailey Turner and Deidre Felan measure their science skills in the lab for Mrs. Hinz's IPC class. The science students were always given a chance to turn their knowledge into action through labs.

Teacher's Pet

Interviewing Lisa Martin

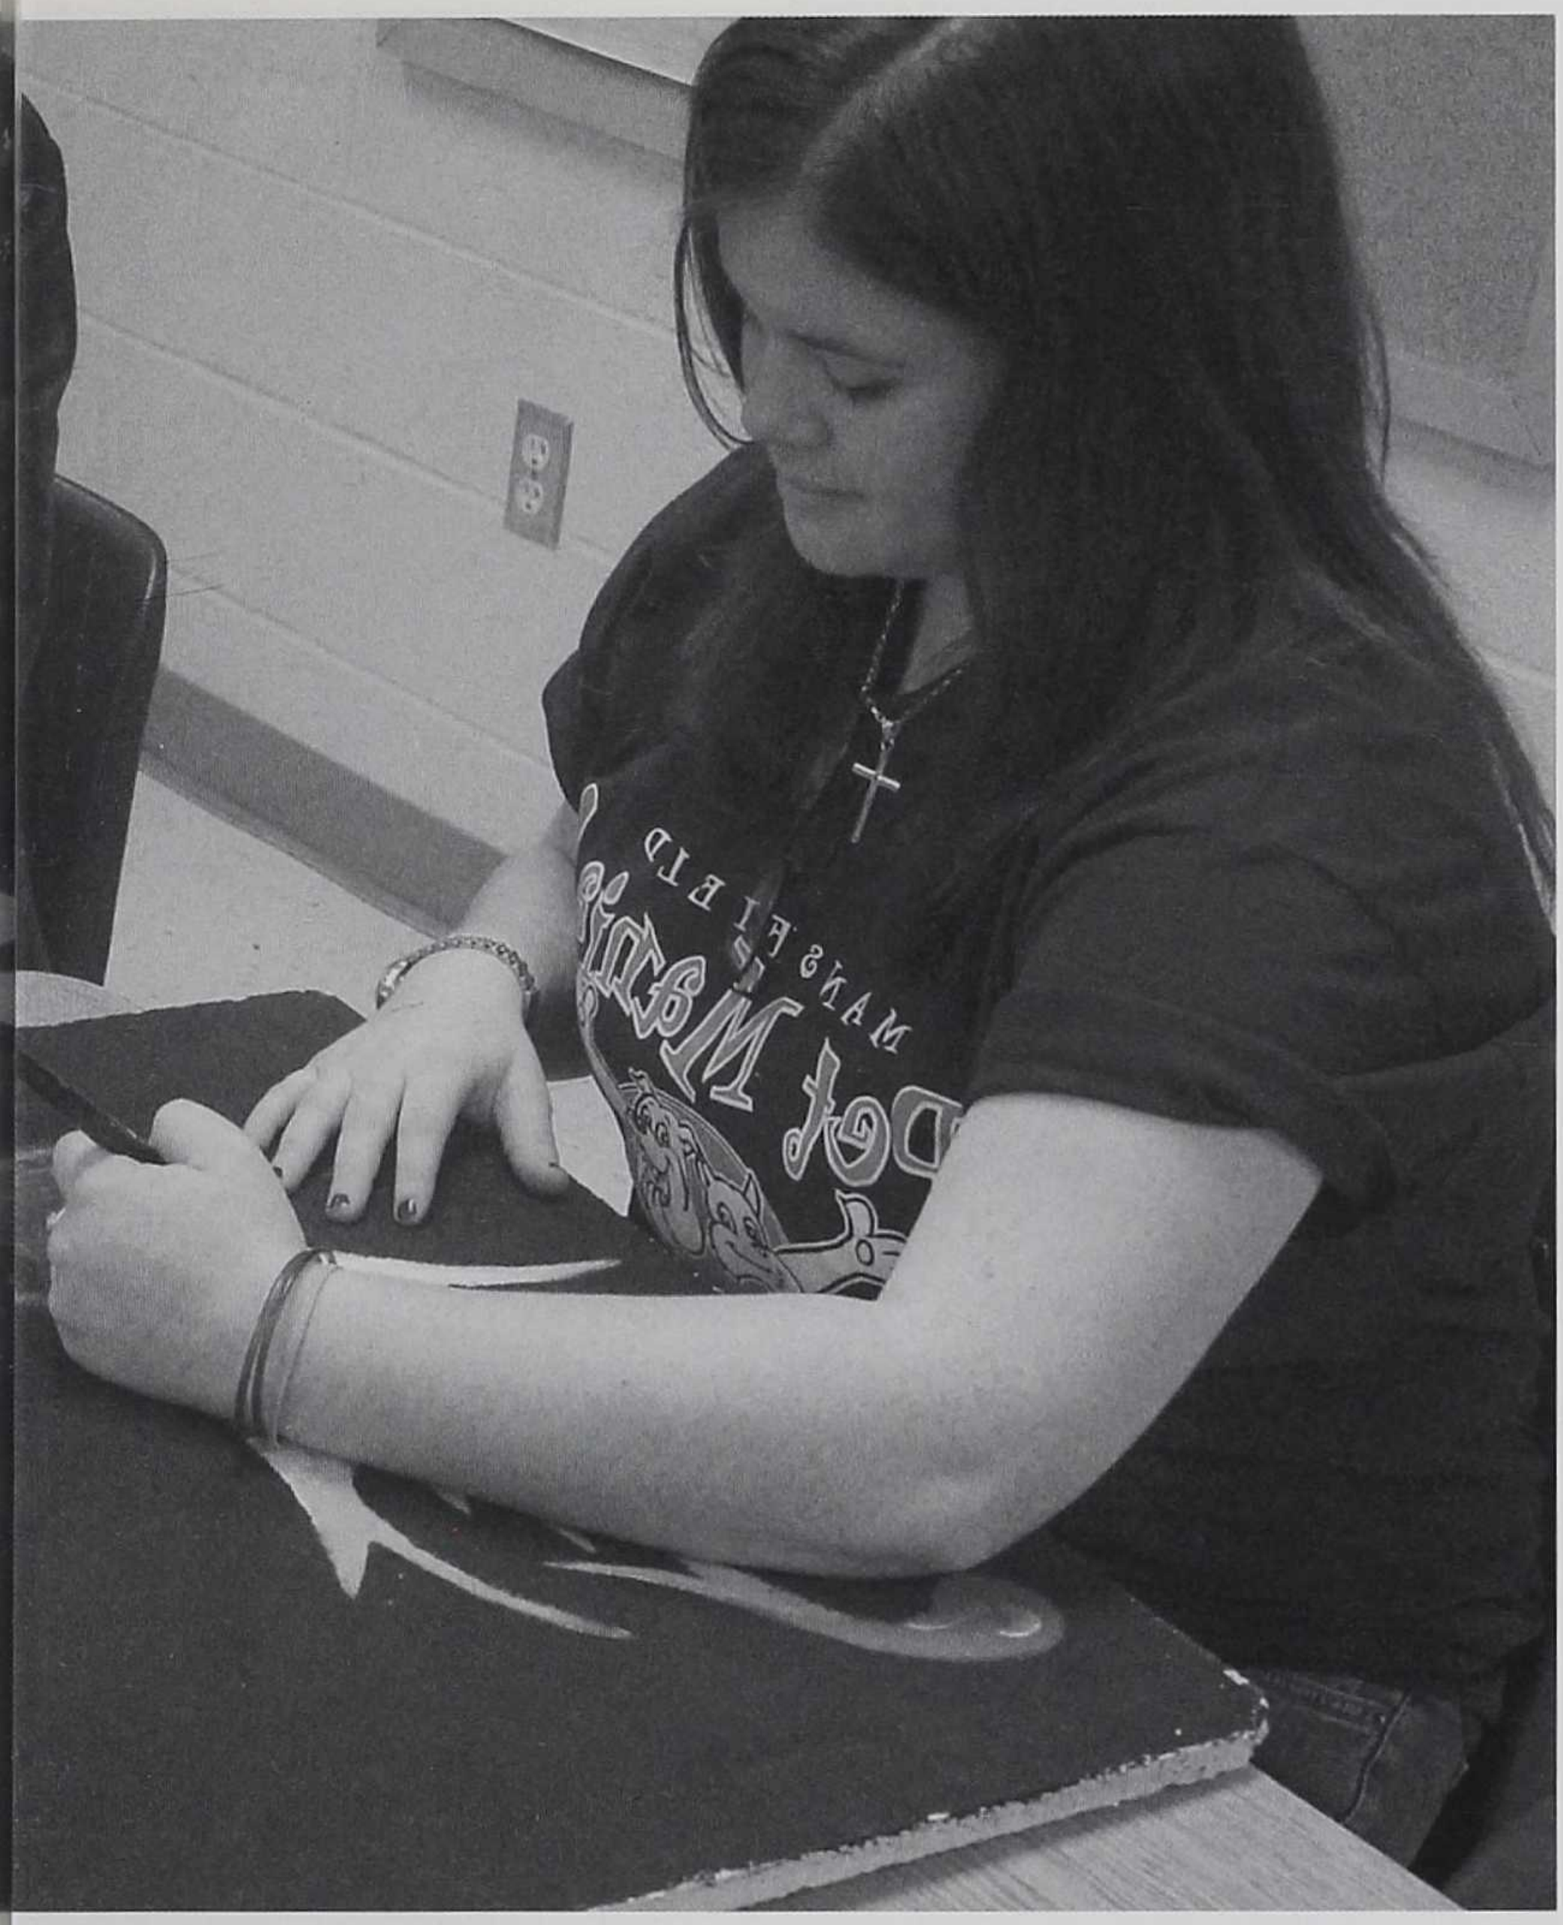
Q: What classes did you have Mrs. Worley for?
A: U.S. History and Teacher's Assistant.

Q: What did she teach that you remember?
A: She talked about the Jim Crow Laws and acted like a crow to help us remember.

Q: Why is she your favorite teacher?
A: She teaches us in an interesting way to retain what she's told us.

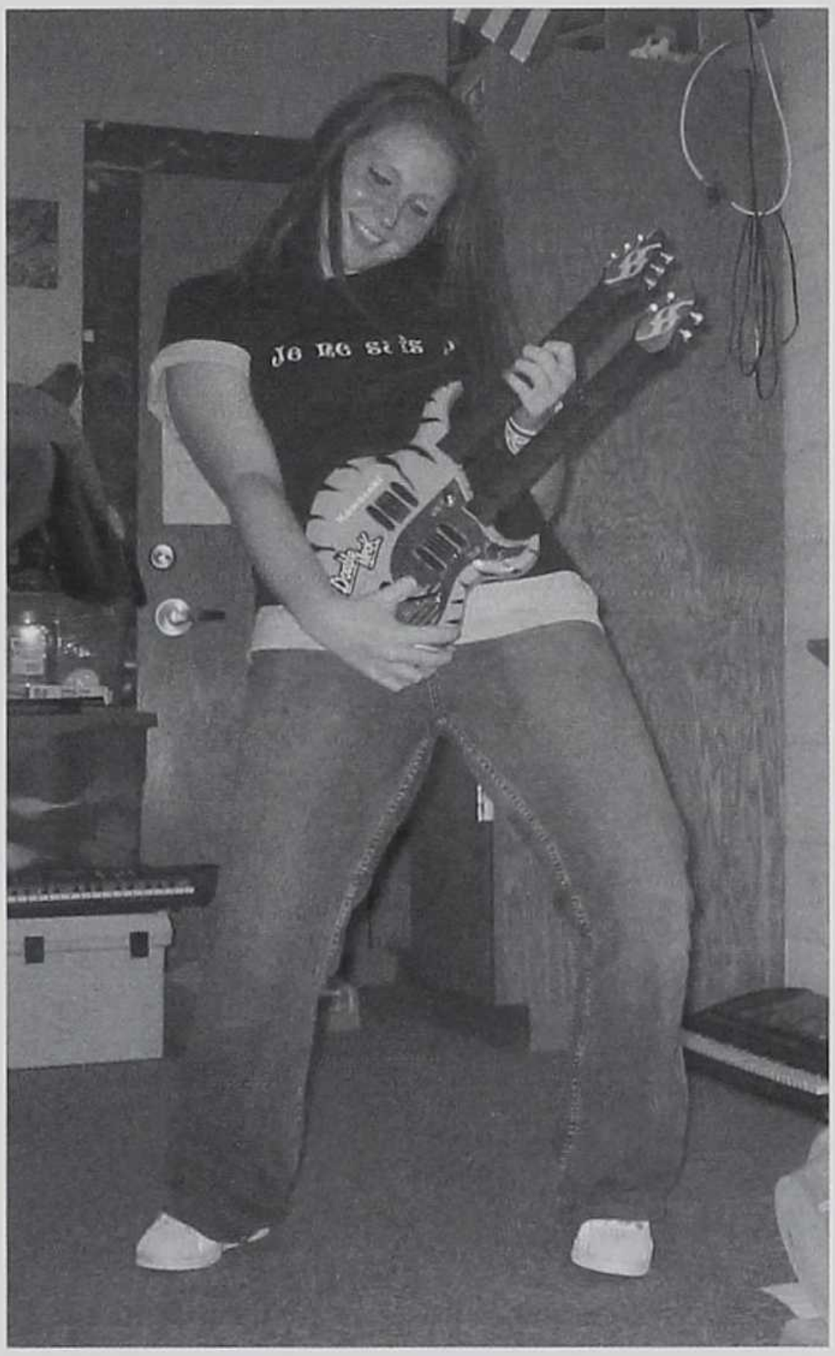
Q: What has she helped you accomplish?
A: She has helped me become more involved in the community.

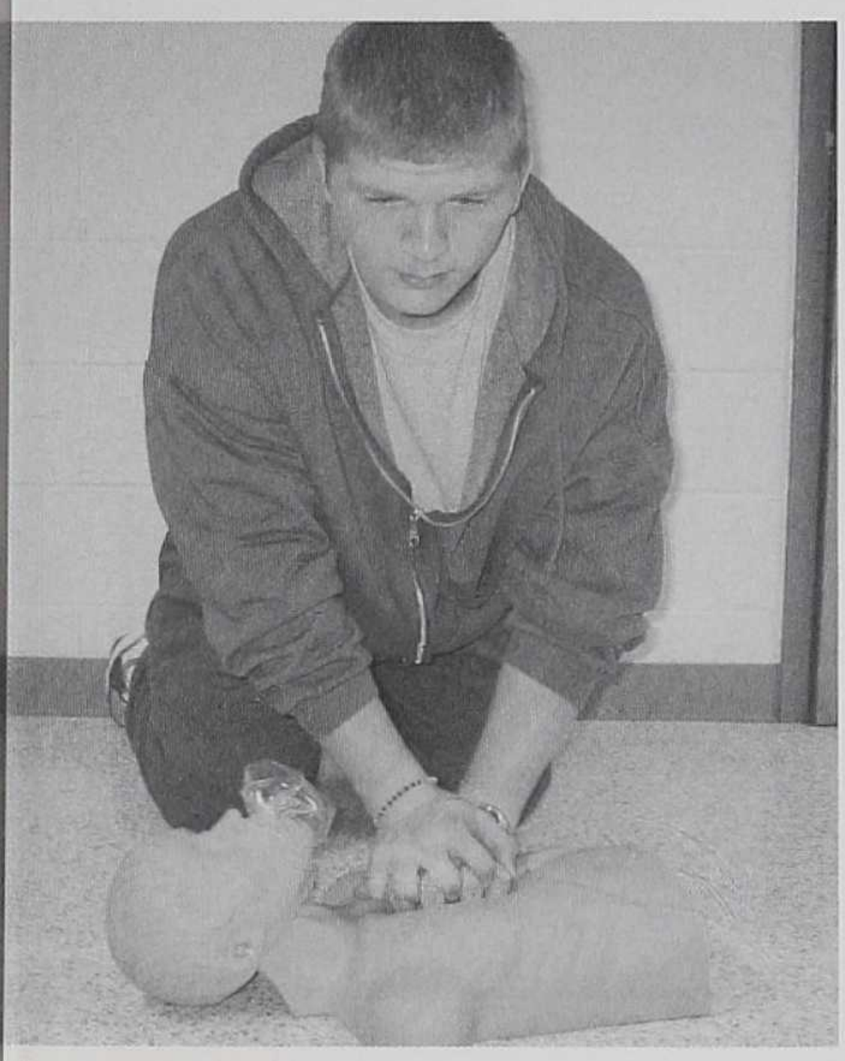
Q: What makes her a special teacher?
A: She is very supportive and helps with family emergencies.



◄ Art Smart
Senior Sarah Baird perfects her painting during art class. The art students were always given outlets to express their creative side by means of fun and challenging projects.

▼ Je Ne Sais Pas
Sophomore Katie Pumphrey rocks out in style in Mrs. Brunson's French class. The students had to create an original masterpiece to perform in front of the class.





◄ EGGStraordinary
Freshman Yasmine Badawi tests her egg drop that she built for Coach Stewart's science class. Yasmine's group EGGceeded their goal and their launch pad held the egg for 160 cm.

◄ Just Breathe
Senior Jimmy Letzkus practices the CPR procedure he just learned on a dummy for health class. Learning CPR is one of the most anticipated lessons learned in health class and is probably one of the most valuable in real life.

► Helping Hands
Seniors Diana Johnson, Tosha Strickland, and junior Rita Aberle all pitch in to make cornbread stuffing. Mrs. Naughton's class prepared and saved food for their Thanksgiving feast.

► Hey Batter Batter..
Senior Shane Bueschel works on perfecting his fast pitch during his third period gym class. The gym students always had fun learning about different sports by playing them.

▲ Mixin' It Up
Senior Edgar Hurtado follows directions well as he stirs ingredients to help his classmates get one step closer to preparing a feast. Everyone was assigned a job in Mrs Naughton's class to help speed things up.

► On Fire!
Juniors Matt Parker and Lauren Lee watch in awe as their chemical catches aflame. Matt and Lauren both took great safety precautions while doing this lab in Mrs. Janek's class.

▼ Staying Afloat
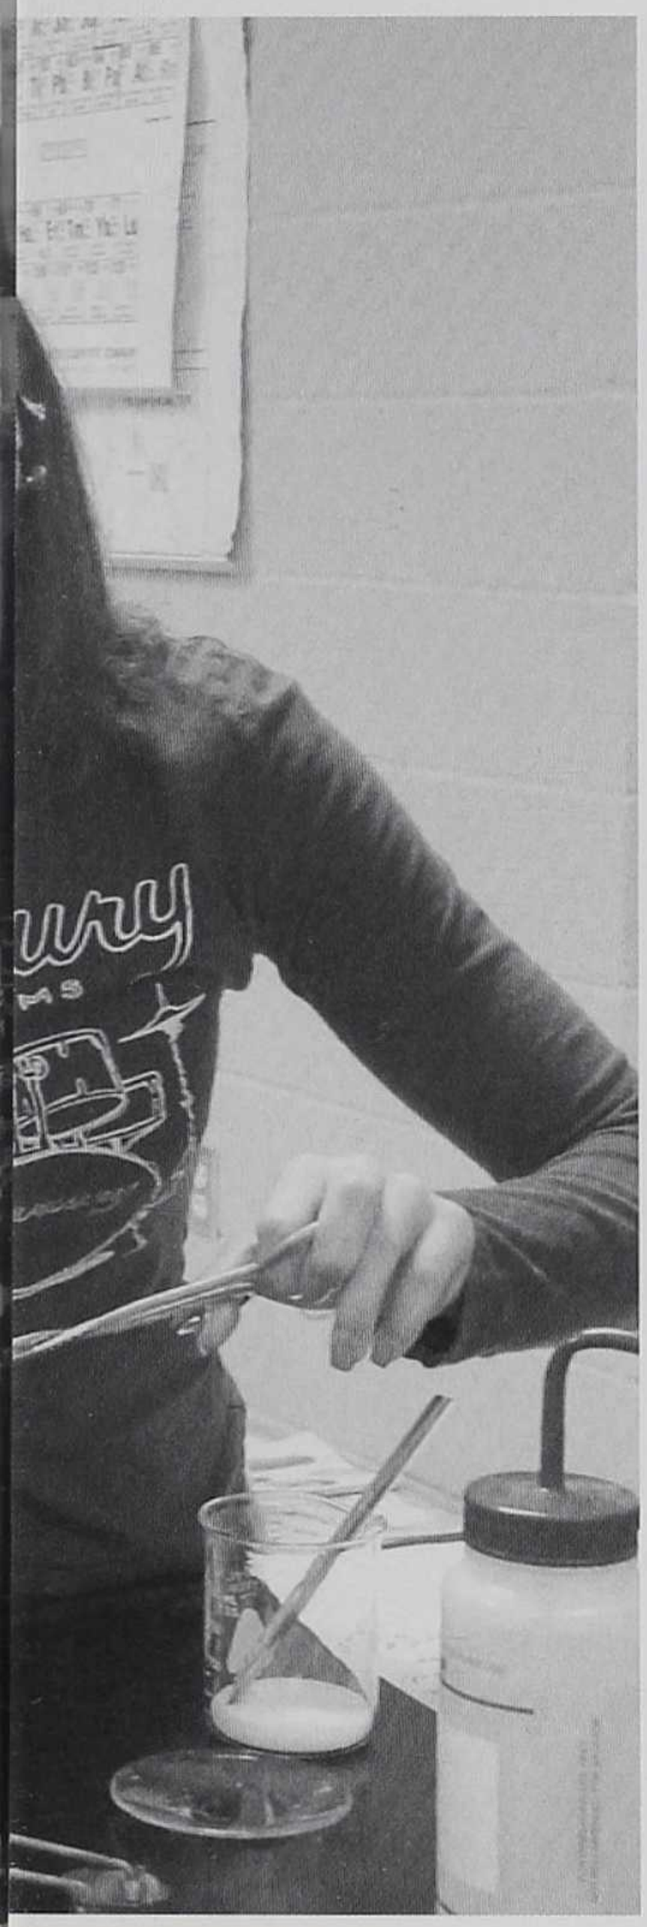
Senior RaShawn Brooks tests the waters by seeing how much weight his boat can take. Mrs. Hurst's class got to build and test all their boats during their class period.



OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Making Learning Unique

From handing out worksheets to lecturing, teachers all have their own distinct way of teaching students. The teachers here at Kennedale High School try their best to give the students the best education possible. This ranges from shooting hoops in athletics to painting a ceiling tile in art class. Each teacher has their own technique to reach their students in a unique way. A popular way to keep the students involved in science is by doing labs, chemical reactions and making a hypothesis. In the food science classes, Mrs. Naughton goes about it in a more rewarding way by letting the students bake food and then eat the results. If you're more on the athletic side, the coaches here at KHS will have you improving your skills in no time. Not only is hands-on learning a way to keep the students entertained but it also teaches them the material in a manner that they won't forget. No matter what the subject, there is always a fun, hands-on way to learn it.

◄ Safety First
Equipped with safety goggles, juniors Jennifer Garza and Samantha White concentrate intensely on the lab work in Mrs. Janek's chemistry class. Their favorite thing about doing labs in chemistry were the chemical reactions.

TOP 5 FAVORITES

Out of all the labs that have been done throughout high school, everyone always has their favorite that they will always remember. "My favorite lab was the candy lab because I love gummy bears," said junior Matt Saenz. Junior Daniel Parsley quoted, "My favorite lab was the mole day lab because things exploded." No matter how you word it students all have their favorite hands-on labs.

1. The Candy Lab
2. The Halloween Lab
3. The Slime Lab
4. Glass Bending Lab
5. Mole Day Lab

► Brain Food
Freshman Andrea Greiner finishes up her homework for her next period class while she eats. Lunch was always a choice time for some students to get a head start on that night's homework or furiously finish homework that was due.

► Peace and Quiet
Freshman Philip Rogers utilizes an empty (and unusually quiet) cafeteria to finish his assignment. Most students somehow found a way to balance their studies with their busy social life.

▲ Reaching to Learn
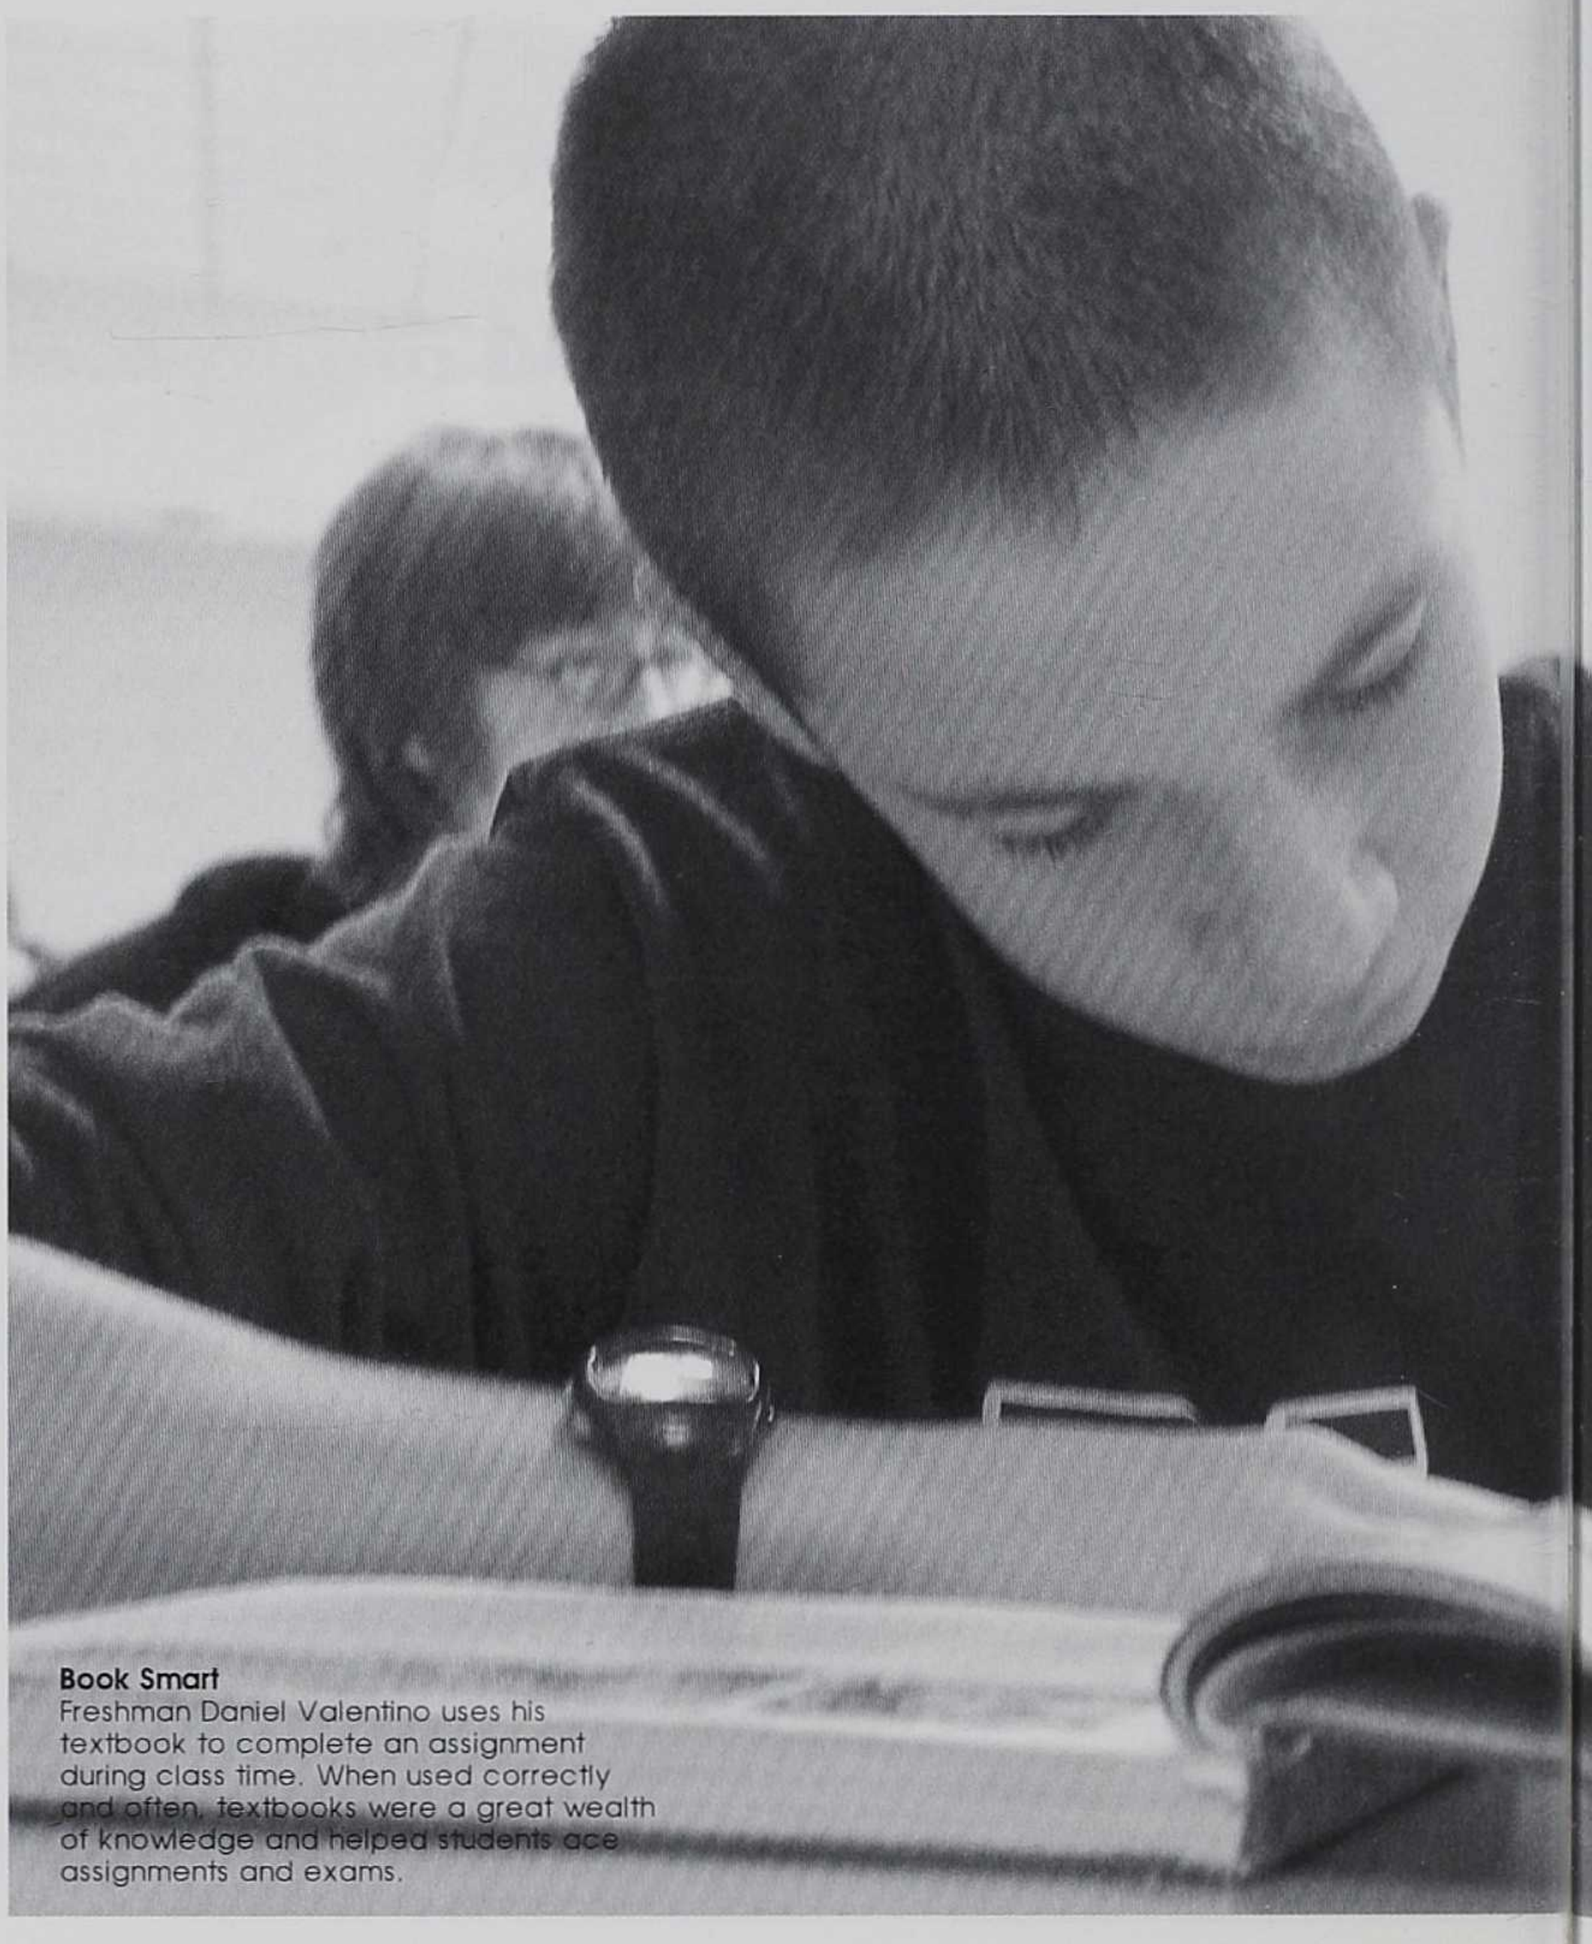
Seniors Veronica Castro and Melissa Pugliese explore the library as they research material for their English paper. The school's library was always a premier location for studying and doing research, and the librarian, Ms. Boubel, was a great resource of knowledge.



Book Smart
Freshman Daniel Valentino uses his textbook to complete an assignment during class time. When used correctly and often, textbooks were a great wealth of knowledge and helped students ace assignments and exams.

▼ Cram Session
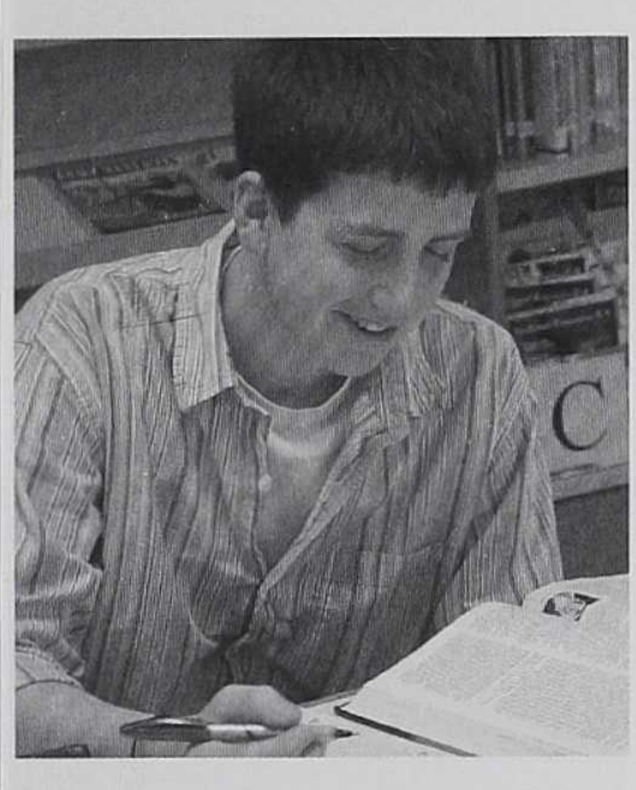
Senior Tommy Livengood works intensely on his research project in his English IV class. Note cards and bibliographies helped organize all the material the students researched.

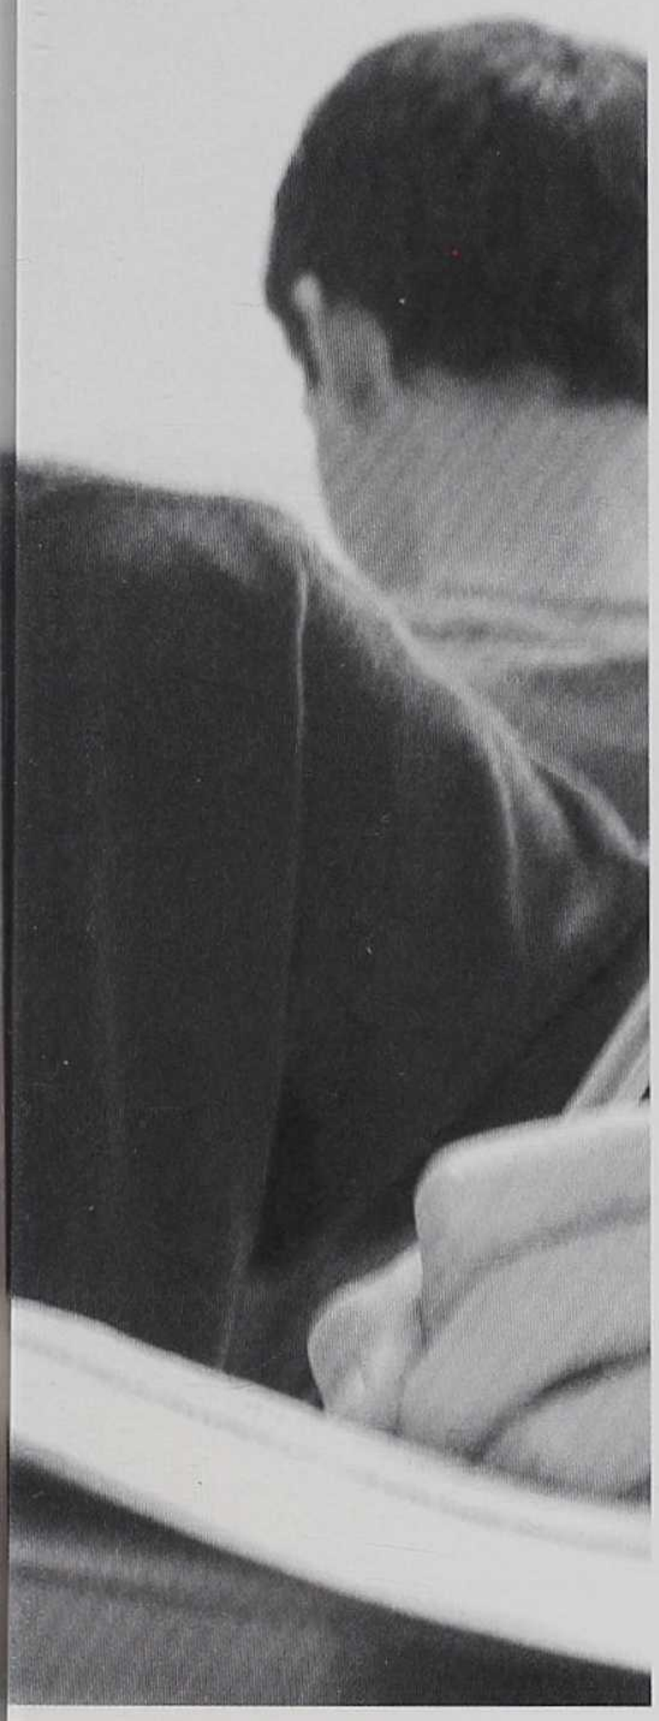


Hitting the Books

The Art of Studying

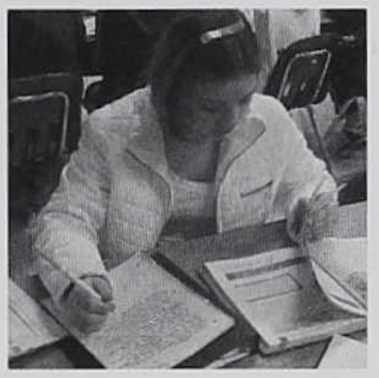
Being a teenager in high school comes with responsibility. It's not all about working on your social status...it's also about keeping your grades up. Everyone has certain goals they set for themselves, whether it's to attain a perfect 4.0 GPA or just to make it out of high school. To make these dreams a reality, you must give up some free time and study until you know the material backwards and forwards. It's not just the college-bound seniors that need to hit the books.

Freshmen find out quickly that you must study in order to be successful. High school demands a lot more out of students than junior high. Luckily, teachers help ease the transition by providing notes, study aides, and their guidance to help build study skills. Though it is difficult to maintain both an active social life and a favorable GPA, it is achievable through a commitment to studying and a drive for success. Many students at KHS prove this statement to be true.



Q & A

How many hours a week do you study?



▼ "I get about three hours of studying in a week when I'm not busy with everything else."

- Zachary Gibbs
Sophomore

▼ "I have no social life.. I just extend my studies for 5-6 hours per evening by completing all my homework."

- Spencer Wade
Senior

▲ "I study about three hours a week. It helps me to become a better student."

- Paige Brown
Freshman

▲ "Most of the time I get about two hours of study time in a week."

- Emily Moore
Junior

◄ Power in Numbers
Derius Butler, Anthony Wickline, Nathan Sparkman, and Chris Wooten use each other as motivation as they try to get some work done on Mrs. Brooke's extensive research paper on British culture. The students were given about five weeks to research the topic and compose their final papers.

► Sweet Money
Senior Ashley Hartman sells chocolate to Brittany Terrell for a PAL fundraiser. The PAL class sold items such as jewelry and chocolate for Valentine's Day to raise money for their club.

Working for a Cause

Makin' Some Money

Being active in a club is a fun way to stay involved with school, but like with most things comes with priorities and responsibilities. The clubs have to raise money to support all the events and extracurricular activities they are involved in. Since the money isn't just handed to them, they have to find creative and effective ways to get the money they need. This problem is solved by doing fundraisers in and outside of school. There has been several events held to support the clubs, like the BPA cookies sales that were done almost every week during break. Another example is Student Council who provided roses to brighten someone's day on Valentine's Day. NHS was involved by selling the popular LiveStrong bracelets which sold extremely fast. The Art Club got spirited by painting faces at the Homecoming game. Overall, the students at Kennedale have been successful in raising the funds they need to keep their organization's cash flow running high.

CHOIR

MY SIDE OF THE STORY

Mrs. Kate Lowe

Class Get-Away

In May, the choir and band took a joint trip down to San Antonio to perform. The choir had to work hard doing fundraisers in order to get the funds to go on this get-away.

Q: What fundraisers did choir do this year?
A: A catalog order and a bake sale during the musical.
Q: Was it hard to do the fundraisers?
A: It can be discouraging when not everyone participates, but the second fundraiser was a huge success.
Q: What was the best part of fund raising?
A: The ability to see the benefits of the money for the choir.
Q: What was the worst part of fund raising?
A: I feel we always have to do it to be able to get the students what they need.

▲ Living Strong
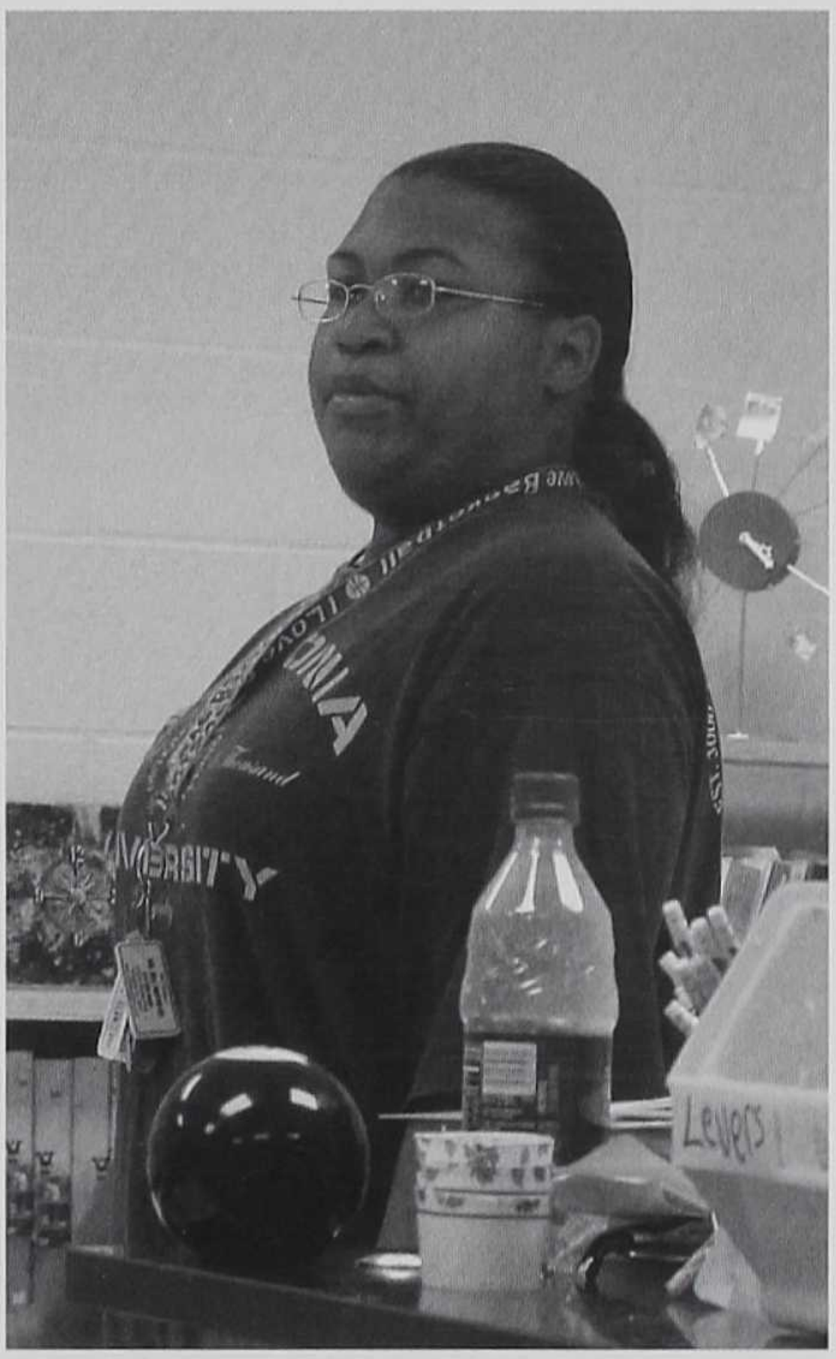
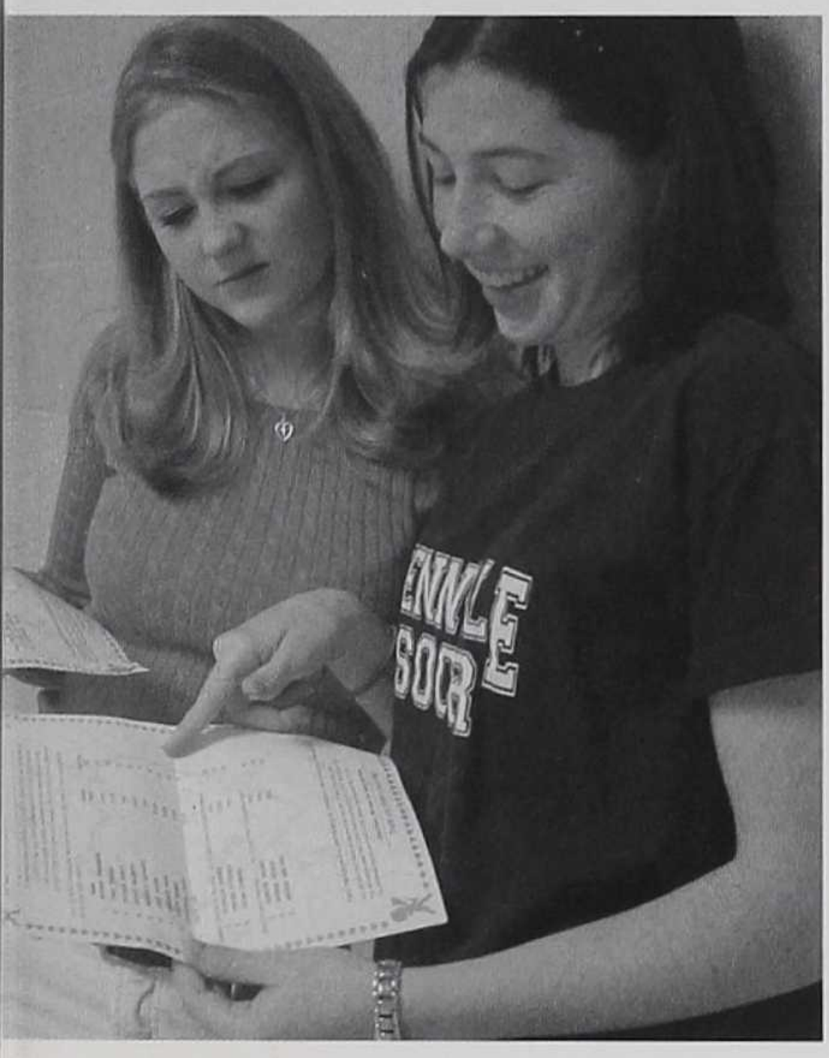
Stefanie Geoghegan sells Jenny Papafio one of the popular LiveStrong bracelets for National Honor Society. The proceeds from this fundraiser went to the Lance Armstrong Foundation.

◄ Artistic Spirit
Senior Sarah Baird waits eagerly for her next customer to have their face painted for the big Homecoming game. The Art Club painted spirit on football fans' faces all night.

▼ Now in Session
Senior Cimoya Collins, president of the National Honor Society, kicks off a club meeting. The KHS Chili Supper, which raised money for senior scholarships, was the important topic at this meeting.





◄ Making Dough
Sophomore Robert Vera, junior Kelly Anderson, and senior Amy Rivers sell fresh baked Otis Spunkmeyer cookies to support BPA. These yummy cookies sold for just a $1.00 each at break and they were gobbled up quickly by hungry students.

◄ Perfect Match
Seniors Adrian Cantrell and Ashley Nixon compare their results from the Business Professional of America fundraiser, a computer fun compatibility survey. The survey matched students with their top ten compatible peers and top ten incompatible peers.

► I'll Be There For You
The PAL members use their abilities to counsel youth and help them with their struggles by mentoring young students at Arthur and Patterson elementary schools. The PAL class also visited students at Kennedale Junior High.

► Helping Out
Juniors Claude Rhodes and Sarah Hayes and freshman Quang Nguyen volunteer their time to help out at the powerlifting meet. This was the 2nd Annual KHS Powerlifting Meet.

▲ Working for a Purpose
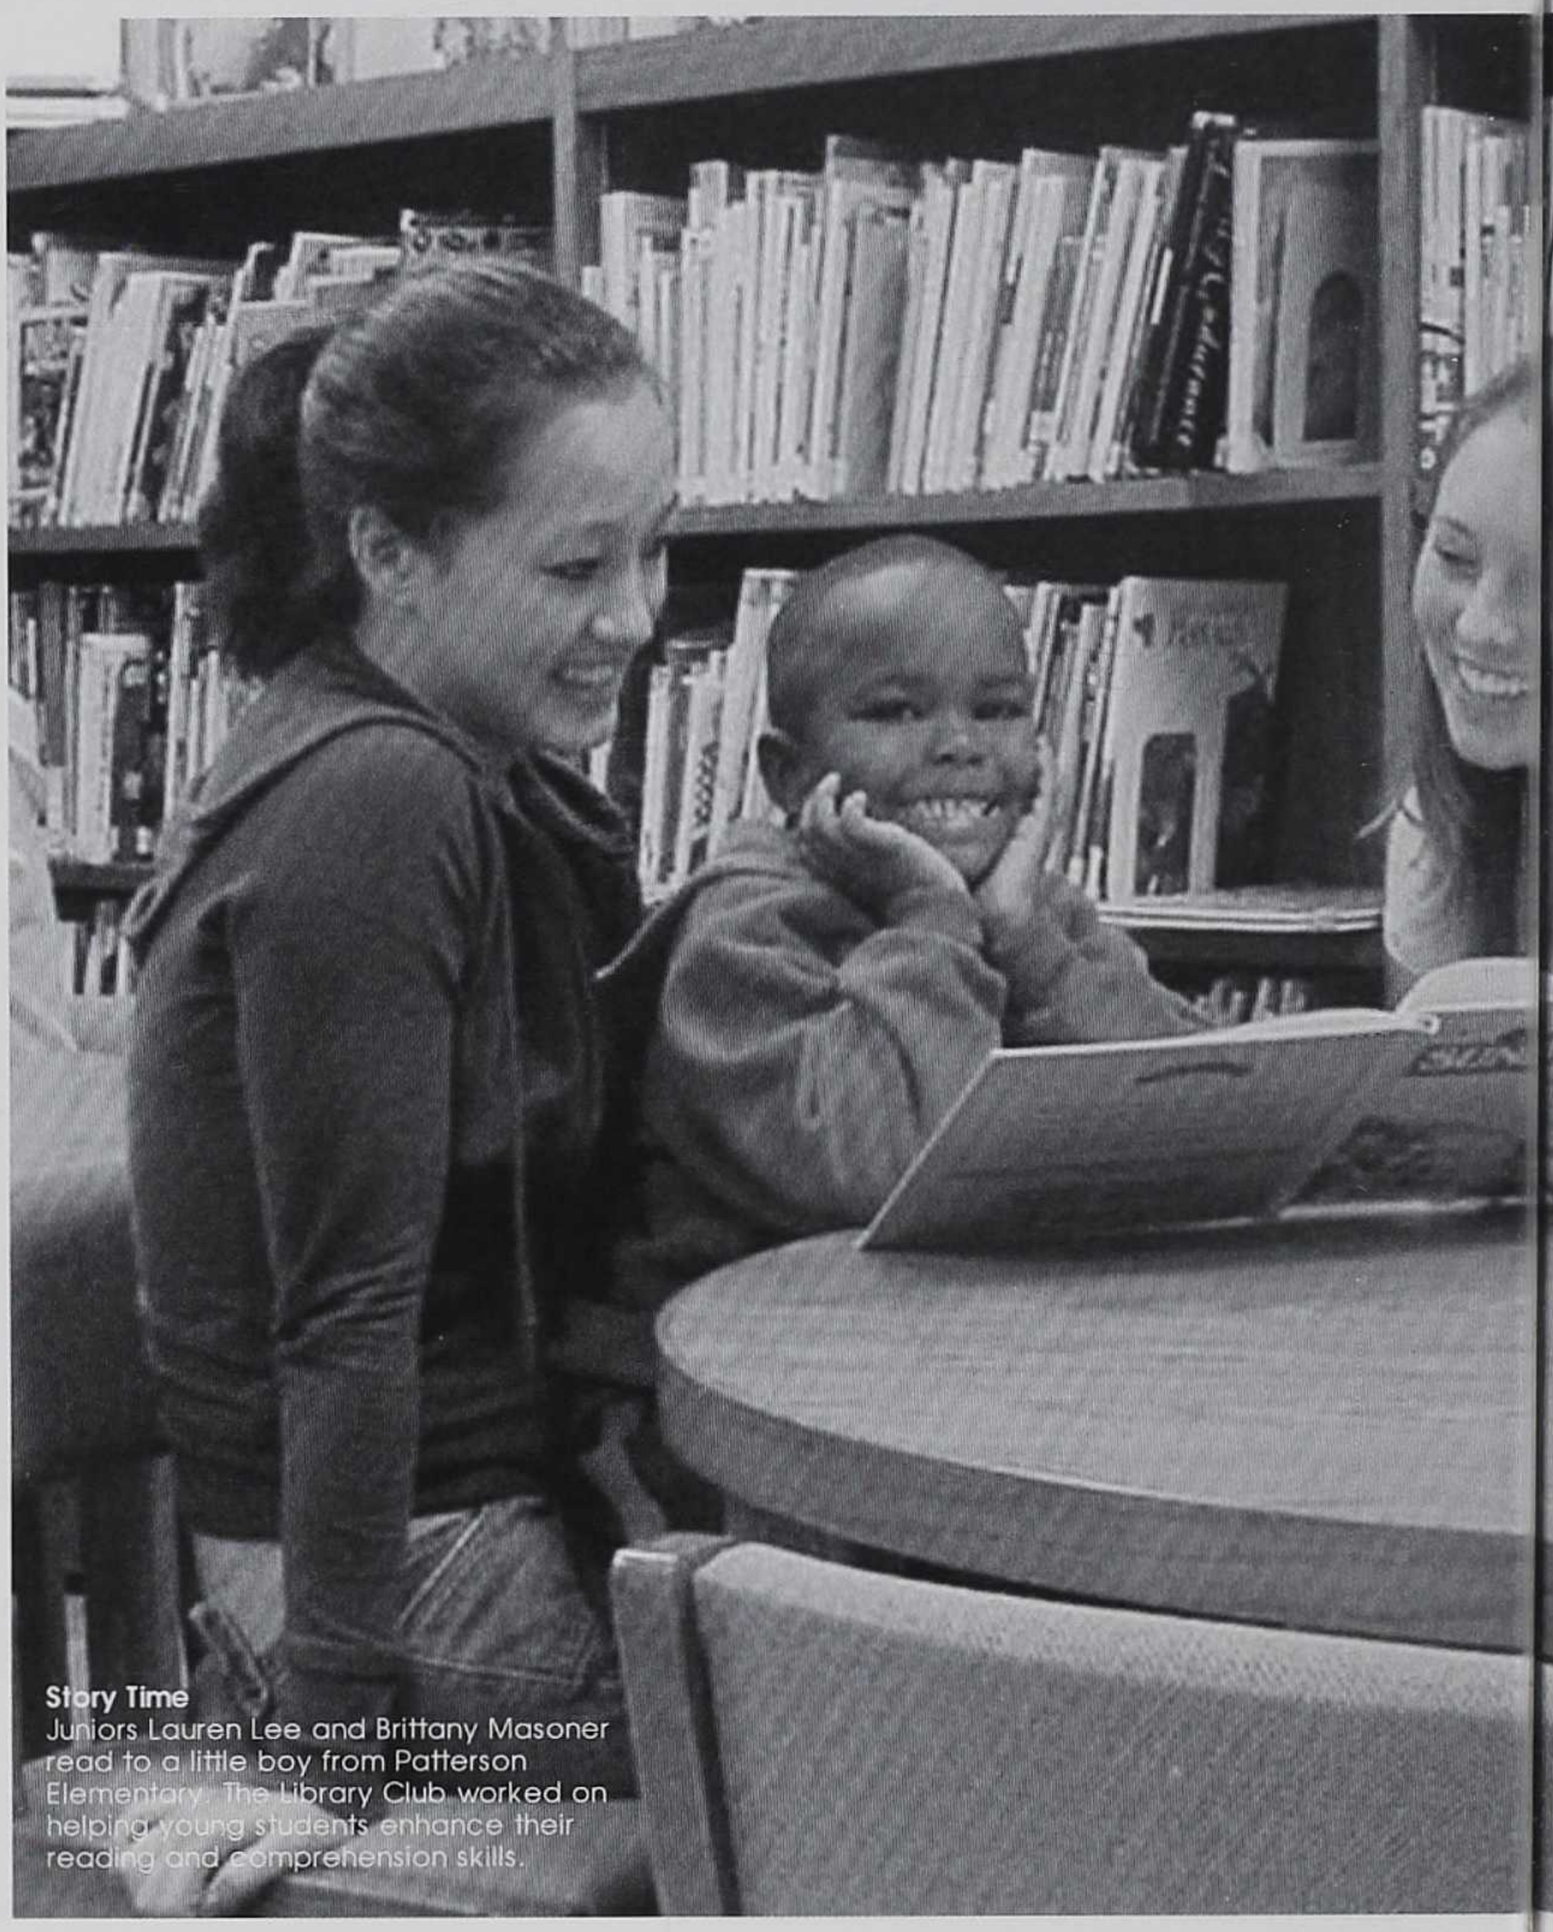
Senior Victor Monterroso helps Mr. Parker with his work to earn community service hours for the National Honor Society in his spare time. NHS is required to have at least 10 hours of community service that is usually completed over the summer.



Story Time
Juniors Lauren Lee and Brittany Masoner read to a little boy from Patterson Elementary. The Library Club worked on helping young students enhance their reading and comprehension skills.

▼ Got Change?
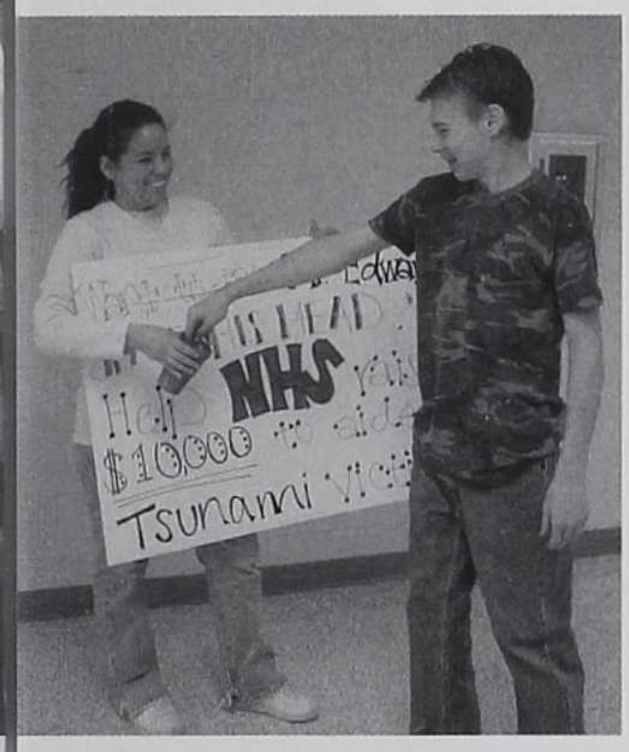
Chris Renfro gladly donates his spare change to the National Honor Society's Tsunami Relief Fund. Principal Edwards also joined in and made a deal that he would have his head if the students raised $10,000.



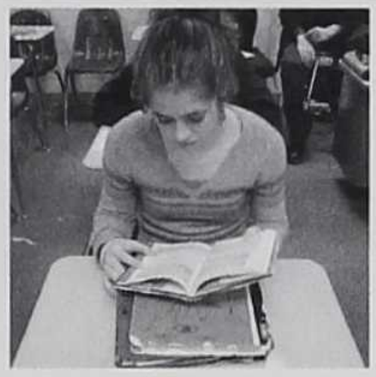
Helping Out the Community

One Student at a Time

What makes helping so much fun? Is it that you have a chance to meet interesting people, possibly go on trips, or is it simply the chance to help out the community? At Kennedale High School, active students joined clubs in hopes of helping the community through volunteering. When it comes to volunteering, the National Honor Society members are professionals. These students volunteered their time to work special events going on at the school such as the KHS Senior Scholarship Auction. They also wrote letters to soldiers and veterans to help keep their spirits up. The Library Club donated their time to read to young children in the school district. The Key Club, which was just established here at KHS this year, worked hard to become recognized as an official club. Along with the struggles of getting started, the Key Club helped out with different events around KHS, such as the preparing breakfast for the powerlifting meet. The clubs at KHS helped not only the community, but also other students and teachers.

A Helping Hand

How Did You Volunteer for Your Community?



▲ "I was glad to be one of the first members of the Key Club because it gives me a chance to help out with the community and make a difference."

- Simone Warner
Freshman

▼ "I helped plan all homecoming events with Student Council this year."

- Meaghan Echeverria
Sophomore

▲ "I enjoyed being in the Library Club because it gave me a chance to read to little kids."

- Alana Thomas
Junior

▼ "Over the summer I helped pour cement for someone's house for NHS."

- Khristian Carnegie
Senior

◄ Keys to Success
Junior Trevor Myres pays his dues for the year to Adrian Cantrell, treasurer of the Key Club. Requiring dues helped the Key Club raise the funds it needed to get started.

► Skillful Advice
Sophomores Sarah Roper and Amy Steinbeck give each other helpful advice on a fun art project. Both students were actively involved in the school's Art Club and participated in the club's events throughout the year.

Having a Ball

The Perks of the Job

What makes clubs so special in high school? Club members work hard all year raising money and doing volunteer projects. To reward all this hard work, clubs occasionally do have some fun. The clubs continuously plan events for KHS students to relax and hang out with other students with the same interests. The Fellowship of Christian Anybodies had a very entertaining party in September to welcome new members and celebrate an exciting upcoming year. The National Honor Society got off to a great start with the members making friends and helping the community. NHS also had their traditional Pancake Breakfast for the departing seniors. The Art Club took a trip to the zoo to acquire inspiration for drawing animals. The Foreign Language Club went to Casa Manana for a concert starring Justo Llamas. The clubs at KHS help students let loose and have fun outside of the classroom.

Time to Relax

What was your favorite event this year?

▲ "Going to the zoo with my friends in the Art Club was my favorite event so far this year."

- Stefanie Geoghegan
  Junior

▼ "I liked the BPA Christmas party because I got to meet a lot of new people."

- Zachary Gibbs
  Sophomore

▲ "My favorite event this year was when the Art Club went to the zoo and we got to sketch all the animals."

- Julian Montoya
  Junior

▼ "In FCA, we went to see Justo Llamos. It was awesome dancing, and he has crazy-long hair."

- Aaron Drew
  Senior

▲ Small Talk
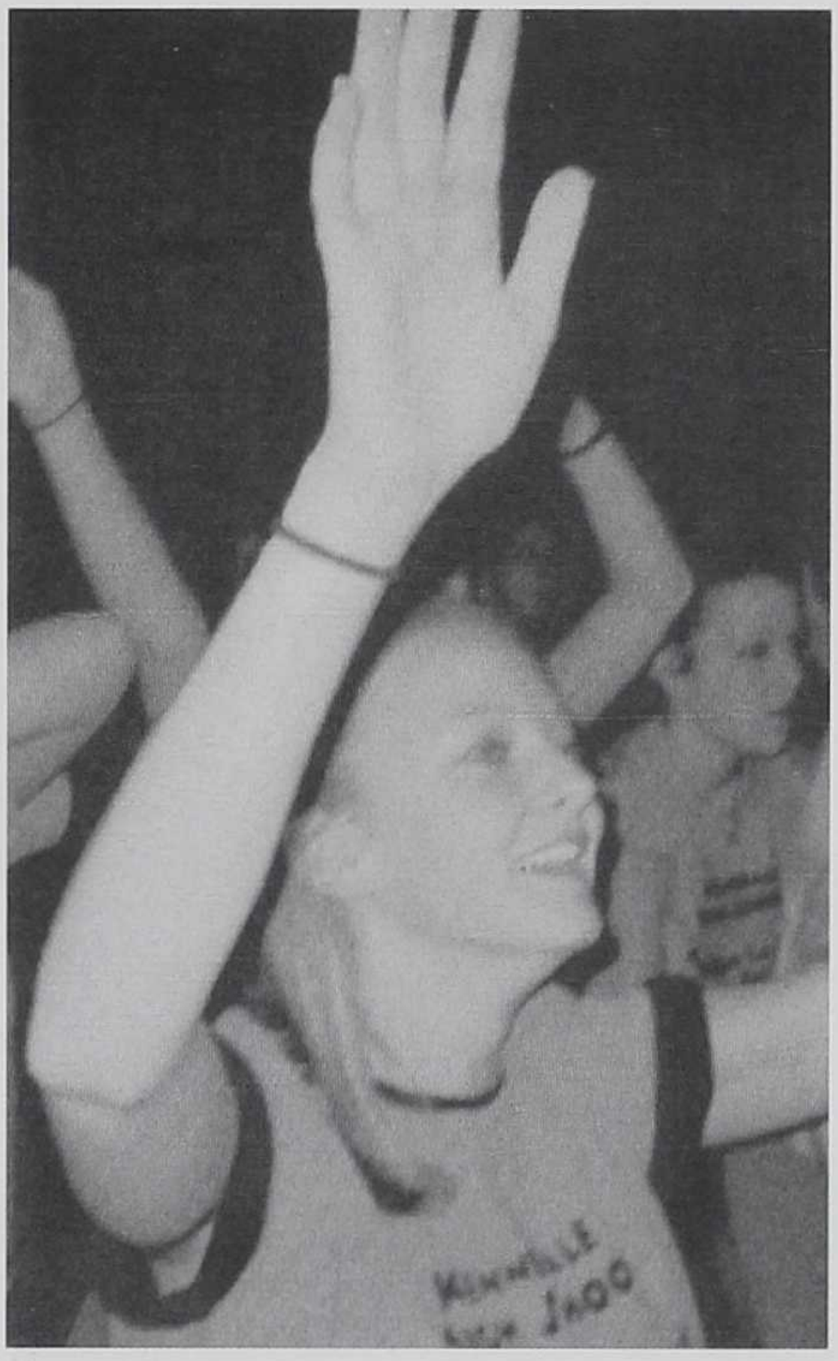
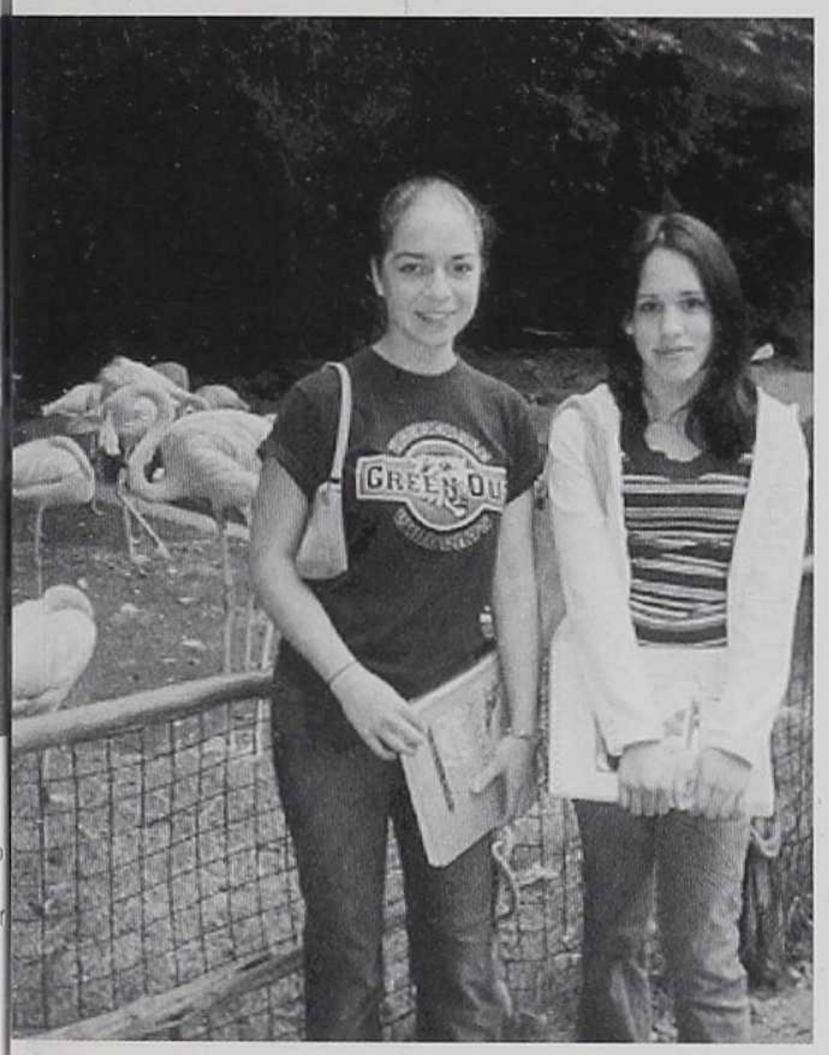
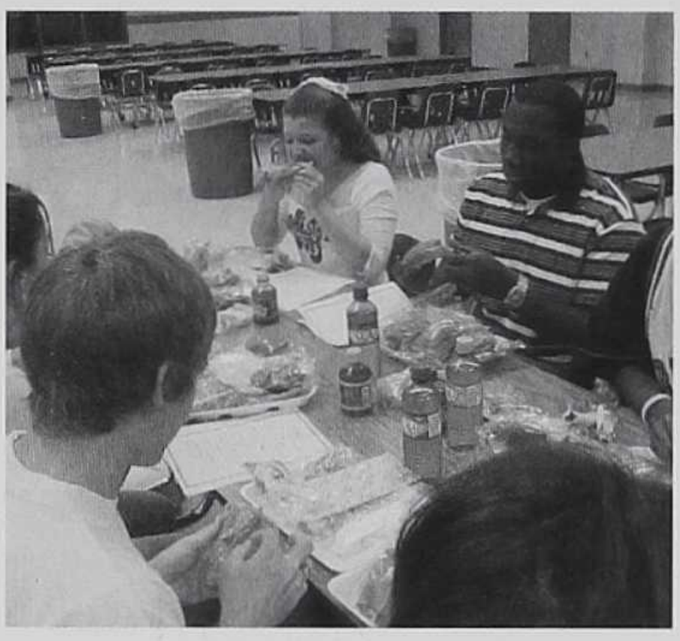
National Honor Society students Katie Hampton and Khristian Carnagie chat it up in the halls about the latest NHS meeting. The NHS meetings are held usually once o twice a month.

◄ Sticky Business
Students at the Fellowship of Christian Anybodies party participate in a wild whipped cream game. The students had to see how many Cheetos they could stick on their peers' faces.

▼ Fiesta
Junior Mallory Motley gets her groove on at the Justo Llamas concert that the Foreign Language Club attended earlier this year. This was the second year in a row that FLC participated in Justo's concert.





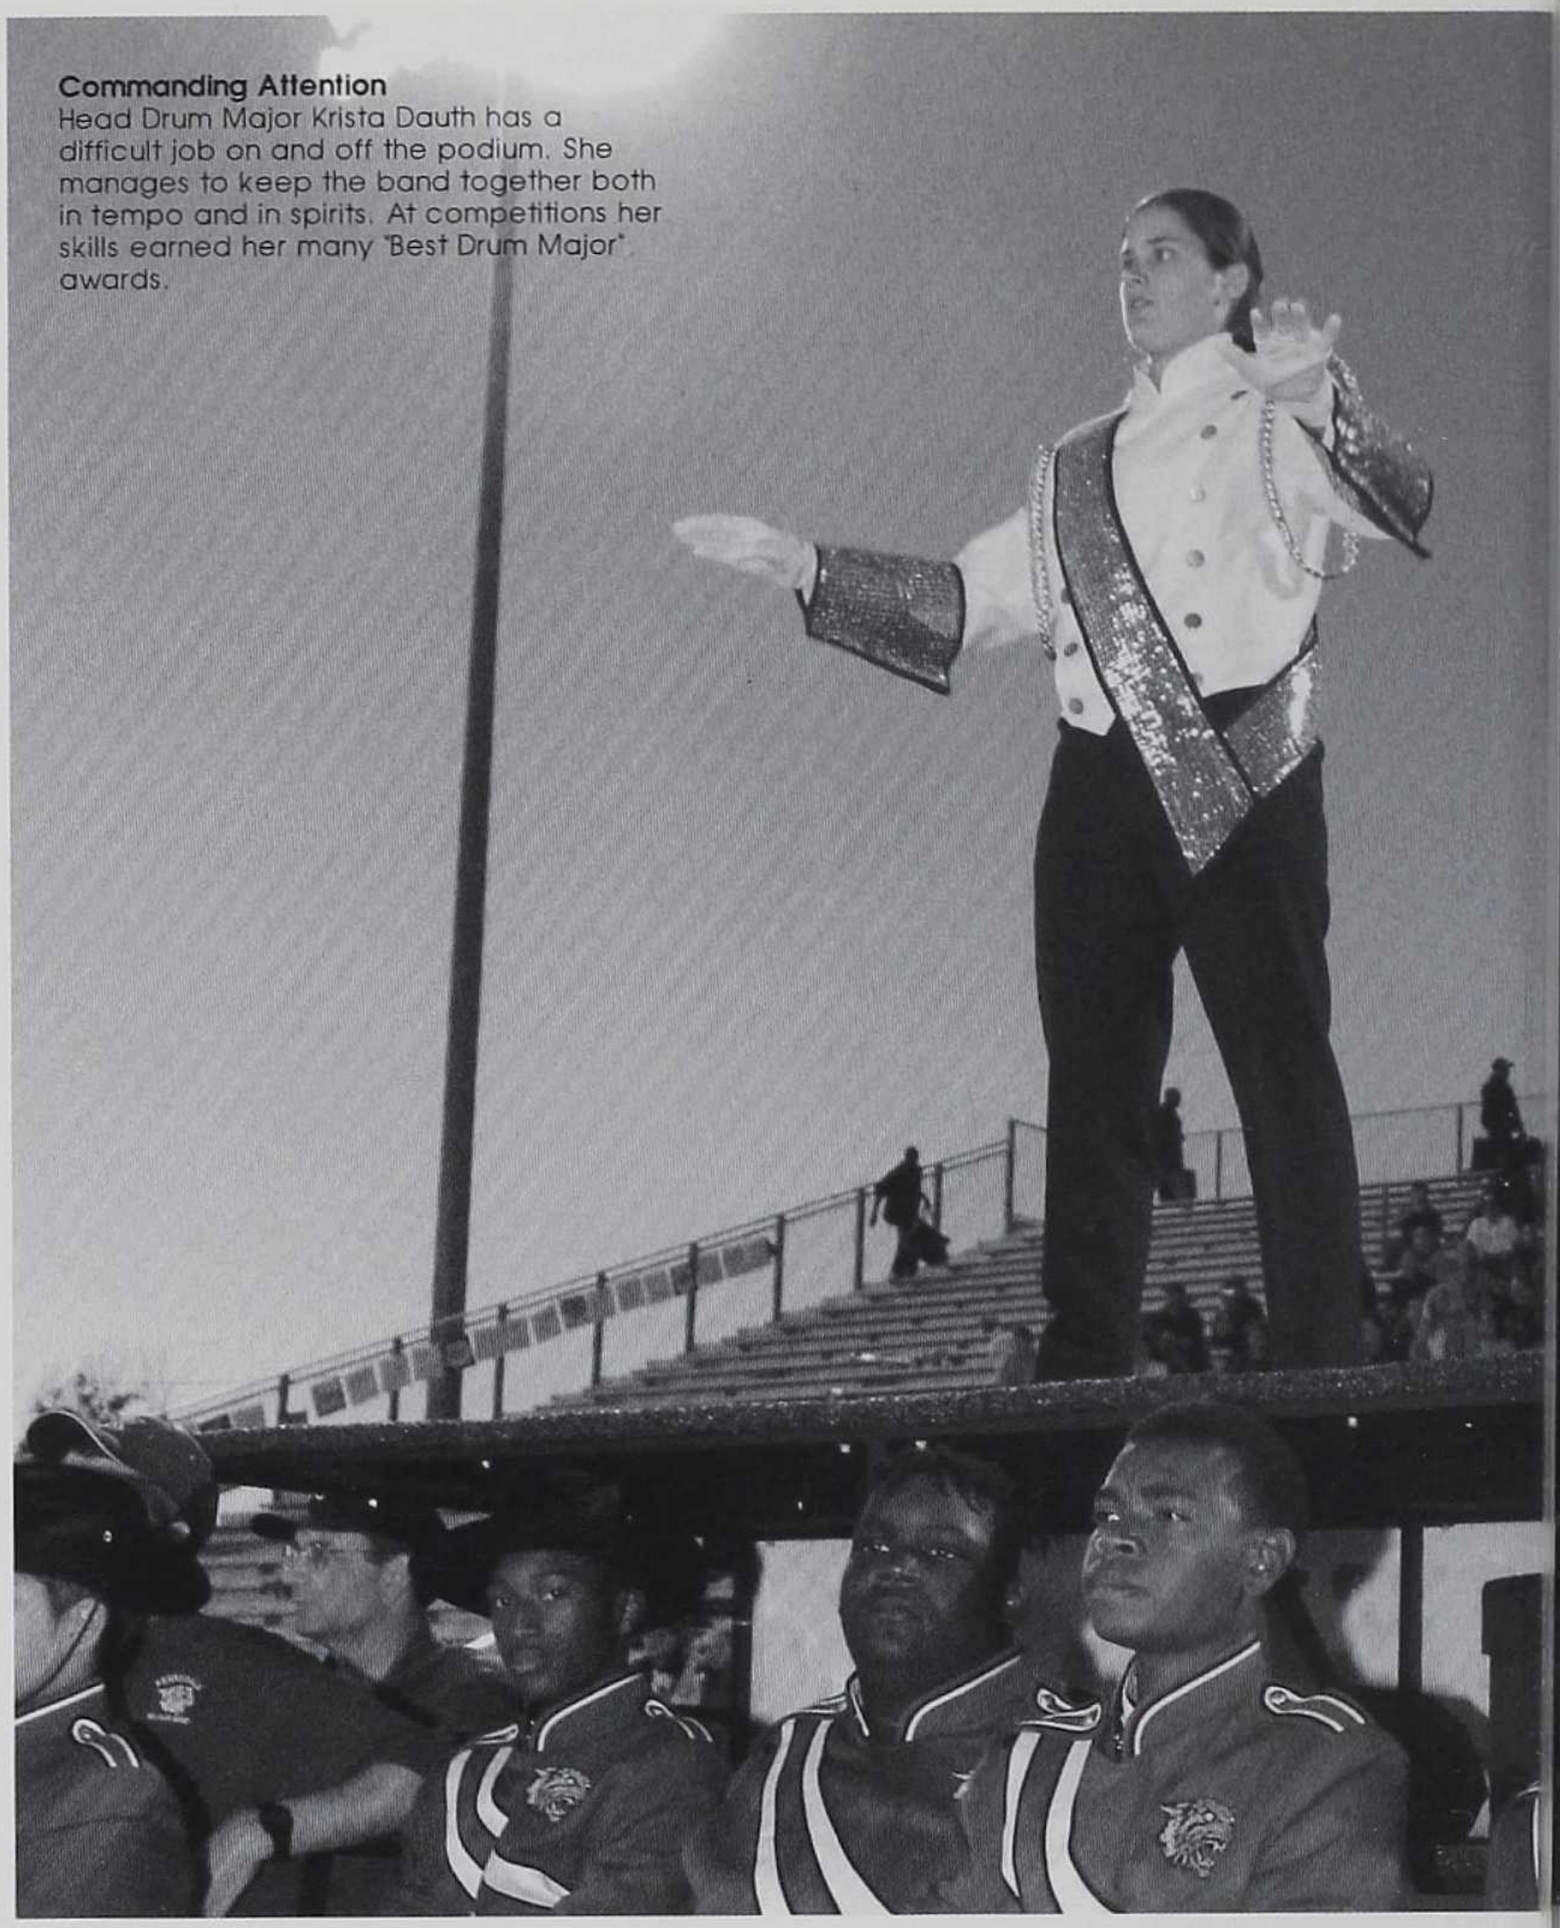


◄ Bon Appetite
Students involved in the Cafeteria Advisory Board munch on some great school food during one of their meetings. The members get to test the food before it's offered to the regular student body. "I really like to eat, and the food is really good when the Keebler man comes," said senior Adrian Cantrell when asked why she liked being a part of this new organization.

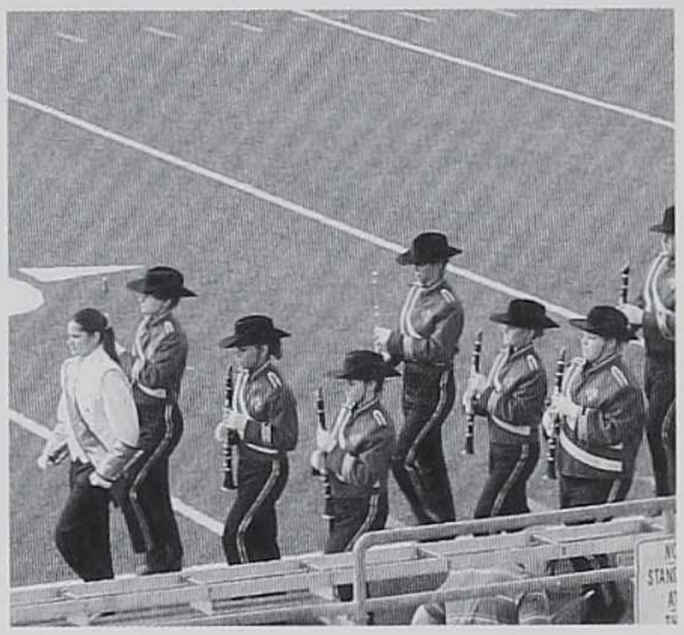
◄ Zoo Madness
Ana Velazquez and Paolo Arias spend a day sketching the animals and socializing with other members of the Art Club. The Art Club held weekly meetings in order to work on fundraisers and other monthly projects.

▼ All That Jazz
Junior Jake Owens and freshman John Avila push their sounds toward the Friday night crowds. "Band is fun because it helps me develop the skills that I will use for the rest of my life," said junior saxophone section leader Jake Owens.

Commanding Attention
Head Drum Major Krista Dauth has a difficult job on and off the podium. She manages to keep the band together both in tempo and in spirits. At competitions her skills earned her many "Best Drum Major" awards.



► Show Time
Drum Major Krista Dauth leads the band onto the field for their final competition.
Most of the band agreed with junior Elyse Barnes when she said, "It's an awesome feeling playing at band competitions and giving all you've got. Band is a second family."



► The Final Push
To shake things up a little, after the band finished their contest they changed their show for football games. One of the new additions included the entire band walking off the field and towards the audience.

▲ Band Pride
Junior Dan Cross helps the band provide some of the entertainment at pep rallies. In support of his section this tuba put his favorite saying on T-shirts: "K-town tubas kick it old school."

◄ Keeping the Beat
The drumline pauses their marching to rock things up a little as they use swift movements to sway with the beat. The drumline earned extremely high ratings in their field performance.

And now a word from the Auxiliary...

Kennedale Drumline includes both the drums and cymbals on the field, called Battery, and the non-marching percussionist with the xylophones and other various instruments, called Pit. This year the award winning drumline received a new director, Mr. Estes, who is also the new assistant band director at the high school, and is in charge of the concert band.

"This year the Kennedale Drumline competed in several competitions, and were very successful. They competed in the DeSoto Drumline contest finishing with a second division rating! Following DeSoto, they competed in the UTA Marching Festival, finishing first in both marching and stand-still competition! Also, the drumline finished with the outstanding percussion award and I look forward to another successful season in 2005-2006!"

- Mr. Estes, Drumline Instructor

Marching Into History

Nothing Can Hold Us Back

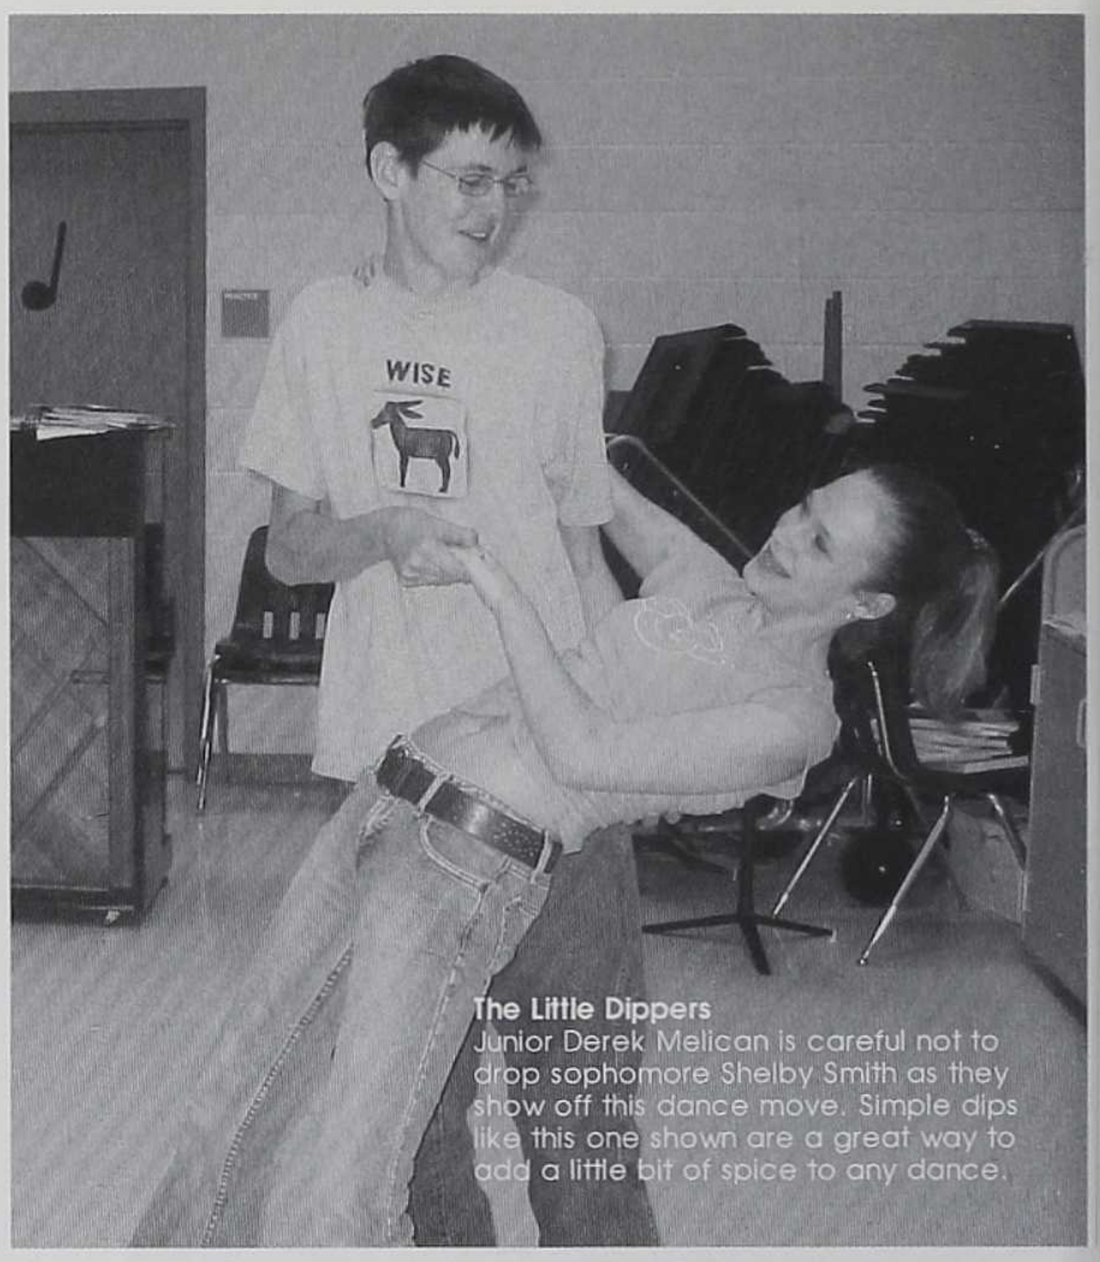
Band is a huge part of many of the events that take place at Kennedale High School. The band performs at everything from high school games to city-wide events. This year featured the biggest band at Kennedale High School that anyone can remember. This amazingly talented group of students also managed to make it farther in competition than any other Kennedale band in history; making it all the way to area and barely missing an advancement.

The members were also exceptional as junior Roxy Howard showed: "I liked being an assistant squad leader to Celine; we had a lot of fun and got the job done. I marching in the rain, too." One thing about the band members is certain...they feel a strong connection between them. As junior Vanessa Marquez put it, "The band hall is my home." Everyone feels pride as they see this group perform, and we look forward to more success in the future.

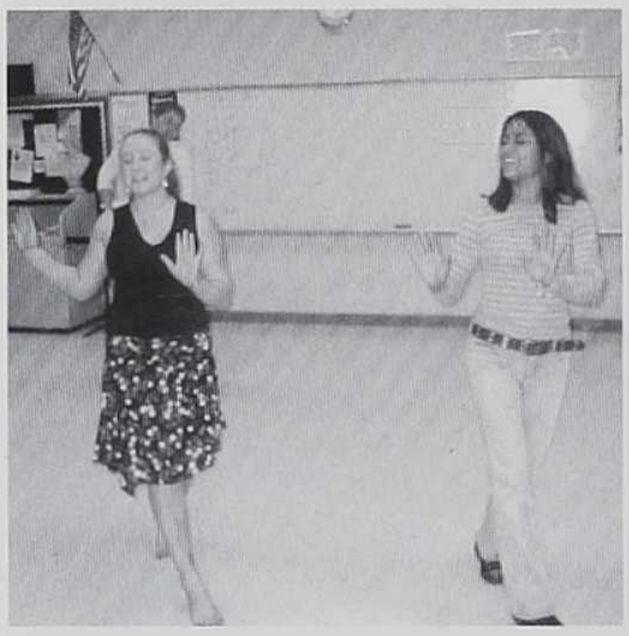
Dancin' in the Streets

Pizzazz

Kennedale High School is full of many creative and talented individuals, some of which make up the Pizzazz choir. Pizzazz is not your ordinary class period though; it is full of fun singing and creating new dances. A normal day in Pizzazz consists of an array of flips, twists, turns, and many dips. The Pizzazz group is made up of 14 students. They have been very busy this year and have already attended San Antonio for a competition. While other people are dozing off in their sixth period class, these kids get their groove on. How lucky!

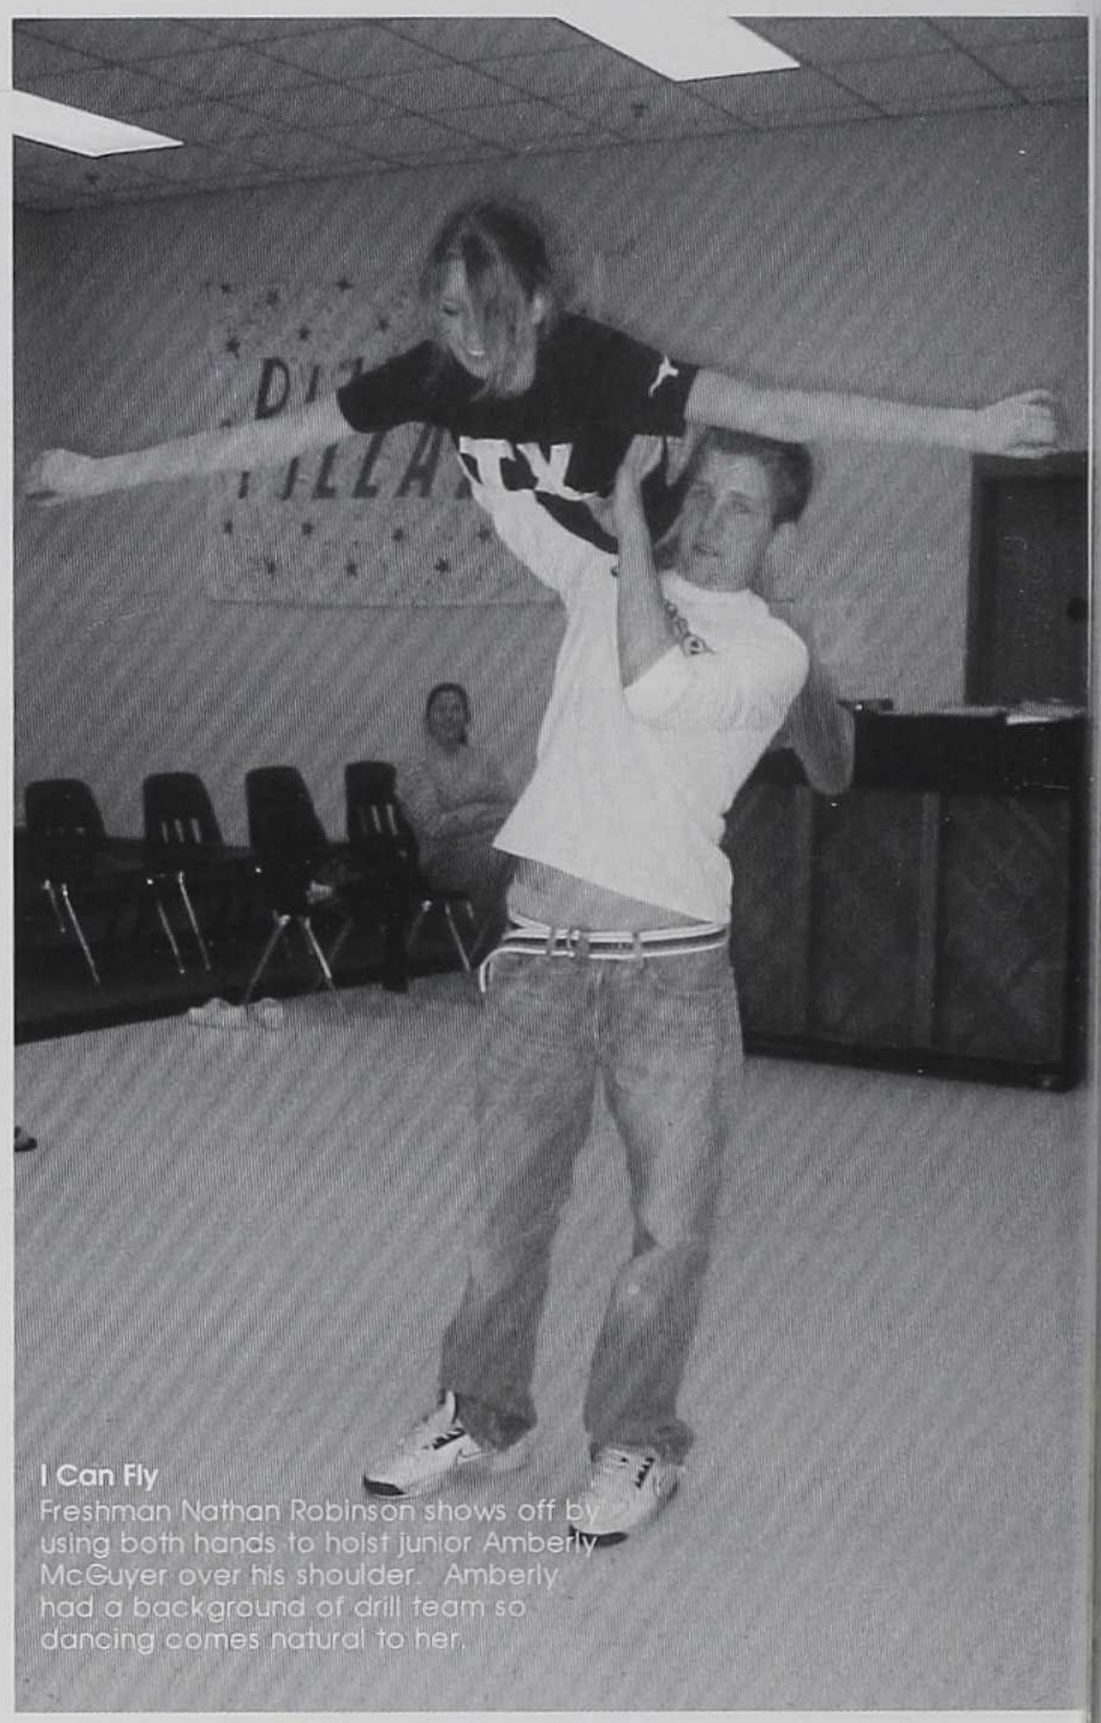


The Little Dippers
Junior Derek Melican is careful not to drop sophomore Shelby Smith as they show off this dance move. Simple dips like this one shown are a great way to add a little bit of spice to any dance.



▲ Show Me Your Moves
Chelsea Johnson and Lili Ricardez "dance in the streets." The pizzazz group works diligently to create and practice each routine. It is a lot of work, but also worth it for the level of fun that is received. Mrs. Lowe is proud of all her students.

▲ Catch Me if You Can
Being a boy in pizzazz sure has its benefits. Nathan Robinson, one of just four boys in the class, loves all the special attention he gets. Without the boys, all the impressive flips and dips could not take part in their dance routines.



I Can Fly
Freshman Nathan Robinson shows off by using both hands to hoist junior Amberly McGuyer over his shoulder. Amberly had a background of drill team so dancing comes natural to her.

Funky Music

What is your favorite song to sing and dance to?

▼ "I like to sing and dance to every song that I hear, but my favorite is probably 'Girls Just Wanna Have Fun'."

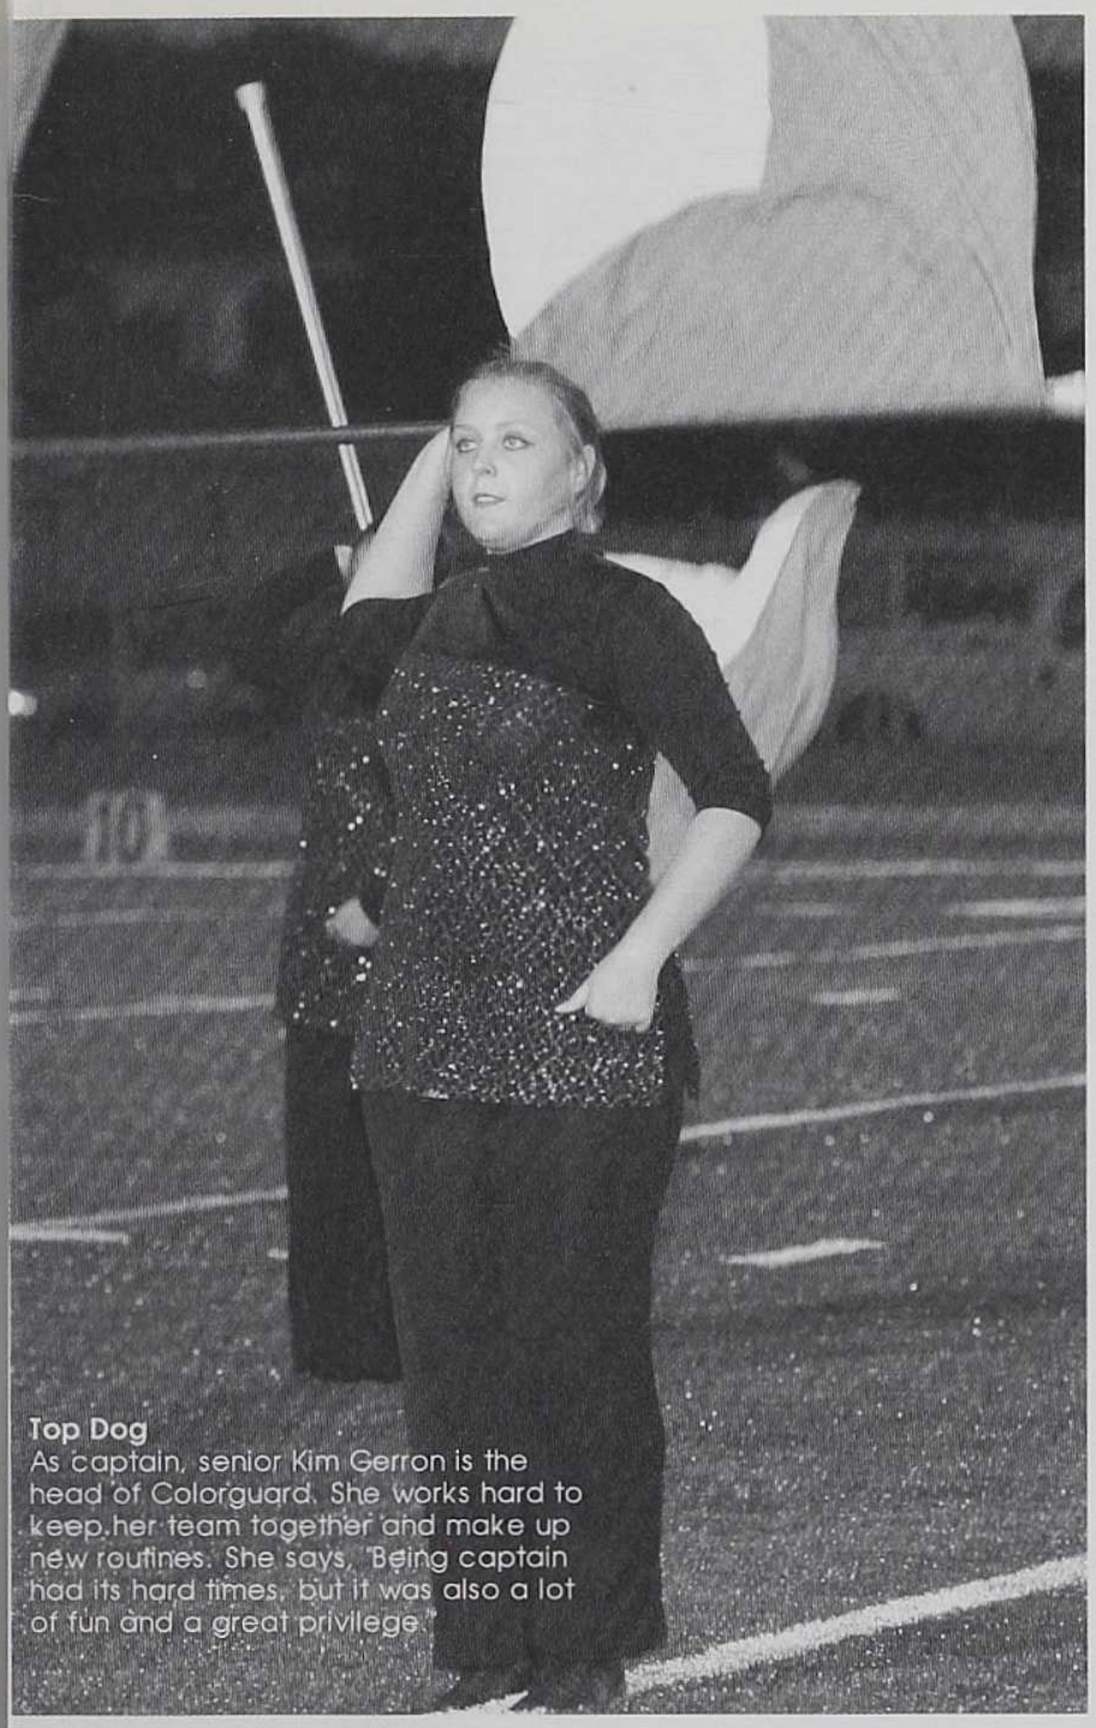
- Katie Hampton

▲ " 'I Just Died in Your Arms Tonight' is my favorite song to sing and dance to. Sharon and I jam to it all the time!

- Angelica McPartlin

▲ "My favorite song to dance to is 'Mamma Mia'! I have really crazy, dramatic moves that are almost embarrassing to do in public!"

- Marisol Monreal



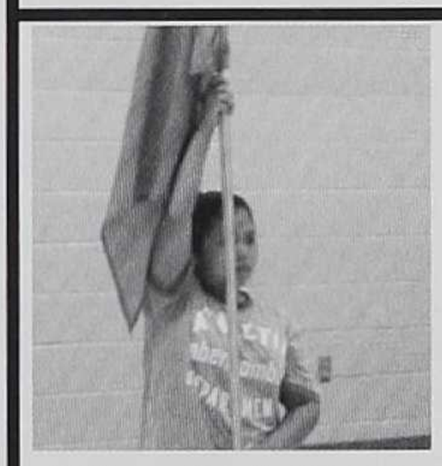
Top Dog
As captain, senior Kim Gerron is the head of Colorguard. She works hard to keep her team together and make up new routines. She says, "Being captain had its hard times, but it was also a lot of fun and a great privilege."

▼ Attention!
The Colorguard girls hold their parallel flag stance while they focus intensely on the move that is next to come. Led by senior, Kim Gerron, the Colorguard always looks together and organized.

▼ Twirl Power
Sophomore Whitney Miller is careful not to miss a beat in their halftime performance at a Friday night game. Whitney is an extremely dedicated Colorguard individual who works hard and loves what she does.

Wave that Flag

WHAT WAS YOUR FAVORITE ROUTINE YOU DID THIS YEAR?



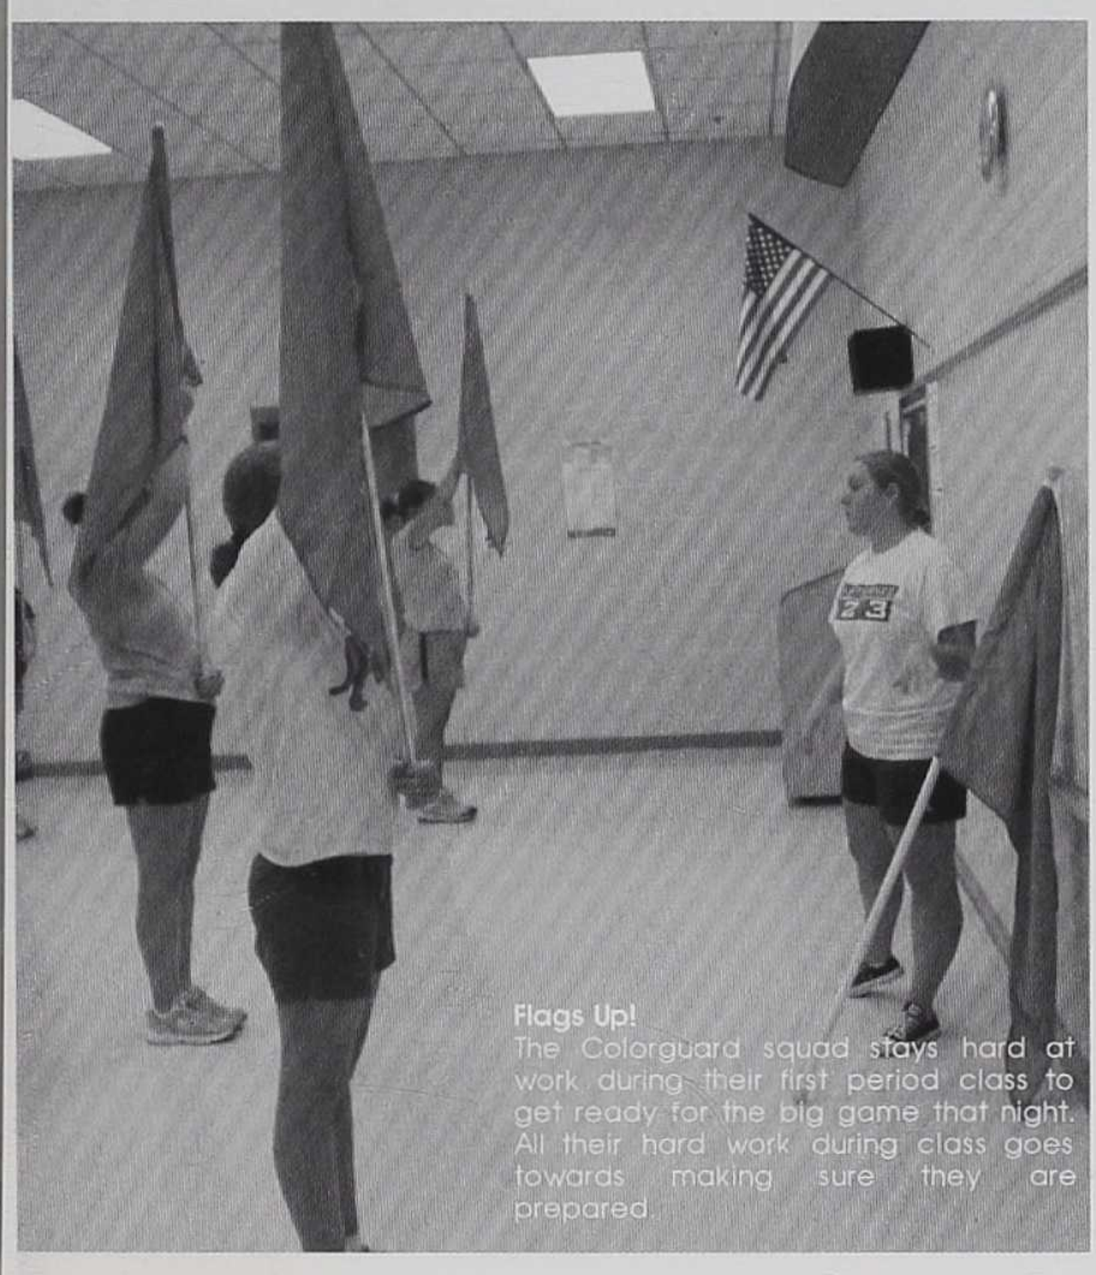
▼ "My favorite Colorguard routine I performed was Eleanor Rigbey from the Magical Mystery Tour."

- Kristen Fails

HANDLE WITH CARE

▲ "The routine that I liked best was the opening of the Magical Mystery Tour. It was really fun and had lots of energy to it."

- Jerrica Rodriguez



Flags Up!
The Colorguard squad stays hard at work during their first period class to get ready for the big game that night. All their hard work during class goes towards making sure they are prepared.

Flags Up!

Colorguard

Another talented group of students can be spotted at every football game. These girls are equipped with costumes made of vivid colors, which amaze and capture all the spectator's eyes. This group, none other than the KHS Colorguard, can be found working and practicing diligently in their first period class. They accompanied the band at every single competition throughout the year. During the football halftime show, they performed together as well. The two groups worked hard to make each show a real success.

► In Sync
The Wildcat Choir class concentrates on getting their voices high and on pitch in order to put on a great show. The choir class made this one of their main focuses in their everyday warm ups and shows.

► Anxiously Awaiting
Jana Little, Megan Echeverria, Seth Glovier, Chris Reynolds and Josh Judice patiently wait to hear the results and scores of their performance at UIL. The competition was held at Birdville High School.

▲ Follow the Leader
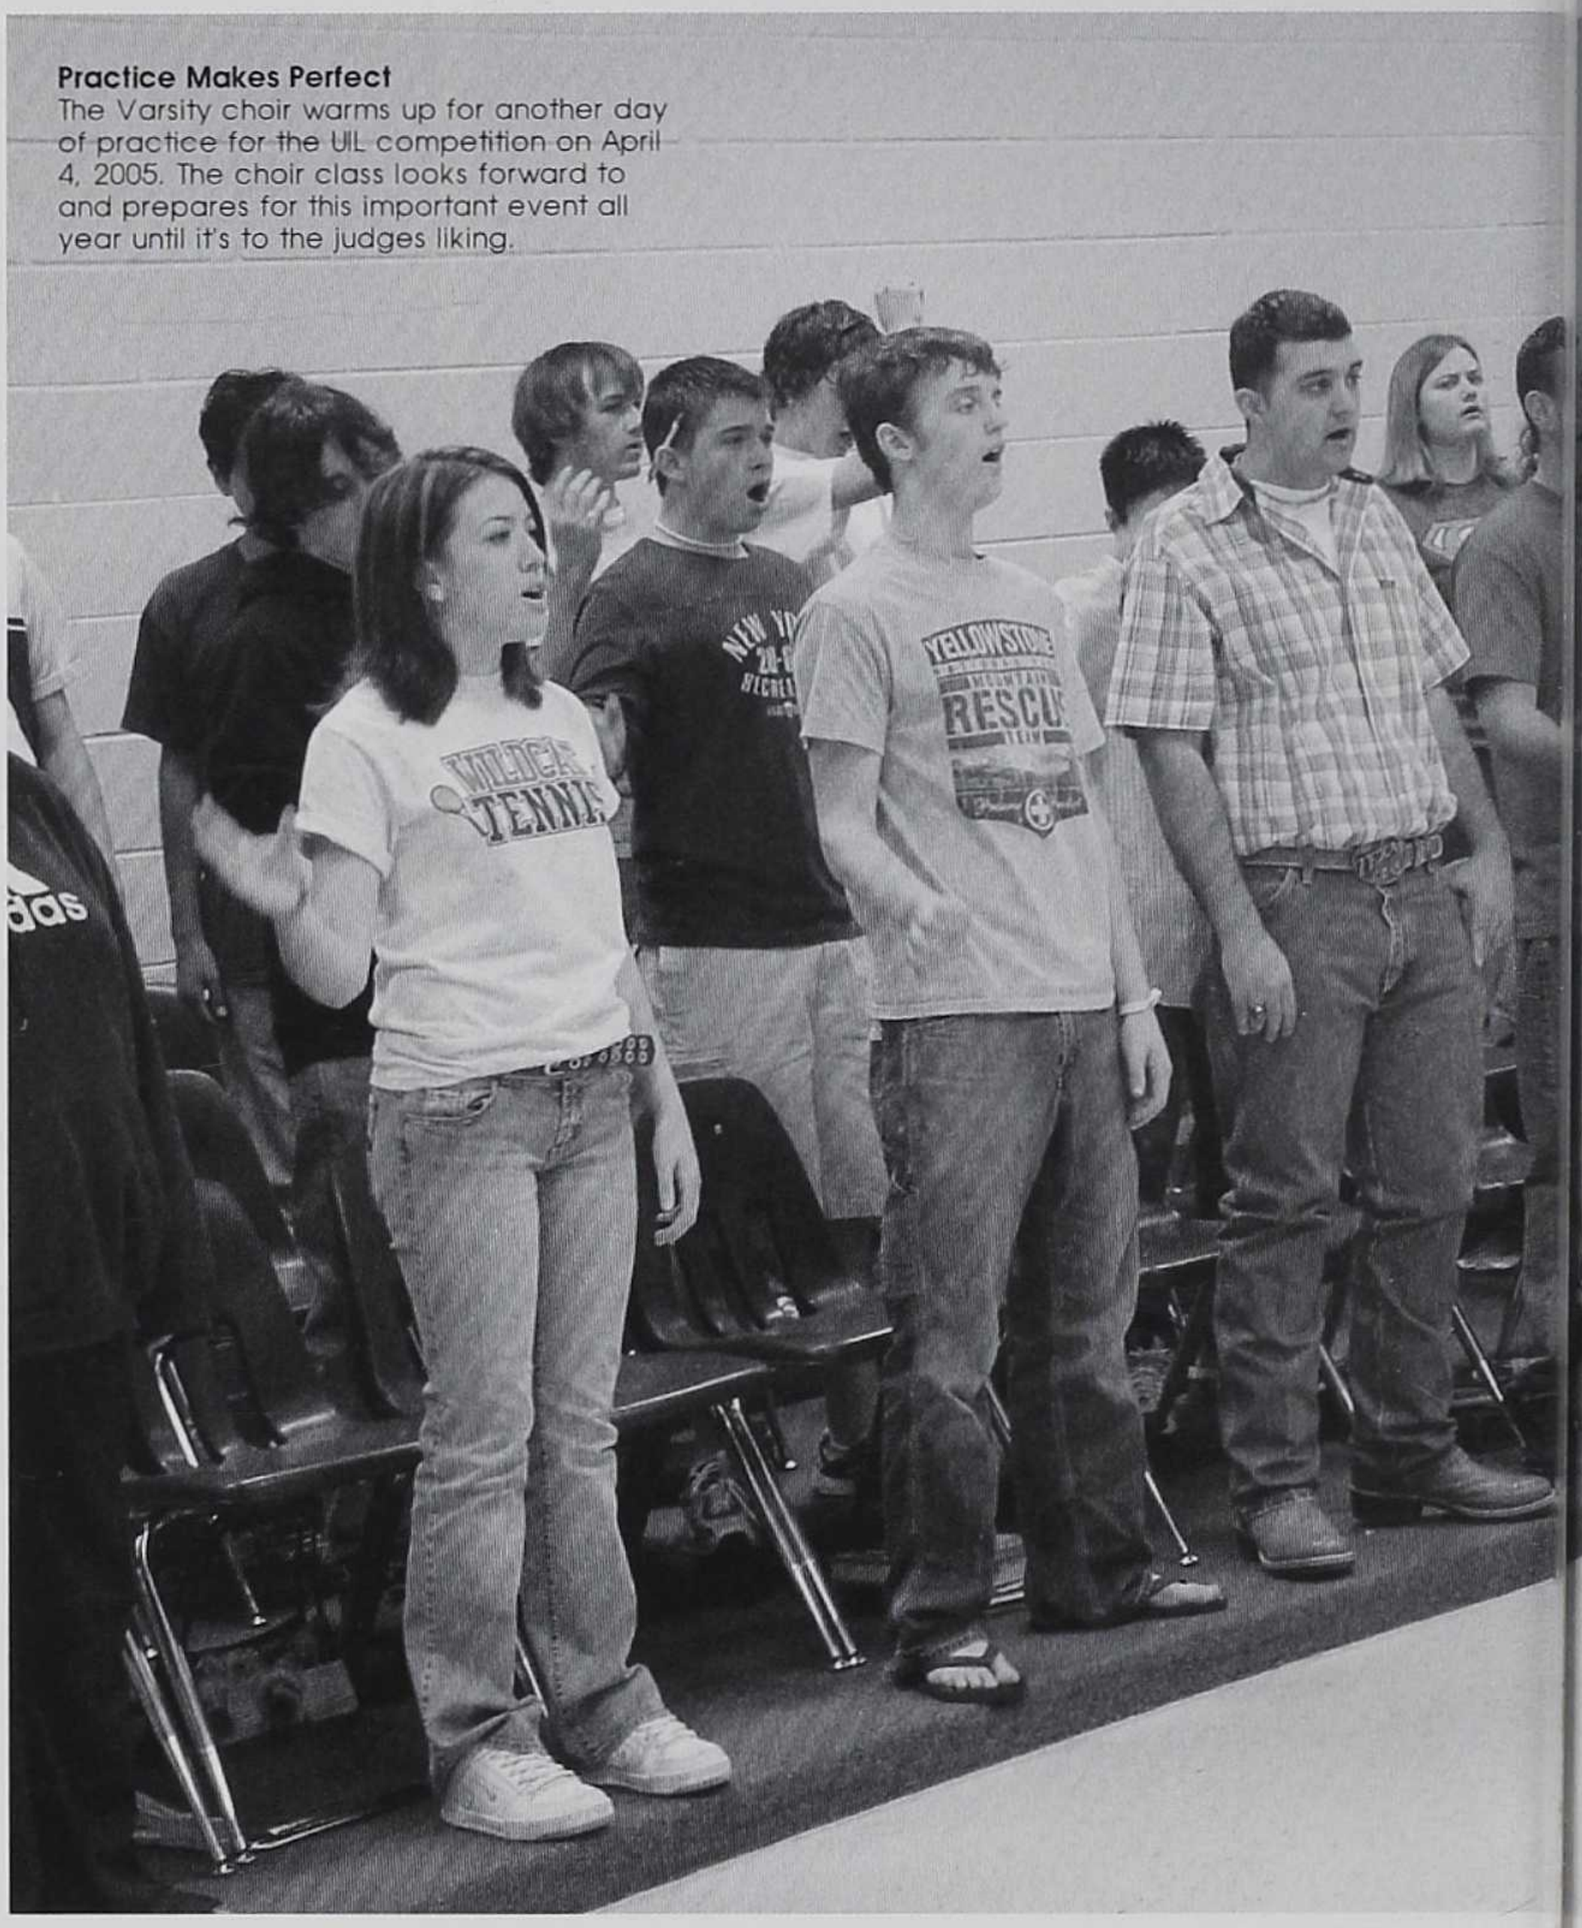
Choir director, Mrs. Kate Lowe leads four different choirs everyday in order to prepare them for concerts and UIL competitions. Mrs. Lowe uses her piano skills to make the choir sound its best.

Practice Makes Perfect
The Varsity choir warms up for another day of practice for the UIL competition on April 4, 2005. The choir class looks forward to and prepares for this important event all year until it's to the judges liking.

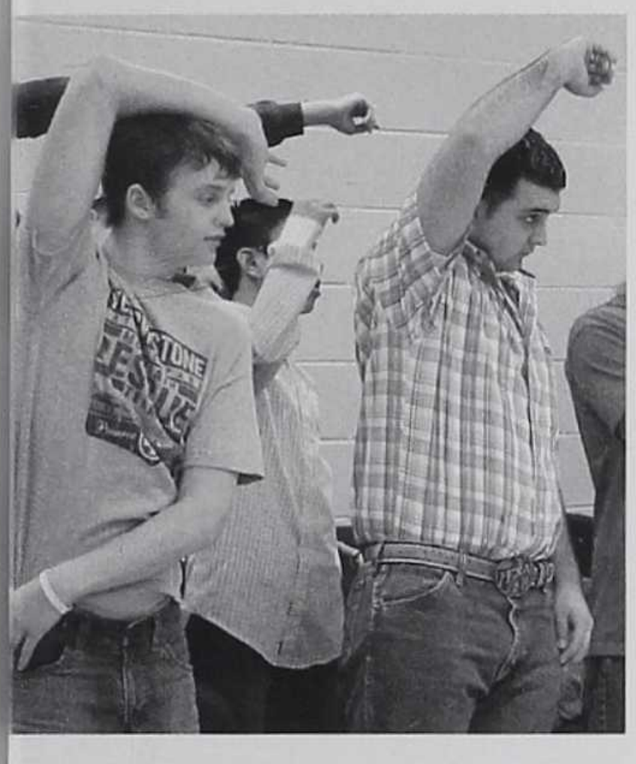


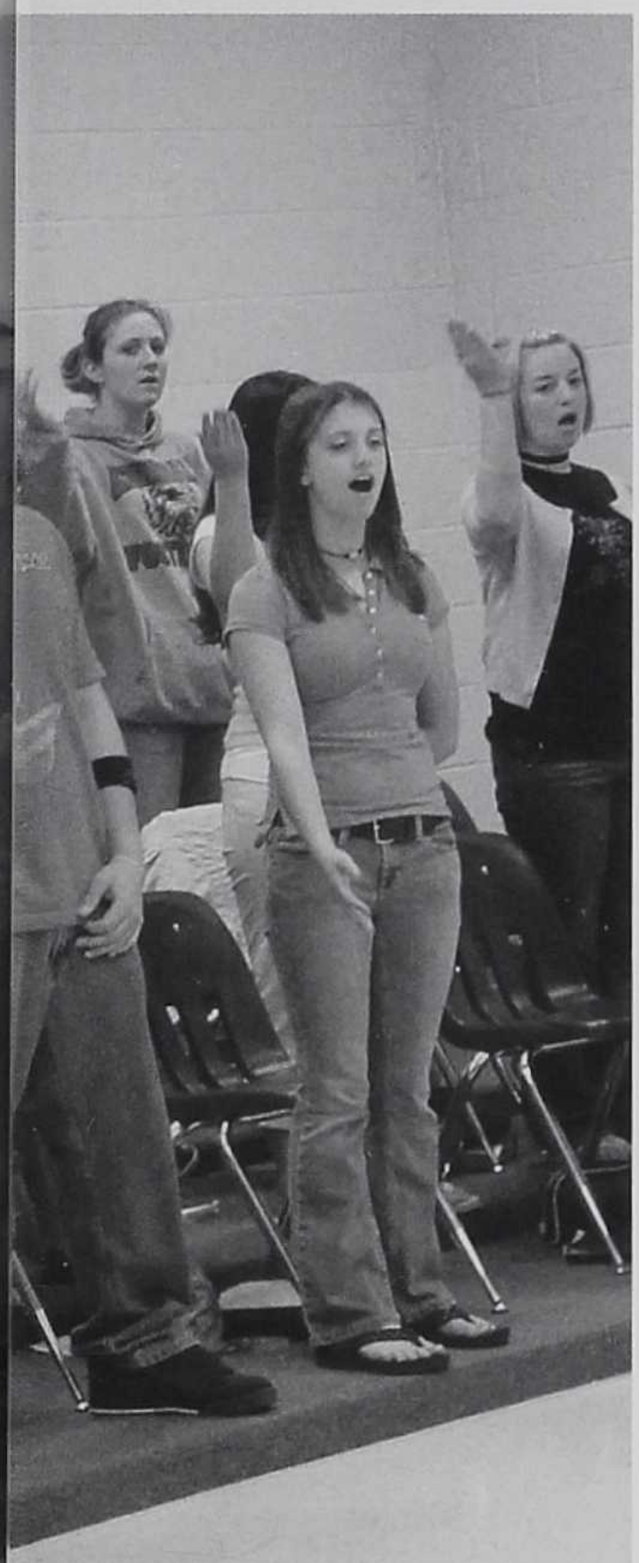
Hitting the Notes

The Voices of Kennedale

The Kennedale High School choir has overcome many obstacles this year. From new members, to competitions, to fundraisers, the choirs have had their work cut out for them. The Varsity Choir has seen many new members this year and continues to welcome them through the second semester. The Varsity Choir also competed in the UIL competition this year and received a 2 for the three songs they competed with. The Varsity Choir also received a 4 for their sight reading specialties. The Women's ensemble planned to accompany the Varsity Choir on their joined trip with the band to San Antonio. For this trip the choirs have worked many fundraisers. The choir members helped out to work a bake sale during a Grease performance. Many choir students competed in the Solo and Ensemble competition held at Arlington Heights. In all, Kennedale Choir achieved many goals through hard work and practice.

▼ Getting Things Started
Juniors Zach Gibbs and Josh Johnson prove that athletes aren't the only ones that must stretch to warm up. The choir always did a series of stretches to ensure they were ready to hit all the right notes.





Q&A

Solo & Ensemble State Competitors

Sophomore Chris Reynolds
Q: What award did you receive?
A: I received a one for the UIL Solo/Ensemble Competition.
Q: How did you feel?

Q: What is your next step?
A: After high school I plan to major in music education.
Q: How did you prepare yourself?
A: Practice, practice, practice! I'm lucky I didn't lose my voice.

Senior Lindsay Power
Q: What award did you receive?
A: I got a one rating.
Q: How did you feel?
A: I was very excited and thankful
Q: What is your next step?
A: I will be attending Baylor and I'll continue singing.
Q: How did you prepare yourself?
A: Practice helps so much, you have to have good vocal health.

◄ Dressed To Impress
The choir puts on their best clothes to emphasize the formal mood of their performance. The choir's attire was in black and white to make them stand out as more experienced, Varsity choir members.

► Summer Lovin'
The Burger Palace Boys and other cast members from Grease gather around Danny to hear his story from his summer. "The whole experience was exciting, some good things, some bad, but it worked out overall," said Matt Parker about Grease.

From Sockhops to Shakespeare

Another Eventful Year in Theater

This year has been another exciting one for theater at Kennedale. The year started out with the fall play, As You Like It, by William Shakespeare. It was filled with a large cast with many talented actors and actresses. The show was a three night run from Thursday, October 28 through Saturday, October 30. As You Like It was followed by the spring musical, Grease. Grease was a big success with a large turnout for every showing. Grease ran from February 3rd to February 5th. Grease was a fun show and it had a fun cast to fill it. Followed by Grease was the One Act Play, The Actor's Nightmare. The OAP group competed with five other schools and received alternate for the competition. The crew received the "Best Crew" award for their backstage work. Katie Hampton and Khristian Carnagie received "All Star Cast" awards. The year had its trials but ended as a huge success for the theater students.

Now and Then — A Flashback Into the Fabulous 50's.

The musical Grease performed here at KHS, is in some ways very different from the popular movie made in 1978. The differences included several added songs such as, "Raining on Prom Night", "Those Magic Changes", "Freddy My Love", "Rock N' Roll Party Queen", and "Shakin' at the High School Hop". There were also some missing songs that many are familiar with in the movie such as "Sandy", "You're the One That I Want", and "Hopelessly Devoted to You". There is one thing that is certain, no matter how the musical is performed, it has stood the test of time.

▲ All the World's a Stage
Matt Parker, Hali Hinz, L'oren Avis, and Richie Schermerhorn smile as "the lovers" from As You Like It. The four stars were an important ingredient to the success of the play.

◄ Tell Me More
The Pink Ladies gather around Sandy to hear her story of her summer love while she sings "Summer Nights." All the girls had lots of fun being a part of the Grease musical because they like to sing and dance.

▼ Raining on Prom Night
Junior Belinda Cook, starring as Sandy, sings "Raining on Prom Night" in her room. Belinda had Khristian Carnagie, Katie Hampton, and Laura Rhone sing the harmony parts of the song with her.

◄ Lean on Me
Seth Glovier, Matt Saenz, Robert Freeborn, Matt Parker, and Chris Reynolds rehearse a scene from As You Like It. The show was a hit with the 60's costumes putting a twist on a classic Shakespeare play.

◄ All-Star Actresses
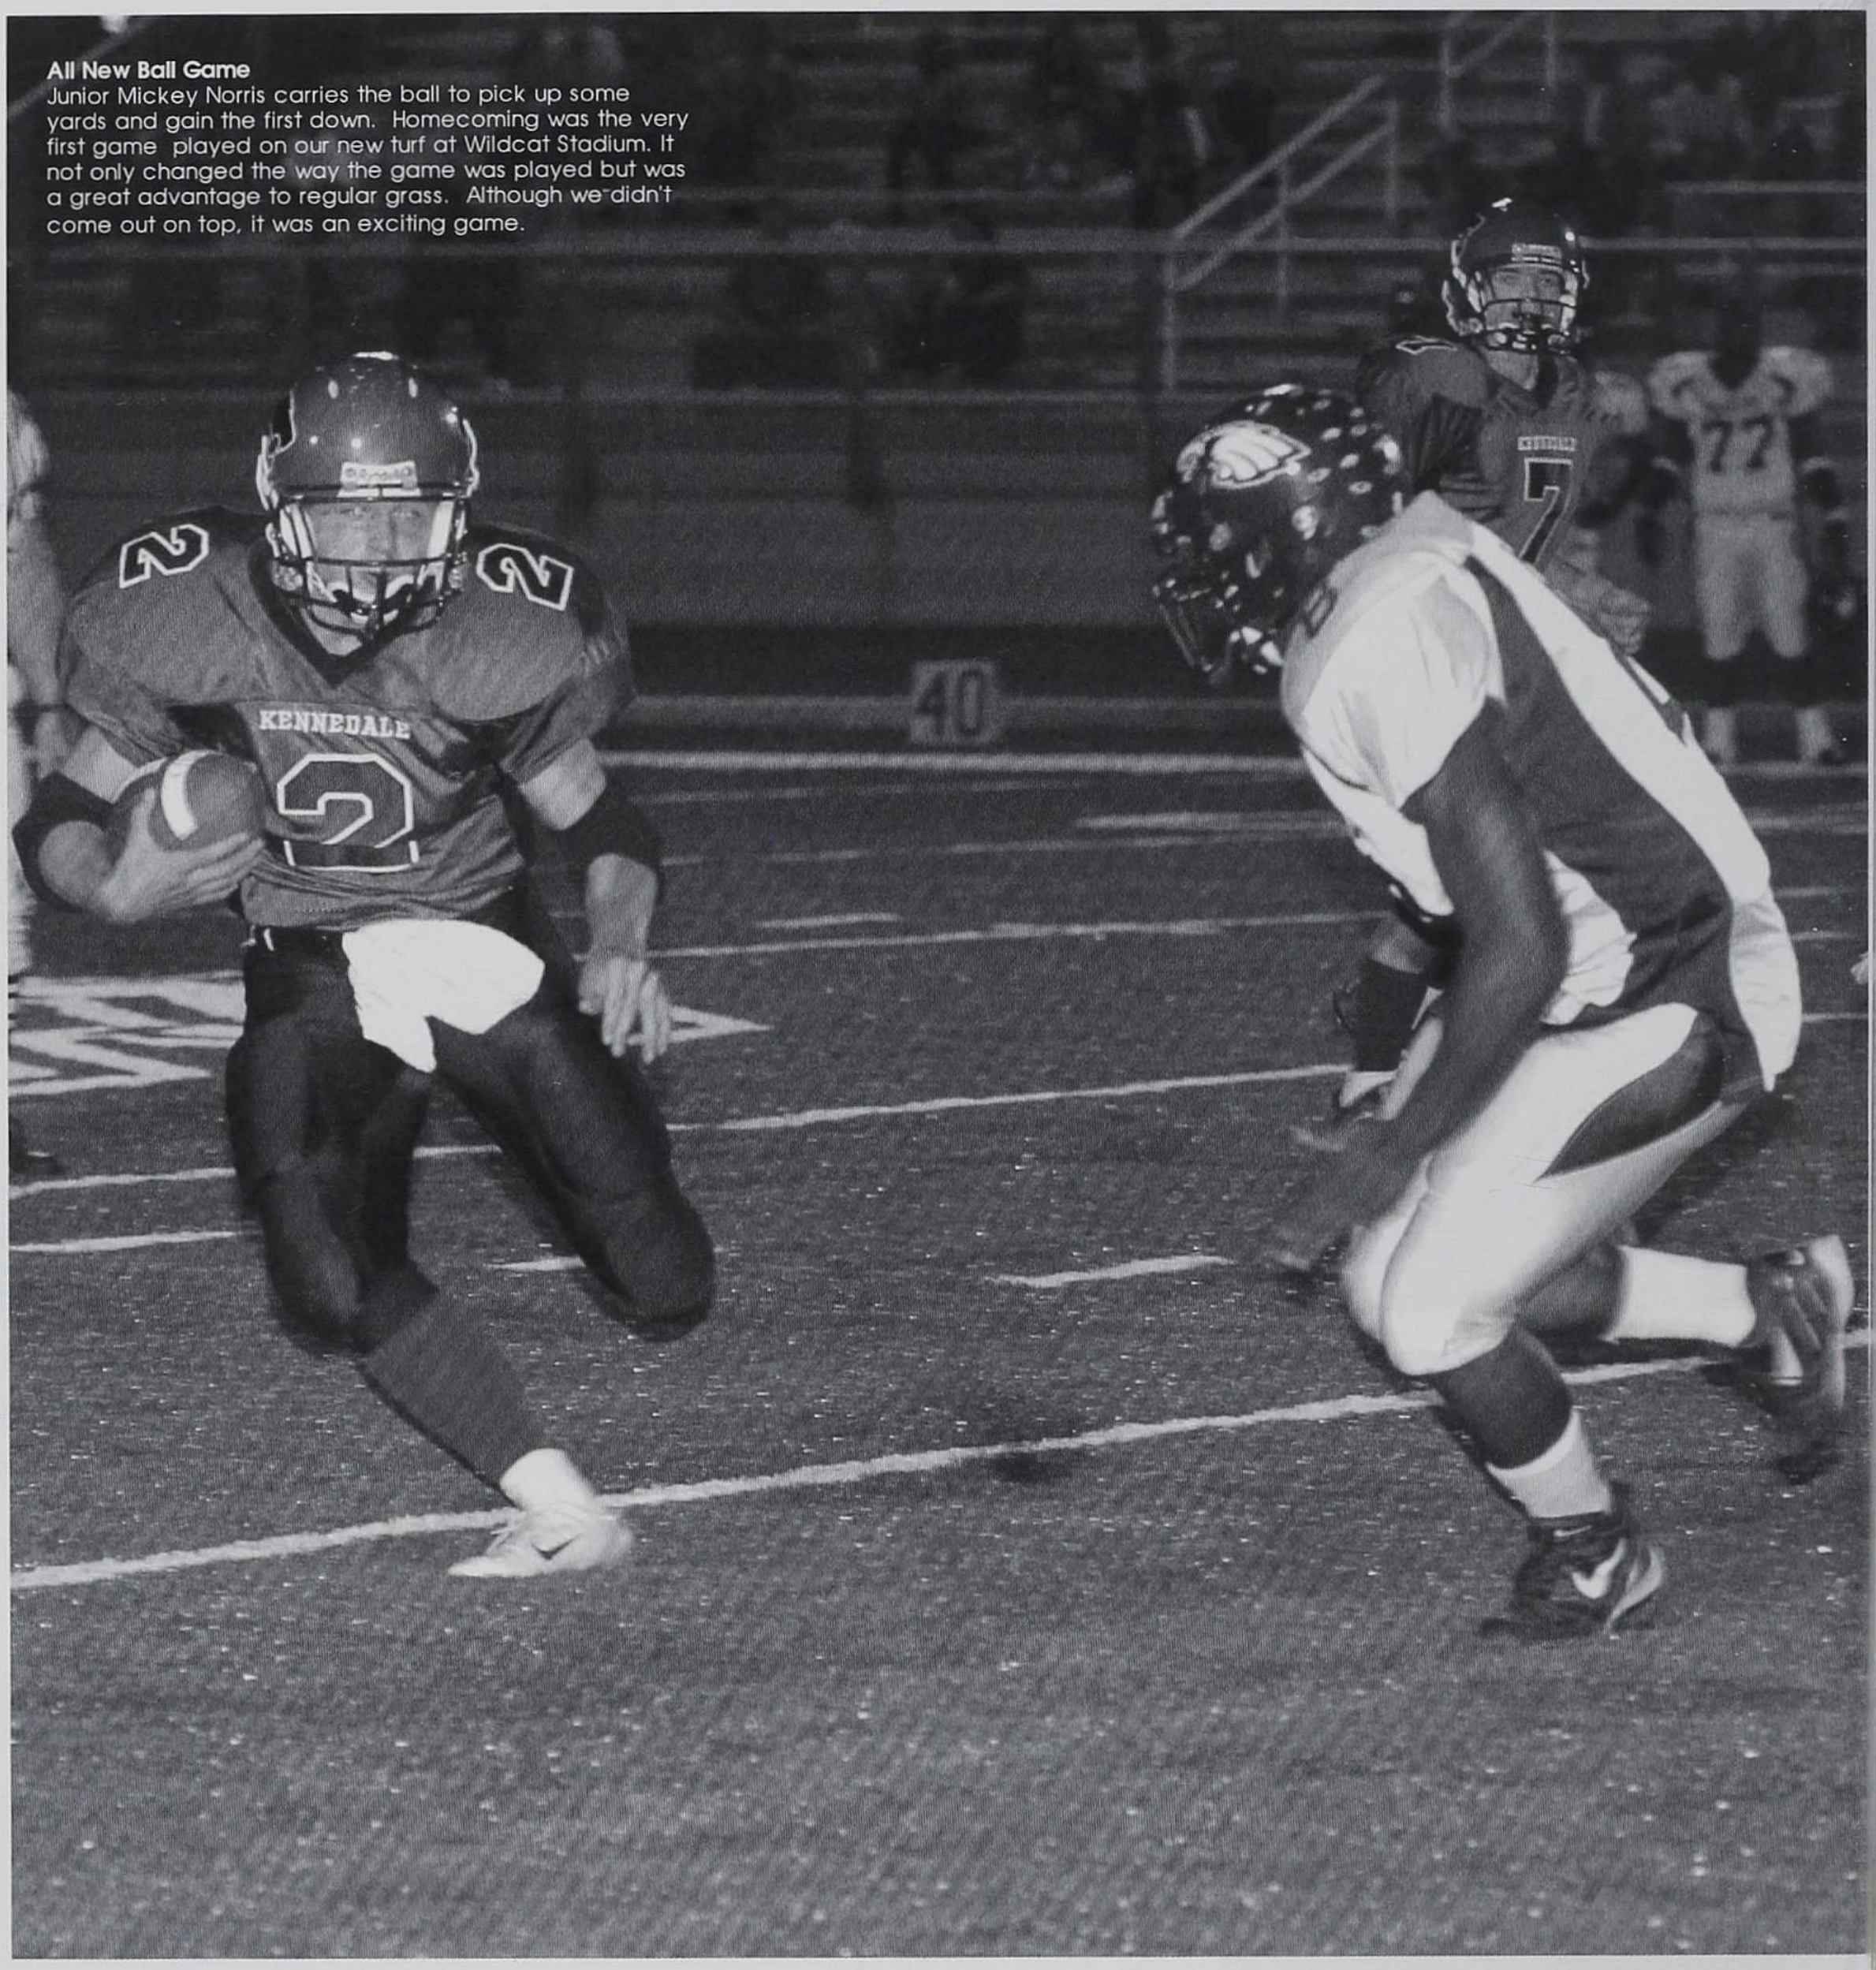
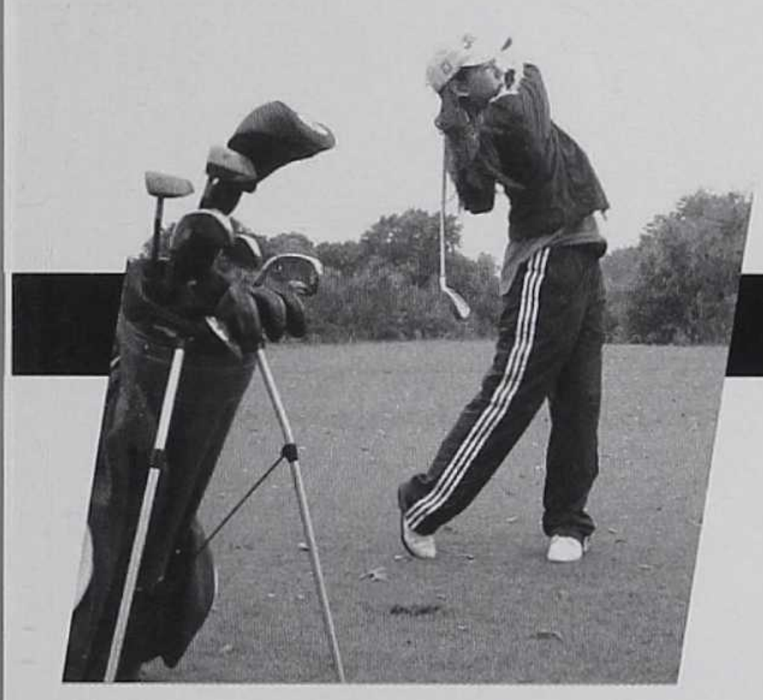
Seniors Khristian Carnagie and Katie Hampton act out an argument during the UIL One Act Play, The Actor's Nightmare. Both Katie and Khristian received the "All-Star Cast" award for UIL.

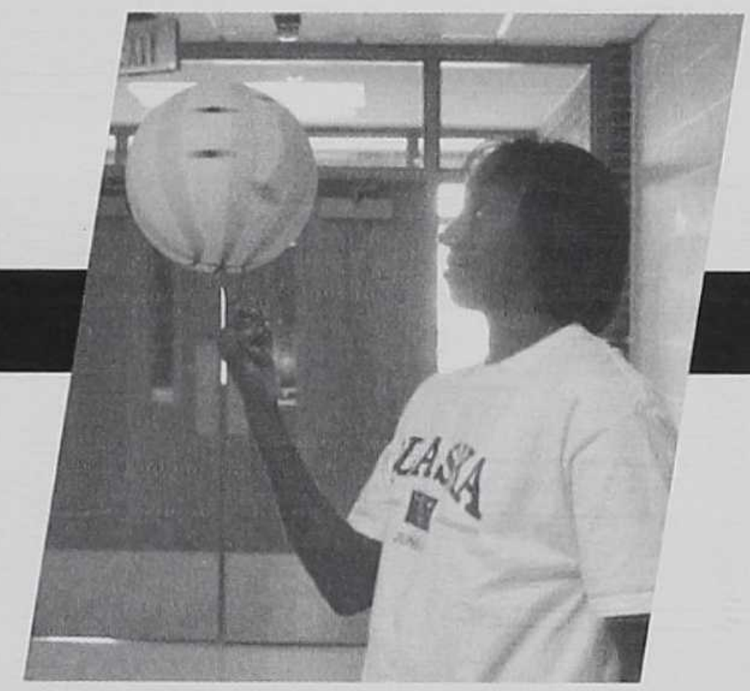
All New Ball Game
Junior Mickey Norris carries the ball to pick up some yards and gain the first down. Homecoming was the very first game played on our new turf at Wildcat Stadium. It not only changed the way the game was played but was a great advantage to regular grass. Although we didn't come out on top, it was an exciting game.



Absolutely No Limits

Wildcats Do It All

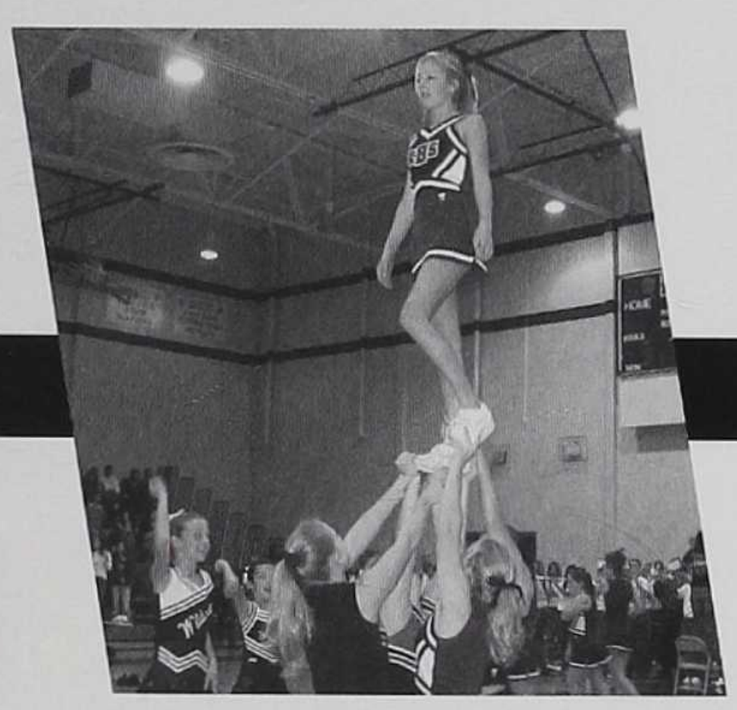


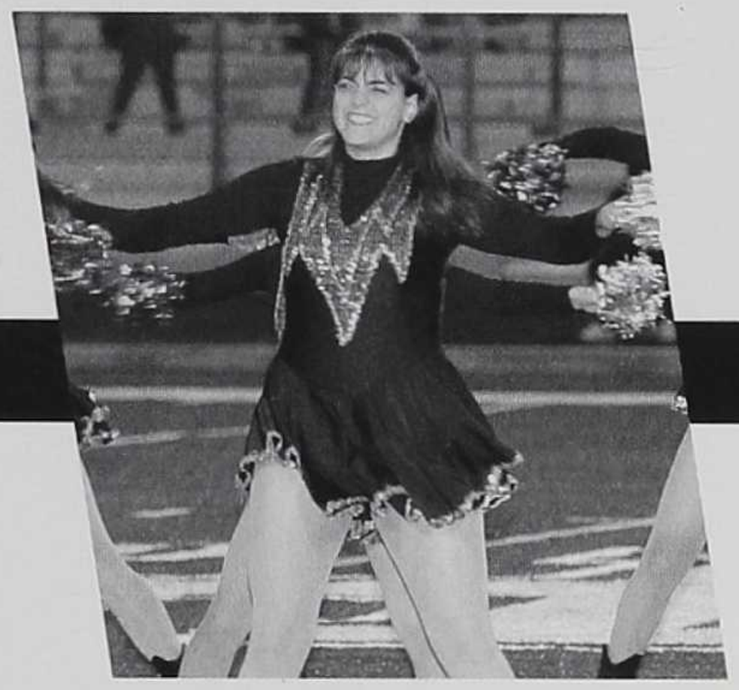


KHS is growing and expanding every year. This school year we have changed many things. In the sports aspect of it, we have put in new turf to make our stadium even better. As Kennedale grows, so do the number of sports offered and the number of students who are involved in them. Win or lose, our athletic teams always represent Kennedale in a spectacular way and they make KHS a great school.

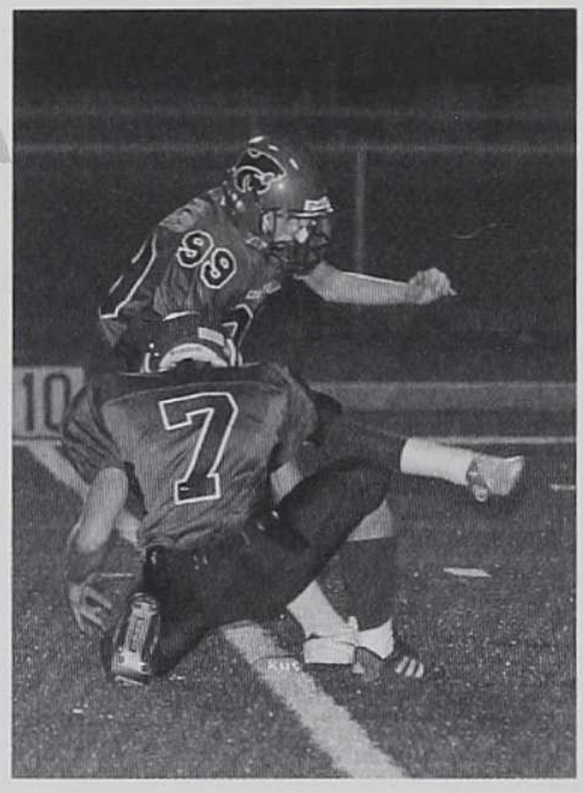
Our fans here at KHS are everything to us because without them we would not succeed in anything. They make it all possible. They come out and support our teams no matter what. As one of our biggest fans, Emily Taylor said, "I love high school football. I have watched it since I was in the fifth grade. I love it because my hometown gathers together to cheer for our high school football stars."

One person comes to mind when we think of who excels in sports and that is Courtney Lee. She is an outstanding athlete participating in Varsity basketball for 4 years, Varsity track for 4 years, and Varsity cross country for 1 year. She started getting involved in sports when she was only 5. "My mother is my role model because in every sport she played she always set out to be the best," said Courtney.

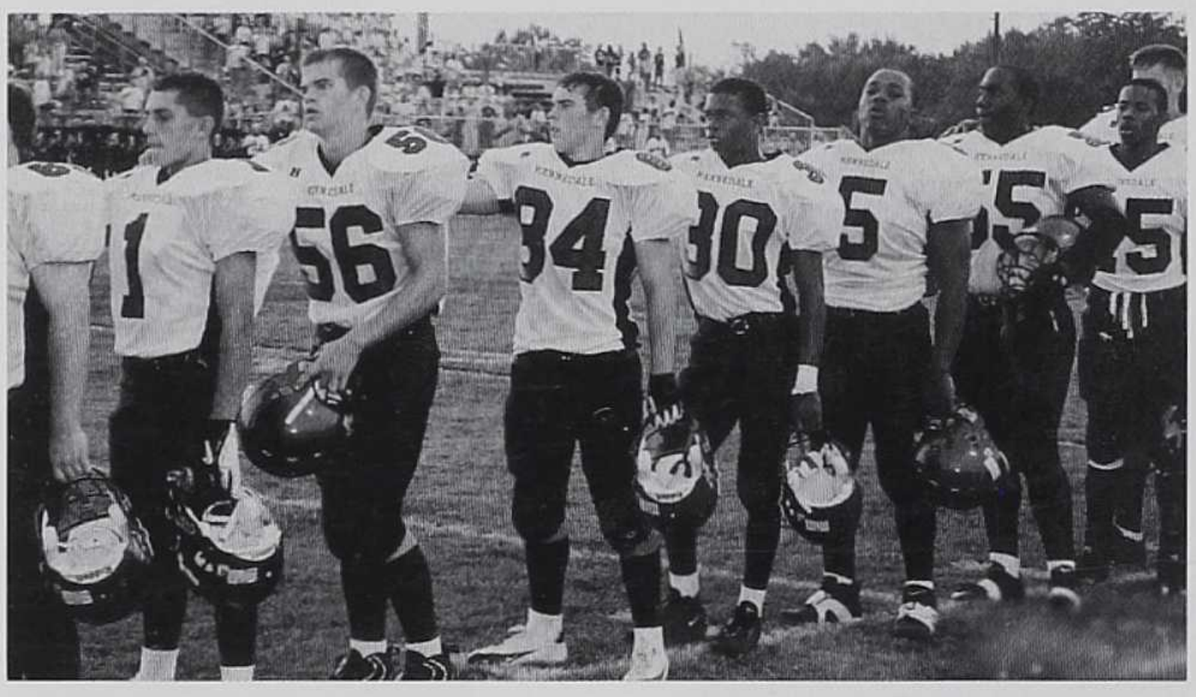




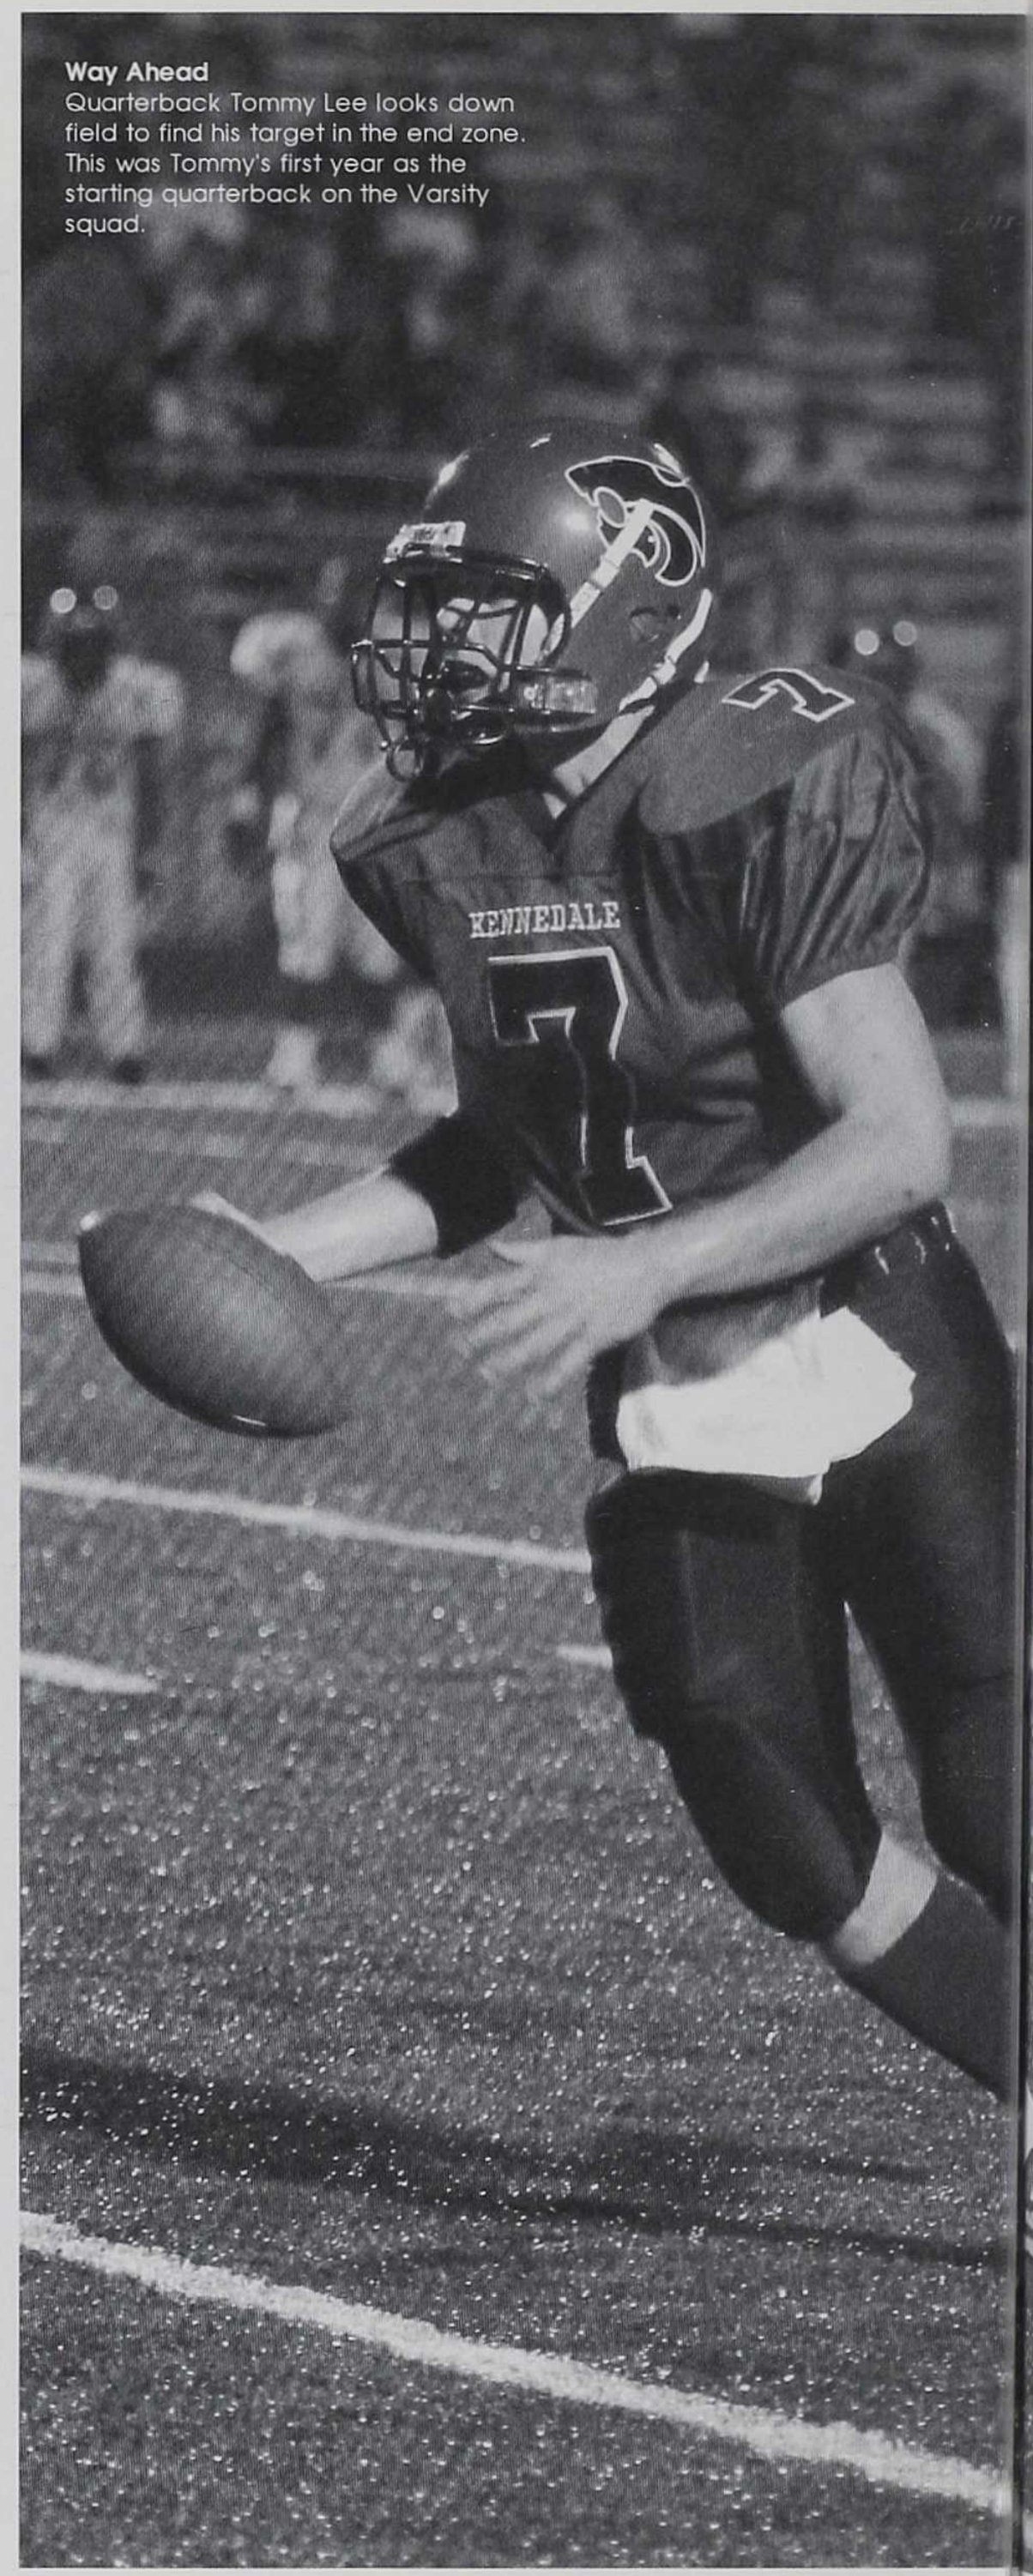
► Just Kick It
Logan Barrett kicks the extra point with Tommy Lee as his placeholder. They worked together and practiced hard so that another victory could be clenched. "I was glad that I was able to help the team when they needed me," says freshman Logan Barrett.



▼ Helmets Off
The Varsity team shows their respect for our great country by signing the National Anthem. Soon after the music stopped, the adrenaline started to flow and they got pumped up to win yet another game.



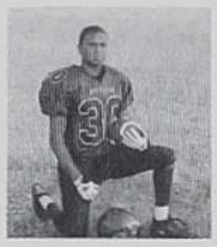
Way Ahead
Quarterback Tommy Lee looks down field to find his target in the end zone. This was Tommy's first year as the starting quarterback on the Varsity squad.



LOOK WHO'S TALKING

What is your favorite professional football team and player?

Chase Johnson's favorite football team is the Atlanta Falcons. He idolizes Michael Vick because of his many skills on the field.



"I like the Cowboys because they are America's team and cheerleaders. I like Dionn Sanders because he was one of the greats," says senior RaShawn Brooks.

Varsity football player Daniel Hemphill says his all-time favorite football player is Ray Lewis who plays on his favorite NFL team, the Ravens.

Brian Urlacher on the Chicago Bears is Coach Sam Riley's favorite. Why you ask? Riley says, "He plays mean! Not dirty, just hard and always gives 100%."

Making First Downs

Teams Rush Towards Victory

The school board decided this year to invest in turf for Wildcat Stadium, just all the better to exhibit the football team. Forced to play at the junior high field for the first few games of the season, the team made an amazing appearance on the brand new field for Homecoming. It was a very close, exciting game against Wilmer-Hutchins that went into triple overtime but ultimately was lost by a lucky field goal. Although it was a devastating loss, the Wildcats worked hard and won the remainder of their district games.

Head Coach Richard Barrett says, "We extended the tradition of making the playoffs for a fourth consecutive year. We overcame many obstacles and persevered." All three of the football teams had an excellent season this year with the Varsity finishing second in District and continuing on to the playoffs. Junior Varsity teams also did well finishing 6-4 overall for the season and 2-2 in district. The continuation of the football team's roaring success now falls on to the upcoming players and coaches.

▲ Can't Touch This
Running back Mickey Norris breaks free of the attempted tackle and pushes down the field to score another touchdown. The Wildcats prepared for the game all week by running through plays and watching film.

▲ Flying High
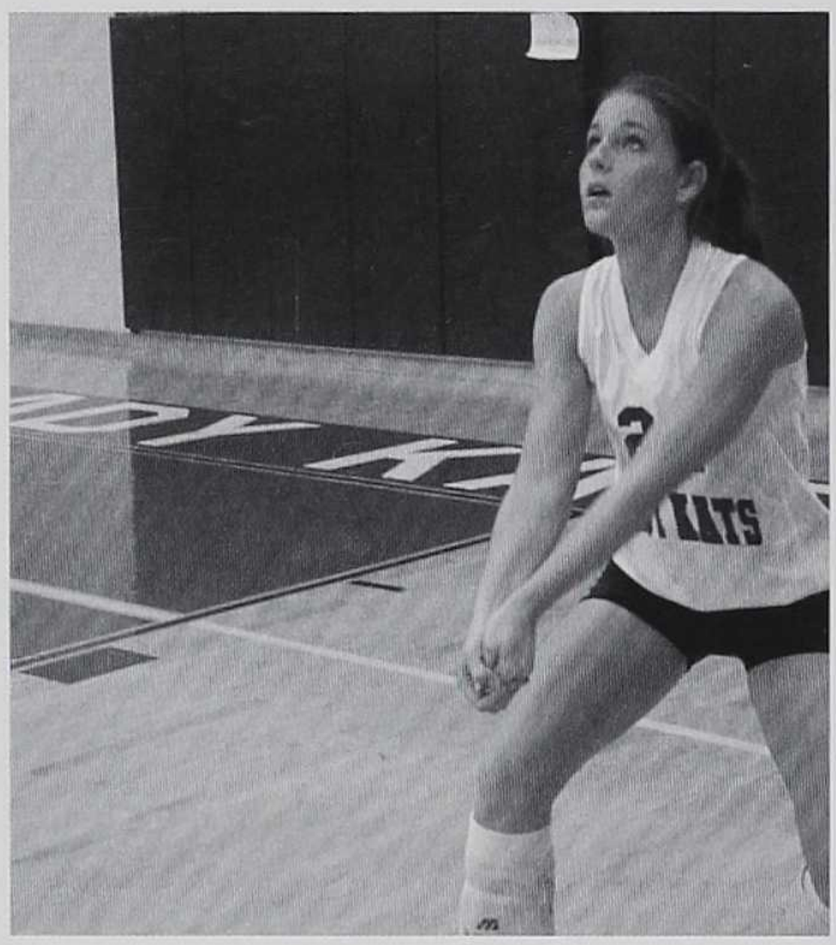
Sophomore Aaron LeBruce leaps high above the opponent in an attempt to catch the ball. When asked what was running through his mind, LeBruce responded, "I was so into the game that I was not worried about my body. I just wanted to get to the ball."

Over The Net

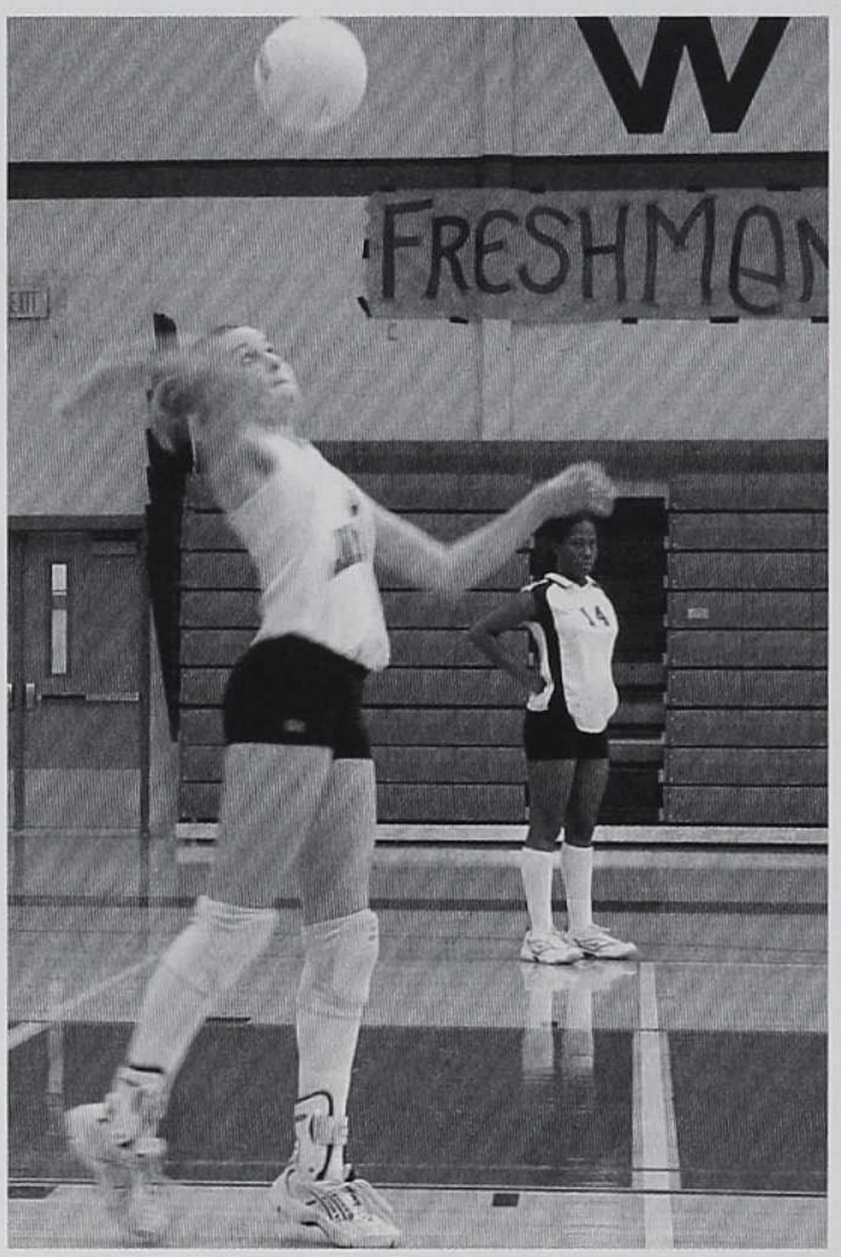
Slammin' Down The Competition

Twice a week the Lady Kat volleyball teams stepped out onto the court ready to dominate each and every team they were placed up against. Working hard at practice after school everyday, even on the occasional Saturday, certainly paid off for all of the teams. Through practice and other team activities, the Lady Kat volleyball team was able to get to know one another and learn to work together. They united both off and on the court which helped them have a winning season.

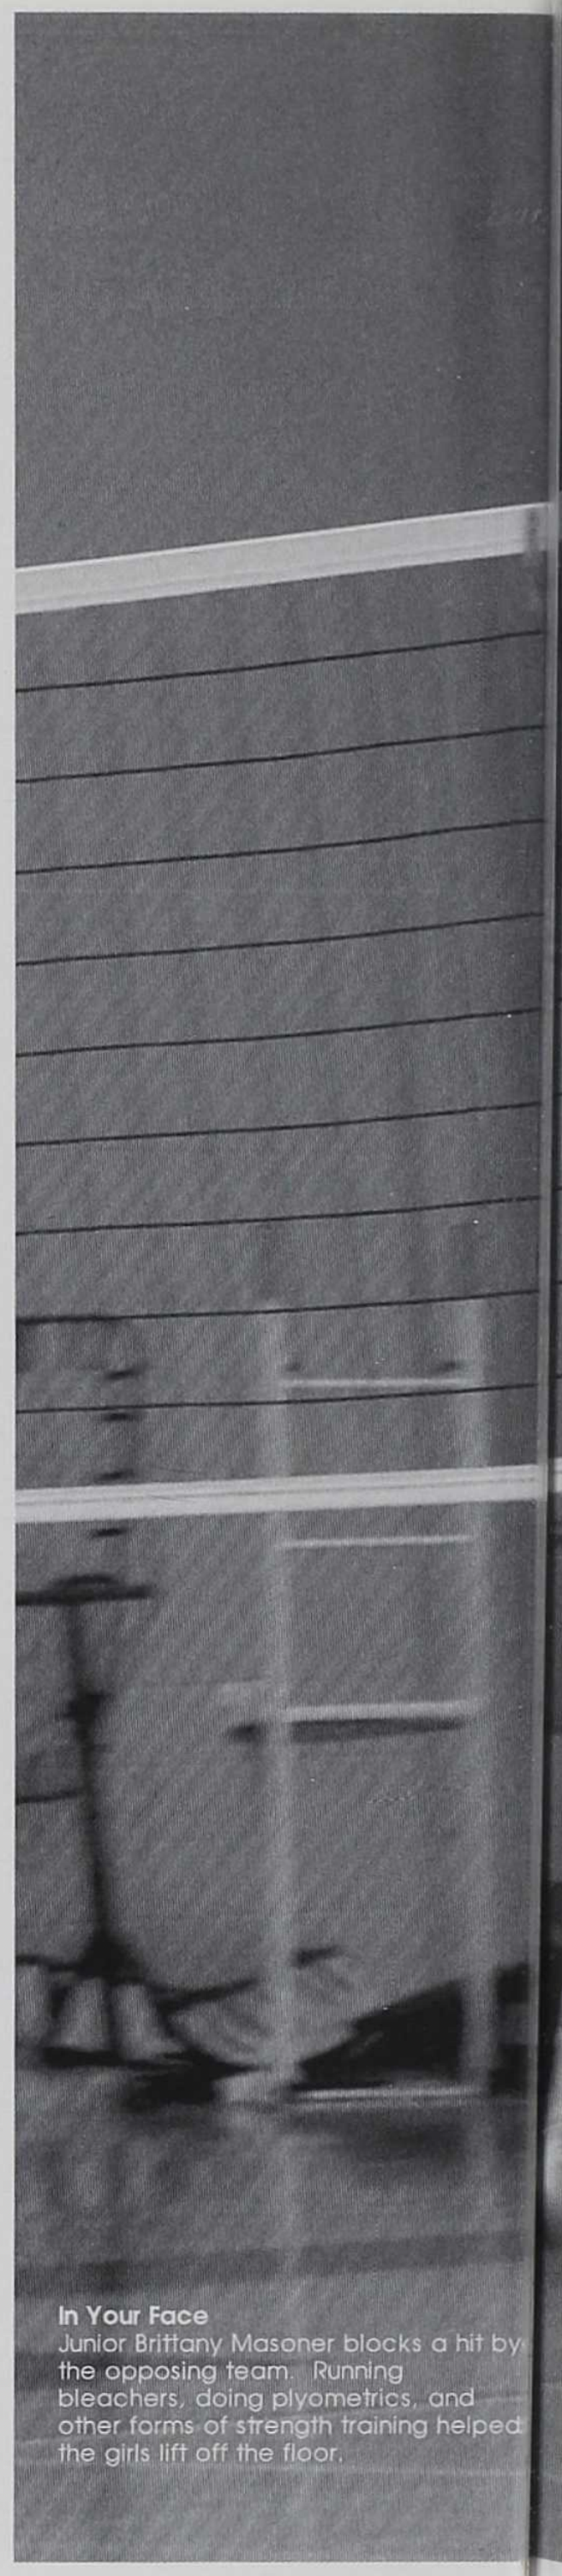
Congratulations to all three teams. The Varsity team won district and headed to the playoffs, the JV girls tied for first in district, and the Freshman team, in their first year for high school volleyball, also placed first in district. As the five seniors finish up their four years at Kennedale High School and leave for college, the JV girls and the incoming Freshman are already determined to step up and help next year's teams go even further in the playoffs and hopefully bring home a state championship title.



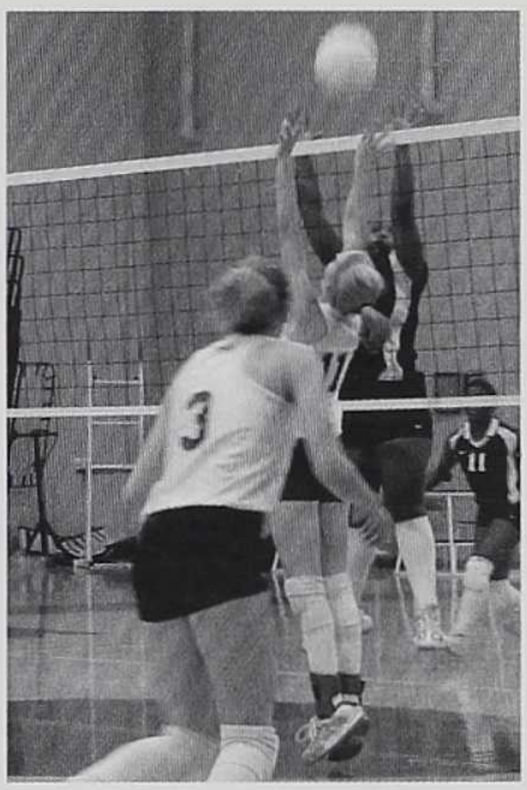
▲ Bump It Up
Senior Corie Cox warms up before a home game on the Lady Kat court. Everyone must do their part to push towards the team's next victory.



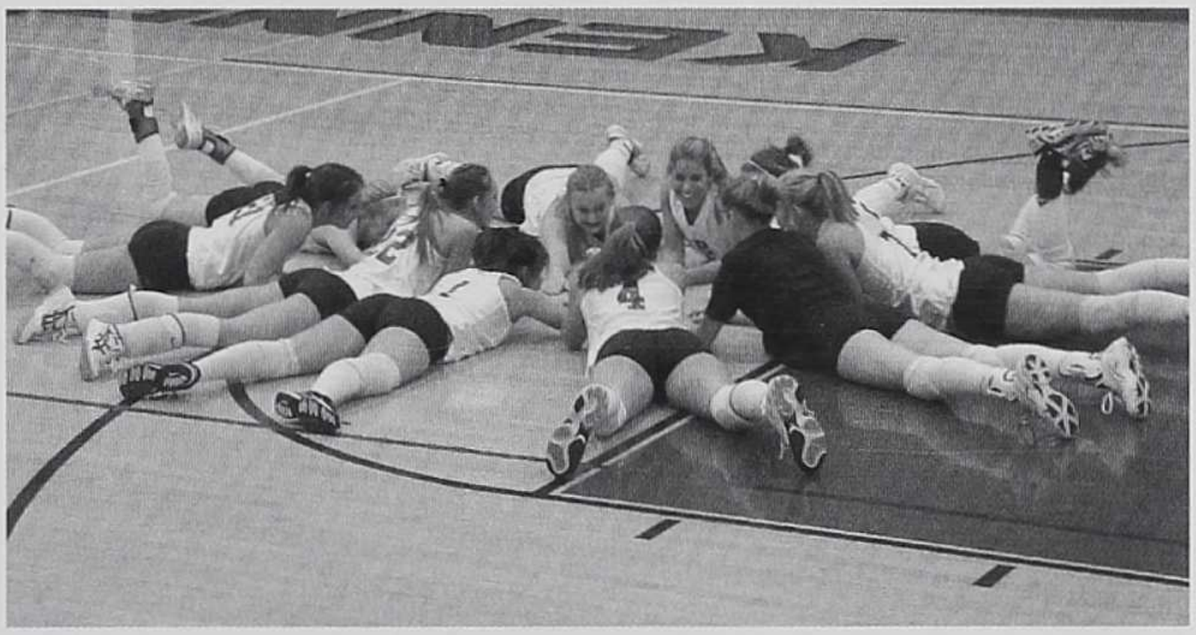
▲ Ahhhh Ace!
Brittany Terrell bullets another serve over the net. This hot shot senior is headed to Clarendon College on a volleyball scholarship.



In Your Face
Junior Brittany Masoner blocks a hit by the opposing team. Running bleachers, doing plyometrics, and other forms of strength training helped the girls lift off the floor.



◄ What a Set
Junior Jessie Kissel sets senior Brittany Terrell weakside, a set to the right, for the kill to the opposing team. Teamwork was a major ingredient for victory for the Lady Kats.



▼ Get Fired Up
The Varsity girls do a pre-game cheer before the start of the game. This team tradition got their hearts racing and their spirits jumping, ready to take down the other team.

you SAID it

As a senior, how do you sum up the season?

"Volleyball season was so awesome this year. All my years on varsity, this was definitely the BEST. Our teamwork was great."
- Brittany Terrell

"I love the whole team and had so much fun this season. Good luck next year! I love y'all!"
- Lexie Hart

"This season was a blast! I love all of you guys!"
- Lauren Cassady

"I think our volleyball team resembled a team very much this year. We worked really hard and had fun."
- Jennifer Hays

"Stay fired up for every game, don't forget to squeeze the orange, and carry on the legend of Strappleberry."
- Corie Cox (advice to the underclassmen)

► 1, 2...Down, Up
Callie Reaves and her group prepare for a stunt that is sure to wow the crowd during the Senior Pep Rally. These JV cheerleaders are working their way to the top.... in more than one way!

▼ Look Up
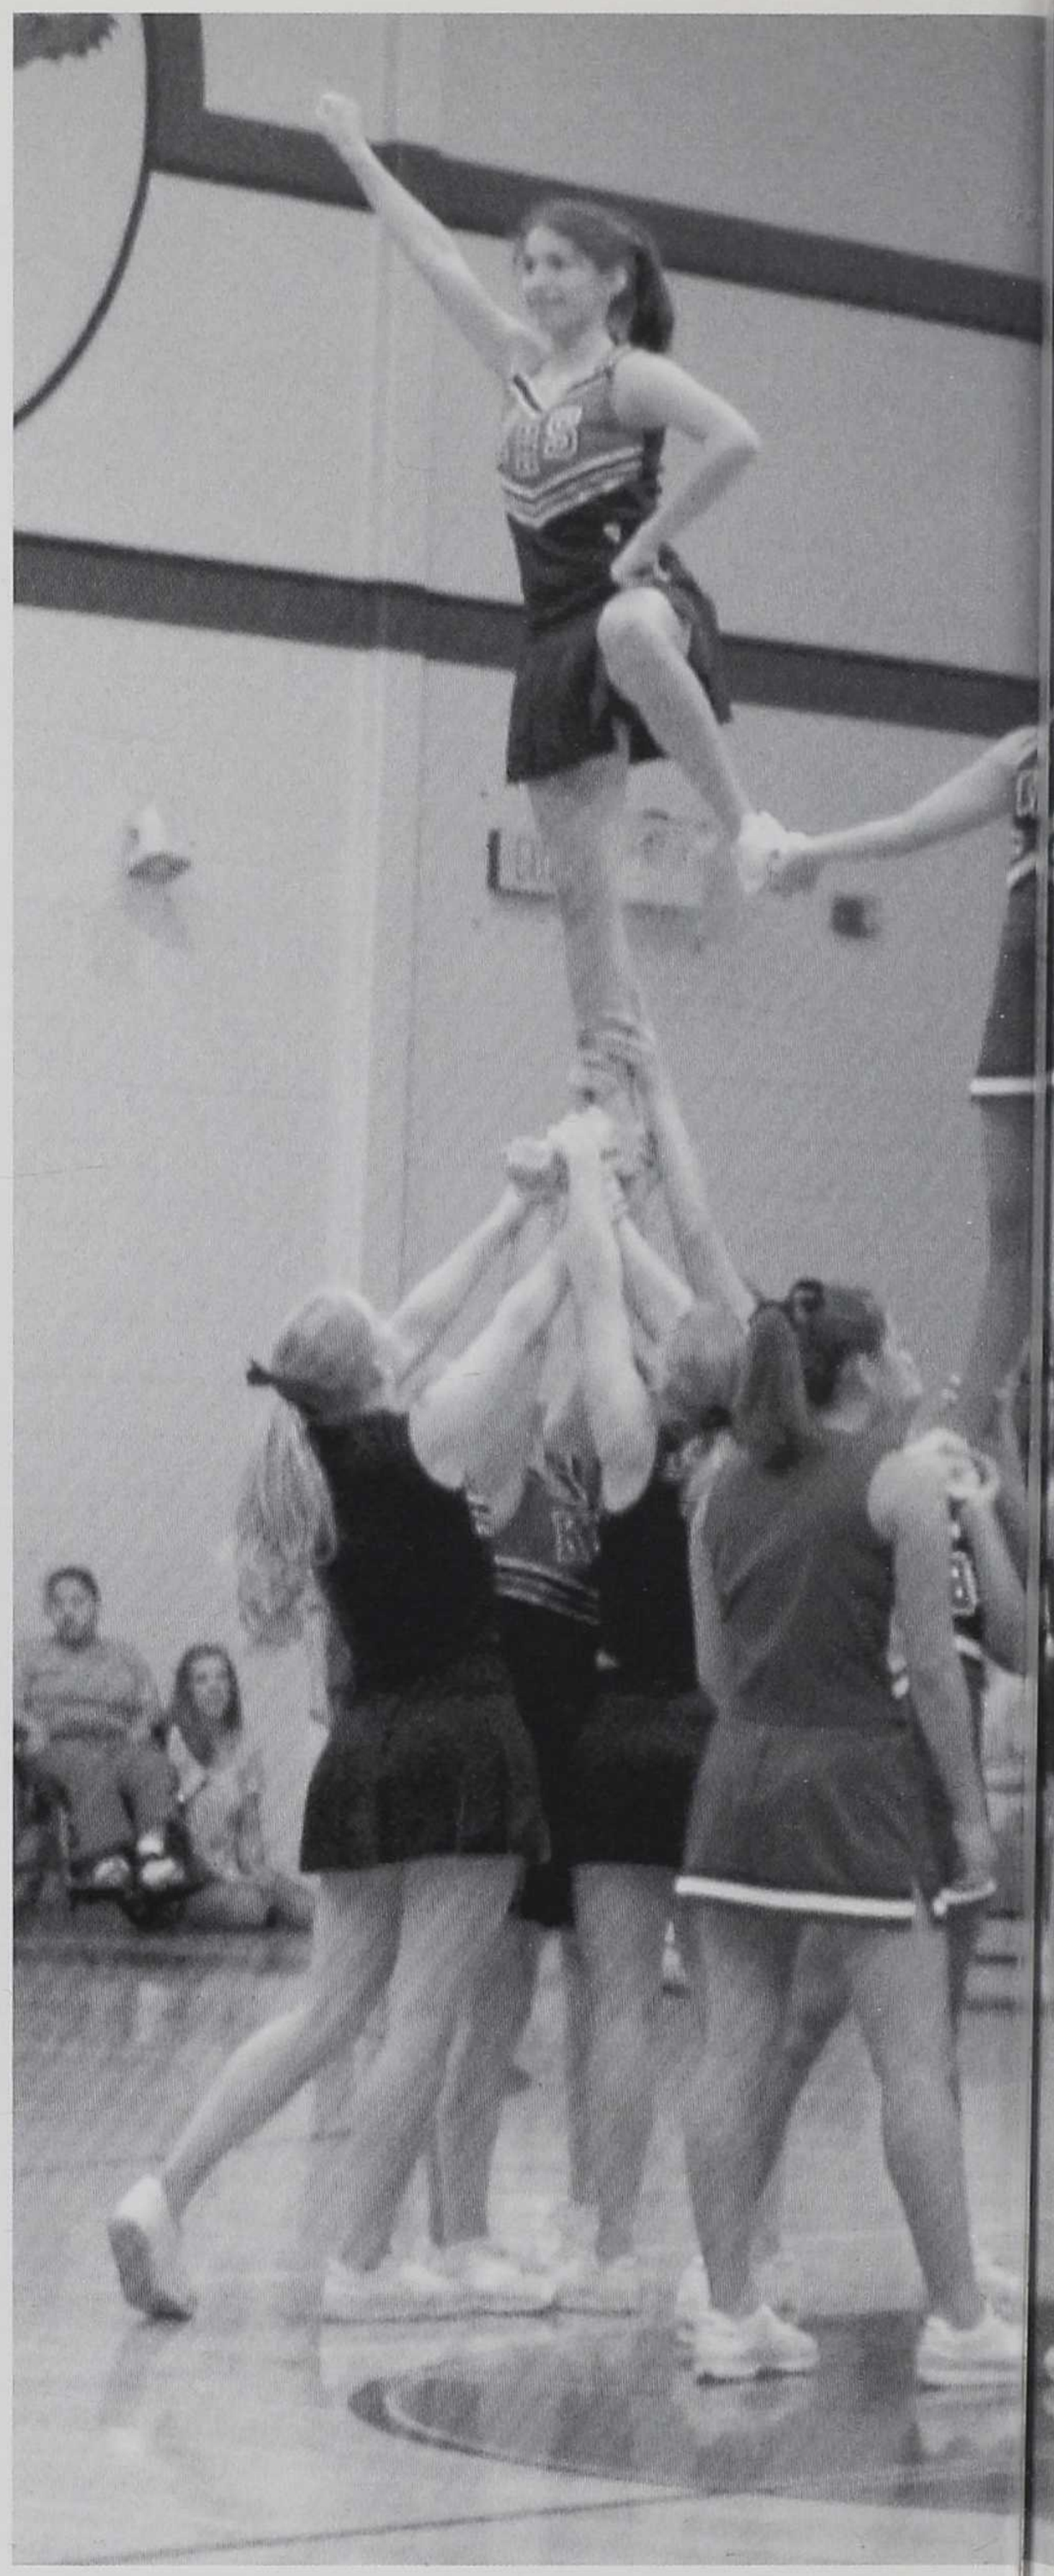
It's a bird... it's a plane... it's Shelbi Reaves! Check out her beautifully executed scale! Shelbi was one of the main flyers this year on the Varsity squad and did a fantastic job showing her spirit.



LOOK WHO'S TALKING

Goodbye Seniors...

What is your favorite high school cheerleading memory?

"The band was yelling the spirit cry to the other team and Alisha thought it was to her, and she yelled it back and she looked really dumb." -Ashley Hartman

"During camp we would sit in our rooms at night and talk forever and bond, then Mrs. Aten would yell at us." -Lexie Hart

"At the Ferris game it rained so hard. The band left for a competition, so we sang the fight song and played leap frog for entertainment." -Ashley Nixon

"When the SENIOR cheerleaders ran through the football tunnel... that was fun for me." -Lauren Cassady

"During summer we came up here to paint posters. I painted a smiley face on my leg and pressed it to Ashley Hartman's leg and it went to her leg too."-Alisha Schroeder

Bring It On

Not a Democracy...It's a Cheerocracy

Fans at Kennedale are loaded with spirit. However, where would they be without their cheerleaders to pump them up? Equipped at every game and pep rally with a new cheer, chant, dance, or stunt, the girls perform to their fullest. Aside from pepping up the audience and cheering for the teams they dedicate their artistic abilities to dress up the gymnasium and prepare a run-through for each football game. Not only do our cheerleaders cheer, they also play the part of important leaders in our school. The girls have many responsibilities. To uphold their spot on the squad, they must maintain high grades and citizenship, as well as, be willing to sacrifice their jobs and a substantial amount of social time. The cheerleaders may stand on the sidelines, but they are a huge part of every game. Not to mention, of Kennedale tradition. The girls may lead the cheers but they also lead the school.

▲ Go Big Green
Lauren Cassady, Brittany Masoner, and Belinda Cook cheer their team to a victory. This trio of Varsity girls always got not only the crowd pumped up, but the players on the field as well.

▲ Tear It Up!
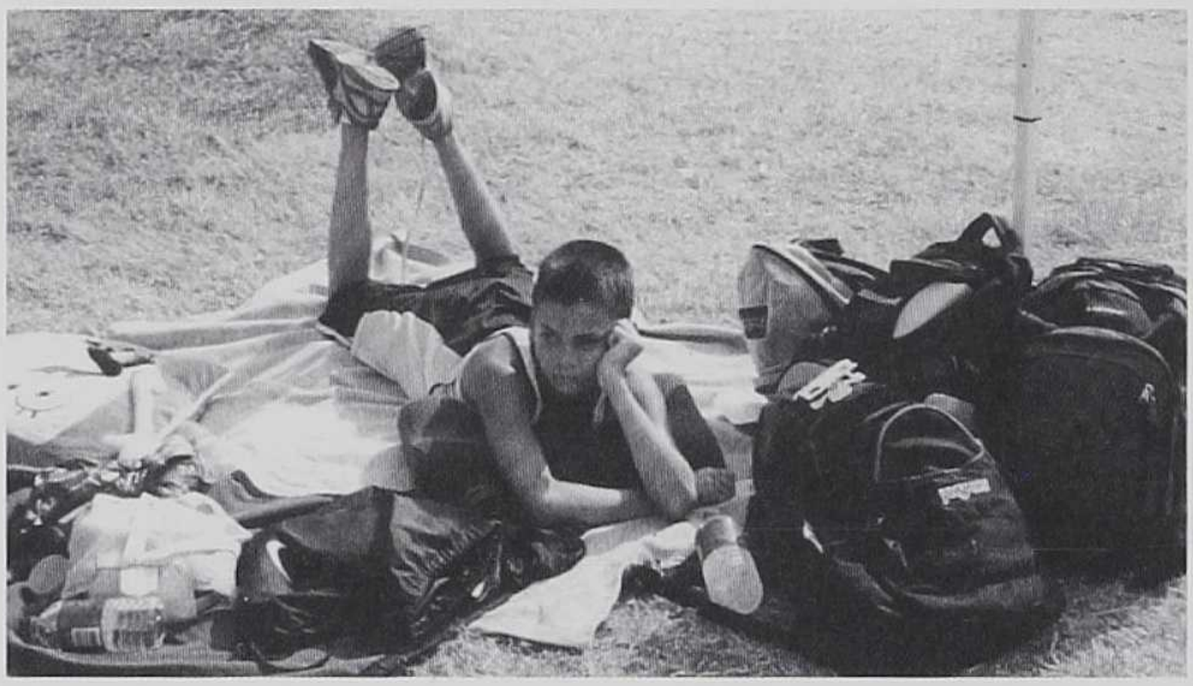
Little does the football team know what hard work went into such a pretty picture. Brittany Masoner and Lauren Cassady clearly put their heart and soul into this run-through which will shortly be destroyed.

► Top Notch
Varsity runner, Mike Ivison, puts on his last burst of speed as he sets his sights on the finish line. Training and working hard all year pays off as he takes second place in the race.

▼ Nick the Quick
Freshman Nick Shrake takes a break under the tent and a moment to catch his breath after his race. From here it's all relaxing, drinking water, and getting ready for next meet.



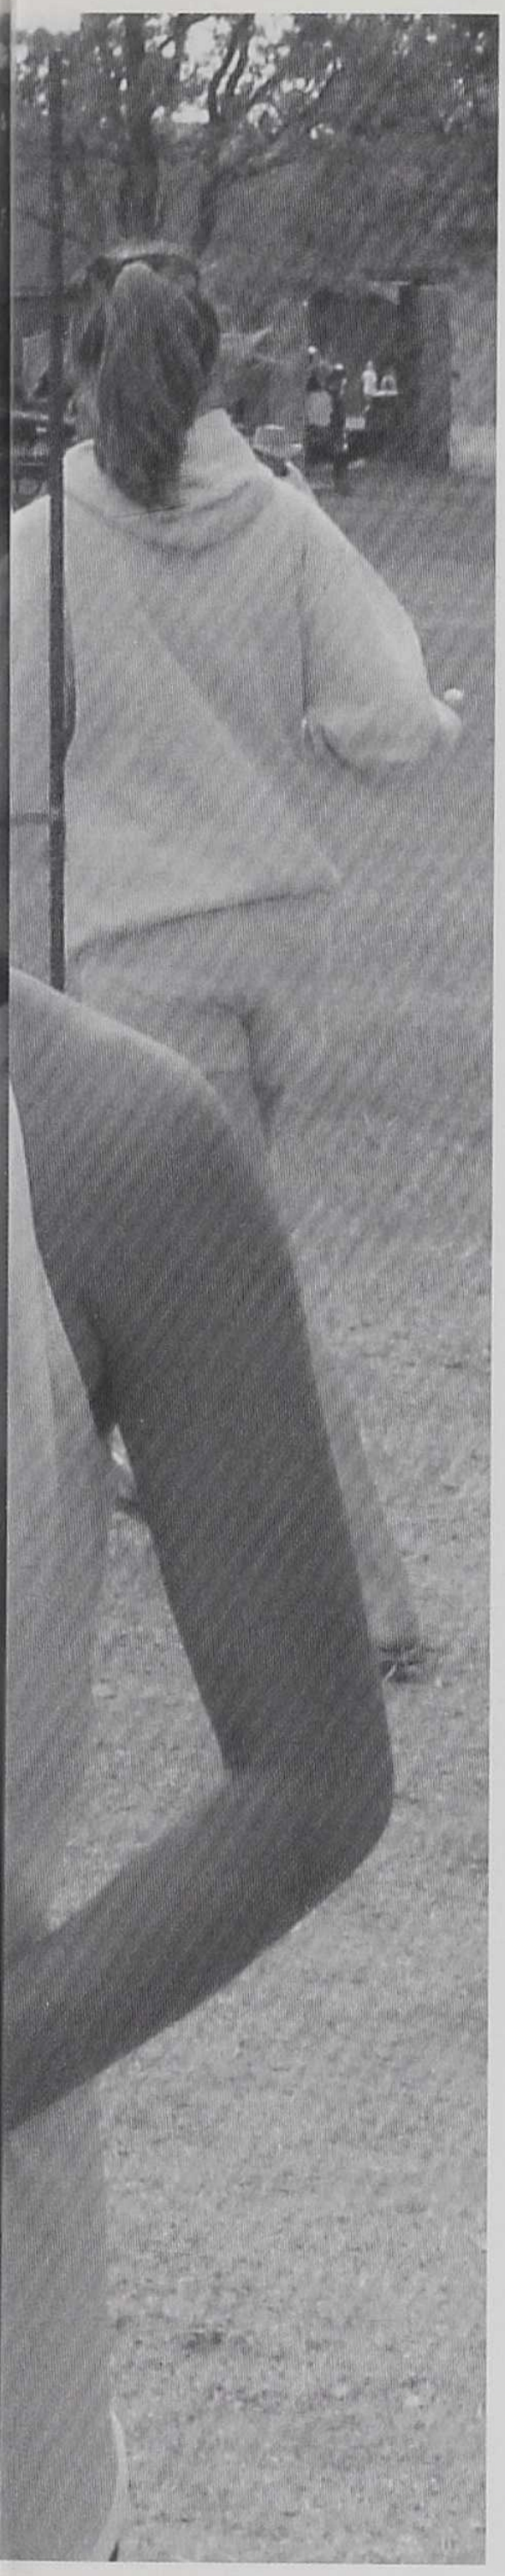
Capturing the Gold
Freshman Vanessa Elizondo takes the first place medal in the Varsity Girls' race. "I hear, I forget, I see, I remember, I run, and I win!" said Vanessa about the race.

LOOK WHO'S TALKING

"I feel like we really came together as a team and ran hard all season. Now we can really call ourselves a 'cross country team'."
- Georgia O'Brien, Freshman

"I enjoyed my first year as a cross country runner."
- Elise Martinez, Freshman

"I think all of us have really come a long way and really worked hard to get this far! I can't wait till next year!"
- Victoria Autrey, Freshman



Running for the Gold

Cross Country Teams Pull Ahead

After determining whether students became Varsity or Junior Varsity runners, practice started at the beginning of the school year. From then on practice went from 3:00-4:00 after school and later on they would practice starting at 6:00 a.m. The competition meets went extremely well for the teams this year with both the Varsity Girls' and Varsity Boys' each winning first in different meets. All of the runners helped each other along the way and pushed each other to get better in practice and excel in competition.

When asked who surpassed your expectations this year, head coach Natasha Stewart responded: "The entire team; for a team that doesn't have one true cross country runner, we did a great job; everyone involved did great." Coach Stewart ran cross country in high school, and has been a volunteer cross country coach, but never the head coach until this year. The cross country teams, girls' and boys', Varsity and Junior varsity, all did their best and made the other teams run for the hills.

▲ Walk It Off
Senior Marcus Terry and sophomore Steven Richards walk back from the finish line. The two headed back to their tent for a well-deserved break.

▲ Leaders of the Pack
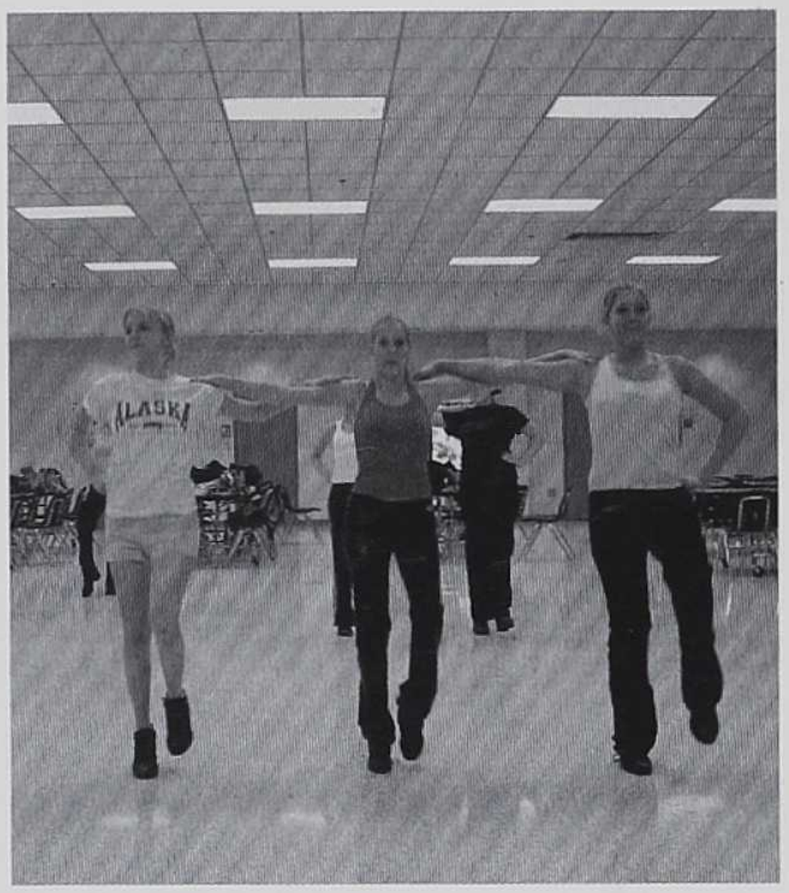
Varsity girls Claudia Castro and Carrie Dayton start the race off well and take a quick lead on the competition. All the practices in the summer heat finally paid off.

Kats Can Dance

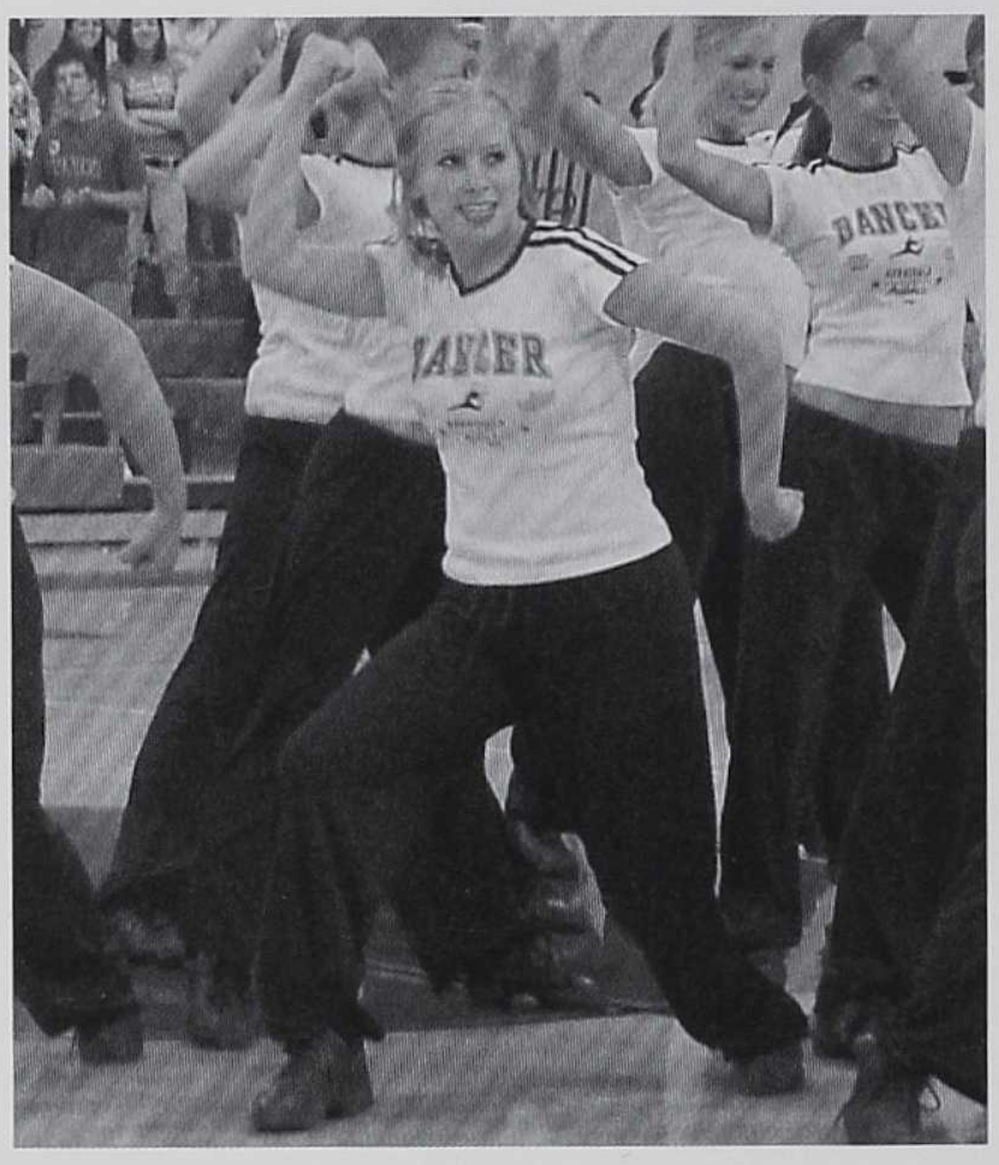
Aristokats Show Off Their Moves

Every day during 7th period the dance squad moves all the tables and chairs out of the cafeteria to make room for a new day of practice. While practicing hard and putting forth their best effort, the Aristokats strive to perfect their new routines. After all the work that the Aristokats put towards camp this summer at Texas Christian University, the girls have improved their kicks, jumps, splits, and much more. They succeeded in winning almost every award at camp. All their hard work has finally paid off.

The Aristokats perform at every pep rally and make outstanding halftime performances at the Varsity football games. Putting all of their best stuff on the floor, the girls energize the crowd to get them pumped up for the game. Coach Brunson says, "I am very proud of the Aristokats this year. They worked hard and their dedication is amazing." With the support of parents, teachers, and students, the girls worked hard to make it to a national competition and finished the year with a well-deserved award.

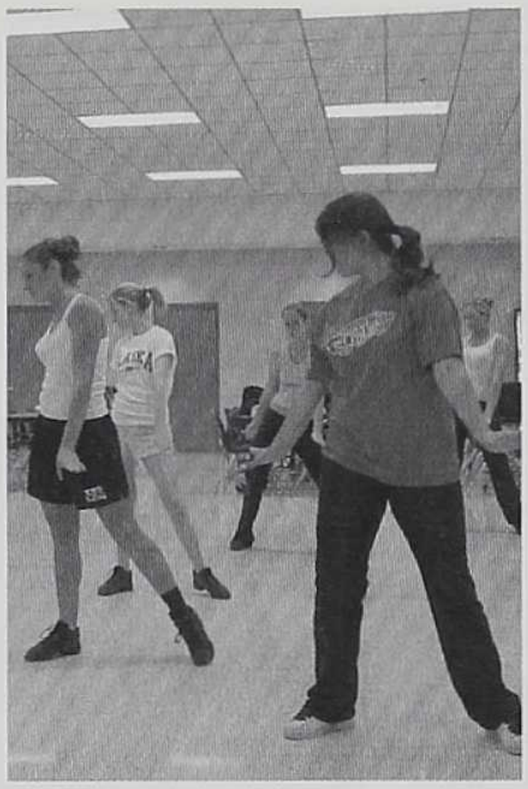


▲ High Kicking Juniors
Emily Taylor, Amberly McGuire, and Rikki LaVassaur work on kicks everyday after school while perfecting their dance moves. The Aristokats stand high on the old saying, "Practice makes perfect."



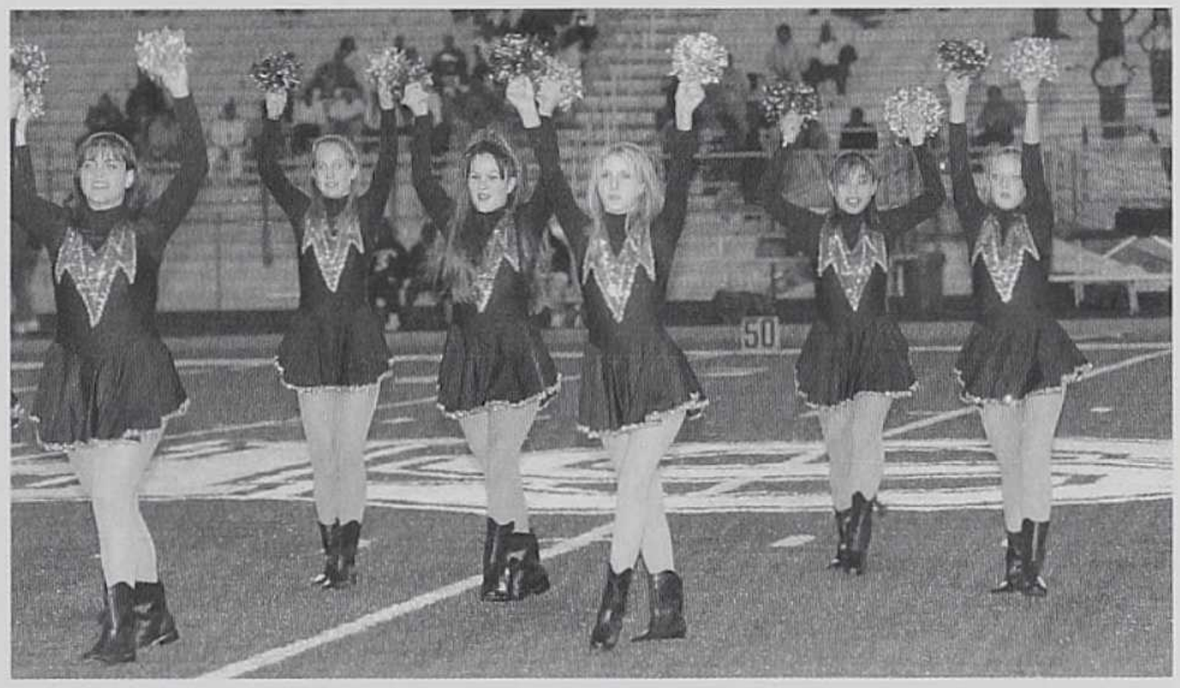
▲ Pump It Up
Senior Nichole McKelvy shows off the new routine at a Friday pep rally. As the only senior on the squad, she works hard to be a good role model for the underclassmen on the team.

Wildcat All The Way
Junior Laura Rohne watches the Homecoming game with a heart that reaches out to the team. The entire Drill Team works together to boost the Wildcat spirit.



◄ And 5-6-7-8
Aristokats Anastasia Diamantopolous and Cheyenne Ratliff practice their newest routine which includes high kicks and powerful dance moves. The routine is always perfected and ready to perform by Friday.

▼ Dancin' to the Beat
The Aristokats perform their awesome routine on the 50 yard line at halftime of the Homecoming game. This was their first live performance on the new turf at Wildcat Stadium.



LOOK WHO'S TALKING

"I hope this experience will help me develop my leadership skills and increase my confidence in front of people. I love being able to choreograph routines and lead such an awesome group of people."
- Angelica McPartlin, Junior

"To be an officer takes a lot of dedication, you have to be willing to take responsibility for many things and you need to work extremely hard to make not only you but the entire team look awesome!"
- Shelby Smith, Sophomore

"I enjoy being an Aristokat officer because the decisions I make affect the entire team and my suggestions help make us a better performing group."
- Anastasia Diamantopoulos, Junior

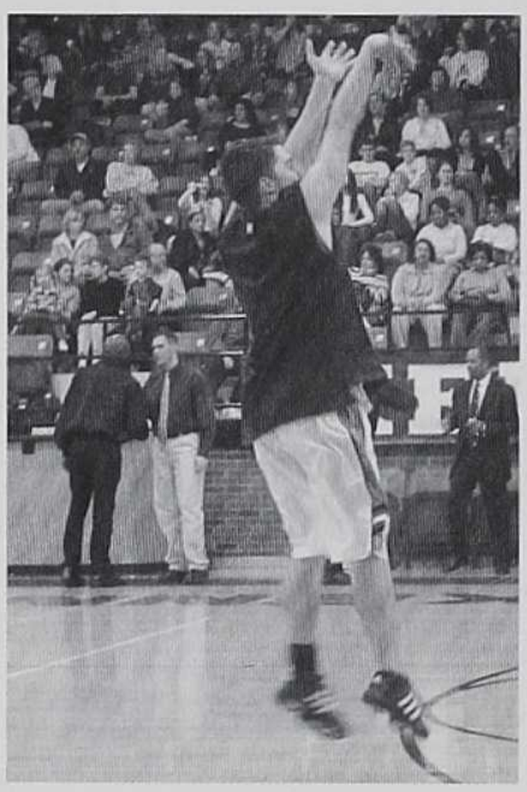
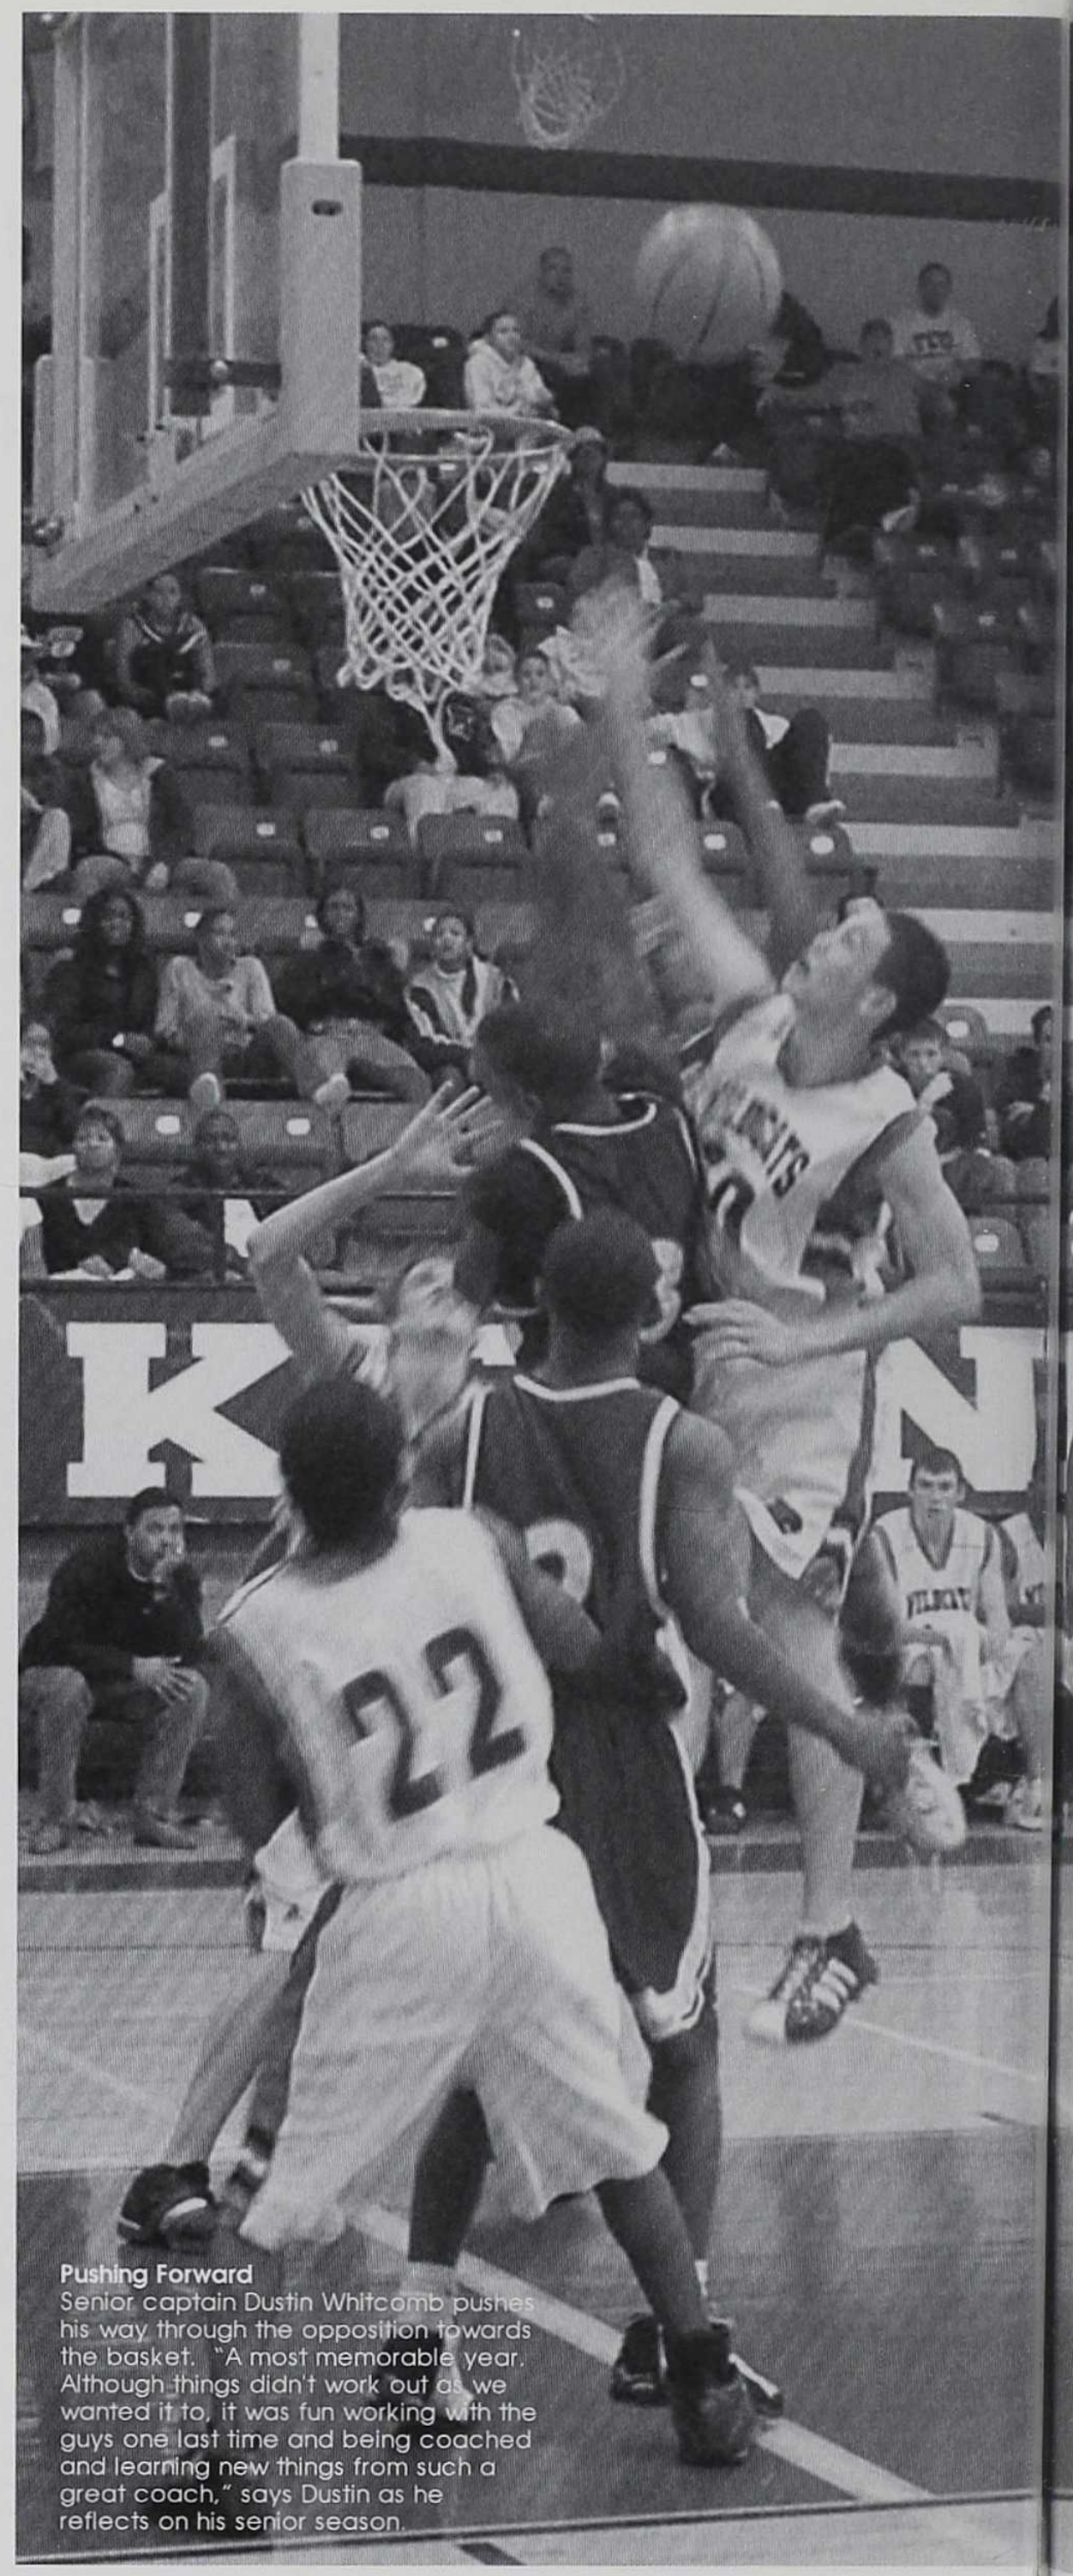
▲ Solid Shots
The Varsity squad practices making the baskets before a Friday night home game. The gym was packed with excited fans cheering the guys on, anticipating the next victory. The routine warm-up showcased the obvious potential the guys possessed.

► Swoosh
Junior Hunter Smith easily shoots the ball into the hoop during the pre-game drills. With great shots like this, the opposing team had no chance of winning the game against the Wildcats.

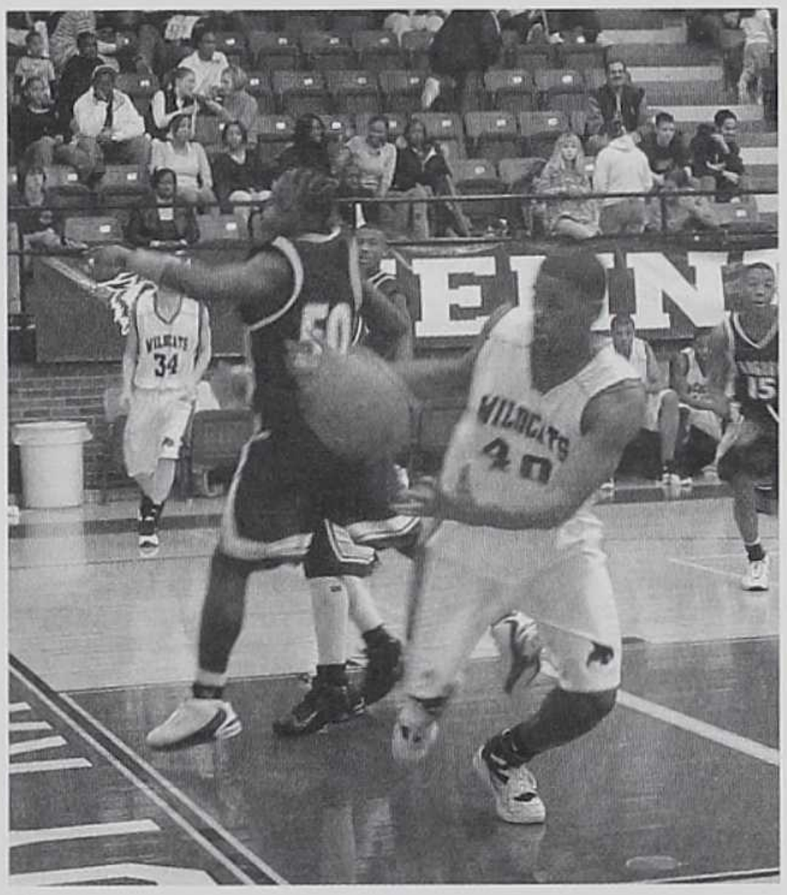




Pushing Forward
Senior captain Dustin Whitcomb pushes his way through the opposition towards the basket. "A most memorable year. Although things didn't work out as we wanted it to, it was fun working with the guys one last time and being coached and learning new things from such a great coach," says Dustin as he reflects on his senior season.

▼ Always Ahead
Senior Saderion Willis keeps his cool under pressure as his hopeful teammates watch anxiously on the sideline. Just as always, he will pull through, doing his part for the team's victory.

▼ Not a Chance
Senior David Collins snags the ball from the opposition, leaving them wondering where the ball went. The Wildcats clearly dominated the court throughout most of their games, giving the crowd a lot to cheer for.



Over the Top

And Through the Net

The Wildcat basketball teams had an outstanding season despite the run of bad luck with injuries. Coach Groff was especially impressed with several players on the varsity team. Junior Trevor Myres, senior Marcus Terry, freshman Brad Hubenak, senior Dustin Whitcomb, and junior Colorado Fails were all on this honorable mention list. "It was a good year overall," said Trevor Myres, "We worked hard and played a lot of good games." Overall, the team was most impacted with the unity and dedication the Wildcat teammates showed when working with each other. Marcus Terry says, "It was really special to me how the team never gave up." Brad Hubenak agrees, "I was really impressed on how the team worked together." Corey Logan sums up the season on a positive note, "This basketball season was really awesome, we had our ups and downs but in the end we did our very best. I can honestly say I have no regrets about anything this season...maybe I do regret not playing for the state championship, but hey, life goes on."

▼ Definition of Team Effort
An offensive trio of Vanessa Elizondo, Shannon Cassady, and Ashley Bringol push the other team away as they work together to get the ball in the net. The crowd cheered the Kats on as they won yet another game.

▼ Stealing the Ball
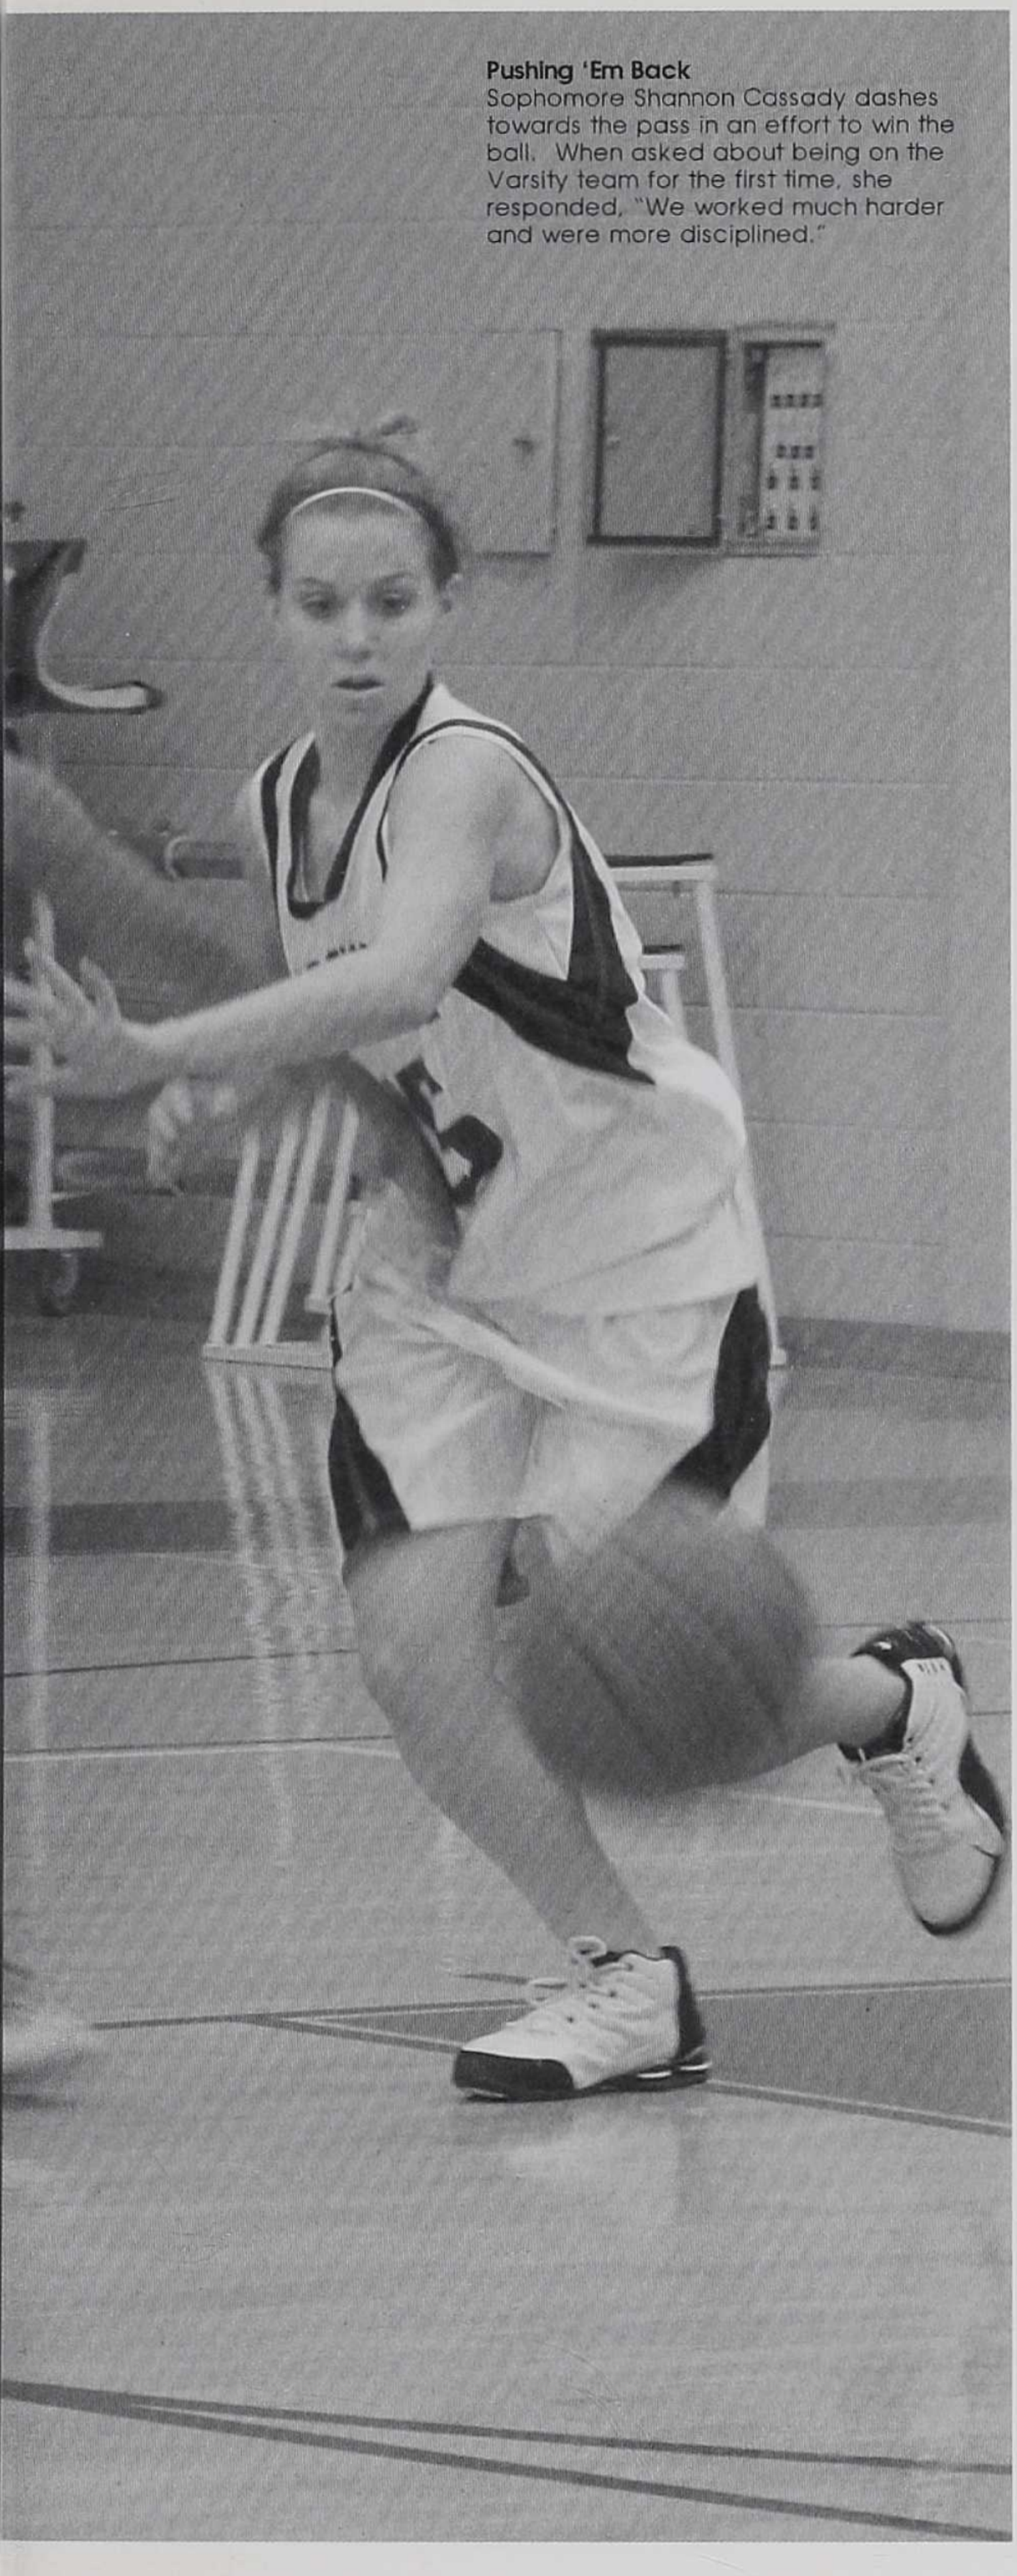
Senior Courtney Lee uses her amazing talent to take the ball from the opponent. As a senior this is her first and last year with the brand new coaching staff. "Even with an all new coaching staff, I valued this year the most. We were all truly a loving family," quoted Courtney.

Shooting the Hoops

And Stealing the Wins

Overall, the Lady Kat basketball teams did an awesome job. They put forward a lot of team effort and hard work. With the great coaching from Varsity head coach, Coach Stewart, and JV-A coach, Coach Patton, and JV-B coach, Coach Schact, the teams pulled together for an outstanding season. All three teams won the 10-3A district title, and the Varsity advanced to the regional quarterfinal game. "We have a promising future because we're young, but we will have to continue to work hard in order to become one of the best programs in the state of Texas," said head coach Natasha Stewart. Freshman Samantha Mahnesmith was really impressed with the new coaching staff and said, "This season was great. Coach Stewart is a great coach and if we didn't have her I don't think we would have gotten such a great record." All together sophomore Amanda Duke was really close to all her teammates. "I had the best time in my life. We have a great coach and a team with awesome chemistry! Y'all Don't Want None!," said Amanda.



Pushing 'Em Back
Sophomore Shannon Cassady dashes towards the pass in an effort to win the ball. When asked about being on the Varsity team for the first time, she responded, "We worked much harder and were more disciplined."

▲ Hunting for the Win
The Lady Kat pack prowls down the court after going over their game plan during the half-time break. The girls had already dominated the first half and were ready to continue their streak with another tally in the win column.

◀ Pump It Up
Vanessa Elizondo and Amanda Duke stay warm during halftime by running routine drills of shooting and rebounding. With a lot of practice during the week, they grasp another victory to move them closer to the playoffs.

▼ A Chilly Warm-Up
Senior Nathan Sparkman works on his golf stroke before the tournament on a cold day. Senior golfers sadly had to miss the traditional Senior Pep Rally to attend the tournament.

▼ Extreme Putt-Putt
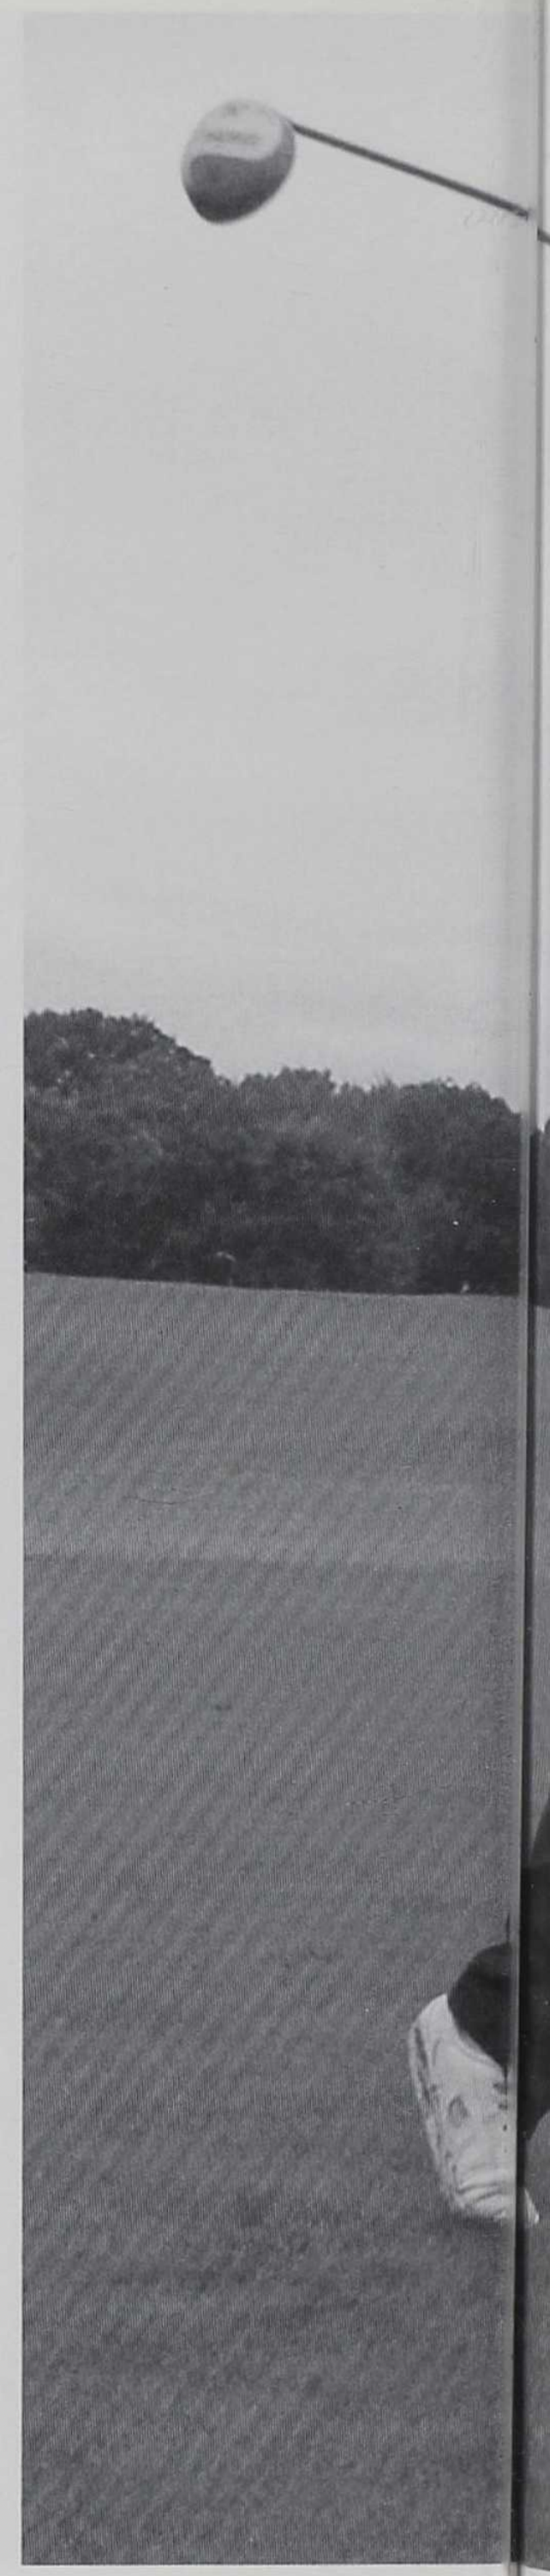
Sophomore Nathan Richardson easily nudges the ball into the hole for an awesome finish. "I play golf because it it my 'passion' and it gives me a goal to strive for," said Nathan.



Big Swingers

Golfers Slam a Hole in One

Sure it looks like a nice relaxing sport, but to these Kennedale High School athletes, it is anything but. The girls and boys varsity teams and one boys junior varsity team practiced hard all year leaving golf to be the only year-round sport that Kennedale offers. "Everyday is a new day, the kids might shoot very well one day and the next day be a very bad round, but they are a wonderful bunch to work with and all get along like a family," Coach Schubert remarked about his team. "It takes very hard work to be skilled; you must practice and have love for the game to be successful," said senior Anthony Pearce. Senior Chase Johnson also took the more serious road and said, "Being a senior on the golf team is a great responsibility and deals with a lot of hard work and dedication," but then finishes with once again how much fun the teams have. "We enjoy having a lot of fun and most of that consists of one person, Nathan Richardson." Coach Schubert, or as some call him Coach Schuby, does more than just supervise the golfers, he also drives the buses for all the tournaments. On bus rides he frequently hears the melodious tunes of the varsity girls re-do of "The Twelve Days of Christmas", or as they more commonly refer to it, "The Twelve Rounds of Golf." After every tournament the golf teams stop at a nice restaurant for some relaxation and fun after an often cold, windy, and/or rainy round of that oh so relaxing sport of golf.

Straight to the Hole
Junior Roxy Howard slams her club into the ball with hopes of landing on the green. Roxy and fellow teammate Valerie Watts recall their favorite memory when Roxy tried out her "Happy Gilmore" swing.

The many frustrations of....

GOLF!

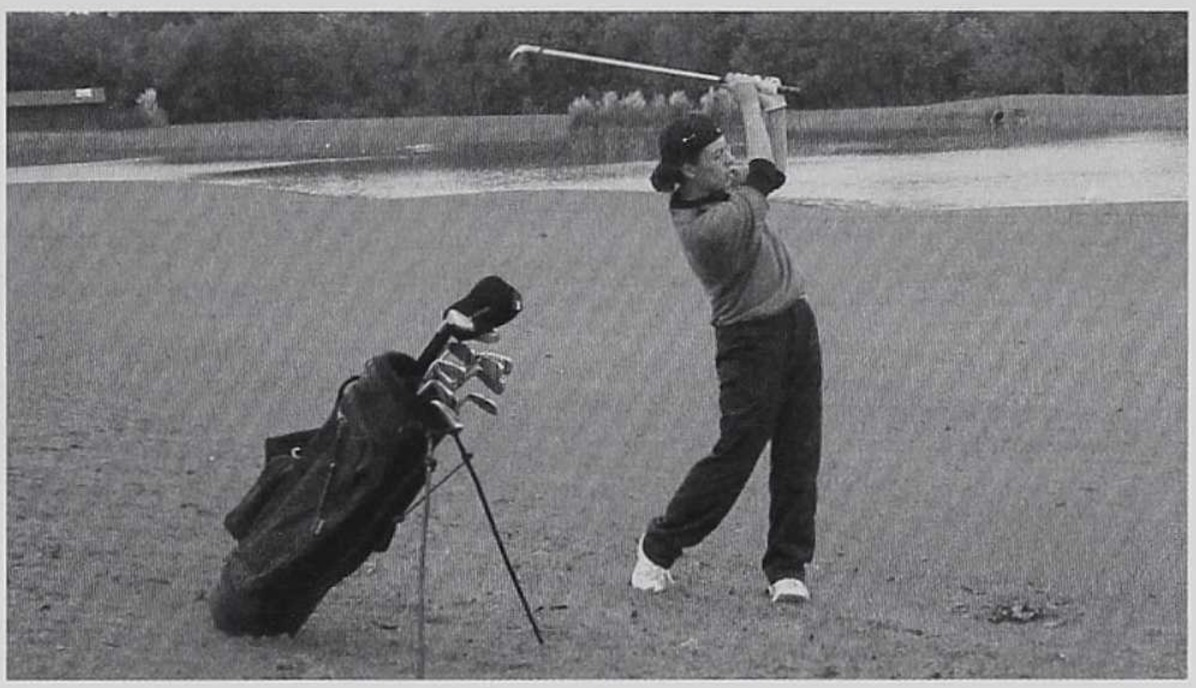
Coaches sit in the golf cart diligently checking each players game while encouraging and praising the team. However, the girls report they don't play as well when they hear coaches approaching.

Getting stuck in hazards are always a ton of fun! At least this time no one has to go swimming!

Junior Joe Ditto said," Playing with people that have no idea what they're doing, and tournaments near Oklahoma," are what he finds most frustrating about the game of golf.

The problem with golf being a year round sport is the teams play in both the coldest weather and the hottest.

Even though sophomore Valerie Watts gets caught off the course and near the sidewalk she said, "I love hanging' with my buddies and cracking' up at our golf sayings!"



▲ Four!
Junior Stefanie Havens pounds her bright yellow ball towards the green in hopes of a good score. She often tries to use a yellow ball so that she can find it easier when it gets lost.

◄ Ace in the Hole!
Senior Chase Johnson shows that golf can be a fun game by taking a few warm up swings with one hand. Chase is this year's senior team captain and the team's number one golfer.

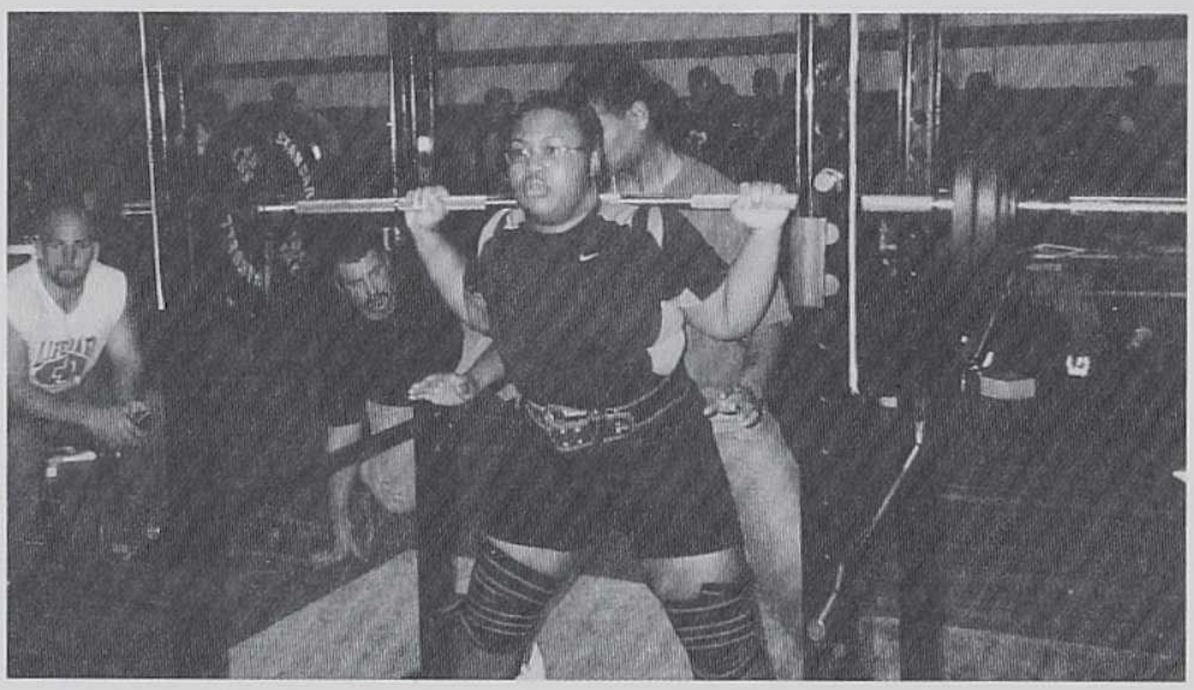
NO PAIN GAIN

Marcos Ramirez:
Squat: 425 lbs., Deadlift: 455 lbs.
Total Lift: 1,095 lbs.

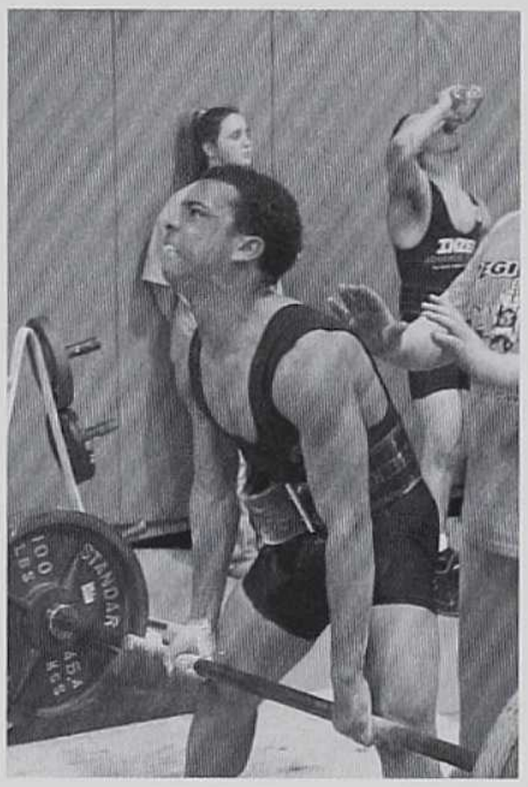
Jordan Page:
Squat 570 lbs., Bench: 405 lbs.
Total Lift 1420 lbs.

Lance Canter:
Squat 600 lbs, Deadlift: 580 lbs.
Total Lift: 380 lbs.

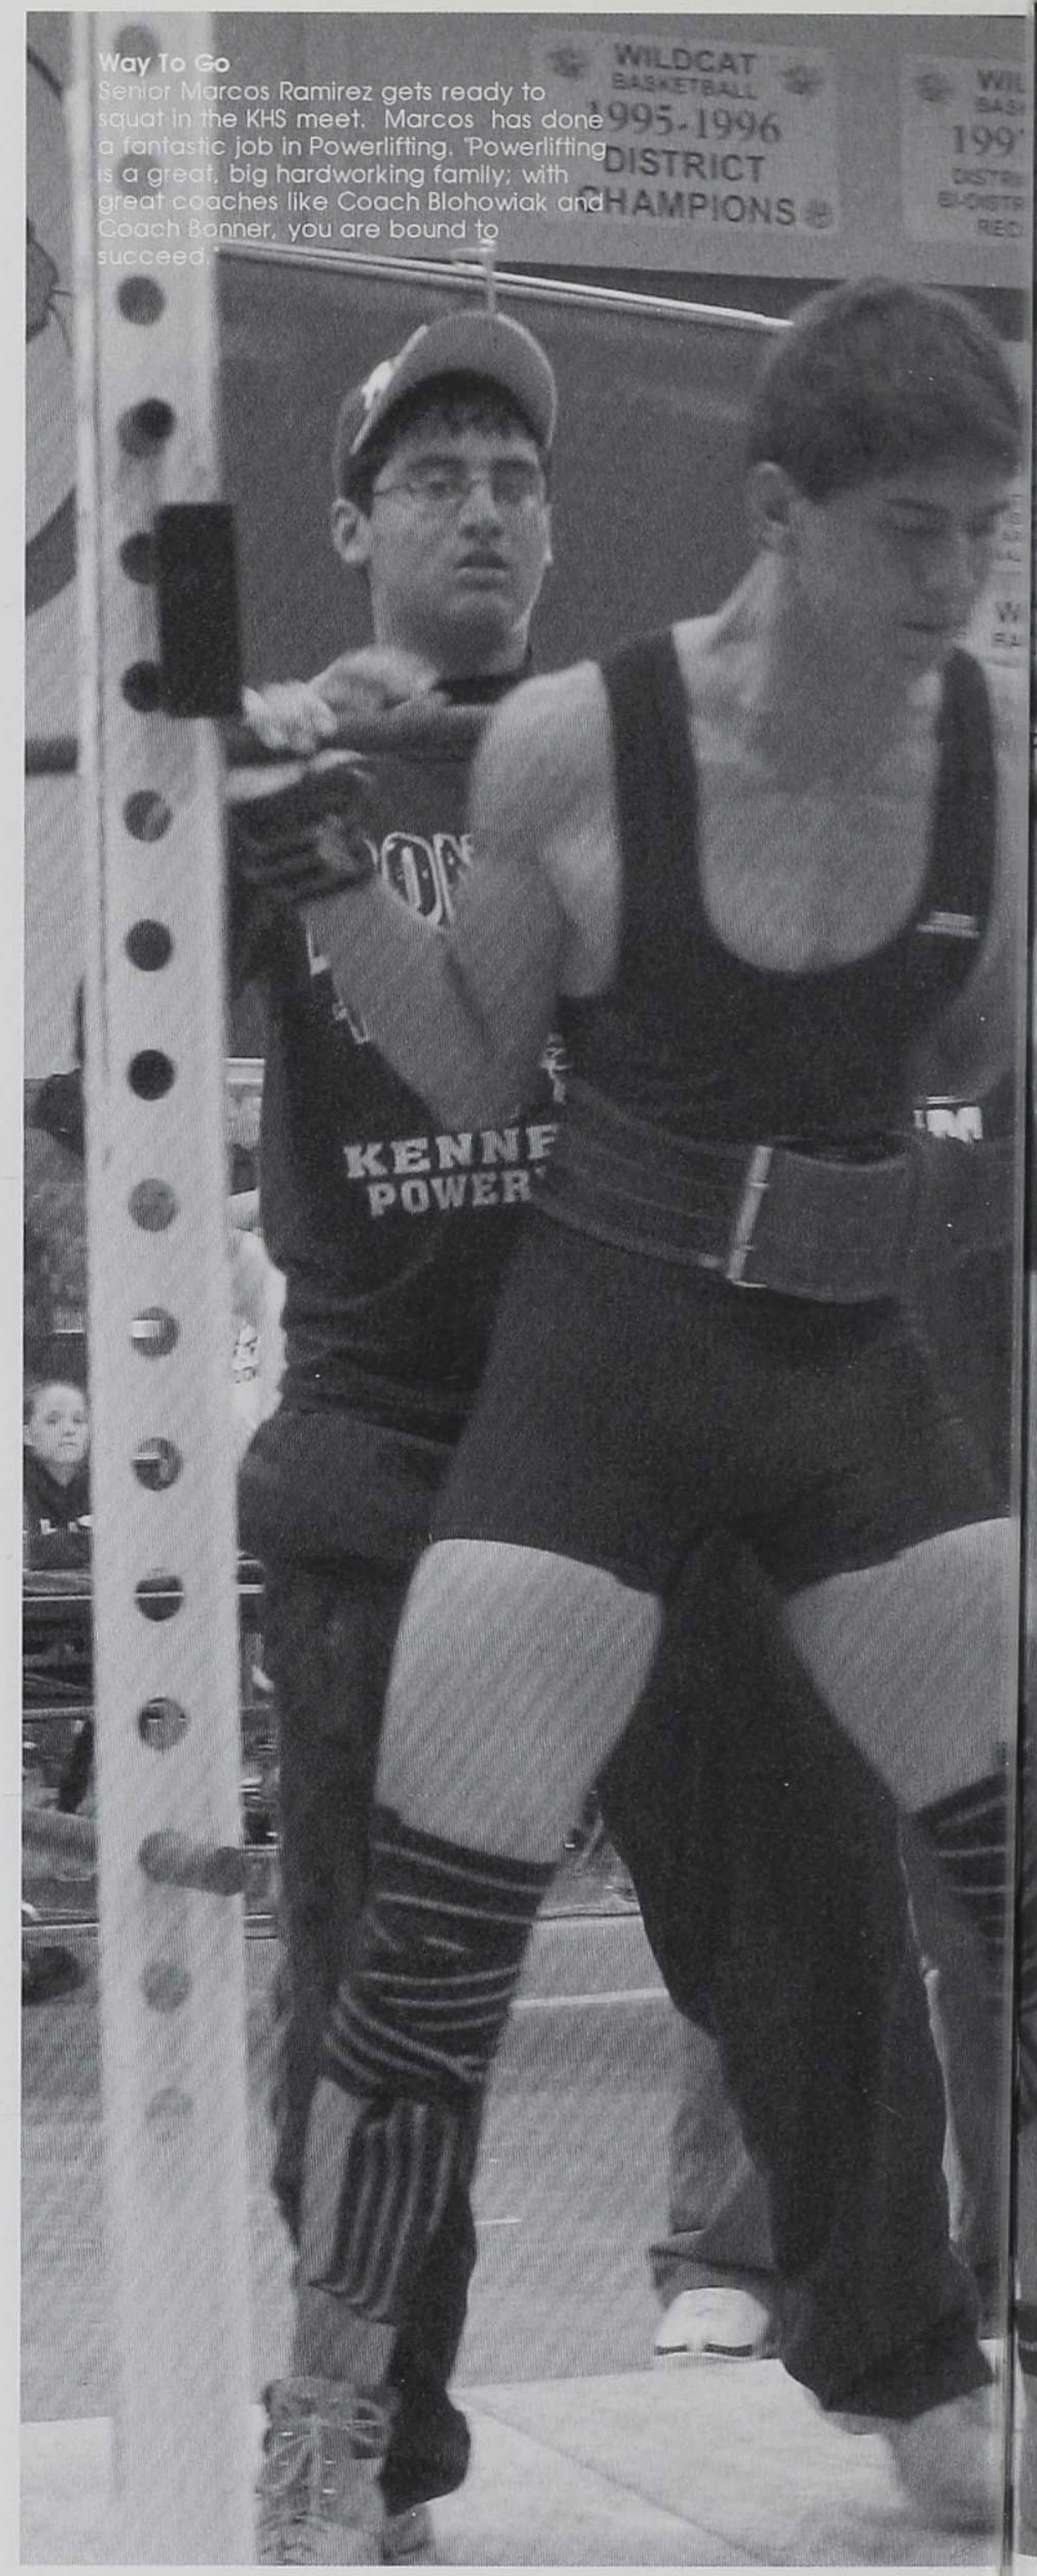
Khadijah Campbell:
Squat: 220 lbs., Deadlift: 215 lbs.
Total Lift 495 lbs.



▲ Pump It Up
Senior Cimoya Collins has been breaking records and proving herself to the school for all four years of high school and it has really paid off. She broke the bench press record for the state of Texas with a total lift of 215 which was set in 01'. Way To Go!



► Liftin' It All The Way
Junior Anthony Terrell uses all his upper body strength to max out to an awesome achievement in the Dead Lift category. With a lot of preparing in the previous week this victory led the Powerlifting team one step closer to competing at state.



Way To Go
Senior Marcos Ramirez gets ready to squat in the KHS meet. Marcos has done a fantastic job in Powerlifting. "Powerlifting is a great, big hardworking family; with great coaches like Coach Blohowiak and Coach Bonner, you are bound to succeed."

▼ Going For The Gold
Junior Lance Canter focuses intensely on the lift in hopes of winning the event. Lance has been a powerlifter for three years and has improved every year by breaking many personal and school records.

▼ Push It Up
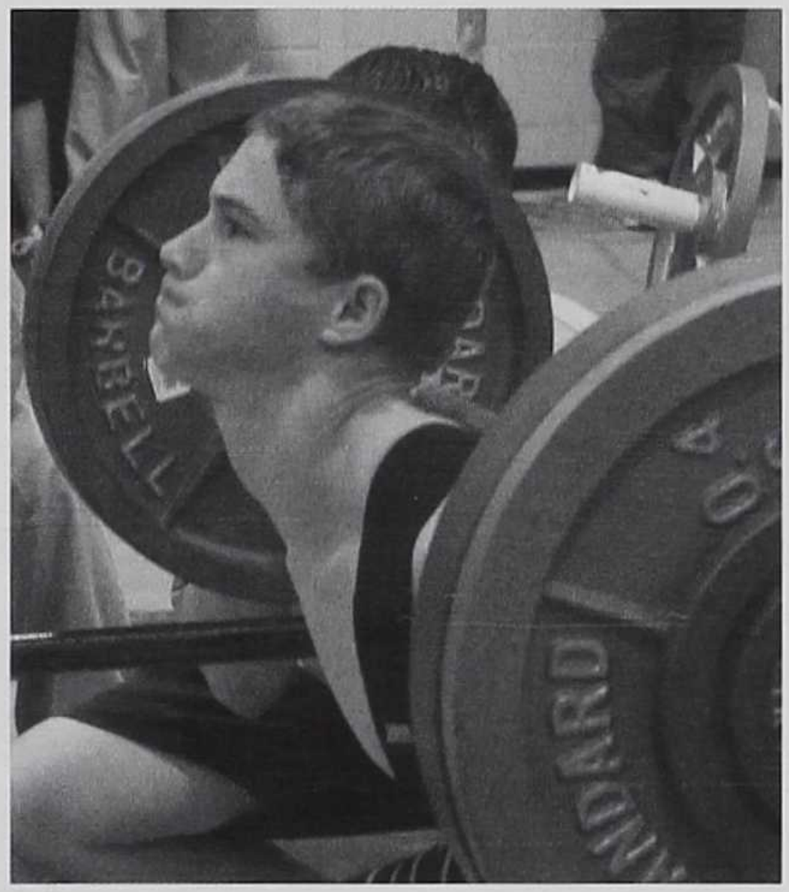
Junior Claude Rhodes concentrates on lifting his way to another victory in the squats. He tries to lift every day of the week to help improve this squat weight.



Pumpin' Iron

The Strength of KHS

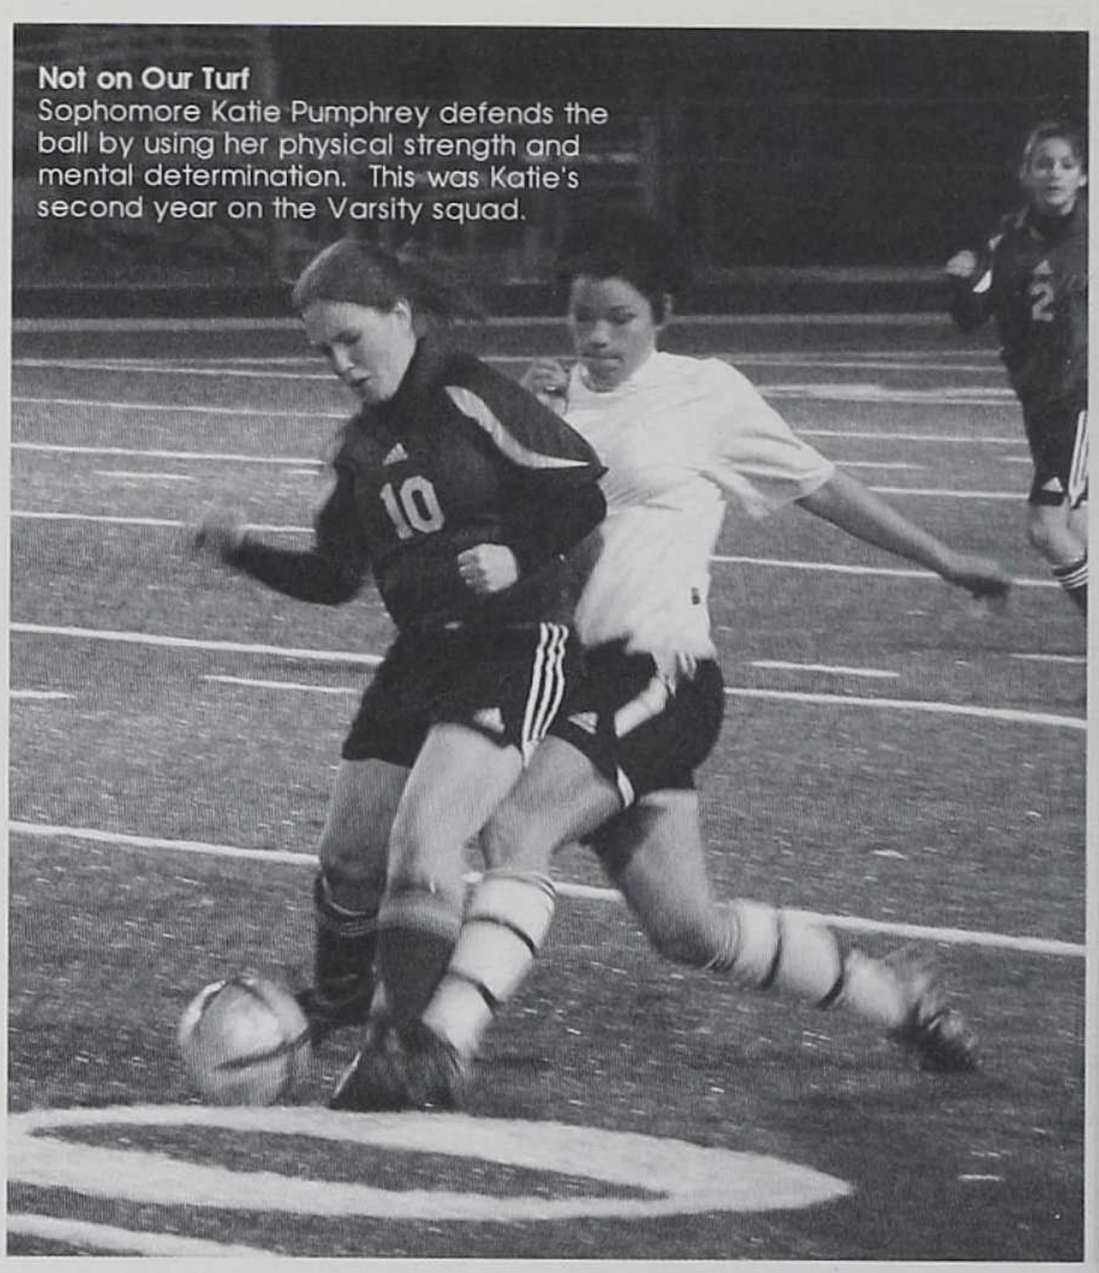
Way to go, Wildcat Powerlifting! The team broke many records and were at the top of the list. Some of the main powerlifters to break records were Marcos Ramirez, Jordan Page, Khadijah Campbell, and Cimoya Collins. These great athletes proved to the school that no matter your gender you can master your goal if you work hard at something. Marcos was a three-year regional qualifier (2003-2005), qualified as an alternate at state in 2003, and broke school records for the 148 class.

Cimoya Collins was the first female at KHS to go to state. She placed 4th in the state of Texas with a total weight of 825 lbs. "Females can do just as well as males" says Cimoya. "The girls had a great team this year, we were the first team of girls in KHS history to win a meet as a team." Coach Blohowiak was convinced that both teams put their best foot forward and believes that there will be many more fantastic years of Powerlifting to come. All in all, the Powerlifting team ended the season with a bang!

Taking the Shot

Lady Kats Give It All

This was only the second year for the Lady Kat soccer team to be part of the athletic program, but the team pulled together to have an amazing season. The Lady Kats, looking like they have played together for years, always gave 110% each time they stepped onto the field and finished each game, win or lose, with a solid team effort. Coach Coffman said, "Although we didn't have a winning record this season, I am proud of how the girls played...they never gave up. The team has improved tremendously since our inaugural season last year and they played extremely well against some of the best teams in the 4-A classification. I am really excited about the potential of next year's team." The Lady Kats are also excited about next season.



Not on Our Turf
Sophomore Katie Pumphrey defends the ball by using her physical strength and mental determination. This was Katie's second year on the Varsity squad.

▲ Can't Touch This
Senior defender Ashley Sparling uses her speed to clear the ball up field. As a team captain, she always gave her all on and off the field. Ashley said, "If you don't have team leadership and team bonding, you'll always get beat."

▲ Catch Me If You Can
Senior Adrian Cantrell dribbles the ball up the sideline in a quick counterattack as the opponent closes in. Adrian was a vital part of the offense with her quickness and endurance.

Watch Me Fly
Sweeper Ashley Sparling takes charge of the defense and blocks the Joshua player from the ball. With her awesome skill, speed, competitive drive, and leadership, Ashley was truly the heart of the Lady Kat defense.

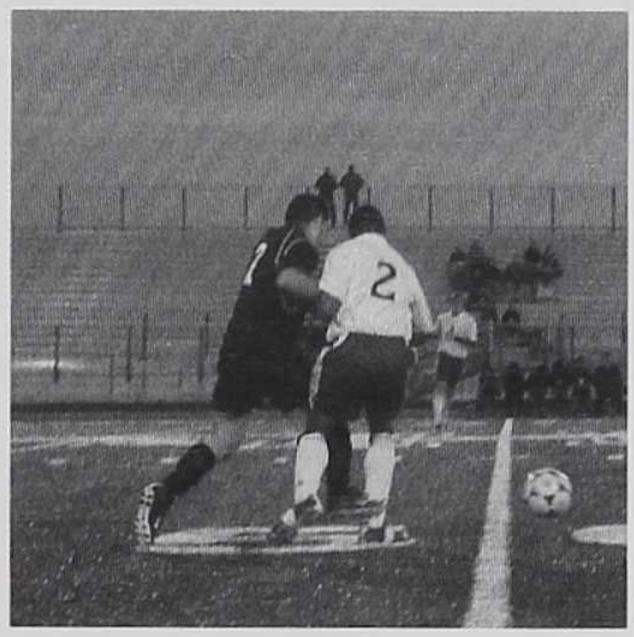
Up, Up, and Away
Freshman Cody Kane uses his "ups" and sacrifices his head to win the ball. Cody said, "Even though we never won, it was still fun. We never gave up, and now we have valuable memories."

▼ I'm Open
Freshman J.J. Zielinski spreads the field as he gets ready to receive the pass from senior Marcos Ramirez. J.J. said, "This was my first year to play soccer and I had a lot of fun doing it."

▼ Stand His Ground
Senior Tommy Nickerson defends the ball and doesn't let his opponent pass. Tommy said, "KHS soccer was my first time playing I had fun and a lot of memories playing thanks to Coach Horton."



TOP FIVE

THINGS NOT TO DO ON THE SOCCER FIELD...

#5...Have a bet going on who can hit the principal first.

#4...Tell the ref he looks like an overweight zebra.

#3...Take a poll on which teams colors are more flattering against the kelly green of the field.

#2...Scream Touchdown! after every goal.

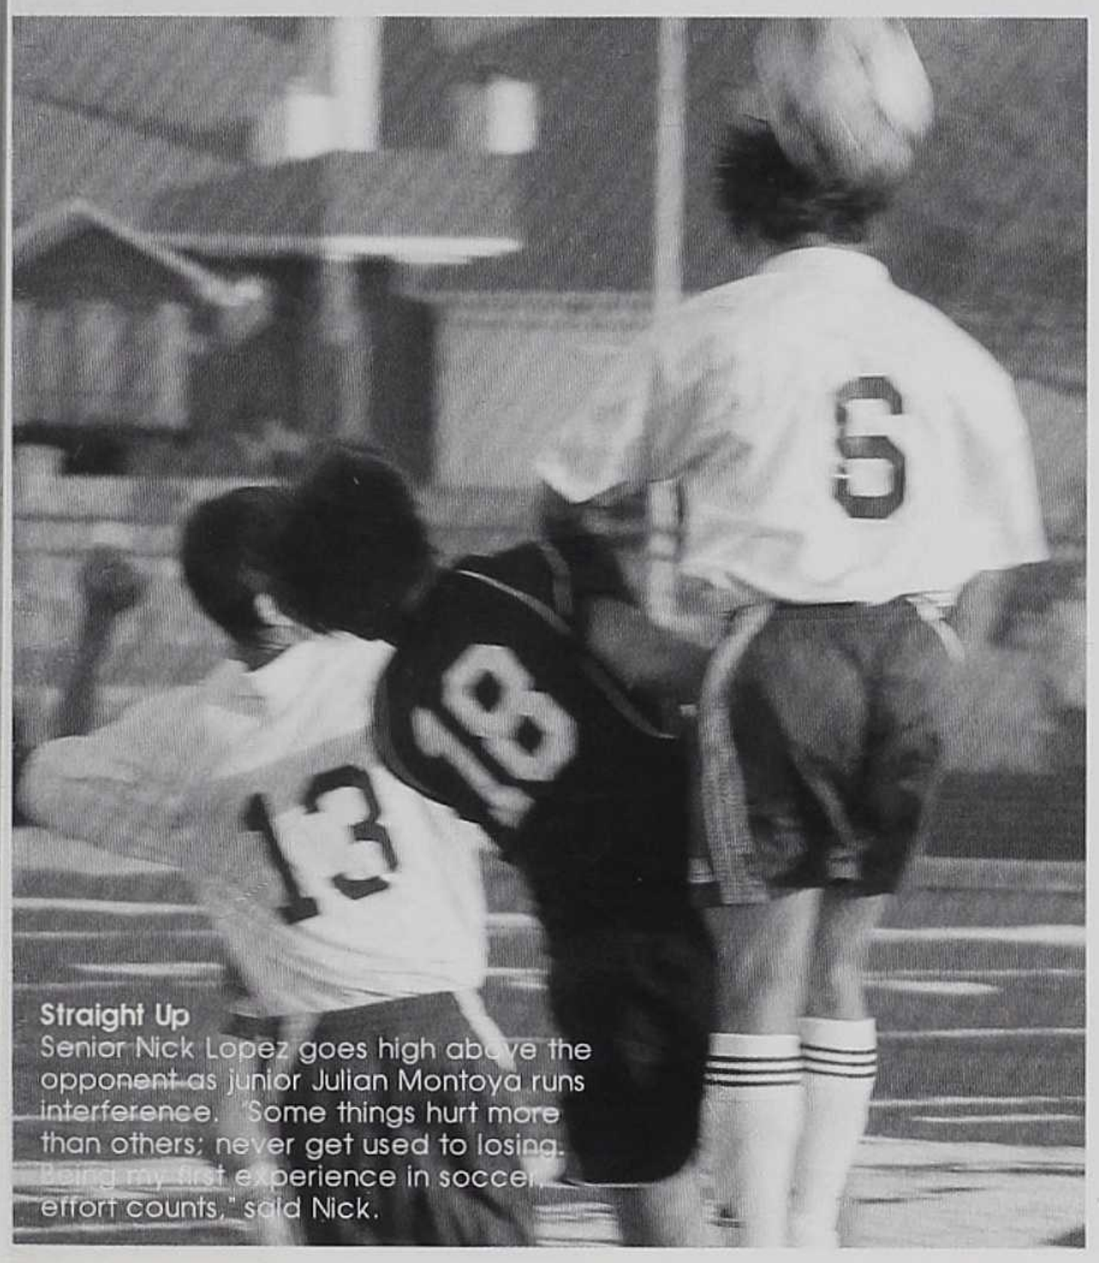
and the #1 thing not to do on the soccer field is...
Shoot into your own goal and then cheer and celebrate by taking off your shirt.



Straight Up
Senior Nick Lopez goes high above the opponent as junior Julian Montoya runs interference. "Some things hurt more than others; never get used to losing. Being my first experience in soccer, effort counts," said Nick.

JUST FOR KICKS

Wildcat Soccer Grows

The Wildcats completed a long, weather testing season not always coming out on top, but certainly coming closer as a team. Senior captain, Spencer Wade simply said, "Discipline, heart, and skill," when asked what it takes to pull together as a team. Most of the team agreed that they appreciated Coach Horton's hard work, dedication, and love for the game of soccer. Coach Horton said, "I would like to thank Coach Barrett for giving me the opportunity that he did. I would also like to thank the guys who played soccer for their dedication and hard work." It is plain to see that the guys are all about teamwork and a solid effort each time they hit the field, whether it is for a game or practice. We look forward to watching the guys take the field next year.

Senior Memories

What is your favorite memory of tennis?

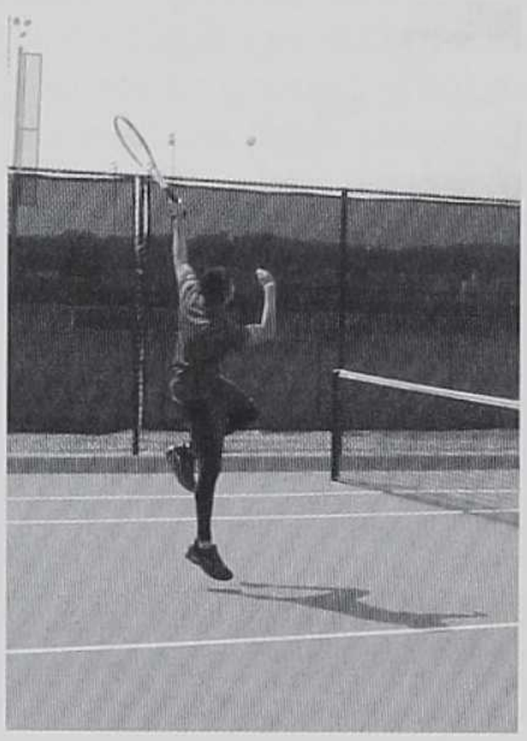
"I joined tennis for the sandwiches. My best tennis game I remember playing was when I came back and won from a 5-0 deficit.

- Weldon Gray

"I still remember the first game I won. My doubles partner and I played against these two girls from a very small school. It was down to a tie breaker and the girl on the other side hit the ball out of the court near some cows.

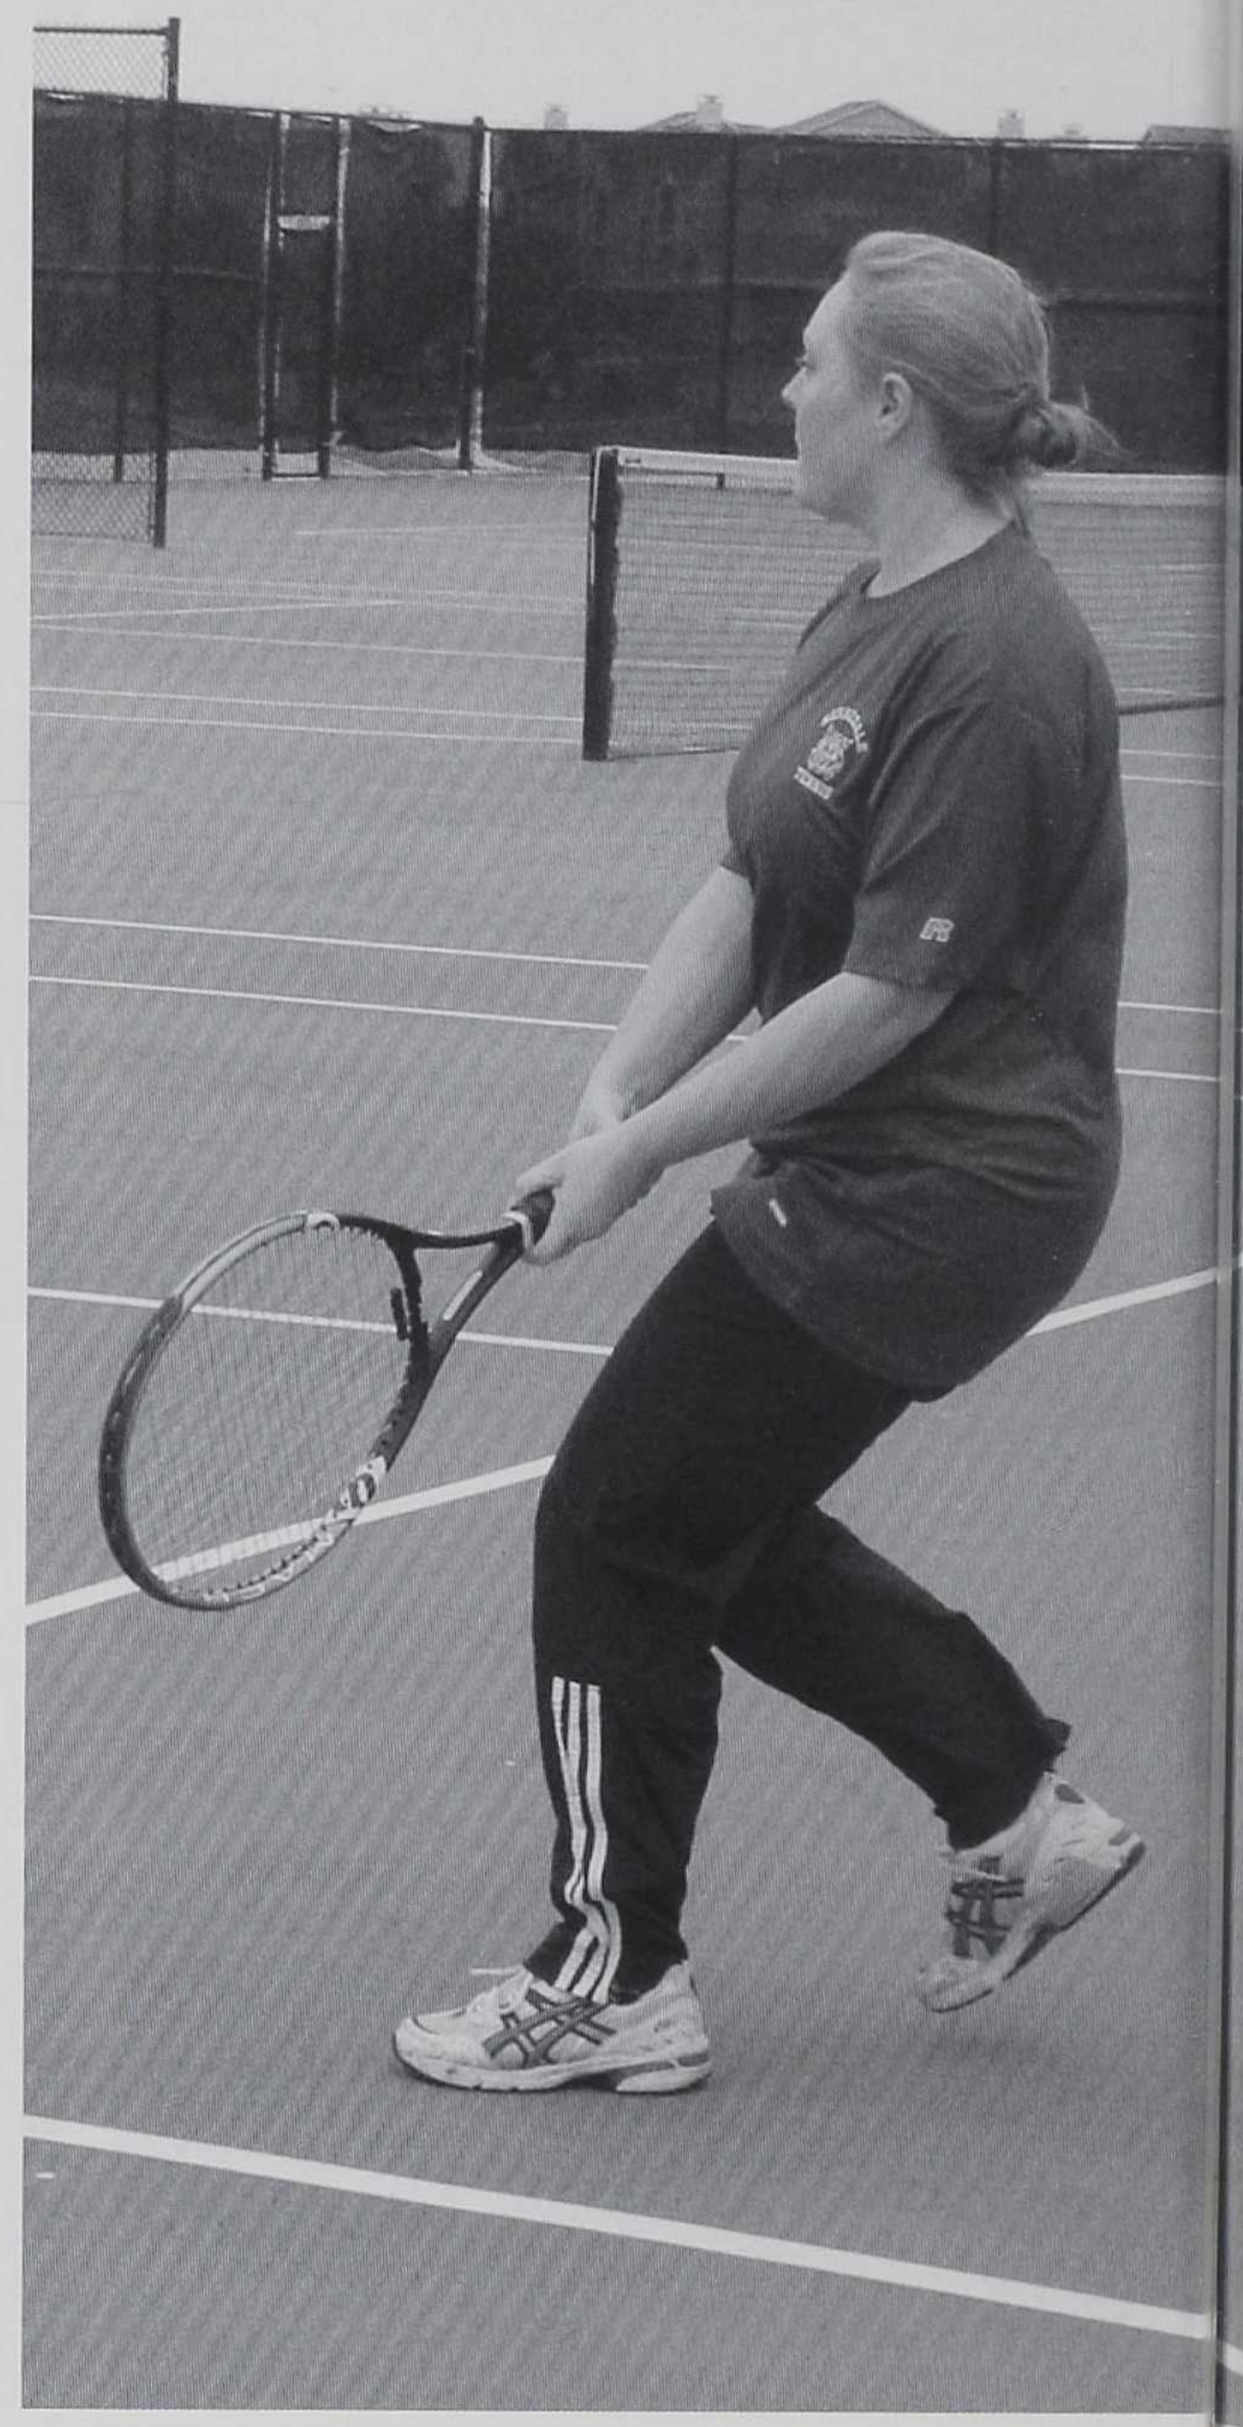
- Kim Gerron

▲ Mad Dash
Sophomore Tyler Moody warms up with his doubles partner before a district match. He said, "Pushing through the adversity that always comes up is an important factor to winning the game." This philosophy led him to the second round of the district finals.



► Jump Shot
Quang Nguyen uses his entire body length, and a little extra "umph", to send the ball flying back to his opponent. This varsity player knows that practicing and stretching before a match is an important factor to having a good game.

True Teammates
Doubles partners, senior Kim Gerron and junior Jennifer Garza, use each other's strengths and weaknesses to pull ahead and place third in district. Jennifer said, "I feel very close to my doubles partner. I love playing with her and I am going to miss her terribly next year when she is gone."



▼ Backhanded
Sophomore Colin Duval prepares to knock the ball back to his opponent's side. This varsity athlete has been playing since the 8th grade, and said this experience really helped him.

▼ Open Arms
Junior Dianne Doan keeps her eyes on the ball as she prepares to serve and get an ace. This athlete praised her team by saying, "The weekend before district, all the varsity players were very unconfident, but as I drove up to the court, all of us were out there ready to win. This made me proud because it shows we're all very dedicated."

Serving Up Success

Wildcats Claim the Court

Whether the favorite memory is like senior Kim Gerron's first winning match or more like sophomore Daniel Pham's ("I saw a really hot Asian girl checking me out before an awesome victory"), all of the tennis athletes strive to be good players. Tennis takes extra time and commitment from all its members, since they can only practice outside of school hours, and everyone pulls through. Although tennis isn't what everyone could consider a team sport, these amazing KHS athletes do their best to support one another.

Tennis Coach, Mrs. Nancy Young, is a teacher at Arthur Elementary, so she gives extra time to come over to the high school. She has been playing for 25 years, and teaching for 17 years. "I like to see their faces when they hit a good shot. It is refreshing to see them get excited about learning a new sport, winning a match, and just enjoying the game. Most of them love playing tennis, and that makes me happy because it is an awesome sport." quoted Coach Young when asked about coaching.

▼ Hop, Step, & Jump
Sophomore Anna Perez makes an amazing landing in her triple jump event. The track meets were held all over the area, but also sometimes as close as our very own Wildcat Stadium. Audiences came right up to the events instead of sitting in the stands.

▼ Soaring High
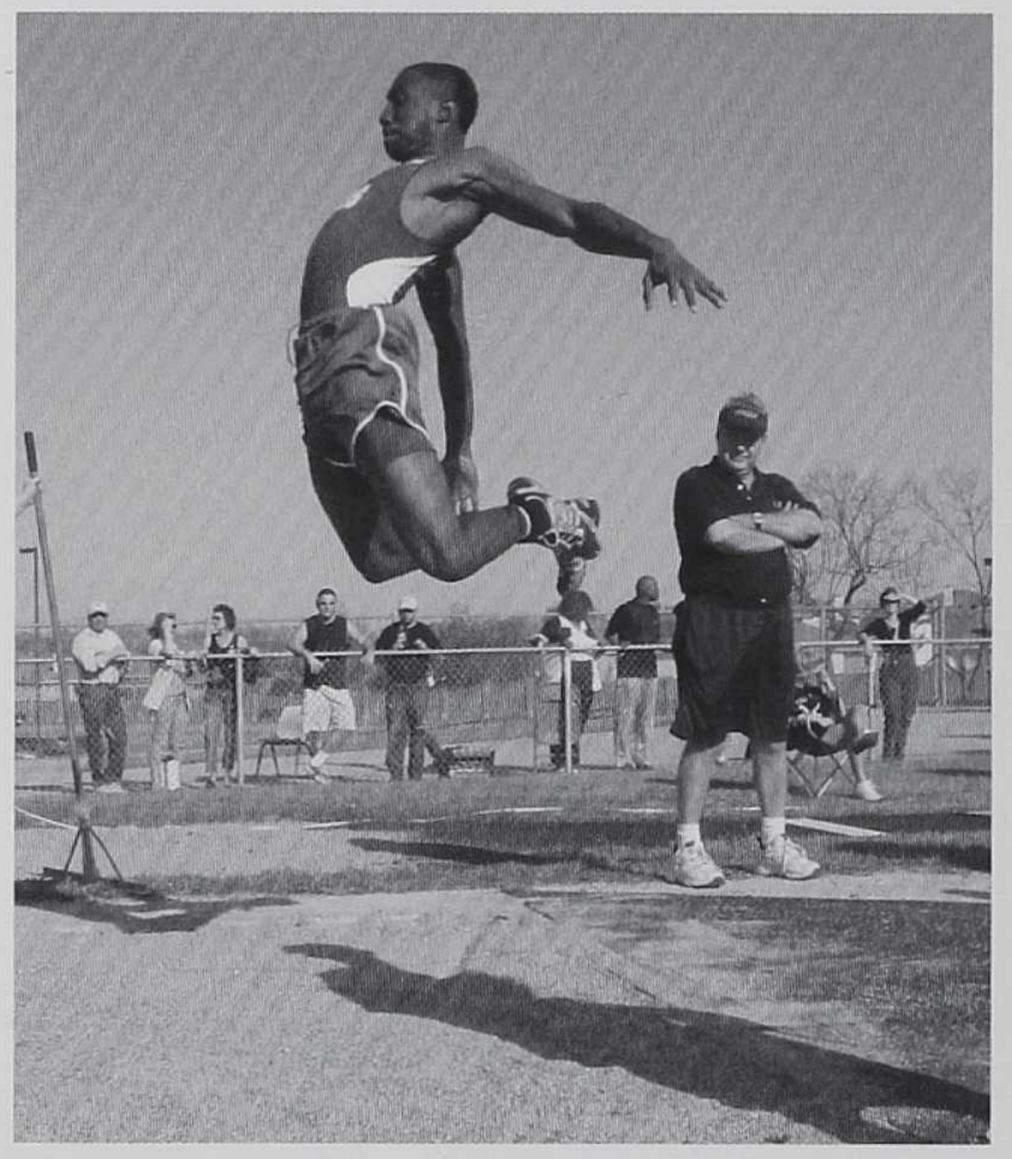
Junior Kendrick Jackson pushes himself through the air in the long jump competition. With great optimism he said, "This is my first year at Kennedale and I was surprised how well we did at track meets. Seeing how young our track team is this year, I think we will have a better team next year."



Lightning Speed

Wildcat Track Takes Off

The track team is made up of many talented athletes competing both individually and as a team in many different events. This year's team had many amazing coaches, including Coach Wrenn and Coach Bonner. Coach Wrenn said, "This is my third year to coach track, and I absolutely love it. I like that it's outdoors. We have great track athletes that work hard. I'm so glad I get to be a part of this program." Coach Bonner has been coaching for two years. "I like working with the students. It's fun to see them improve and become successful," said Coach Bonner. The track team had several outstanding athletes qualify for the State Competition in Austin. The girls were represented by Brittany Masoner, Dashane Lars, Courtney Lee and Camari Hoskins, who competed as a team in the 4x400 relay. Cedonia Allen ran the 100 meter hurdles. The boys' relay team, which included Aaron LeBruce, Weldon Brooks, RaShawn Brooks, and Cordero Gray earned a spot at state in the 4x100 relay with the fastest qualifying time in Class 3A. The team also competed in the 4x200 relay. Cordero Gray ran the 100 meter dash at State.

Going the Distance
Junior Tommy Lee hands the baton to senior RaShawn Brooks in the relay competition. The event requires speed as well as coordination and teamwork. Dropping the baton could result in losing the precious time needed to win.

Track Achievements

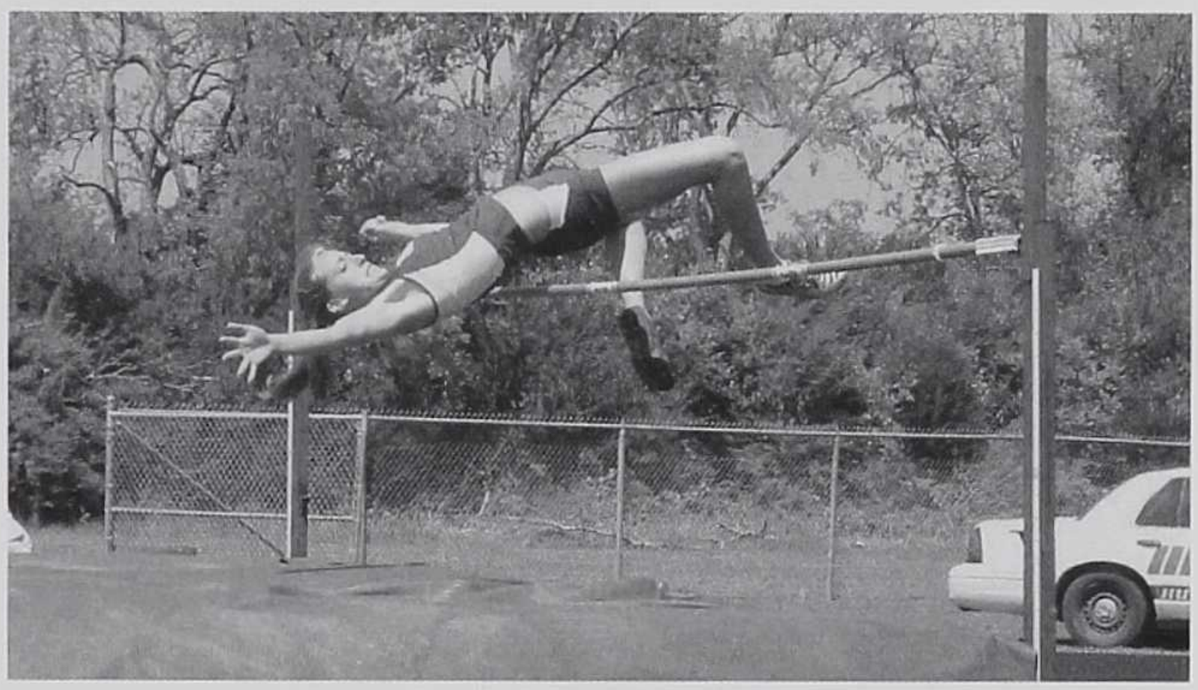
What did the track team accomplish this year?

"Our girls' track team won the regional and state meet last year and they have had a great year this year. Our boys' track team has improved tremendously from last year. Both teams have qualified people for the state meet!"

- Coach Kelly Bonner

"I coached the distance runners and the jumpers. In distance this year, Georgia O'Brien broke the 3200 M record, Vanessa Elizondo broke the 1600 M record and Mik Smith ran a 4:49 in the 1600 M run this year. As for the jumpers, Cordero Gray realized he's a triple jumper with his best jump this year, 41'.

- Coach Jill Wrenn



▲ Over the Top
Junior Jessie Kissel uses amazing flexibility to keep her body from touching the bar in the High Jump event. "My best memory of track season was being able to practice with my hero, the 1988 Olympic Gold Medallist in High Jump, Louise Ritter!" said this Lady Kat track athlete.

◄ High Flying Action
Freshman Logan Barrett makes this difficult event look extremely easy by flying straight over the bar. This Wildcat athlete said, "I enjoy pole vaulting because it is something I have always done. The best part of it is the adrenaline rush!"

► RUN!
Junior Christian Cunningham leads off first base and looks for the perfect opportunity to steal second. Christian was a key player for the Wildcat varsity team this team year, both offensively and defensively.

▼ Just Chillin'
A group of Varsity players relax in the dugout as they watch their teammates at bat. With many years of experience, these Varsity guys know they must work together as a team to win the game.

▲ Batter Up
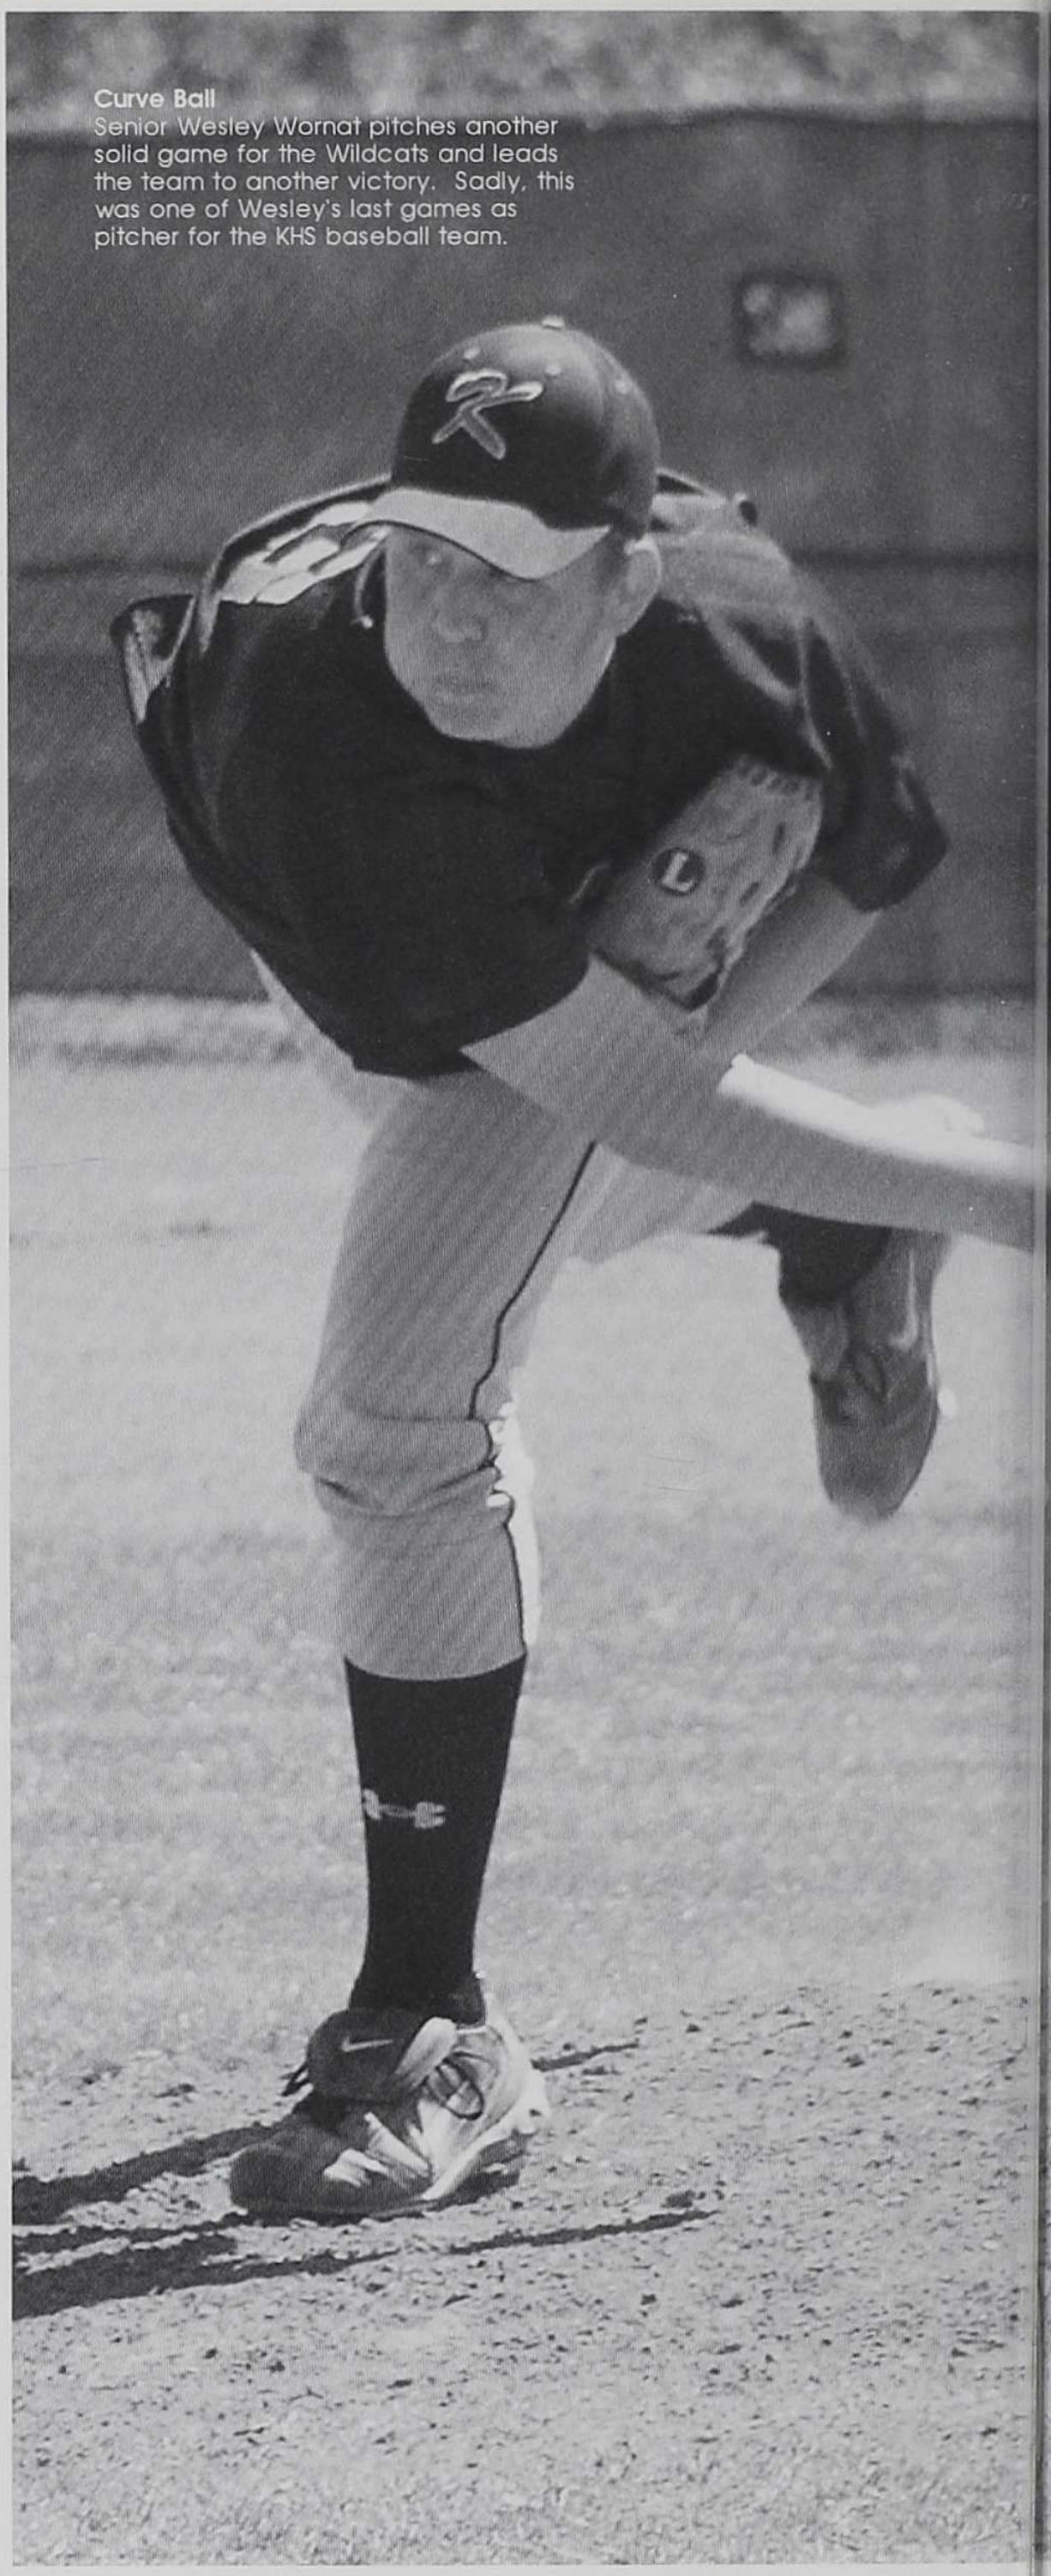
Junior Andy Kludy waits for the perfect pitch to drive back up the middle. Andy has been on the KHS baseball team for three years and has done a fantastic job each year. With hard work and effort, he has proven himself as a true team player.



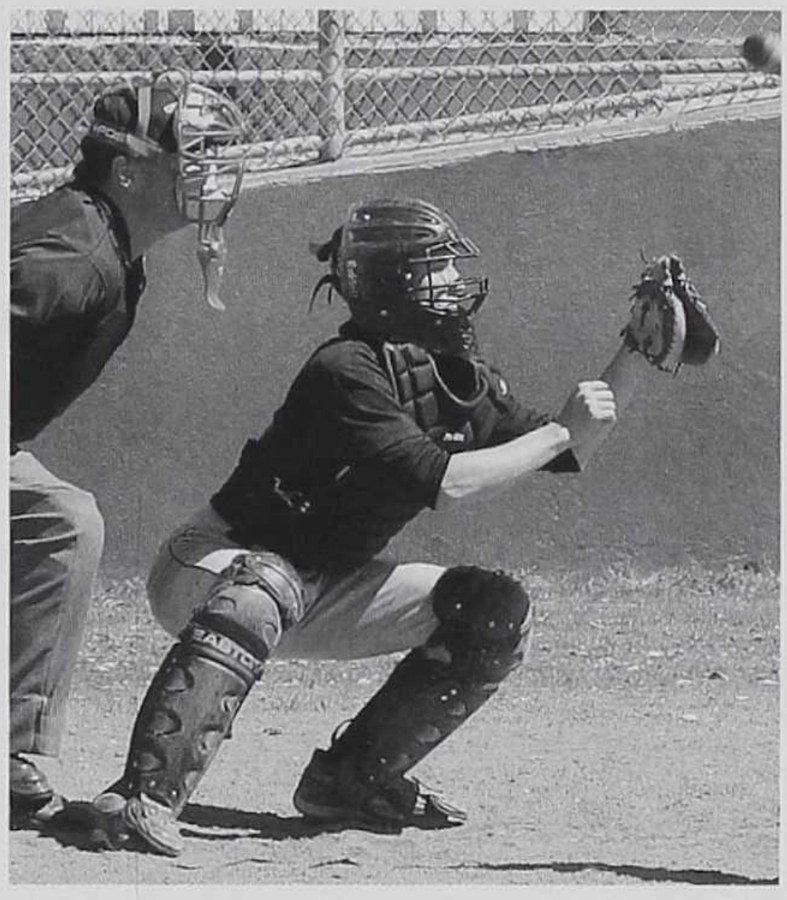
Curve Ball
Senior Wesley Wornat pitches another solid game for the Wildcats and leads the team to another victory. Sadly, this was one of Wesley's last games as pitcher for the KHS baseball team.

Headin' Home

The Excellence Continues

The Wildcat baseball team had another great season. The whole team came together and worked hard to be successful. The Varsity team ended the year 16-12 overall and 8-1 in district play, landing them a spot in the playoffs. The JV team did equally as well with an overall record of 12-8 and 3-1 in district. Their success can be credited to the great staff of coaches whose expertise of the game and leadership spurred both teams on to victory. Coach Riley saw some of the best team plays for the JV team and was very impressed with how the Varsity united as a team to triumph over Ferris to win district. Proud of both teams, Coach Teague said, "The Varsity and JV baseball teams continued the tradition of excellence with the Varsity's tenth straight playoff appearance. Congratulations to both teams for winning District Championships." Coach Trantham commented, "Excellence is only to be achieved through hard work, GO Cats!" Both teams plan to continue the KHS tradition of excellence next year.

▲ Bringing the Heat
Junior Lance Canter blows the pitch by the batter for the strikeout. Lance has helped out the team tremendously with his pitching techniques and great sportsmanship.



▲ Catch This
Junior catcher Richie Schermerhorn secures the ball in his glove and looks for the runner. As the catcher, Richie realizes the importance of his position and works hard so he can help the team to another great season.

► Scoopin' Up and Deliverin"
Senior Kayce Zielinski makes the catch and rockets the ball to her first baseman. "I enjoyed the leadership that came with being a senior," said Kayce when asked about being a senior on the team. She will continue her love for the game at Penn State.

▼ A Little Game of Catch
Catcher Brittney Arnold and pitcher Samantha Schermerhorn warm up before a home game with a few pitches. The two were both starters for the varsity team as freshmen.

Goofing Around
Seniors Krista Dauth and Lindsay Logos keep their spirits high between innings with junior Cassie Ridley. The team had great chemistry which helped them to succeed on the field. Cassie described her senior teammates as, "Enthusiastic, positive, and passionate about the game."

What advice do you have for next year's players?

CRACK

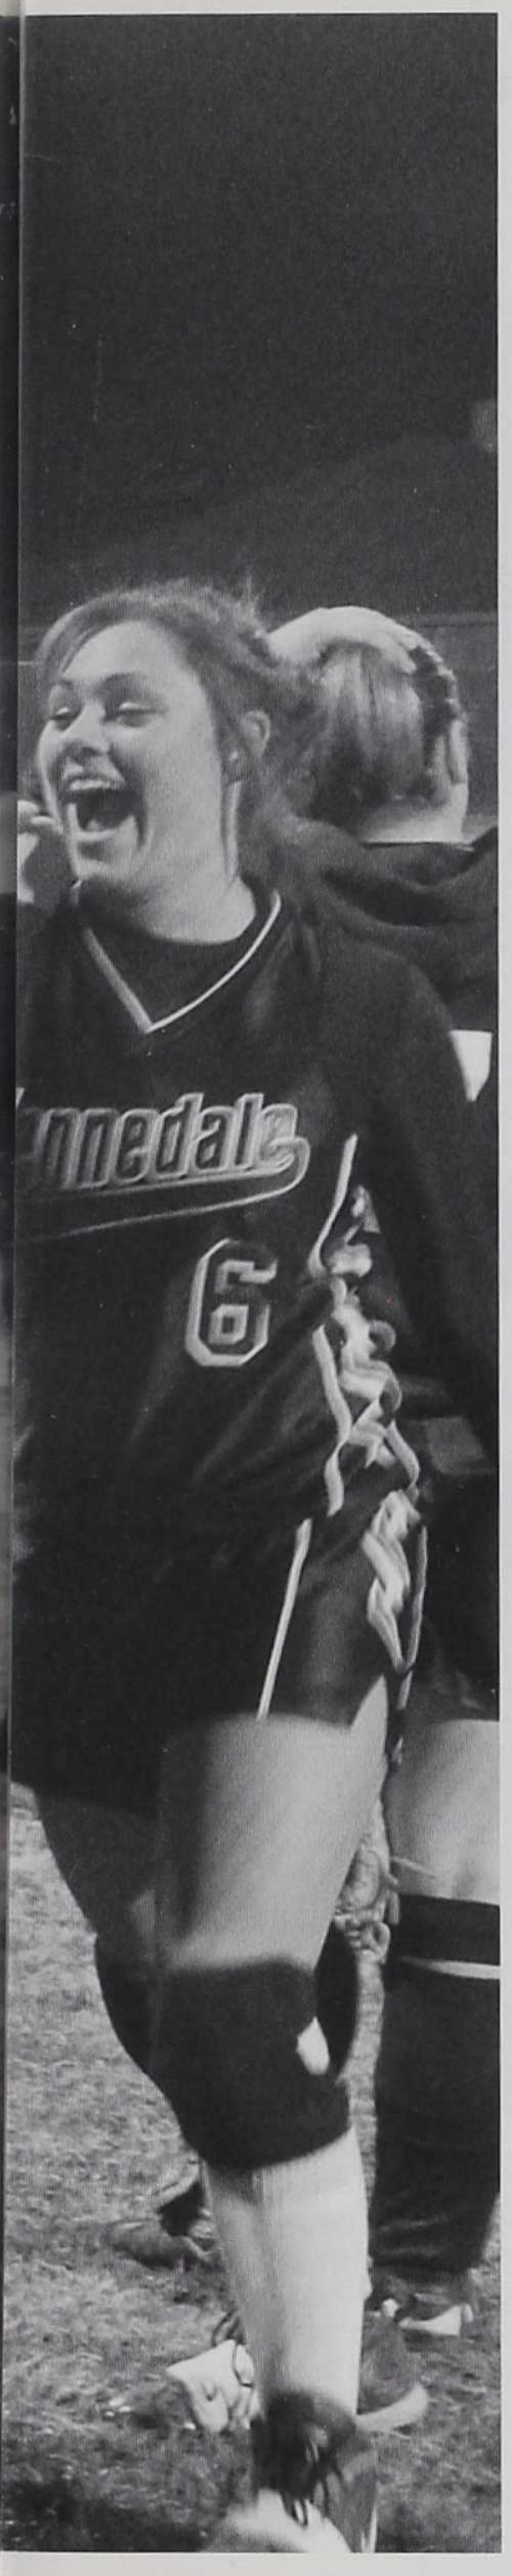
"Keep working hard everyday. Continue to help the varsity team to excel and win district...again!"
- Corie Cox

"No matter what, play your hardest and always focus on the goal."
- Lindsay Logos

"Have fun, don't sweat the petty stuff."
- Krista Dauth

"Deliverin' stress! The more relaxed you are, the better you play."
- Kayce Zielinski

"Without the heart, you shouldn't be there."
- Natalie Fleschner

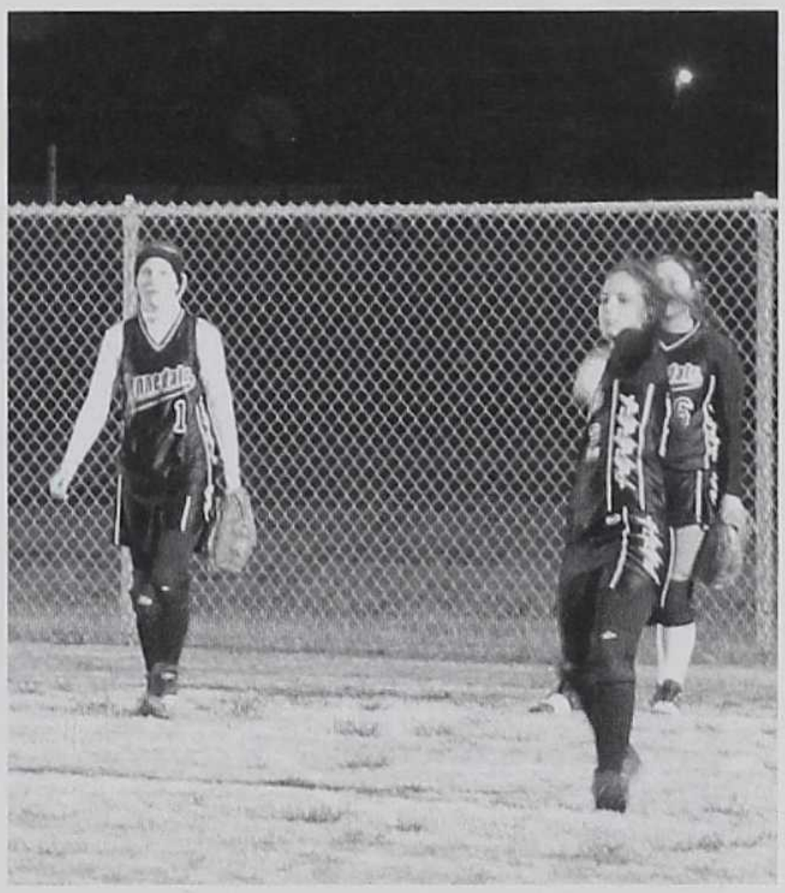


Going, Going, Gone

Lady Kats Make It Work

The 2005 Lady Kat softball team dominated district with a 6-0 record which sent them to the second round of playoffs. Head softball coach Amie Kirkpatrick commented on the girls' teamwork by saying, "This year's team did an excellent job of coming together. We started out slow but came on strong when it counted." The Lady Kats had many accomplishments and received numerous awards this season. Senior Kayce Zielinski was the 10-3A MVP as well as the Team MVP. Senior teammates Lindsay Logos and Krista Dauth were also honored. Logos was awarded the Team Offensive MVP and Dauth received Most Improved Player. Junior Cassie Ridley was recognized as the 10-3A Pitcher of the Year and Team Defensive MVP. Sophomore Brooke Spearman proudly accepted the 10-3A Newcomer and Team Heart Award. Freshman Brittney Arnold rounded out the honors with the 10-3A Catcher of the Year Award. When asked abut next season, JV Coach Kim Padgett said, "I just want the girls to have fun, learn a little about softball, and learn a lot about themselves."

▲ Deep Concentration
Sophomore Brooke Spearman follows the ball into her glove during a pre-game warm-up. When asked what was her favorite memory of the season, she replied, "The game where I had three triples and several double plays."



▲ Going Two
Sophomore Aubrey Davis, left, watches as senior Corie Cox throws into second base during warm-up drills. The departing senior said her favorite memory was, "The Burkburnett tournament with Coach Kenni Patton. 'This is the best song ever'!"

Ashley-
My favorite youngest daughter. We're very proud of you. Keep your dreams alive be true to yourself, and keep God first Love Mom

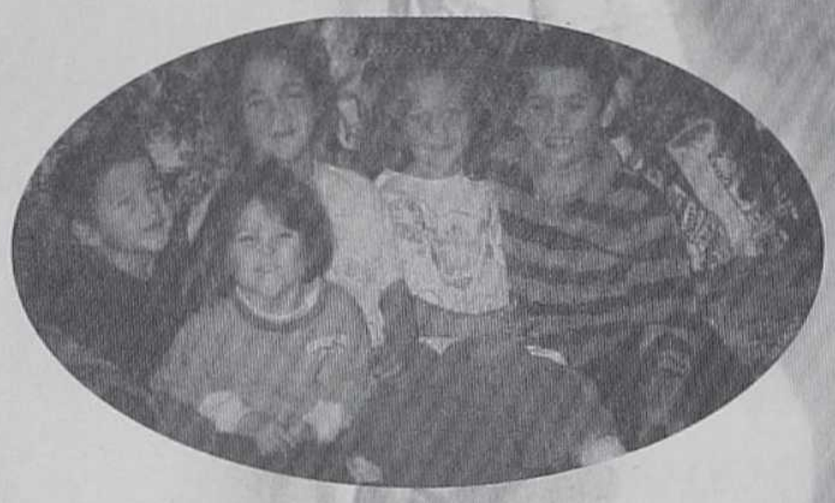
Dearest Ashley,
I cannot begin to express how proud of you I am. Throughout the years I have seen you transform from a little sister to a smart and beautiful young woman. You have always done well at what you put your mind to. You have always impressed me with your athletic abilities. Now as you endeavor off to college, I wish you the best of luck. Along the path to success there will always be trials and tribulations, but always remember to stand tall and keep your head up, because in the end you will prevail as long as you put your heart, mind, and soul into whatever you are doing. So be true to yourself and always remember I am here for you.
Dominus tecum,
Alex



Ashley
You're the best sister/ friend anyone could ask for. Don't let anyone or anything ever stand in the way of what you want.
Good Luck

Tony Hastings
Tony, I am so proud of you! Keep your feet on the ground and aim for the stars.
Love you,
Dad
Dear Tony,
I never thought it would be possible... but it is! You're all grown up. It seems like yesterday that you were just a baby. We are so proud of all your accomplishments. You have filled our days with many happy memories. We love you and wish you all the very best in all that you do now and in the future.
Love always,
Nanny and Papa

Dear Lauren,

From the moment you entered this world you have brought us joy. As you have grown into a young woman our joy has grown as well. You are a person of integrity and grace - beautiful, kind, compassionate, intelligent. The world is a better place because of you.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Lauren,
Thank you for being such a beautiful person (inside and out) and a wonderful sister! One of my favorite things about coming home is getting to spend time with you. I'm so proud of everything you've accomplished and I can't wait to hear about all of your upcoming successes! I'll be telling everyone, "That's MY sister!!"

Love,
Ian

Lauren Turman

Dearest Lauren,

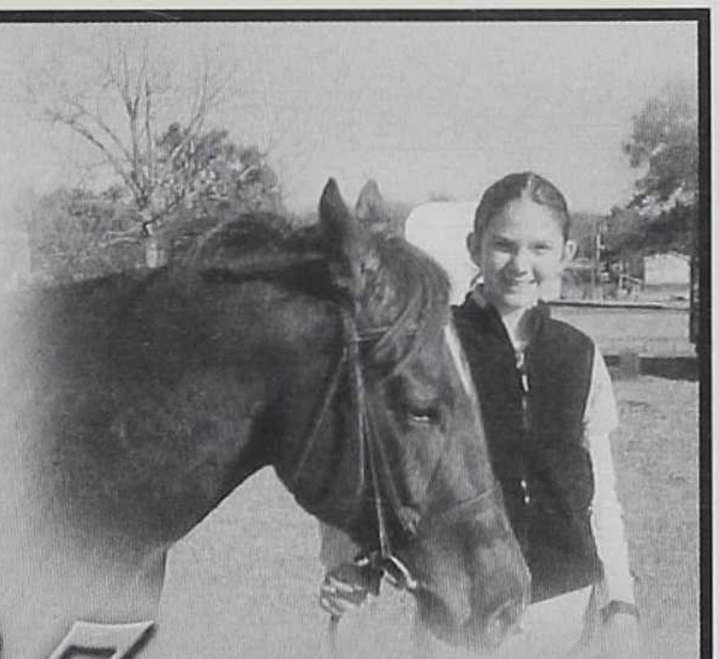
May you reach the goals you're working for. May the things of which you dream come true. May you help the lives of others in all you think and say and do. We are so proud of you!

Your Loving Grandparents

My dear little sister,
How far we've come from the bickering and play-fighting that were the signature of our childhood toghether. You've grown into such an amazing young woman, and I'm proud to call you my sister. Hold onto your dreams, and remember that even a single lamp dispels the darkness. I love you, sweetie.

Your big sis,
AO

Hali Hinz



Dear Hali,
Remember: "You are our favorite granddaughter." We are so proud of you.

Häls-
I met you when you were a scared and unsure freshman girl, with big dreams ahead of you. The years have flown by and those dreams have grown and changed as you have. You have become such a beautiful, confident woman, and I feel honored and amazed that I can call you my best friend. Always keep that chin up, and remember I love you through thick and thin. Take this world by storm, baby!

Your #1 fan,

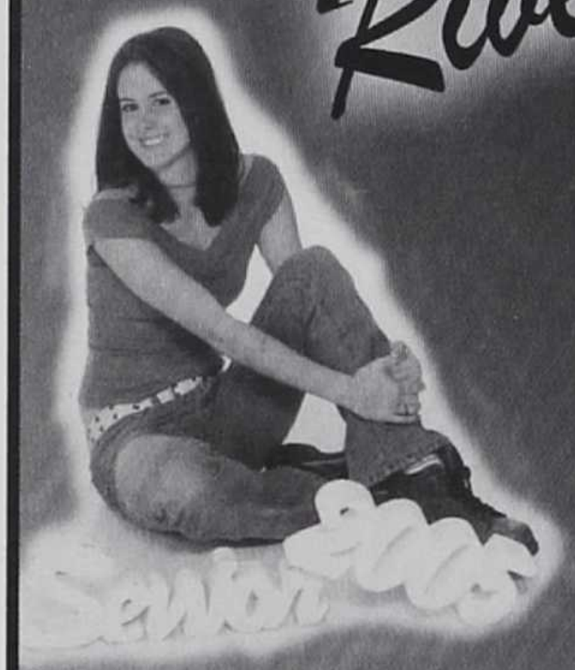
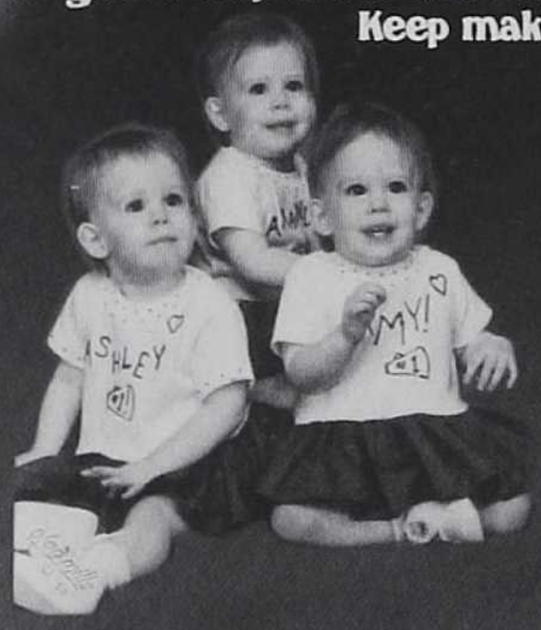
Amy Rivers

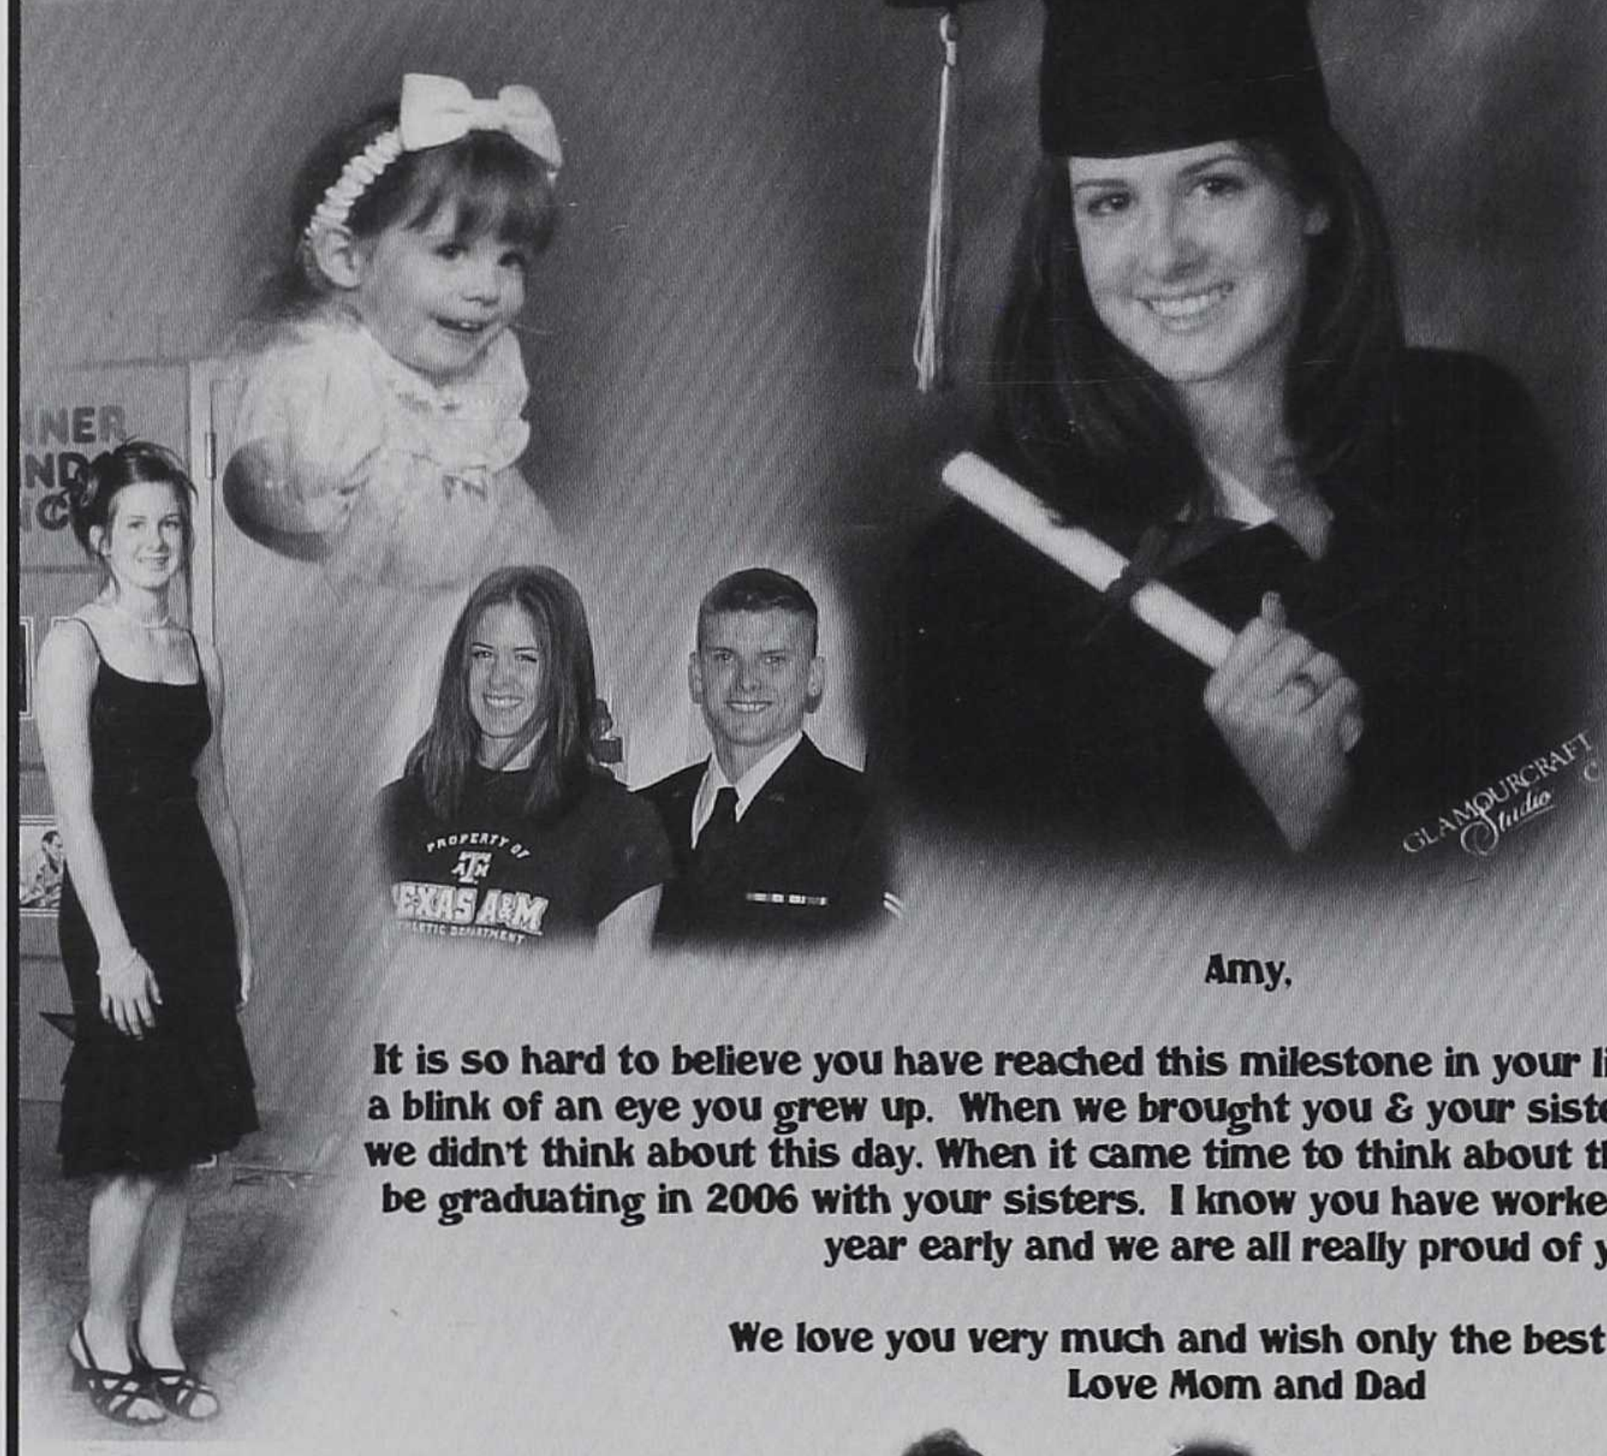


Hey Sis,

We're so happy all your hard work is finally starting to pay off. While others had doubts, we always knew you could do it! You were never one to give a crap about what others said. Well, you still have a long way to go. Keep making us proud. We'll miss you!

Luv Ya!
Your Sisters,
Amanda & Ashley





You are loved for the little girl you were;
the special woman you are now;
and the precious Daughter you will always be.

Amy,

It is so hard to believe you have reached this milestone in your life. It seems almost like in a blink of an eye you grew up. When we brought you & your sisters home from the hospital we didn't think about this day. When it came time to think about this day, I thought you would be graduating in 2006 with your sisters. I know you have worked really hard to graduate a year early and we are all really proud of you.

We love you very much and wish only the best for you.
Love Mom and Dad

Lauren~

Wow! We are finally graduating from high school! The past twelve years went by so fast but the last six have been the most memorable. My friendship with you will always hold a special place in my heart. Good luck at Tech and throughout the many experiences that life has yet to bring you.

I Love You The Mostest,
Lexie

Alexia Noel Hart,

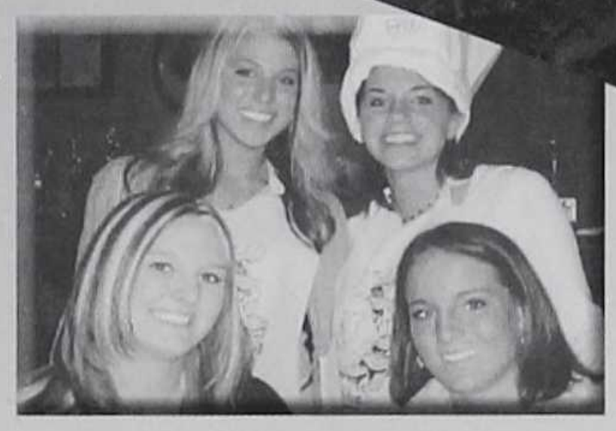
You are our gift from God, and we have been very blessed. Your desire and determination are shadowed only by your compassion for others in need. Yes, you are our favorite daughter (being our ONLY daughter has nothing to do with it)! Your accomplishments have been beyond our dreams for you, but they will become just steps toward so many greater accomplishments yet to come. As you begin your years at Texas A&M maybe you can find the answer to the question asked shortly after your birth, "How do you spell Alexia with 'No-L'?" (Thanks Kent Schnable).

We Love You,
Mom, Dad, & Patrick

Lexie,

Wow! We're FINALLY graduating and going to COLLEGE! You're absolutely the best friend ever! Thank you for all the memories that I will never forget! You are an incredible person that will be very successful in everything you do! I love you so freakin much! Please don't ever forget me!

Love you always,
Lauren



Dear Lauren,

You were born, we blinked and here you are, graduating from KHS. What an amazing young woman you've become! You are bright, beautiful, confident, full of life, energy, and potential.

I suppose letting the air out of your tires won't keep you from going off to college. While away, be sure to:

-Search for a career that you will love; it makes life rewarding.
-Keep learning new things; knowledge is a lasting gift that you give yourself.
-Continue to be strong; life is a series of challenges and getting through them helps you discover who you are.
-Keep your sense of humor; sometimes the only sense we can make in life is a sense of humor.
-Keep listening to God; His is that inner voice that we call a conscience.
-Most of all, remember that no one can have more faith, hope, and love for you than the three of us. Ever. We're here for you forever and always.

Lauren, this chapter in your life is nearing an end, but many others are opening. Ready...Set...Go for it! (Watch out, world!)

Love,
Mom, Dad, and Shannon

WATCH THE PROP!!!!!

Aaron,
Dad and I just want you to know how proud we are of you, you have grown from a cute dimpled baby, to a fine young man. We have always admired your independence and willingness to try new things-now for the ultimate adventure, going off to OSU! "Don't forget in the darkness what you have learned in the light"
We love you,

Marisol,

From the angel you were when you were born, to the beautiful woman you have become, you have blessed our lives so ABUNDANTLY. Thank you for being so kind and loving towards us, you are truly an example of what every parent wishes their child could be... and so much more. Thank you for the responsibility you have shown by the choices you have made. Thank you for making it so easy to be your parents. As we let go, and you go off to college to begin your adult life, may you always continue in the values and high moral standards that make you the special person that you are. We will miss you, but our memories of all the wonderful times we have shared with you leave us with a smile. Have a great time in college.

Love,
Mama & Daddy

Marisol Monreal

To my dear sister,

Rarely is one found whose inside beauty matches the outside beauty. We admire you for your faith in God and keeping Him number one in your life. I can't believe time has passed by so quickly. It seems like just yesterday, I was picking on you and now I will soon watch you get your high school diploma. We wish you the best life has to offer. We will continue to watch you grow and mature into the beautiful, unique woman that God has purposed long before you were even born.

All our love,
Mark & Valerie

To my AP English IV darlings,

No trip to the Kimball will be the same now that I've been there with you all. I'll see your enthusiasm in every painting and every sculpture, and in every curve of the architecture.

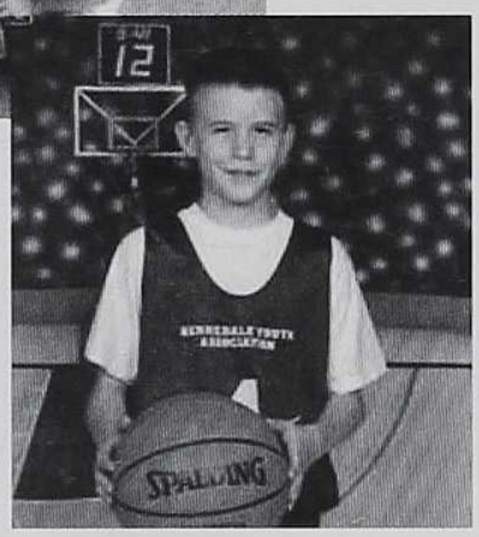
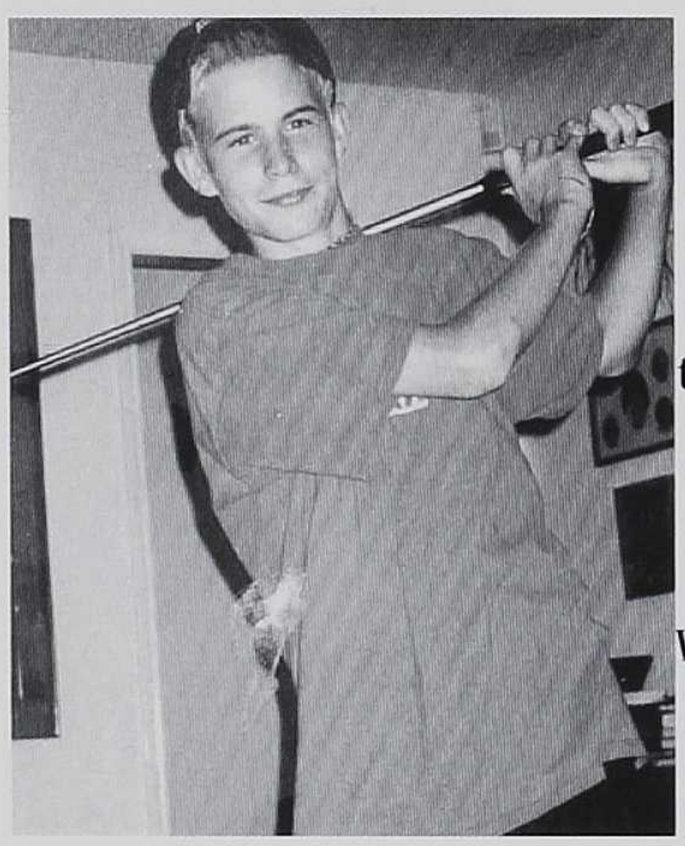
Anthony Pearce



My how time flies! I can't believe it is time for our little "Anthony" to graduate. It seems only yesterday you were my "tiny" baby born before his time. We were running from sport to sport - watching you play baseball, basketball, and football. Then moving on to girls, golf, and trucks with twenties and boomin' systems. And look at you now - a grown-up handsome young man.

We have watched with pride as you have become a man with such character and values. You are a beautiful person inside and out. You have such compassion in your heart for people. Continue to be the strong, caring person you are. Remember, you have a future full of possibilities.

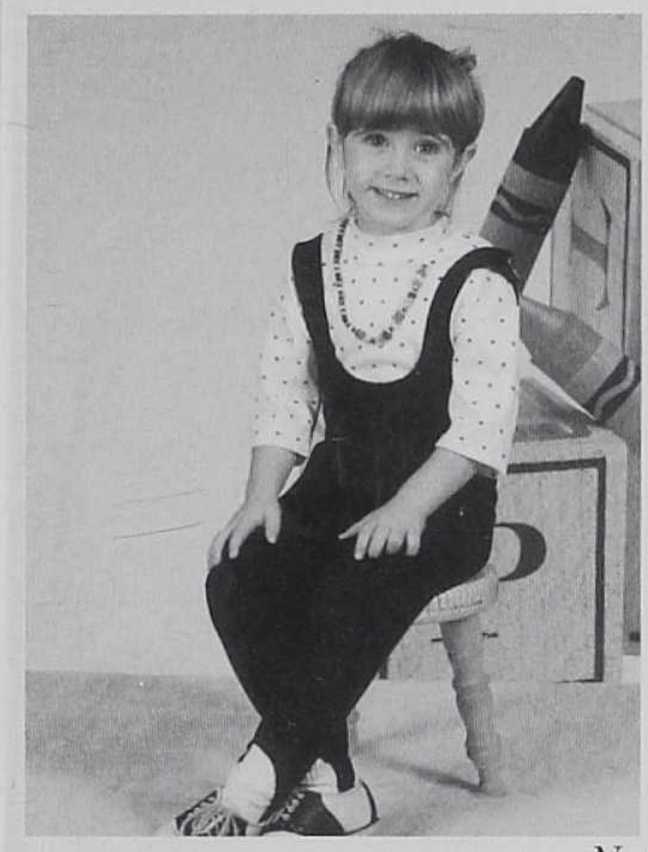


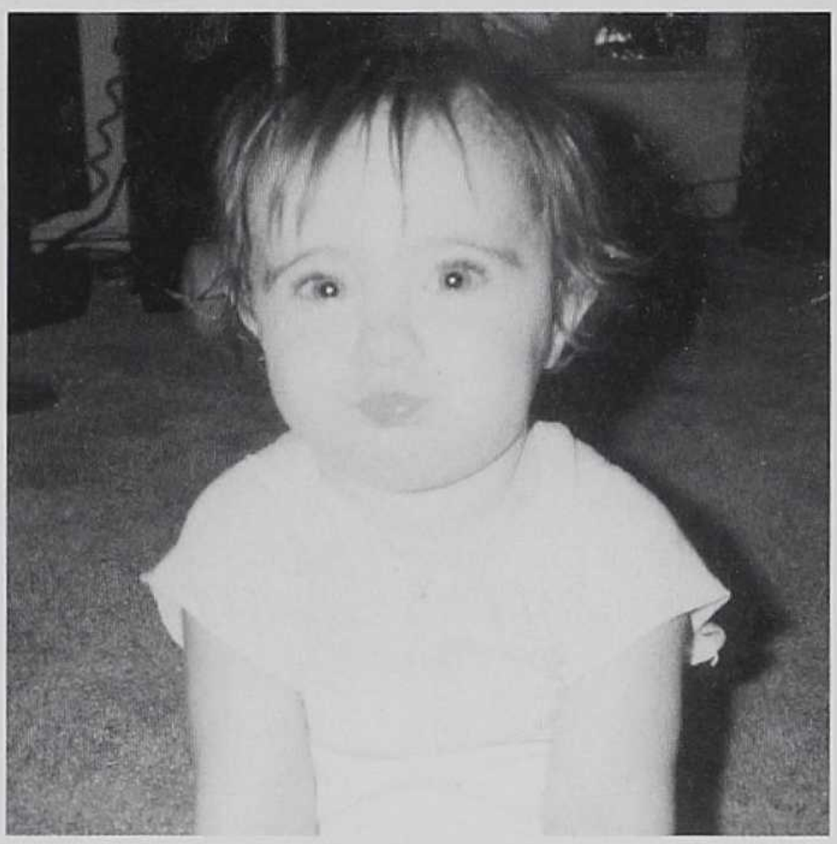
The years have gone too fast, but the memories are ours forever! Hold fast to your faith and your dreams, and follow them wherever they may lead you. Believe in yourself, trust in God to guide your ways, and you will find a bright tomorrow awaits you.

We thank God for blessing us with such an awesome son.

We love you!!

Dad, Mom, Chad and Victoria



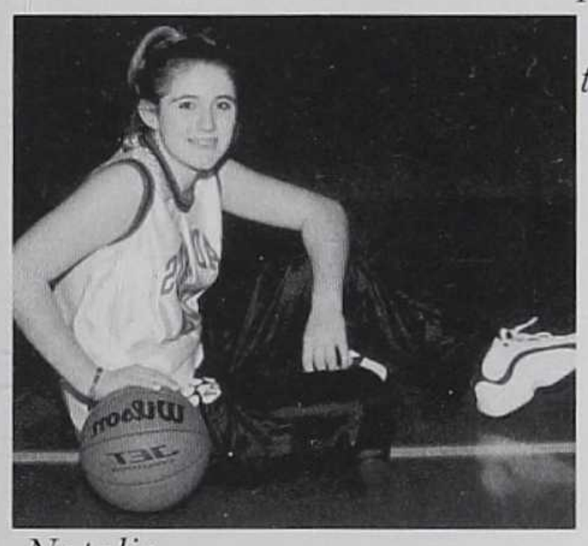


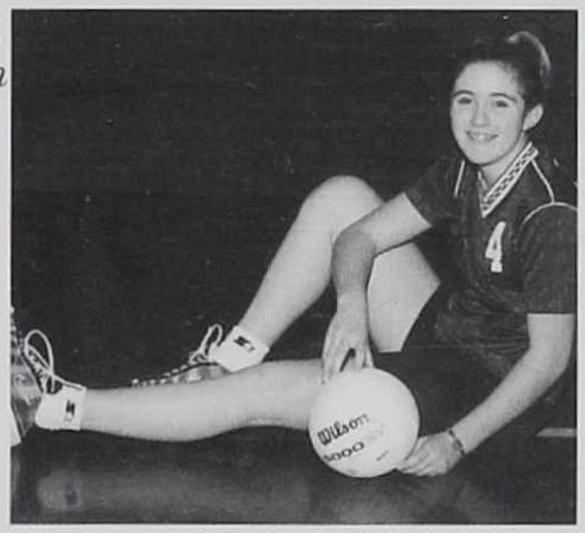
Natalie-

From kindergarten to the 6th grade parent teacher conferences, to the softball fields, volleyball, and basketball courts. From Austin to Orlando on this long journey we have watched our wild child grow into this incredible, beautiful, intelligent young lady.

Thanks for letting us tag along.

Love Mom, Dad, Nicole, Sadie, and Malana





Natalie,

Congratulations!!

May your senior year bring you lots of happy memories. We are so proud of you and we love you.

From: Uncle Larry, Aunt Ginger,
Brandon, Nick, and Matthew

Nat,

You grew up way too quick, I blinked and then there you are all grown up and beautiful inside and out. Too mushy for you, Nat? I just can't wait until graduation. All the family members are cheering and taking pictures.

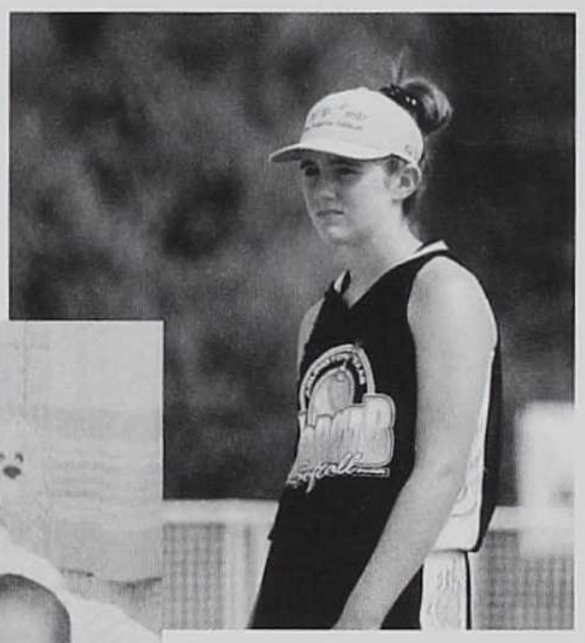
xoxoxo

Aunt Janet

Dear Nattie,

Papaw and I wish you nothing but the best in life, stay as sweet as you are. We love you very very much.

Hugs and Kisses,
Mamaw and Papaw



Nattie

We are very proud of you and all you have accomplished. We will always love you on any path you take in the future.

Love,
Uncle Jay, Aunt Chris, and Jonathan

Carry On

Carry on as we would, son.
Lay your problems down to rest.
Put all bad times behind you
And strive to be your best.

Carry on with confidence;
Your hands now hold the reins.
Don't think your talents won't compare,
For our blood runs through your veins.

Carry on with honesty;
You know what's right and fair.
Just call on us when problems strike;
You know we will be there.

Carry on the dreams, my son.
Let your conscience be your guide.
Remember when you feel alone,
We will be standing by your side!

Our Love Always,
Mom & Dad

Believe in yourself! Every new day brings new chances to grow and new things to see, and now that you have come this far, don't stop! Keep your head up and stay on the right path so that you may go even further. It seems like only yesterday when you were a little girl, now you are all grown up and ready to make a bigger step. Make sure that you give everything you do your best and keep God first. I'm so proud of you and don't ever forget that!!! Always remember that you are in my heart, thoughts, and prayers no matter where you might be.

I love you always,
Mom

Court,
You have made us so proud and not because of athletics, because you are truly a good person. We love you very much, but much more that, we like you. You have turned out to be the type of kid that any parent would be proud of.

Love, Dad & Mom

Courtney Lee

Court,
You are truly a great kid. It has been a joy watching you grow from a young girl to a young adult. I know that you will continue to make me proud. I wish you nothing but happiness in the future.

LOL
Auntie KeKe

Khristian,
We wish you all the happiness God has to give, and "we'll love you forever as long we live".
Love and hugs,

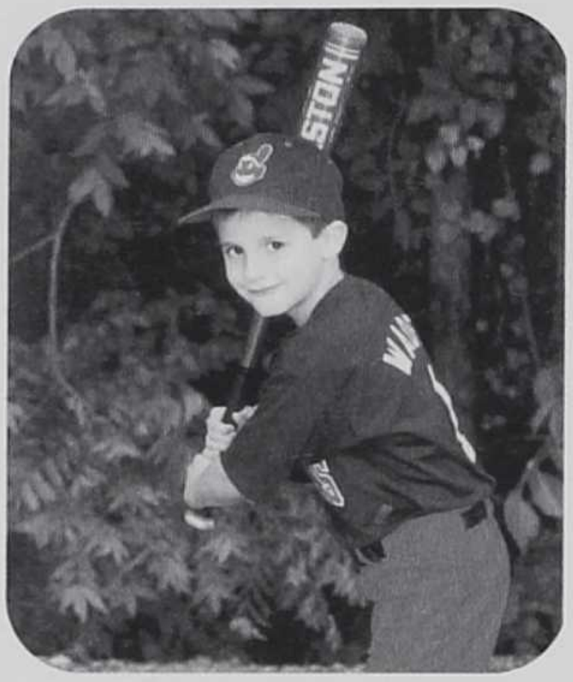
Laci Law

To our little Barbie Doll With Love

Laci,
There is no one in existence quite like you. With your many talents, your persistence, your thoughtful and caring ways. You have a special purpose that no one else can fulfill because we believe that you are one of the few that can make a positive difference in the world. Aspire to greatness. Remember that in our eyes, you are a success! Now go out there and turn your dreams into reality, achieve your goals. The world is waiting for someone like you.

With Love and Congratulations,
Mom & Dad
Chris & Jessica



Spencer,

It seems like only yesterday when you came into our lives. You have kept us smiling since we first held our baby boy! One of your gifts is bringing joy and laughter to the lives of others. You have been a blessing to us, and we could not have asked for a better child. It has been an honor to be able to teach you the values in which you guide your life. We thank God because He has given us the opportunity to experience love through the eyes of a child.

We are so proud of you and all that you have achieved. The baseball, basketball, football and soccer games were a blast; teaching you to fish and how to drive a car-- what an experience! They are all precious memories that together create a wonderful life.

It will be exciting to see the future plans that God has for you! Our love will always be with you.

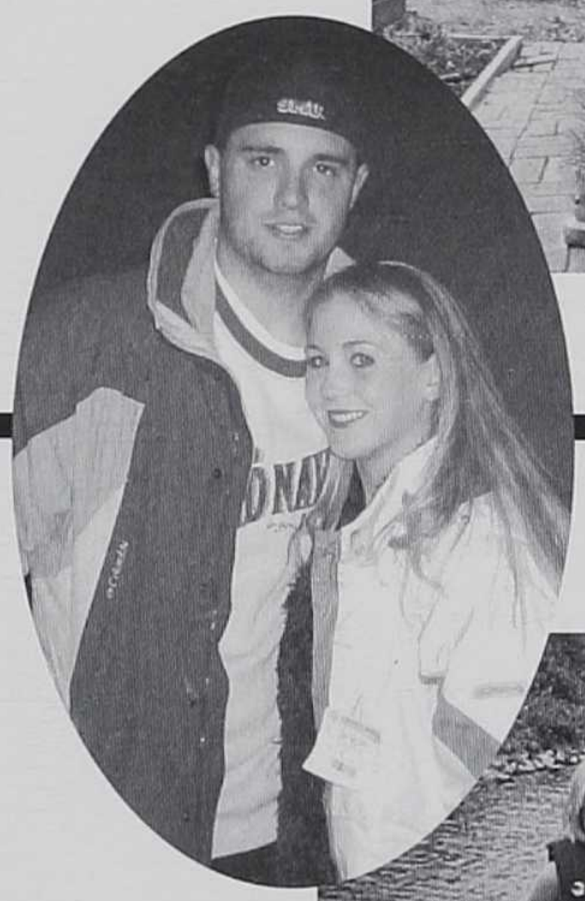
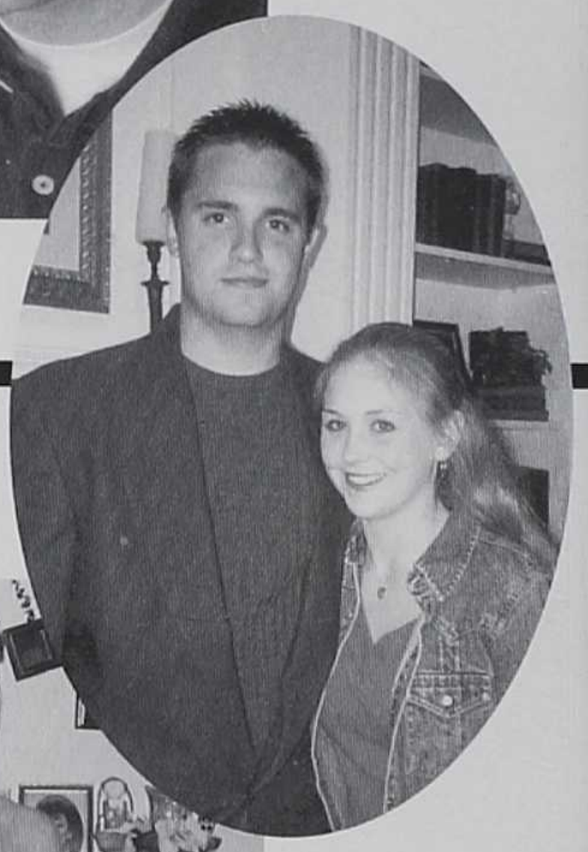
Ashley Nixon





Ash,

We have watched you grow from a little girl to a beautiful young woman. You have had so many achievements along the way and we are so very proud of you. Remember the most precious gift you can give is your time. Always follow your heart and let God lead the way. We love you.

Mom and Dad

Seth,

I can still see you running around on Delaney's playground, and now you're ready to graduate. (I thought I told you you weren't allowed to grow up!) What has happened to the time?

You have always made us so very proud, and you continue to do so. You are such an admirable young man and a blessing to our lives.

As you start your adult life don't ever forget that God is in control and that we will always be here for you.

We love you,
Mom, Dad, Simone and Seric

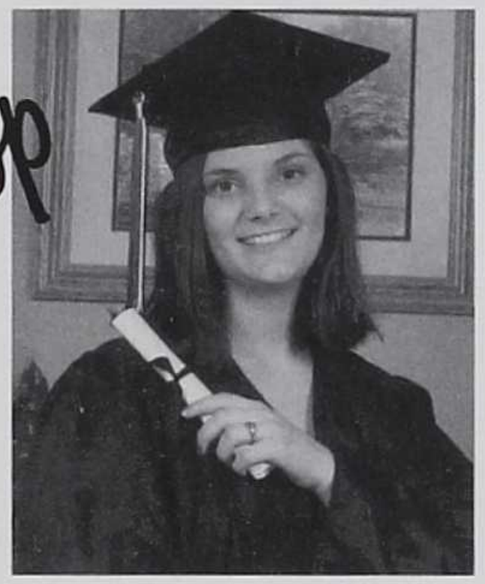
Taryn Bishop



Dear Taryn,
Before you were born, we prayed for a daughter. We prayed she would be healthy. We hoped she would be smart, funny, talented, and beautiful. When you were born God exceeded our every hope and prayer. Now our prayer is that you will follow all of your hopes and dreams. Nothing is beyond your grasp. With God's help, you future will be everything you can imagine and more! Know that we are always here, loving you, supporting you, believing in you. You are our Princess.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Taryn,
Congrats on finishing up High School! It's a major step in your life, but is also just the beginning. You are smart and extremely talented and I know you will succeed in college. I love you!

Your big brother,
Rolan

Sissy,
You are the most loving sister ever. You are nice and fun. You are always there when I need you. I hope you have fun at college.

I love you,
Dakota

To Sarah,
We are so very proud of the beautiful young lady you've grown up to be. You have the ability to make all of your dreams come true, and we will all be here to support you whenever you need us. We all love you and wish you all the happiness you deserve!

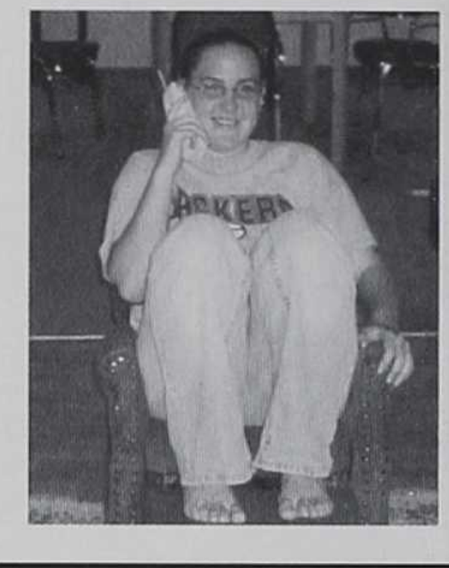
Mom, Dad, & Stephanie

Sarah Baird

Jessica Swindell

Jessica,
We are proud of you. Keep your dreams in focus. Remember the world is what you make it to be.

Love you bunches,
Dad, Mom, Bitty & Allyson



Alisha Schroeder

Alisha, may you always walk on soft grass no matter where you go. May you stand in sunshine and feel the warm wind blow. May your path be bright with flowers sparkling in the dew. May your heart be filled with joy and may all of your dreams come true in whatever your life may bring to you. Alisha, we are so very proud of the person you are and the beautiful young lady you have become. We wish for you the very best that life can bring you. May the stars and sun be at your command and never stop reaching for them.

Love you unconditionally,
Dad and Mom

Congrats and love you!!!

Olga, Pepin, Ana, Martin, and Brant

Tony,

Much love and congrats on a job well done...You did it!!! This is just one of the many "big days" to come in your life so enjoy each one, and do it as if it was the first.

Now is the time of preparation, reflection, and guidance for the next phase of your life. Follow your heart and trust your faith in God and you will overcome any obstacles that may get in your way. Stay focused and you will see the accomplishments line the path of the road you have traveled.

I love you dearly, with all my heart, and I'm so proud of the person you are today and who you will become tomorrow.

Love,
Mom & Jose

The rest of your life starts the day you graduate. What you do with your life is up to you. We are very proud of you and always will be. You will always be our Judderbudder. Dad says Semper Fi.

Love,
Mom & Dad

When I was little I would pray every night that God would send me a little brother or sister. Finally I was blessed with your arrival. Now I pray that God keeps you safe in everything you do. I love you very much and I am so very proud to be your big sister.

Congrats,

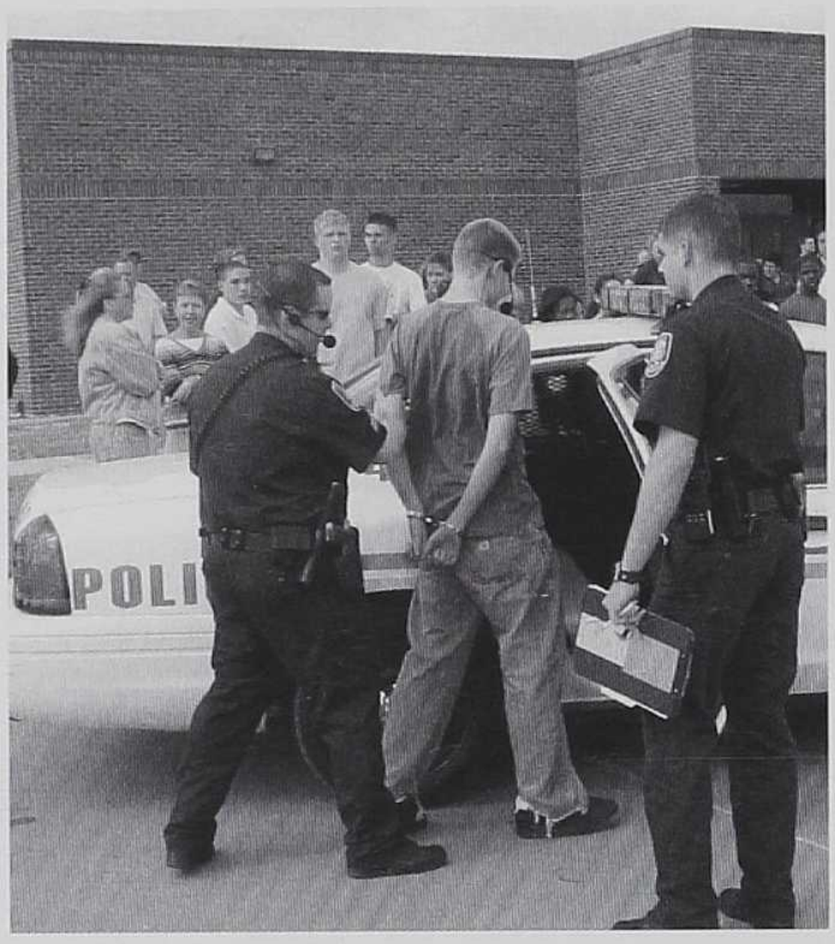
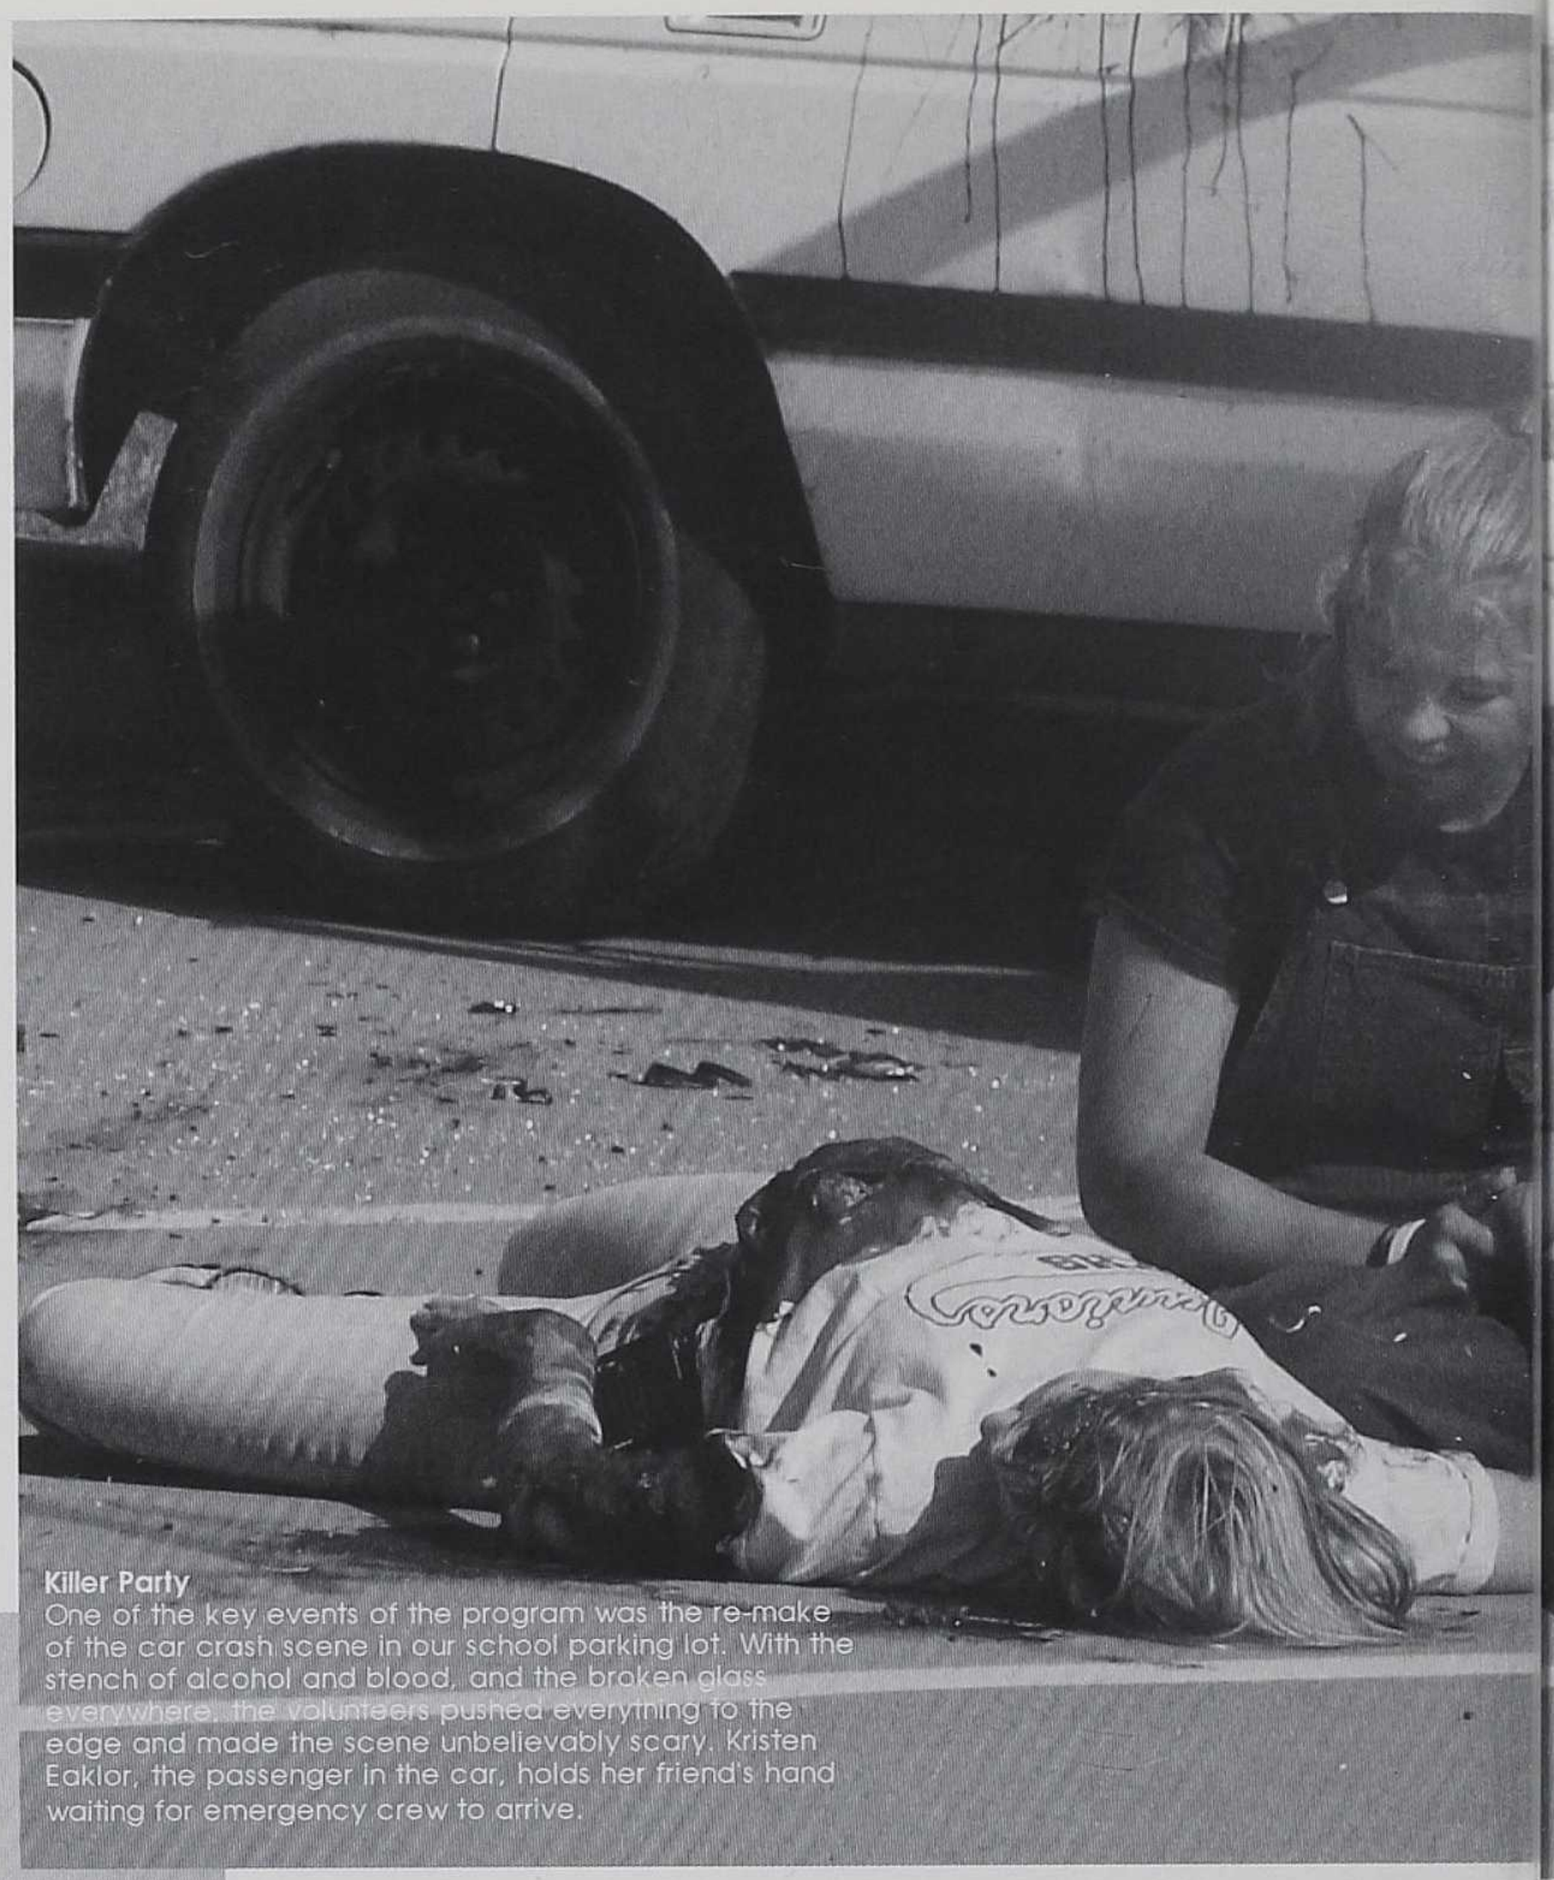
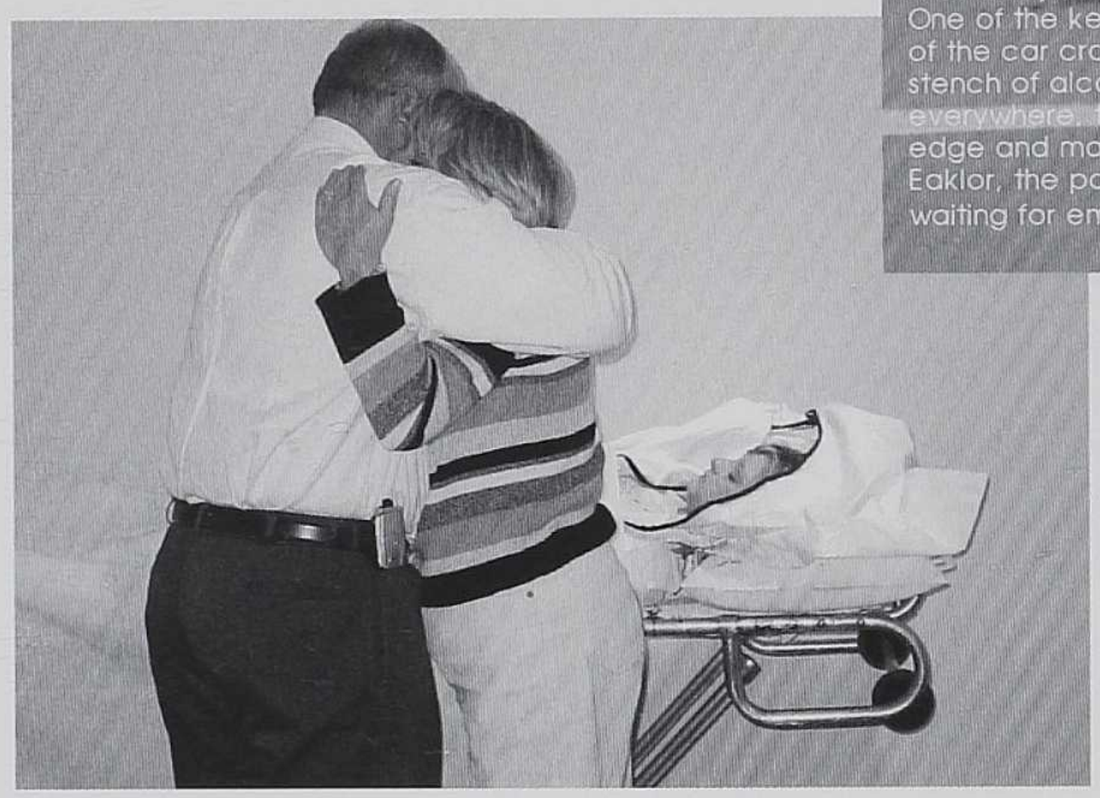
▼ Minor In Consumption
As his friends and classmates watched, Daniel Parsley was handcuffed and taken to Tarrant County Jail, where he was fingerprinted and kept in a holding facility. When asked about the effect Wasted had on him, Daniel replied, "It didn't really hit me until I saw my parents through bars."





Killer Party
One of the key events of the program was the re-make of the car crash scene in our school parking lot. With the stench of alcohol and blood, and the broken glass everywhere, the volunteers pushed everything to the edge and made the scene unbelievably scary. Kristen Eaklor, the passenger in the car, holds her friend's hand waiting for emergency crew to arrive.



▲ My Baby's In A Body Bag
Every fifteen minutes another person was taken out of class in a body bag while their peers watched. Directly following their obituary was read to the class. Parents were informed of their child's death at the end of the day by the Kennedale police force. Here Mallory Motley's mother and step-father view their baby girl in a body bag at the hospital.

► Rescue 911
During the car crash re-enactment, the Kennedale fire department worked furiously to get the bodies out of the crushed car as the school watched from the sidelines. Within minutes, everyone witnessed the 1988 two-door Camaro turn into a jumbled mess.

◄ Second Thoughts
Pain and regret ran through Daniel Parsley's mind as he waited for help to arrive for his friends and himself. After school Daniel and all his "dead" friends were taken to an overnight retreat to learn about the facts and the effects of drunk driving on high school teenagers.

▼ Death Row
As school let out, students walk past several of their friends who had past away during the school day. Every student who had died in an alcohol related incident had had to construct their own cross to be placed in the ground.

Every 15 Minutes...

Wasted Program

On April 6th an 7th, a very emotional program called "Wasted" was held here at Kennedale. It showed the devastating effects of drinking and driving. The impact that the Wasted program had on our teenagers cannot easily be explained in words. The effect it had will remain engraved in our minds when the students make choices involving drinking and driving. Special thanks to all the countless volunteers and sponsors who worked so long and hard to make this event possible for the Kennedale students.

◄ Hot Belly
The Kennedale Fire Department, as well as many others, went to extensive measures to make this experience as real as possible for all our students. Matt Reed is being wheeled to an ambulance that was waiting to escort him to John Huguley Hospital where he was treated.

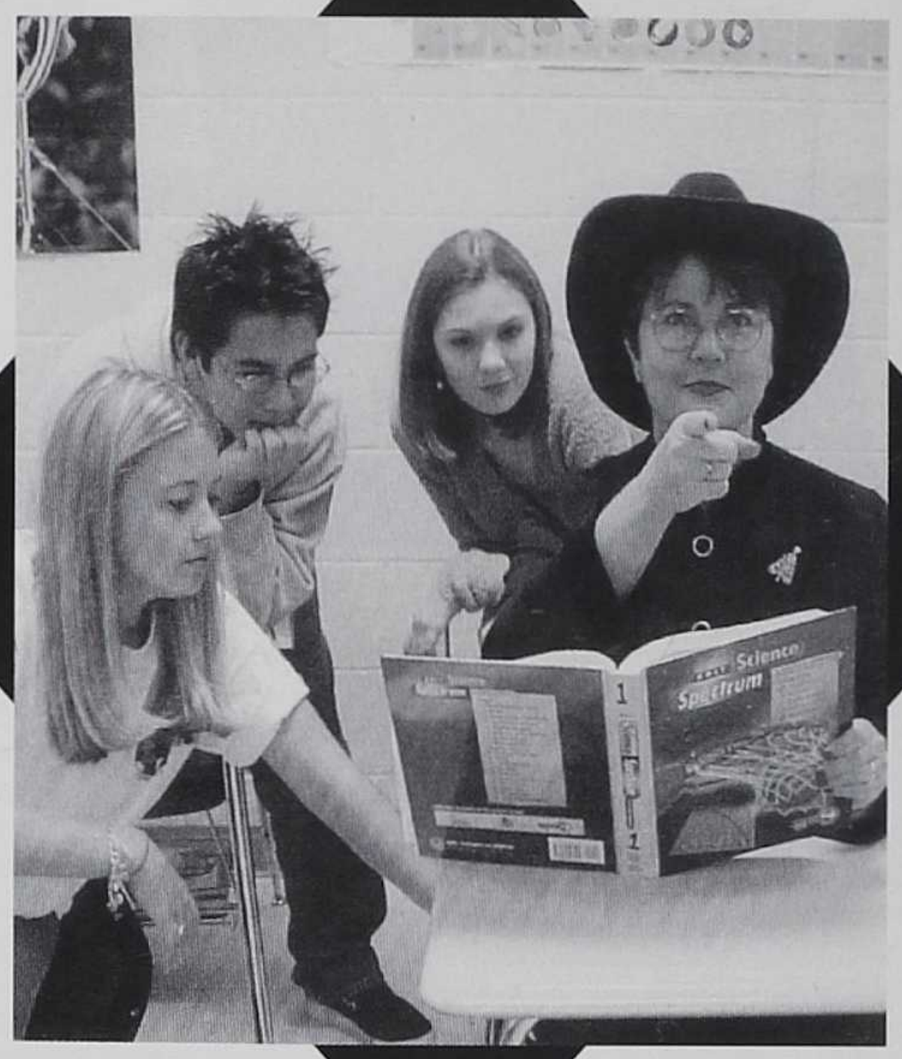
Dedicated To...

Mrs. Deb Hinz



Mrs. Deb Hinz has been at Kennedale High School for 11 years. She has been a great asset to the staff. She always thought of unique ways of teaching her students. Her creative ideas made it easier for her students to understand the material. She did crazy and outrageous labs once a week to show the students that learning can be fun. Many of her students remember some of the labs she did like the glass blowing lab and the candy lab. Mrs. Hlnz was very involved in several school activities like Secret Pals the staff did this year. Mrs. Hinz absolutely loved teaching at Kennedale and especially loved all the great students. She had the great pleasure of being able to teach at Kennedale while her daughter, Hali, was a student here for four years and eventually became valedictorian for the class of 2005. Mrs. Deb Hinz is very loved by everyone at Kennedale High School and will be missed tremendously when she is gone next year. But no matter. what we will always remember what a great teacher and person she is.

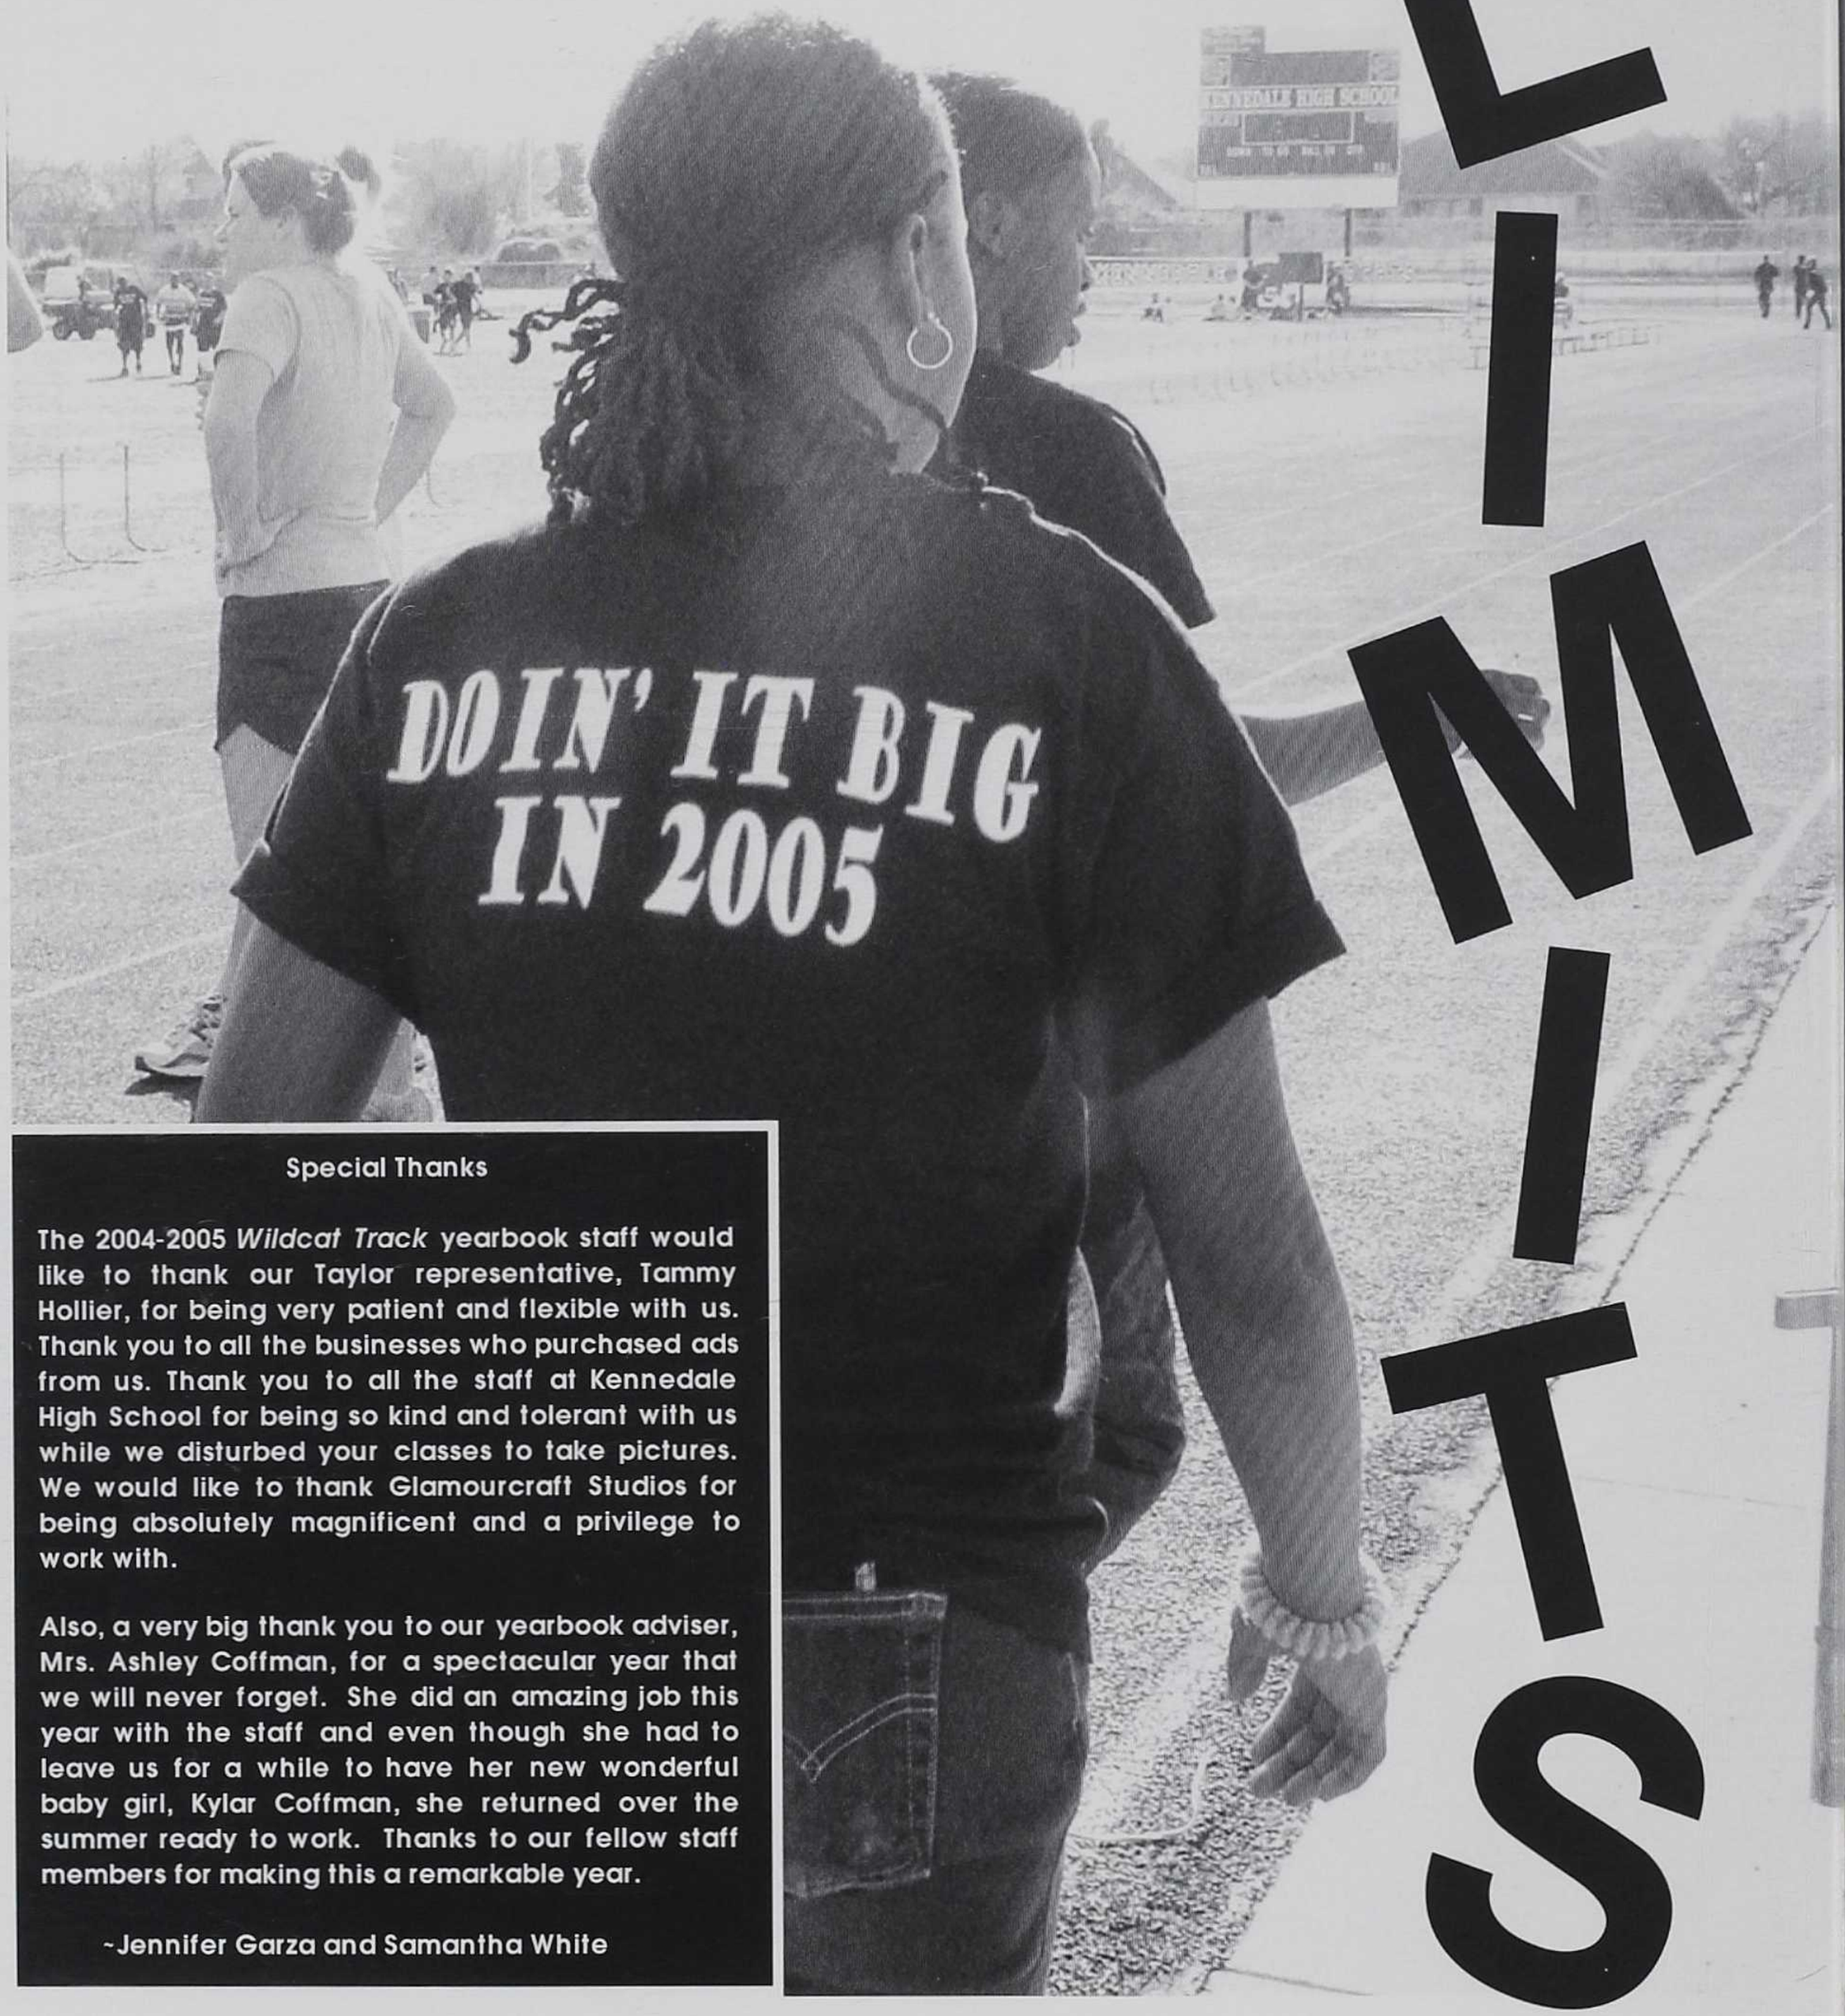
PUSHING THE LIMITS



Special Thanks

The 2004-2005 Wildcat Track yearbook staff would like to thank our Taylor representative, Tammy Hollier, for being very patient and flexible with us. Thank you to all the businesses who purchased ads from us. Thank you to all the staff at Kennedale High School for being so kind and tolerant with us while we disturbed your classes to take pictures. We would like to thank Glamourcraft Studios for being absolutely magnificent and a privilege to work with.

Also, a very big thank you to our yearbook adviser, Mrs. Ashley Coffman, for a spectacular year that we will never forget. She did an amazing job this year with the staff and even though she had to leave us for a while to have her new wonderful baby girl, Kylar Coffman, she returned over the summer ready to work. Thanks to our fellow staff members for making this a remarkable year.
